PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 105th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 144 WASHINGTON, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1998 No. 117

House of Representatives

The House was not in session today. Its next meeting will be held on Wednesday, September 9, 1998, at 12 noon.

Senate

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1998

(Legislative day of Monday, August 31, 1998)

The Senate met at 10:30 a.m. on the expiration of the recess, and was called to order by the President pro tempore [Mr. THURMOND].

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Lloyd John Ogilvie, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we fall on the knees of our hearts. You are our righteous, holy Father. You have given us Your absolutes in the Ten Commandments. Without these absolutes, the fiber of our culture becomes torn and loses its strength. The greatness of our Nation is rooted in faith and obedience to Your sovereignty. Yet, each generation has had to make its own commitment to You. Renewing our dedication to You is a daily discipline we dare not neglect.

Bless the Senators and all of us who are privileged to work with them with an acute awareness of Your evaluation of all that we say and do. We report to You. That is why we need Your grace when we miss the mark and Your courage to make each day a new beginning. Most of all, we want to be faithful to You and to Your values. You do not change; You are our solid Anchor in the storms of life. Thank You for giving us the power to change and to be all You meant us to be. Through our Lord and Savior. Amen.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The able majority leader, Senator LOTT of Mississippi, is recognized.

Mr. LOTT. Thank you very much, Mr. President.

SCHEDULE

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, last week, the Senate made good progress, and I want to express my appreciation for the cooperation. We did pass the military construction appropriations conference report, the first appropriations conference report of the year. We also completed action on two other appropriations bills, the foreign operations appropriations bill and the Treasury-Postal Service. In addition to that, we completed action on the Texas Compact legislation and got started on debate on bankruptcy reform. So I think we made good use of our time. There were also some very interesting hearings that occurred last week. I hope we can continue that pace this week.

We will have a period of morning business until 12:30 today. Following morning business, the Senate will recess until 2:15 to allow for the weekly party caucuses to meet. When we reconvene after the party caucuses, it is my intention for the Senate to begin consideration of the Interior appropriations bill. That will be the 11th appropriations bill to be considered for the year, leaving only D.C. appropriations and the Labor, HHS and Education appropriations bill. We have not quite a month, but we only have the three remaining bills to get done. With a little cooperation, we can complete them. Hopefully, we will begin to see two or three conference reports cleared each week for the balance of this month.

Members are encouraged to come to the floor and offer amendments if they have amendments on the Interior appropriations bill so that we can have debate and votes and make substantial progress on it. We would expect to have rollcall votes this afternoon and into the evening, perhaps, on the Interior bill amendments or any legislative or executive items that may be cleared.

Also, as a reminder to all Members, there will be two cloture votes on Wednesday. The first will be on national missile defense. We voted on this a few months ago. Cloture failed by just one vote. I believe, in view of what has been happening around the world—the uncertainty in Russia, the actions by North Korea, and the problem in Iraq—for us not to have a national missile defense, to not have a plan, to not have commitment, is indefensible. I would not want to be on record as not supporting this. The American people expect it of us. If we don't act now, the year 2010 will come and we still will not have a missile defense. With a lot of dangerous people, chances of rogue or accidental launch is there. We should not take it for granted.

After we vote on cloture and hopefully complete action on the national missile defense bill, we will then turn to the Consumer Bankruptcy Protection Act. We hope we will get cloture on that. Because of objections from Senator KENNEDY of Massachusetts, we had to file cloture on a motion to proceed. If we get cloture on that, then we would move immediately to cloture on the bill itself, if necessary. But I hope we get cloture on the motion to proceed. Then we can work out a way to consider this legislation and Senators would have a chance or chances to offer amendments, if they would like to.

● This "bullet" symbol identifies statements or insertions which are not spoken by a Member of the Senate on the floor.

This could be a busy week. It could be a productive week. We also will probably file cloture sometime this week, perhaps Wednesday, on the child custody bill, but we will make that decision as we see how the week is proceeding and progressing. We will make that call probably Wednesday.

I yield the floor.

MORNING BUSINESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. SMITH of New Hampshire). Under the previous order, there will now be a period for the transaction of morning business.

WEAPONS INSPECTIONS IN IRAQ

Mr. THURMOND. Mr. President, last Thursday the Armed Services and foreign Relations Committees held a joint hearing to hear testimony from a courageous and dedicated American—Major Scott Ritter. Major Ritter began his opening statement by saying,

> Last week I resigned my position with UNSCOM out of frustration because the U.N. Security Council, and the United States, as its most significant supporter, were failing to enforce the post-Gulf War resolutions designed to disarm Iraq. I sincerely hope that my actions might help to change things . . .

For nearly three hours, Major Ritter responded to Senators' questions, describing how U.S. policies in support of United Nations Security Council resolutions were not being honestly implemented. He also expressed his views regarding the dangers associated with Iraq's continuing pursuit of weapons of mass destruction and how this Nation's victory in the Persian Gulf war was being squandered.

Major Ritter served as an intelligence officer in the Marine Corps during the Persian Gulf War to liberate Kuwait from Iraq. He became a United Nations inspector in 1991 and acted under international law created by the United States and the United Nations. His job as an inspector was to plan and conduct inspections to eliminate illegal weapons of mass destruction in Iraq. Major Ritter was deeply dedicated to his duties. He explained that his duty as a weapons inspector represented a vital continuation of what many Americans had fought and died for during the Gulf War. Finding and destroying these dangerous weapons is critically important to the United States and our allies. These weapons of mass destruction could one day be used again by Saddam Hussein to attack his neighbors, dominate the region and threaten vital interests of the United States. Major Ritter was dedicated to reducing the threat from such weapons. He earned a reputation as a tough, demanding inspector. Saddam Hussein feared his perseverance and tried to get him removed from UNSCOM and Iraq. I regret that he has resigned. I felt better knowing Major Ritter was on the job. However, Major Ritter found that he was repeatedly and systematically hindered from performing his duties. The very laws he was asked to enforce were not now being supported by the U.N. Security Council nor his own government.

Major Ritter's resignation from his position as an UNSCOM inspector was a selfless and patriotic act. However, his resignation and the reason for his resignation deserve our immediate attention and action. I hope that his personal sacrifice will spur the Congress and the Administration to act with the same courage and urgency as Major Ritter.

During the hearing, Major Ritter was asked all the most difficult questions to challenge his judgment and veracity. His challengers were unsuccessful. He simply told the truth, and the truth is a National embarrassment. Although Major Ritter had the courtesy not to say it, his message was clear. ''Congress, I have done my job. It is now time to do yours.'' Our job in Congress requires the same courage Major Ritter displayed last week and for the past nine years as a weapons inspector for the United Nations. I am deeply disappointed that such a brave and bright young American was forced into choosing to resign from his duties because of his principles. His actions clearly send us a message. ''This Nation's actions must be consistent with its policies.''

I believe that our Nation and the world are far less safe as a result of Saddam Hussein's programs of weapons of mass destruction. We must insist that UNSCOM be allowed to do its job. We in government must say what we mean, and do as we say. We have not been doing this recently in our foreign and national defense policies.

Mr. President, it is now Congress' responsibility to ensure that this happens.

Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I understand that my Democratic leader has time, and I wish to use some of that time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, we are in morning business until 12:30. The Democrat leader has time until 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask to address the Chamber without time restraint.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PRIVATE AND PUBLIC MORALITY

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I hope all my colleagues had a good Labor Day at home with their constituents. I want to say that I had the real pleasure of being with hundreds of people all over the great State of California with the Lieutenant Governor this Labor Day. And it was very uplifting to be with the people who are moving our country forward, because every day they get up and put one foot in front of the other, and they work, they take care of their families, and they build this country.

So it was, indeed, a very good day, and I think a day that gave a lot of us perspective as to why we are here and what our real interests should be in terms of making sure that this economic expansion continues, and that every child, regardless of station, has a chance at the American dream.

Mr. President, last week, Senator LIEBERMAN made a very thoughtful speech on the Senate floor in which he expressed his ''deep disappointment and personal anger'' concerning the President's improper behavior.

Senator LIEBERMAN then laid out the process by which the Senate can go on record in an official expression of disapproval.

When I was asked how I felt about that, I expressed agreement with Senator LIEBERMAN and with his understanding of the options that are before this body.

I would like to reiterate today what I have said about this matter since January. At that time I put my faith in the process, which I said would lead to the truth. The process is in fact leading to the truth, and the process is continuing.

In 1983, when I served in the House of Representatives, we had such a process in place when I voted to censure two colleagues—one a Democrat and one a Republican—for relationships that involved interns; we had a process in place in 1990, again, when a House colleague was reprimanded for his conduct.

Unfortunately, we did not have such a process in place in 1991, when a Supreme Court nominee was about to be confirmed with not so much as a look at allegations of sexual harassment. And in 1995, the integrity of the Senate process was being compromised to keep such charges by 18 women secret, rather than following the normal course of open public hearings. We also learned that the military routinely ignored similar complaints.

So despite the difficulty of all of those incidents—and they were all very difficult—I am proud that many women in Congress have worked to make sure that improper relationships in the workplace are no longer swept under the rug. We certainly know about the President's relationship. It was wrong. It was indefensible, and as Senator LIEBERMAN has said, the relationship was immoral. The President has now agreed with that assessment. I fervently wish he had seen it that way before the relationship started. And in any case, he should have taken responsibility much earlier.

This President has led us out of the worst recession since the Great Depression. He has led us to a balanced budget—the first one in 30 years. And in my home State we have seen 1.4 million new jobs, 100,000 new businesses, and a decline in crime of 28 percent.

I will always be grateful to the President for his visionary public policy in so many areas, and so will the people of California. I fervently hope that while the process moves forward we can continue to work with President Clinton to keep the country moving in the right direction. The people want us to do that, and I think we should do that.

I don't believe there are differences in this body about the immorality of the President's relationship with an intern.

As I said, the President himself agreed with Senator LIEBERMAN's comments.

We have a process in place to deal with the President's morality as it relates to an improper relationship. I would like to ask us today to also set our agenda to deal with public policy morality.

I want to explain what I mean by that.

Is it moral for an HMO to deny a child desperately needing care?

I spoke at a press conference the other day about one of my constituents, a little girl, who is undergoing chemotherapy treatment. She is very sick and she has severe nausea and vomiting from the procedure. The HMO denied the parents $54 for a prescription to take away her nausea and vomiting while the CEO of that company was drawing down tens of millions of dollars in salary. I don't think that is moral.

I want to see us pass a Patients' Bill of Rights with teeth in it to deal with that.

Is it moral that 14 children every day die from gunshot wounds in America? Fourteen children every day. Let's pass sensible gun laws that do not infringe on people's rights but make our country safer.

Is it moral not to fund three out of four approved NIH grants? That is what happens today. The NIH budget is squeezed. We need to do more. Our people are sick. They worry about cancer, Alzheimer's—all the diseases that plague us today. Let's double the Federal commitment to help research within the context of a balanced budget, and then tell our people we are doing all we can. That would be the moral thing to do.

Is it moral for special interests to give unlimited funds of money to a political campaign? We could stop that. Let's pass the McCain-Feingold campaign finance reform laws. That would help solve the problem.

Is it moral to have children attending schools where ceiling tiles fall on their heads?

I just visited such a school in Sacramento—an old school. I had to run out of there literally choking on the must and the mildew in the room. We need an education plan to help all of our children learn.

Is it moral to leave our kids at home in empty houses or to join gangs because they are so lonely after school? We know the juvenile crime rate goes just straight up like this after school, and we know that afterschool programs work. Let's pass a program at least to fund 500 of those afterschool programs.

So my point today is this: In the Senate and in our own way we must strive for private morality, and we also should strive for public morality.

Mr. President, we have so much work to do. But I know we can do good things for the people of this country if we have the will to move forward to address the many moral questions facing us—the moral questions on the private side, and the moral questions on the public side.

So, again, as we reflect on the situation as it confronts us, let's remember to do our best on both sides of the equation—private morality, absolutely; and public morality, absolutely.

Thank you very much, Mr. President.

I yield the floor. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. ROBERTS). The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the time until 12 o'clock will be under the control of the distinguished Senator from Utah, Mr. HATCH, and the distinguished Senator from Iowa, Mr. GRASSLEY.

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Patricia Kramer, a congressional fellow in Senator GRASSLEY's office, be given floor privileges during the consideration of debate of S. 1301, the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

CONSUMER BANKRUPTCY REFORM ACT

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I rise today to again express my disappointment in the refusal of Members on the other side of the aisle to allow the Senate to proceed to S. 1301, the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1998.

This is a very important piece of legislation, and it will be an enormous disservice to the American people if we fail to act on it this year. We all know the time is short and the schedule is very crowded in these last few weeks of the session. I just hope that, when the time comes, my colleagues on the other side will vote for cloture on the motion to proceed tomorrow and provide the Senate a fair chance to debate this much-needed legislation. In fact, I hope that they will waive their filibuster on the motion to proceed and will invoke cloture on the bill itself, if that is needed.

In recent years, personal bankruptcy filings have reached epidemic proportions in the United States. We simply cannot afford to continue down this path because excessive bankruptcy filings harm every one of us in America. Consumer bankruptcy ends up costing Americans almost $40 billion a year, or roughly $400 per household in this country. The negative repercussions associated with consumer bankruptcy go far beyond the debts owed to credit card companies and big businesses.

The reality is, contrary to what the critics of reform would lead us to believe, this issue profoundly impacts the average American. Bankruptcies end up harming small business owners, senior citizens who rely on rental income to supplement their retirements, and of course members of credit unions. Even the person who files for bankruptcy can end up being hurt. Some filers, victims of so-called ''bankruptcy mills,'' are neither apprised of their options nor informed of the consequences of a bankruptcy filing. Ultimately, they suffer the consequences of having filed, when a better alternative may have been available to them.

This legislation is guided by two main principles: No. 1, restoring personal responsibility in the bankruptcy system; and, No. 2, ensuring adequate and effective protection for consumers.

There are individuals who can repay some of what they owe but, instead, choose to use—rather, ''abuse''—the current bankruptcy system or laws to avoid doing so. The bankruptcy laws need to be reformed to prevent this from occurring. S. 1301 does this, while delicately safeguarding the bankruptcy system so that it can provide a ''fresh start'' to those who truly need it.

I note that according to statistics from the American Bankruptcy Institute, most States in this Union have seen a troubling rise in bankruptcy filings. This is at a time when our economy has been doing extremely well. While we must preserve bankruptcy for those who need it, as legislators we must recognize that there are some unscrupulous individuals who are able to repay some of what they owe but still use the current bankruptcy laws to avoid doing so. In fact, to go one step further, there are some people who can pay all of what they owe but opt out through the bankruptcy system because of current loopholes in the law itself.

This balanced legislation deserves to be considered. It is time for the Senate to act on this legislation. We should not derail the fair and balanced reforms proposed by this bill due to petty, partisan politics. I hope that my colleagues on the other side of the aisle will vote to allow the Senate to proceed to S. 1301 tomorrow. Furthermore, I hope once we proceed to the bankruptcy legislation, they will not prevent its passage by attempts to offer extraneous, politically motivated amendments, all of which we are used to at this time of the year but which I hope will not be the case on this particular bill, as important as it is. There will be no greater failure to discharge our duty as Senators if this legislation is held hostage for petty political purposes or the petty political politics of the few.

It is time to debate this bill, debate any relevant amendments, and it is time to vote on it. In the interests of all Americans and the future of our economy, we need to end these partisan efforts to delay consideration of this bankruptcy reform legislation. It is time to fulfill our commitment to the American people and end the abuse of the bankruptcy system and its attendant $400 tax on every American family.

Finally, I want to pay particular tribute to the distinguished Senator from Iowa who has handled this matter through the Subcommittee on the Courts and Administrative Oversight. He has brought it through the full committee and on to the floor of the Senate, with the help of some of the rest of us, but he has done a particularly good job on this bill.

Yes, there are things that perhaps need to be corrected and might need to be changed. Both Senator GRASSLEY and I have been open to changes and good ideas to improve this bill. And when and if we finally get to debate this bill, we will remain open to new ideas. But the fact of the matter is, it is very difficult to get a bill of this magnitude through without listening to everybody and paying attention to everybody's ideas. I think the distinguished Senator from Iowa has done an excellent job in doing exactly that. I am very proud of the work he has done. It is just typical of his service here in the Senate that he not only grabs the bull by the horns, but he gets it done and he does the things that really have to be done. He is a very valued member of the Judiciary Committee, and is certainly valued by me, personally. I just want him to know how much I appreciate the work he has done on this legislation.

There are others, as well, including the distinguished Senator from Illinois, on other side of the floor. I hope he will counsel the people on his side of the floor to quit playing games with this important bill. He has worked very hard on this bill as well and deserves a lot of credit for how far we have come on this. I hope that with the leadership of these two fine Senators, Members on both sides of the aisle will realize how important this legislation truly is. If we can get this up through cloture, I have no doubt this will pass overwhelmingly on the floor because it is that important. It is that well done. It has the kind of backing that really it needs from the people at large in the country, on all sides of the spectrum. It is the type of legislation where literally all of us can go home and say we did the right thing.

There is no question that we have to go to conference should we pass this bill. Hopefully, through that process, we can perfect both the House bill and this bill even more than we have right now. But the fact is, these leaders on the committee have done a very, very good job in getting it to this point, and I compliment them for it.

I yield the floor.

Mr. GRASSLEY addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The distinguished Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I yield myself such time as I might consume. I thank the Senator from Utah, the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, not only for the kind remarks he made about my participation in this process on the bankruptcy law, but also to say that it would not have been possible to get it out of the Judiciary Committee without some compromises, which he helped shape in the process, and also in making it a better bill as well. So this is a cooperative effort not only in the subcommittee, but also at the full committee level. The 16–2 vote by which the bill was voted out of committee, I think, speaks better than anything I can say or even that the Senator from Utah can say about how badly needed this legislation is and what a significant compromise it is in order to get that type of a margin out of the Judiciary Committee, which the chairman has already referred to as a committee that can be very controversially oriented from time to time. This is a piece of legislation that speaks to how cooperative that committee can be when the need calls for it to be.

Mr. President, as I recall, we are in a situation on this floor where there was an objection to the bill coming up. So the distinguished Senate majority leader had to move that this bill be brought up. So we have a debate going on now on a motion to proceed that is fairly uncharacteristic of most processes of moving legislation on the floor of the Senate. So I want to use this opportunity that we have of the Senate deciding whether or not we should even debate the merits of this bill to once again give reasons to my colleagues why we should move beyond the motion to proceed to actual consideration of this legislation. We will have that vote, as I am going to refer to in a minute, hopefully tomorrow.

So I rise today to speak again on the importance and the need—the very justified need—for fundamental bankruptcy reform. Last week, as I stated, a member of the minority party objected to allowing the Senate to consider this bill that was voted out of committee 16–2—even to debate it. Tomorrow, we are set to vote on whether to proceed to the bankruptcy bill. If we don't have a positive vote on this, then bankruptcy will not be on the agenda this session. It is badly needed legislation. It would be a sad consequence of that vote to not be able to move forward.

In my view, the fact that there is an objection to even considering bankruptcy reform shows just how scared and how reactionary the opponents of bankruptcy reform are. The opponents of reform know that the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act will pass overwhelmingly if allowed to come to a straight vote. I think hearing the distinguished chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Chairman HATCH, say that just a few minutes ago fortifies what I have just said.

The opponents of reform know that the polls are absolutely clear on a broad public support for bankruptcy reform. There is no way that a minority of the Senate can fool 68 percent of the people nationally who say that we need bankruptcy reform. And there is no way that a minority of the Senate can fool 78 percent of the people of my State of Iowa who were surveyed in a poll on the need and their support for bankruptcy reform. So the American people know that our bankruptcy system is, in fact, out of control. Obviously, the people know that it is out of control much more than even a small minority of the minority in this body know it is out of control. If they know it is out of control and badly in need of reform, they would let us proceed to this bill. So I hope that Congress will respond to what the people want and move forward to consider and pass—pass overwhelmingly, as it did out of committee—the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act. That is what representative democracy is all about.

As I said on Thursday of last week when we were set to take up the bankruptcy reform bill, the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform bill is a bipartisan piece of legislation which passed out of the Judiciary Committee by an overwhelming vote of 16–2. The goal of the bill is simple and it is important: to restore personal responsibility to our bankruptcy law, and to put an end to the many bankruptcies of convenience which are filed every year in the United States.

In recent years, the number of bankruptcies has, in fact, very much skyrocketed. Every year since 1994, records have been broken in terms of the number of bankruptcies filed. Now we are at the point that we had 1.4 million personal bankruptcies in 1997. So if this trend continues, Mr. President, we must all shudder to think about the harm to our economy and to the moral fabric of our Nation—to the economy, with $40 billion of costs. There is no free lunch when it comes to bankruptcy. There might be for the person that declares bankruptcy, but as we know, in our society, somebody pays; $40 billion is being paid by somebody in America and that figures out to about $400 per family of four in America per year. Just think of that. You, Mr. President, could be spending $400 less for your goods and services if we did not have this high number of bankruptcies that we have.

But more important, what does it do to the moral fabric of our great country when, somehow, you can live high on the hog and not worry about who is going to pay for it. You don't have to; you go into bankruptcy and somebody else pays for it. There ought to be, and is, a rule for America which is that we all ought to be personally responsible for the actions we take. That is applicable not just to moral issues of family and marriage, but it also involves the economic world we are in as well, and that is, in fact, if you enjoy something, you want to pay for it.

The interesting and alarming thing is that this unprecedented increase in bankruptcy filings comes at a time when our economy has been generally healthy. Disposable income is up, unemployment is low, and interest rates are low. There is something that just doesn't make sense about this situation. Common sense and basic economics say that when the economy flourishes, bankruptcies should not be so high.

I had an opportunity over the weekend to look at an old U.S. News and World Report from 1991 with the predictions of the decade of the 1990s coming up. At the time that magazine came out, we were in the middle of the recession of 1990. That recession was caused by one of the big tax increases that President Bush proposed. It wasn't quite as big as the tax increase that President Clinton got through in 1993, which was the biggest tax increase in the history of the world, but that tax increase had a detrimental impact on the economy and we were in a recession—recession that, thank God, we have had years of recovery since without going into another recession.

But in that magazine it made light of the fact that there was a 135,000 increase in personal bankruptcies that year because of the recession. That is when we had the number of personal bankruptcies well below 800,000 at that particular time.

Let's just think. There is going to be a recession around the corner someday, hopefully not for 3 or 4 years down the road, as the economy is going fairly strong. But it could be happening within a year from now if things in Southeast Asia and Russia don't turn around, maybe, and as the stock market is also indicating. We would be thinking in terms of half a million to 1 million bankruptcies just because of the economy turning south, if we are concerned about 135,000 increases in bankruptcies in the year 1990 as an example.

It is an unprecedented time in our economy. Why is it an unprecedented time, then, for the number of personal bankruptcy filings? I don't know. I have said how it could be related to the bank's sending out so many credit cards for people to be invited into more debt. It could be because the Federal Government had 30 years of deficit spending. Hopefully, we have that behind us now with this year paying down $63 billion on the national debt for the first time in 30 years. It could be because the bankruptcy bar is very loose in their advice, or the lack of advice, on whether people ought to go into bankruptcy or not. There doesn't seem to be the shame that is connected with bankruptcy as there used to be. There is probably a lot of other reasons. At least we have those reasons to consider and those reasons to deal with. Another reason is the 1978 bankruptcy law that made it possible to get into bankruptcy. Hopefully, we have that turned around with the passage of this legislation as well.

In the opinion of this Senator, of course, one of the main bankruptcy crises is, as I just stated, the overly liberal bankruptcy law of 1978. Remember, since 1978 I have had hundreds of people tell me it is too easy to get into bankruptcy. And it shouldn't be that easy. I have not had one person tell me that it ought to be easier to get into bankruptcy. And I even have had some people tell me who have been through bankruptcy that it is too easy to get into bankruptcy. That sort of attitude of the public is what is behind the 68 percent nationally and the 78 percent of the people in my State in polls who say the bankruptcy laws should be reformed.

Quite simply, current law discourages personal responsibility. I want to say that again. Current law actually discourages personal responsibility. As a result, bankruptcy has become a first option, not as a last resort for many with financial difficulties.

Bankruptcy is seen as a quick and easy way of avoiding debt. Bankruptcy is now a matter of convenience rather than a matter of necessity. The moral stigma that used to be associated with not being able to pay your debt is now almost completely gone. I am not saying that bankruptcy law serves no purpose. On the contrary, the ability to have a fresh start—or you might say it is a principle of our bankruptcy law that there are some people who are entitled to a fresh start—it is a vital part of this American system. It is the right thing to do in some instances. But what is important is that we structure our laws so that bankruptcy is available to those who truly need protection—people who maybe because of natural disaster, maybe because of a catastrophic illness in their family, maybe because of even divorce—there are several reasons that have been considered legitimate. But we want to make sure that this process is not available to those who want to abuse the system and find an easy irresponsible way out.

The bill that we will hopefully get to consider after our cloture vote tomorrow strikes a balance between personal responsibility on the one hand and giving people an opportunity to get a fresh start who legitimately deserve it on the other hand. That is why the Judiciary Committee, which can be very partisan at times, approved this bill by a vote of 16 to 2. Mr. President, I will have more to say on the problems with our bankruptcy system if and when we get to consider the bankruptcy bill.

I want to inform my colleagues about the deceptive practices of bankruptcy lawyers who dupe unwary consumers into declaring bankruptcies. The practices of bankruptcy lawyers have become underhanded so much that the Federal Trade Commission has issued an alert on that process. And in the process of issuing that order, they criticized the bankruptcy bar.

If and when we get to consider the bill, I want to talk more about how my bill enhances collection of child support. The National District Attorneys Association, as well as numerous other organizations which collect child support, have written to me to praise this bill—S. 1301—and the innovations in the bill for protecting child support.

Mr. President, supporting this bill is the right thing to do. Approving a vote tomorrow to move to this bill so it can actually be considered is the right thing to do, because the American people are sick and tired of the avoidance of personal responsibility—not only in the case of bankruptcy but so many other areas. It is one we can do something about right now through the passage of this legislation.

The other body across the Hill has already passed an even more sweeping version of bankruptcy reform, and they have done it by a veto-proof margin. But here we are right now on the floor of the U.S. Senate fending off a filibuster against bankruptcy reform. After the vote tomorrow, if we win and can actually go to the debate of S. 1301, I expect maybe even a second filibuster. I don't think these desperation tactics work, and particularly in the case of something that is so badly needed as bankruptcy reform.

It is interesting how the same people who criticize this Congress for doing anything are the same ones who are blocking positive bankruptcy reform. I have talked with many of my colleagues on the other side of the aisle. I know there is a real desire to see bankruptcy reform happen this year. That is why the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act received such broad bipartisan support in the Judiciary Committee. Quite simply, it is time to restore the sense of personal responsibility that we Americans are famous for to our bankruptcy law.

I urge my colleagues to support the motion to proceed on S. 1301, and then to support S. 1301 and move to a bill that is going to bring new penalties for abusive bill collectors; it is going to bring new penalties for illegal repossessions; it is going to bring fines for inflated creditor claims; and it is going to bring penalties for deceptive credit practices.

It seems to me that is a bill that not only will bring about bankruptcy reform so that bankruptcy will be used only when people are really entitled to a fresh start, fitting into a pattern that we have had in our bankruptcy laws between 1998 and 1978—it has only been in the last 20 years that this has turned bad—but to discourage bankruptcy, to reimpose personal responsibility on debt, and that we also do some things that even give some consumer protection in the process. I only stress the new consumer protections to make the point that we are going to have a very balanced piece of legislation pass this Senate, if we get a chance to vote on it.

I yield the floor.

Mr. SESSIONS addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. GRASSLEY). The distinguished Senator from Alabama is recognized.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I would like to join Senator HATCH in expressing my admiration and respect for Senator GRASSLEY and the members of his committee who have worked hard on this bankruptcy reform legislation. It has obtained almost universal support. It passed the committee 16 to 2, and it reflects a good step in our public policy.

As Senator GRASSLEY says, the current liberalized bankruptcy law discourages personal responsibility, that is, it makes it easy and even encourages persons to avoid their responsibility. That is not good. A Harvard professor has written a book which talked about how during the first 150 years of this Nation's existence every law that came up for consideration was judged on the basis of whether it made our people more responsible and better citizens. I think that is a goal we have lost sight of in recent years. What we need to do is make sure our legislation sets standards that call people to their highest and best ideals and not dumbing them down and encouraging them to cop out, to take the easy way out, to avoid their debts when there is no real justification for it.

Most people may not understand, but a person making $70,000 with $30,000 in debts can walk into a bankruptcy court in America, at any place, at any time, and file for bankruptcy. Even though he would be perfectly able to pay off those debts, he can wipe them all out. This is true even if, just a few months before, he or she had signed a promissory note to pay those debts. This behavior vitiates contracts, and it vitiates responsibility.

So I think, based on the fact that we have had a doubling of bankruptcy filings in the last decade and we have seen a 60 percent increase in bankruptcy filings since 1995, we do have a problem in this country. This is not driven by the economy, because we are in good economic times. In 1997, however, we now know that $40 billion in consumer debt was erased by bankruptcy filings in this country.

Where does that debt go? Who pays that debt? What happens to it? It is passed on to the other American citizens who are in debt but who pay their debts, who pay their credit card bills, who pay their bank notes. They have to pay higher interest rates, to the tune of $400 per family per year, to balance out some of these people who are filing for bankruptcy but do not deserve it. Many people, a majority of those filing, do not abuse bankruptcy. But a significant number are abusing the bankruptcy laws, and we ought to do something about it.

There was a recent article written by former Secretary of the Treasury Lloyd Bentsen, former Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, and former chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. This is what he said:

> With growing frequency, bankruptcy is being treated as a first choice rather than a last resort, as a matter of convenience rather than necessity.

He goes on to note:

> A rising tide of bankruptcies will sink all ships and hurt those who need credit the most, those who have to borrow money.

People do not understand—and many in this body do not recognize—that many who have done well, such as a family making $30-$40-$50,000 a year, will have debts. When they have a car payment that comes up, if they have an $800 balance on their credit card, those interest points make a difference to them—whether they pay 15 percent or 18 percent or 19 percent interest.

As former Secretary of the Treasury under President Clinton, Senator Bentsen, said:

> In the United States, we believe that through hard work anyone can become a success. America's bankruptcy laws reflect a fundamental element of our Nation's entrepreneurial spirit. Their intent is to ensure a fresh start for those who try and fail, and they form an important thread in our social safety net. But when some people systematically abuse the system at great expense to the rest of the population, twisting the fresh start into a free ride, Congress must step in and tighten up the law to protect those who unfairly bear the cost. When it comes to bankruptcies of convenience, this time has come.

So I agree; it is a bipartisan issue. Senator GRASSLEY has worked diligently to gain the broadest possible support. This bill came out of the Senate Judiciary Committee 16 to 2. A virtually unanimous vote on a bill of this kind is unusual and should be noted.

Why is it necessary? I want to mention a few things that are in the bill, and then I want to comment on the unusual and unfortunate circumstance we are in now in which the minority party is attempting to block even consideration of the bill that so many of their own members have already supported in committee. They in fact filibustered the bill before it could even come to the floor. People say this is a do-nothing Congress. Maybe they are trying to make it so. This is a good bill. It has been worked on for several years. It has been improved and refined. It has very broad support, and we ought to pass it.

These are some of the things it does: It allows creditors, those who are owed money, and panel trustees to participate in the review of the debtor's decision to file a chapter 7 instead of a chapter 13.

Most people do not realize that when you go to file bankruptcy, you have two choices, if you are a normal consumer who is in debt. You can file under chapter 7—wipe out all your debts and not have to pay anything. Your money goes into a pot and is divided up on a proportional basis to creditors, and you walk away free and clear. This permits a fresh start, which is a great American tradition. We are not trying to eliminate that at all.

But there is another tradition, too. That is the tradition of chapter 13, which in fact was first created in my home State of Alabama, in Birmingham, and it is still a very popular alternative there. It provides the option for a debtor who wants to try to pay back his debt to do so. The Court approves his plan, and he pays a certain amount of money into the chapter 13 fund, and it is distributed to his debtors. They give up the interest rates that they have been charging on it, and at least they get something back out of it. And this person is able to be discharged without having filed for bankruptcy because the debts have, in fact, been honored.

This is a procedure that I think ought to be encouraged. What we are finding is that in some areas of the country almost nobody files chapter 13. But it is a high filing issue in Alabama. People want to pay their debts, and they are taking this option.

So what this bill says is that if a person has $100,000 per year income and he only owes $30,000 and he wants to file chapter 7, this will give the creditors a chance to object and say, ''Judge, we think you ought to review this. He doesn't need this bankruptcy. Why should he be able to walk away from his debts when people who are making $30,000, have three kids, and are trying to get by by the skin of their teeth are paying their debts? Why doesn't he pay his?''

I think that is fundamental, and we need to get away from this automatic deal in which the filer has total power to choose whether or not he files under 7 or 13.

The bill also requires consumers to receive information concerning credit counseling before filing. Many people do not know that there are tremendous credit counseling centers in almost every community in America. These persons help the families. This differs from when a debtor goes in to see a bankruptcy lawyer who simply has his secretary asks the person to fill out a form. The debtor may not even see the lawyer; the lawyer has probably hundreds of these cases. The secretary has you fill out a form, and he files a bankruptcy, and he hardly even talks to the client. That too often happens.

In credit counseling, the person sits down with the credit counselor. They go over their income. They talk about how they can pay that off. Maybe the banks or the credit card companies would reduce their interest rates if the person could make regular payments and not go into bankruptcy. They help them deal with problems in families such as gambling addiction. I have been talked to credit counseling people across this country. They are telling me that gambling is a big factor driving bankruptcy filings. Maybe Gamblers Anonymous would be the right thing for them.

Maybe there is a mental health problem, depression in the family or other things that these people who are not sophisticated in finance did not know would be available to them to help them overcome their debt problem. So I think that would be a great thing. It is not going to eliminate huge numbers of filings, but I assure you, I believe we will have a number of families helped by this personally, maybe marriages saved. And it will help them develop a plan to pay off this debt and avoid the stigma of bankruptcy. It would be a good thing and is an important part of this bill. I am confident of this because on my study of this issue. I offered an amendment to this bill which was adopted.

The bill also requires, during bankruptcy, that people who do declare bankruptcy participate in a debt management class. We found in some districts as much as 40 percent of the bankruptcy filings are by people who filed bankruptcy before. We need to educate them on some basic principles of how to manage their money and hopefully they will not come back again and other debts will not be abrogated.

This legislation would require debtors to provide more financial information, including tax returns. It provides for random audits requiring referrals for possible criminal prosecution. I was a Federal prosecutor for 15 years and we formed a bankruptcy fraud task force to deal with this problem. The truth is that there are very, very few bankruptcy fraud prosecutions in America. This is Federal court. We expect people to be truthful in what they submit, and those who are not honest must suffer criminal sanctions, or the word will get out among the bankruptcy lawyers that it doesn't make any difference and that nothing will ever happen to you if you are not candid and truthful in filling out your statements.

It also allows creditors to represent themselves; that is, people to whom money is owed can go down to bankruptcy court to represent themselves without a lawyer. The Presiding Officer here today, Senator GRASSLEY, felt very strongly about that provision. And the truth is, it is a key issue. If you have a $500 debt owed to the garage, the furniture store, the jewelry store, or whatever, you may spend that much on a lawyer to go down there and represent you. What kind of relief is that, if you cannot go yourself, if you have to spend more on collection than what you collect? Senator GRASSLEY has been very steadfast in believing that we need to change that situation. It is a good step in this bill, because most of these matters are not that complicated. All you really need is a verified claim from the person who is owed the debt.

So I believe this bill represents a major step forward. It is a bill that seeks to lift our standards as Americans to encourage people to pay their debts if they are able to, to train and educate them so they will not get in financial trouble in the future. That is something we ought to do, to perhaps reduce this ever-increasing spiral of bankruptcy filings.

It is a good bill. I am disappointed, shocked, and really stunned that we are now at a point where we cannot even get the bill up for debate and we have to deal with a filibuster and we are going to have to have a cloture vote on whether or not we even consider this legislation. It is not controversial. It is good legislation. It is carefully crafted. It is good for America. It is good public policy. It calls people to a higher standard, eliminates abuse and fraud and criminality, and ought to be something that will go through this Congress with the most minimal objections.

I do not know what politics are behind the objection here. Sometimes I think it is just a desire to keep this Congress from passing anything and utilizing every rule and technical objection that can be made to frustrate the normal working through of good legislation. At any rate, I believe we will prevail on this motion, we will get the bill up, and I believe it will pass in this chamber as it did in the House, and then we will have done something good in this Congress: We will have reformed a bankruptcy system that is out of control.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the Senator from Missouri.

THE IRS AND BASEBALL FANS

Mr. BOND. Mr. President, I rise today as a proud St. Louis Cardinals baseball fan. I have been a St. Louis Cardinals fan a lot longer than I have been a U.S. Senator, and I have never been more proud of the team, nor of the city and the State which supports that team.

This weekend we saw the fabulous Mark McGwire hit home runs 60 and 61. And it was truly electrifying, not only for the people who were in the stands and watched the huge home runs—and when Mark McGwire hits a home run generally it is huge. He bounced one off of the dining room of the Stadium Club and it dropped back down beneath. There used to be a time when people didn't even think somebody could hit the Stadium Club. He has hit balls so far in Bush Stadium that they automatically start measuring them. The announcer of the Cardinal baseball games, the fabulous Jack Buck, talks about calling air traffic control to warn about it.

There are a couple of things that I think need to be mentioned. No. 1, Mark McGwire is the kind of fine human being whom we need as a role model for our young people today, when the national spirit is sagging and we are talking about scandals. Here is a man, the first thing he did when he came to St. Louis was make a significant donation to the St. Louis Children's Hospital. He is a man who worships his son. When he crossed the plate after hitting his 61st home run, he picked up his 10-year-old son. There were some who were worried that the son might be in danger because of his enthusiasm. But Mark McGwire is truly an American hero.

I would say also the same thing for Sammy Sosa, who was in the outfield with the Cubs when that 61st went out. Sammy Sosa is a class ballplayer, one we can be proud of.

I will tell you something else that Missouri and the Midwest and America can be proud of, the young men who caught the home runs 60 and 61. When they were asked, ''Are you going to sell it for a million dollars?'' They said, ''No, we are going to give it back to Mark McGwire.'' And this selfless act, giving the ball back to the guy who hit it so he could give it to Cooperstown, epitomizes the spirit. The signs in the stadium said ''Baseball City U.S.A.'' St. Louis is very proud of being Baseball City and everybody who comes in there is proud of it, and they are proud of the spirit of the fans who are there. But you have to know, the Grinch appears.

Today's New York Times, classic spot for the Grinch to appear: ''Fan Snaring Number 62 Faces Big Tax Bite.''

Now, get a life. The IRS spokesman has confirmed that the person who gives the ball back to Mark McGwire might be facing a gift tax of $150,000. The young man who caught number 60 is just out of college and he works in the promotion department of the Rams. The guy who caught number 61 is the catering manager who had to go to work at 4:30 this morning. They are going to have to pay $150,000? Now, that is about as ludicrous as anything I have seen. If the IRS wants to know why they are the most feared, disliked agency in town, this is the classic example.

The New York Times interviewed a spokesman for the IRS who said: ''I can confirm your understanding of how the gift tax works. The giver of the gift is required to file a gift tax return. We'd have to take a look at all the circumstances: the value of the gift and who owns the baseball.''

I am asking my colleagues to join me in a letter to the Commissioner of the IRS. We come here as Democrats and Republicans, but I know there is a strong, bipartisan enthusiasm for the support of baseball. And for the Commission to tolerate somebody saying that a fan who gives the ball back to Mark McGwire could owe a $150,000 gift tax is outrageous.

The IRS needs to lighten up. The fact that the Tax Code could allow for such a ridiculous thing is one thing. We are going to be tackling the issue of tax reform in Congress. We have done much on the Taxpayer Relief Act. We have made strides. The new Commissioner has talked about making the IRS a consumer-friendly agency, but it is absolutely ridiculous that the IRS would seriously consider imposing a tax on a generous fan who happens to catch the historic ball and return it. Get a life. Surely there are baseball fans among the clever lawyers and accountants at the IRS who can devise reasons why this good deed should go unpunished. My staff and I are available to work with them. I think we can find a way to take care of it.

But if the IRS wants to know what their problems are, they have to look no further than this threat. I have to tell you that if you do not think people are paying attention, our e-mail has been running, our fax machine; the calls are coming in.

Dean Pfeiffer of Lee's Summit said:

What a better issue to use to highlight the need for tax reform. How can anyone defend a tax system that penalizes such a selfless act?

Scot George said:

This tax on this person is as unAmerican as Saddam Hussein. I urge you to act swiftly against the IRS on this matter.

Mr. President, I warn you, there is a revolution brewing. There may not be enough agents to collect a gift tax from somebody who returns the 62nd baseball back to Mark McGwire.

I do have a letter here to Commissioner Rossotti asking him to review this situation and clarify it so that when the fan catches the ball—we know he is going to be surrounded by security. The security is very tight to make sure he is not physically abused. And it is a jungle out there when people are going for the ball. We have security to protect him. We want to keep the IRS agents off of him.

I say to my colleagues, if they wish to join me in signing this letter to the Commissioner to call this serious matter to his attention, I will have it today and it will be available for them to do so. I think that the time has come to say that a fan who catches a historic home run ball and gives it back to the guy who hit it should not be stuck by the IRS.

I thank the Chair and yield the floor.

Mr. GRASSLEY addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. SESSIONS). The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY. First of all, I want to compliment the Senator from Missouri for his comments. He, along with me and Senator KERREY of Nebraska, was very much in the middle of the work of the IRS commission as representatives of the Senate on that commission, and also working with the legislation as members of the Finance Committee to bring about the consumer-friendly IRS that the legislation is supposed to do.

Obviously, I am chagrined that there is still an attitude within the IRS that would be interpreting tax law the way that the Senator from Missouri has described it. I think he has accurately described it, because this morning when I was preparing to come to work I heard on WTOP the very news story to which the Senator from Missouri refers. I could only think in terms of, well, maybe it is a joke. Obviously, it is not a joke.

But I also thought in terms of Mr. Rossotti, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, had to be hearing that same report as we did. And before he got to the office, I hope that he had made some phone calls to make sure that this erroneous interpretation of law would be corrected, because that is what I would expect from Mr. Rossotti.

To the Senator from Missouri, I will be glad to sign the letter that he has. I would also hope that Mr. Rossotti has this situation taken care of before the letter is received from the Senator from Missouri.

Also, I would expect that the Senator from Missouri expects Mr. Rossotti, who is not a tax attorney and who was hired specifically by the President of the United States because he came from the business world, from an organization and a business that he formulated that was only successful because he was able to satisfy his consumers—he built his organization from a few employees to several thousand employees. He was willing to give this up because he knew that the challenge of making the IRS a more consumer-friendly organization was a legitimate challenge that had to be met, and he was willing to do that.

So I see in Mr. Rossotti a person who is going to get this taken care of very quickly so we do not have to worry that when that 62nd home run is hit by McGwire that there is going to be a tax consequence as a result of hitting the 62nd home run.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I withhold that.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I wonder if the Senator could yield me some time. I do not know what the situation is on the floor right now.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, we are to recess at 12:30, and the Senator from Iowa has time on the bankruptcy bill.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Before I yield, I think the thing to do—how much time is left?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. You have until 12:30.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I yield the Senator 5 minutes.

Mr. HARKIN. I thank the Senator for yielding me time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I will speak for 5 minutes in morning business.

THE FARM CRISIS

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, farmers continue to suffer huge losses through absolutely no fault of their own. No other business has less control of the price they can receive for what they produce, the cost of the inputs. Farmers cannot control the weather. They cannot control the world economy. They cannot control what is happening in Asia. But those factors do determine the price of corn, soybeans, wheat, and other commodities. The Freedom to Farm bill passed in 1996 sharply reduced the farmer's safety net to take care of those contingencies over which the farmer has no control.

Now farm prices are crashing to levels not seen in decades. Many farmers are going to have a difficult time acquiring funds needed to pay their bills this year and to get the necessary money to get the fields prepared and to get the seed and the fertilizer to get the crops in the ground for next year.

Many farmers could lose their farms that have been in their families for generations. I recently talked with an older farmer who said, ''That's my life's savings. I made it through the eighties. I'm a good manager. I weathered that terrible storm in the eighties. And now this may wipe me out after a lifetime of work.''

I am sure the Senator from Alabama knows. He has a lot of farmers in his State. There is the old adage that farmers live poor and die rich. They have all that money in that land. That is their retirement system. They work hard all of their lives. They do not live high on the hog. Then it comes time to retire. That is their equity. And now that is being severely eroded, not to mention the young farmers who have gotten started, carrying a debtload who will be really forced out of agriculture, never to return.

Well, it is already having a terrible ripple effect, not only on farms but in small towns and communities all over America. Layoffs are starting to occur at agricultural equipment manufacturing companies and in stores. I think we are just beginning to see the stages of what could become a very severe downturn in rural America.

Last week, a number of Senators and I proposed a series of modifications in ag programs to help alleviate the problem. But I take the floor this morning to say that I believe Congress should also pass a provision broadening existing tax law that will allow farmers to recover taxes paid in the past to cover their net operating losses right now.

Mr. President, under existing law, businesses, including farmers, can be reimbursed for their business losses by receiving a rebate for taxes paid in the prior 2 years—or 3 years in cases in which there is a natural disaster. Well, we are facing a large economic disaster that can really sink us in rural America.

What I am proposing—and I will be shortly introducing a bill to do so—I propose that family farmers be allowed the option to get a rebate from the taxes that they paid over the past 10 years, covering up to $200,000 in operating losses rather than the 2 years that is allowed under current law.

Many farmers cannot receive a rebate for their operating losses because they were not able to make any taxable profits in the last couple of years. By being able to go back 10 years, we will allow these farmers to be able to get a rebate next year and then limit it to $200,000 so it would be available to all family farms, up to a limit of $200,000 in net operating losses.

The benefit would only go to farmers whose families are actively engaged in farming and whose business activity is mostly farming. The amount of the rebate would be dependent on the amount of the loss and the tax rate paid by farmers for the paid taxes that are being restored.

The provision I am proposing would cover losses occurring in both 1998 or 1999.

If passed this year, farmers would be able to calculate their losses early next year and receive a rebate from the IRS for the taxes paid in earlier years very soon thereafter. This proposal would provide a significant amount of relief when it is needed early next year. It would help many farmers acquire the funds they need, as I said, to get the fields prepared and get the feed and fertilizer and bills paid so they can continue on next year.

I might add that there is some precedent for this. There was a case in 1997 where Amtrak was allowed to use net operating losses of their predecessor railroads going back over 20 years in the past. So there is precedent for this. If we can do it for Amtrak, I think certainly we ought to be able to do it for our family farmers. I am hopeful at some point this fall either under a tax bill, if we are going to have one, or under some other vehicle, that we can at least put this provision in.

I know my colleague from Iowa has another provision that would allow farmers to invest some of their profits for up to 5 years without being taxed until the money is used in poorer years, which is a great provision, one I also hope gets through.

Right now, the farmers are facing the fact that they don't have any money. I think maybe the two coupled together will get them some funds. If they went ahead and invested and used a provision of my colleague from Iowa, we might have a situation to help get some of the farmers through the next couple of years.

I just wanted to bring that to the attention of Senators. I hope to be introducing that very shortly. Again, I don't mean to belabor it, but we are seeing really bad times out there. I used these charts last week. I will use them again in case other Senators may be watching that didn't watch last week. Since July 16, wheat, corn, and soybeans are all down—I used central Illinois only as a measuring point—21 percent decline in the past 6 weeks in corn, 21 percent decline in soybeans in the last 6 weeks, and a 13 percent decline in the past 6 weeks in hard red winter wheat in Kansas City. We see no signs this will be alleviated any time soon. It looks like we will have a record crop of soybeans this year, a record crop, and probably the second or third largest corn crop we have ever had. So this will be hanging over the marketplace. We need to do everything we can.

Again, I hope that we will have some provisions very soon that will remove the caps on the loan rates and even provide emergency provisions for the Secretary to be able to pay storage payments to farmers, to store some of that grain so that they don't have to dump it this fall. They can keep it until next year. Maybe the Asian economy will come back; maybe there won't be very good weather next year, whatever; maybe the prices will come back next year. Let the farmer have the freedom to market that grain at some point down the line rather than just dumping it on the market this year.

There are other provisions that we will be talking about, but I think those are the major ones that will help get us through a very, very difficult year in agriculture and all over the world.

I thank my colleague for yielding me the time.

RECESS UNTIL 2:15

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will now stand in recess until the hour of 2:15 p.m.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 12:32 p.m., recessed until 2:16 p.m.; whereupon, the Senate reassembled when called to order by the Presiding Officer [Mr. COATS].

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

(2) the love and affection that Angela's friends and colleagues share for her be recognized; and

(3) Angela's pride in work and home be recognized as the standard to which all should aspire.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, we have just adopted a resolution paying our respects, without any doubt in my mind, to one of the most wonderful women who has worked in the Senate, Angela Raish. She has worked in my office for 21 years. Many hundreds of people in the Senate and many thousands out in my State and around the Nation know her as one of the best women who has ever served in this institution. She served this Senator well, but in doing that, she also has helped literally hundreds of people who none of us are even aware of. We are going to pay tribute to her later in the week with an event here in the Senate, and there will be a lot of people who will come to say thank you to Angela.

I wanted to take with us to that event this resolution where the Senate recognized her 21-year effort. The resolution accurately depicts much about her life and what she has accomplished, the many outstanding jobs she has held, and obviously the longest tenure in my office working for the Senate. I thank the Senate for passing this resolution.

NATIONAL CHILDREN'S MEMORIAL DAY

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of Calendar No. 513, S. Res. 193.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 193) designating September 13, 1998, as ''National Children's Memorial Day.''

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. DOMENICI. I ask unanimous consent that the resolution and preamble be agreed to en bloc, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and statements relating thereto be printed in the RECORD at the appropriate place as if read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The resolution was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution (S. Res. 193) with its preamble reads as follows:

S. RES. 193

Whereas approximately 79,000 infants, children, teenagers, and young adults die each year in the United States;

Whereas the death of a child is one of the greatest tragedies suffered by a family; and

Whereas support and understanding are critical to the healing process of a bereaved family; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) designates December 13, 1998, as ''National Children's Memorial Day''; and

(2) requests that the President issue a proclamation designating December 13, 1998, as ''National Children's Memorial Day'' and calls on the people of the United States to observe the day with appropriate ceremonies and activities in remembrance of infants, children, teenagers, and young adults who have died.

Mr. DOMENICI. I thank the Senate. I yield the floor. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 1999

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, on behalf of the majority leader, I ask the Chair to lay before the Senate Calendar No. 440, S. 2237, the fiscal year 1999 Interior appropriations bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 2237) making appropriations for the Department of the Interior and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1999, and for other purposes.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR

Mr. GORTON. I ask unanimous consent that Bruce Evans, Ginny James, Anne McInerney, Leif Fonnesbeck, Kevin Johnson, Kurt Dodd, and Carole Geagley of the Appropriations Committee staff; Chuck Berwick and Kari Vander Stoep of my personal staff; and Hank Kashdan, Mary Ellen Mueller, and Craig Leff, detailees with the Appropriations Committee, be granted privileges of the floor during consideration of S. 2237.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, it is my pleasure to bring before the Senate the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations Bill for Fiscal Year 1999. The bill provides $13.4 billion in discretionary budget authority for agencies and programs under the subcommittee's jurisdiction, an increase of $265 million above the FY 98 freeze level, but $660 million less than the President's budget request.

As always, putting this bill together has been a great challenge. The subcommittee received more than 2,000 individual requests from Senators regarding particular projects or programs, the majority of which were requests for additions to the President's budget request, which I have already mentioned is well in excess of the amounts available to the Subcommittee. While Senator STEVENS has been as generous with the Interior Subcommittee as I could reasonably expect him to be given the constraints of the discretionary spending caps, the subcommittee's allocation is such that the FY 1999 bill in large part continues programs at or near the current year level. There are significant, but modest, increases for a handful of high priority programs, but for the most part there are few surprises or dramatic new funding initiatives.

As Members consider whether particular programs in this bill have been treated fairly within the constraints of the subcommittee's allocation, I hope they will consider two factors. First, for the first time since Fiscal Year 1995, this bill does not mandate a sale of oil from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve to pay for the costs of operating the reserve. An oil sale at current price levels would be unwise to say the least. But the fact that this bill does not include an oil sale means that the Subcommittee had to find $155 million for operation of the Reserve that was not included in last year's base. As a consequence, the increase in the Subcommittee's allocation is effectively only $110 million above the freeze level.

The second factor of which I want my colleagues to be aware when evaluating this bill is the impact of increases in Federal pay, benefits and other fixed costs. The Interior bill as a whole is one of the most personnel-intensive of the appropriations bills, supporting tens of thousands of park rangers, foresters, Indian health professionals and other Federal workers. Each year the agencies funded in this bill must accommodate increases in pay and benefits for these workers, and similar cost increases over which the Subcommittee has no direct control. In FY 1999, these ''uncontrollable costs'' will amount to more than $200 million.

Lest any of my colleagues feel these costs are attributable to a bloated bureaucracy, I note that Department of the Interior staffing in Washington, D.C. is 17% below its 1993 base—despite a significant expansion since that time in the number of parks, refuges, and other Interior programs, most of which have been authorized by Congress. This 17% reduction is the second greatest among all civilian cabinet agencies. While the Subcommittee continues to seek efficiencies and to terminate wasteful programs, yearly increases in pay and related costs for core Federal employees continue to consume most or all of any increases that the Subcommittee may receive in its allocation.

Having noted two of the major factors impacting funding levels in this year's bill, I want to highlight some priority programs where we were able to provide modest—but significant—increases. The bill includes a $55 million increase for operation of the national park system, including increases over the current year level of $18 million for park maintenance, $15 million for special need parks, and $10 million for an across-the-board increase in park operations. These increases will benefit all parks, but particularly those units with severe operational shortfalls and critical deficiencies in maintenance funding. The bill also provides a $10.6 million increase in refuge operations and maintenance, which follows a $41 million increase provided in last year's bill.

For the Forest Service, this bill places a heavy emphasis on improving accountability within the agency. A number of General Accounting Office reports and various Congressional hearings have clearly demonstrated that the Forest Service lacks the fundamental ability to account for its expenditures, and has shown a growing level of overhead and indirect expenses that corresponds with a decline in on-the-ground accomplishment. I am disturbed by these problems, but at the same time am wary of overreacting by mandating controls that may be counterproductive. I do see indications that the agency is determined to address its accountability problem.

With these considerations in mind, I have included language in the bill to require increased accountability by eliminating the general administration line item, and requiring the Forest Service to display clearly the source of funds that go to overhead and other indirect expenses. We have also consolidated three budget line items, where maintenance functions are performed along with other work, into two distinct line items where only maintenance, reconstruction and construction activities occur. I hope that actions such as this, along with commitment from top Forest Service officials, will help the agency to institute proper management controls and clean up its accountability mess.

The other major Forest Service initiative in this bill deals with the amount of timber the Forest Service will be expected to offer for sale. In 1990, the Forest Service offered for sale approximately 11 billion board feet of timber. In fiscal year 1999, the Administration proposes to offer only 3.4 billion board feet. That's a 69% reduction. Many of my colleagues know first hand the devastating effect that this reduced timber program has had on timber dependent communities. With timber growth rates far in excess of 10 billion board feet per year, it is unconscionable that the administration proposes a timber offer level of less than one-third of that amount. Accordingly, the Committee has provided additional funding, and expects the Forest Service to sell approximately 3.6 billion board feet of timber in fiscal year 1999. This amount is 200 million board feet more than proposed by the administration, but about 200 million board feet less than the fiscal year 1998 level. I also want to note that this 3.6 billion board feet figure is a correction of the 3.784 billion board feet figure incorrectly included in the Committee report.

The bill also includes $10 million for the administration's Millennium initiative for historic preservation projects of national importance. Due to the constraints of the Subcommittee's allocation and a general aversion to beginning new programs, I had not intended to provide funds for the Millennium program. But I found the Millennium program's primary advocate —the First Lady—to be very persuasive when she called me at the urging of Senator BUMPERS. I look forward to working with her to define better how these funds might be used. To balance the increase provided for historic preservation projects on a national level, the bill also includes a 20 percent $6 million increase for the existing grants-to-States program in the Historic Preservation Fund account.

The bill also includes funds for a number of specific historic preservation projects, including $3 million for the Smithsonian Institution for rehabilitation of the Star Spangled Banner. This appropriation will complement non-federal funds that have been pledged for this project by the Pew Charitable Trusts, and most recently by Ralph Lauren. The bill also provides funds to continue construction of the National Museum of the American Indian on the Mall, and to continue renovation of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

For the agency that receives perhaps more attention than any other in this bill—the National Endowment for the Arts—the bill provides just over $100 million. This is precisely the same funding level as was approved by the Senate last year, but a slight increase over the final appropriation. I also note that the bill continues the several reforms that were agreed to during deliberations on the fiscal year 1998 bill, including restrictions on individual grants, subgrants, and seasonal support; limitations on total grants to any one State, and increased emphasis on arts education and programs for under served populations. With the House having voted by a substantial margin to provide level funding for the NEA, the gap to be bridged in conference will be far narrower than it was last year. The National Endowment for the Humanities is funded at $110.7 million in the Senate bill, the same as the fiscal year 1998 level.

For the Indian Programs that comprise approximately 30 percent of the Interior bill, the biggest challenge for the Committee was to attempt to fill the gaping hole left by the administration's budget request for the Indian Health Service. Facing the challenges of a deteriorating infrastructure, increasing service population growth, and a relatively high rate of inflation in the medical services sector, the Indian Health Service was nevertheless the only major Interior bill agency that did not share in the bounty of the administration's inflated budget request.

The Committee has provided a $53 million increase for the Indian Health Service, $34 million more than the budget request. This includes more than $16 million to staff newly completed health facilities—an item for which the administration inexplicably did not request funding. The amount provided also includes funds to cover a modest portion of IHS's fixed cost increases, which the administration also did not include in its budget.

To some extent the increase provided for the Indian Health Service comes at the expense of the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Although the bill does provide a $15 million increase for the Operation of Indian Programs account, the overall BIA budget is essentially flat. But even if the resources available to the Subcommittee were less constrained, I think it would be imprudent to provide a significant increase for the largest of BIA programs—Tribal Priority Allocations—until we develop a more rational means of allocating TPA funds. As it stands, some $757 million in TPA funds are distributed in a manner that ignores the relative financial health and needs of the recipient Tribes.

Though its history is difficult to trace, the current allocation system seems to have been developed piecemeal over a period of decades through a combination of departmental, tribal and congressional actions. Each of these individual actions may have made perfect sense at the time at which it was taken. But their cumulative effect has been to create a system in which a number of quite wealthy tribes receive far greater per capita TPA allocations than some of the most destitute tribes. While I cannot imagine that such a system would ever be seen as appropriate, it is almost offensive in a time when Federal appropriations are severely constrained by balanced budget requirements, and when a number of tribes are profiting quite handsomely from business ventures such as gaming.

The bill before the Senate attempts to address this inequity by mandating that the BIA identify the top 10 percent of tribes in terms of per capita tribal revenue, and directing the BIA to distribute half of the TPA payments that would have gone to those tribes to the 20 percent of tribes with the lowest per capita tribal revenue. The bill also directs BIA to develop possible formulas for the future distribution of TPA funds, and gives the Bureau authority to collect the information required to develop such formulas.

I recognize, that this is not a perfect solution. Many have expressed concerns about the manner in which funds are proposed for distribution in FY 1999, the extent to which BIA should be authorized to collect financial information from the tribes, and the degree to which tribes themselves should be involved in the reallocation process. But few, if any, have argued that the current distribution system is either just or a wise use of taxpayer dollars. I have had extensive discussions about this issue with the Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs, Mr. Kevin Gover, as well as with Senator CAMPBELL, Senator INOUYE and other interested colleagues. I am pleased that these discussions have resulted in alternative language that I believe will have widespread support and can be adopted as an amendment to this bill. The new language permits the wealthiest tribes to return voluntarily Tribal Priority Allocations to the BIA for redistribution to the neediest. However, the substitute language does not diminish the Federal Government's trust responsibilities or that tribe's ability to access future appropriations. In addition, the Bureau of Indian Affairs is directed to develop, within Congressionally mandated obligations, a new method for distributing TPA funds by April 1, 1999. Finally, the substitute language excludes from the redistribution plan payments made by the Federal Government in settlement of claims and judgments and income derived from lands, natural resources, or funds held in trust by the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. President, in this bill there are a number of other legislative provisions and limitations on the use of funds about which my colleagues may have heard. The administration and its advisors in the environmental community have evidently decided to attack these provisions en masse, arguing that they represent ''stealth'' or ''dark of night'' attacks on the environment by Republicans. This tells me three things. First, the administration is reluctant to argue any one of these issues on its merits. Second, the administration has not been paying attention in any of the dozens of Congressional hearings that have been held on these issues, the vast majority of which included administration witnesses. And third, the administration is either unaware of, or is choosing to ignore, the historic oversight role of the Appropriations Committee under the leadership of both Democrats and Republicans.

There are indeed several legislative provisions and limitations on the use of funds in this year's Interior bill. There are a few more such provisions than were in the Senate version of the bill last year, but fewer than in the final FY 1997 Act. Some of the provisions have been inserted at the request of fellow Republicans. Some, such as the mining patent moratorium and the moratoria on offshore oil and gas development, are included at the request of the administration or my Democratic colleagues. These provisions are inserted in appropriations bills for one of several reasons, Mr. President. Some are included to address critical health and safety issues that require immediate attention. The King Cove road provision falls into this category. Other provisions are included because they are an integral part of the Committee's fiscal oversight role. The provision regarding distribution of TPA funds falls into this category, as does a provision in the bill that provides for the orderly termination of the overpriced and out of control Interior Columbia Basin Ecosystem Management Project.

But perhaps the single most common reason that legislative provisions and limitations on the use of funds are included in this bill is the overzealous use of regulatory powers by the executive branch without the adequate involvement of Congress or the public. This is the dynamic that has prompted any number of such provisions, from the moratoria on offshore oil and gas development that are included in this bill year after year, to the provision in this year's bill that requires a comprehensive study of regulations governing mining on public lands. If it seems that there are more limitations on the use of funds in this bill than there have been in the past, it is very likely because this administration has made a conscious decision not to engage Congress in a constructive dialogue on a whole array of critically needed reforms to insensitive land management decisions, and has instead decided to press the top-down, Washington, D.C.-knows-best agenda of its extremist environmental allies through the use of Executive orders and over broad regulatory actions that in some cases are downright insulting to me as a member of the legislative branch.

In about every case, these riders have the support of all—or a vast majority of—the members of the House and Senate in the districts and States to which they apply. Generally speaking, Members of both bodies defer to judgment of the Members affected by regional policies and issues. This administration, however, constantly demands the right to override the views of Members immediately affected, and their constituents, with a constant and pervasive ''DC knows best'' attitude. In any debate over these issues, I ask my colleagues to listen with care and sympathy to the Members whose constituents lives are so often arrogantly ignored by unelected bureaucrats.

If the administration or any Member of the Senate wishes to discuss or debate the merits of any individual provision in this bill, I am willing to do so. But I find it ludicrous—if not offensive—for the Administration simply to lump every provision it finds the least bit inconvenient onto one list of so-called ''objectionable riders,'' condemn the use of such provisions as some new and nefarious practice, and to demand that all such provisions be removed under threat of a veto. I fully anticipate some give and take with the administration as this bill moves through conference, but it is not the job of the Senate simply to approve administration requests for funding and trust that it will be spent wisely and in accordance with the intent of Congress. We have plenty of experience to the contrary, both with the current and previous administrations.

Finally, I want to address an issue about which I am asked persistently, and that is the disposition of the $699 million 'special' appropriation for land acquisition included in the FY 1998 bill. My colleagues may recall that $362 million of those funds remain to be allocated to specific projects. That allocation will be made by agreement of the House and Senate committees, and will be transmitted to the administration by letter. I have had several discussions with Chairman Regula about this issue, and hope that we—together with Senator BYRD and Congressman YATES—can agree on an allocation of at least half of these funds in the very near future. I unfortunately cannot now say exactly when this allocation will be finalized, but I am confident that it will be soon, and that we will do our best to balance the priorities of the Senate, the House and the administration.

On a personal level, I want to say one final thank you—for the record—to Sue Masica, who has for years been Senator BYRD's clerk for the Interior Subcommittee. Sue has been a tremendous resource for me and my staff, and I can say with great confidence has also been of assistance at one time or another to just about every Member in this Chamber, whether that Member knew it or not. Sue is now the Associate Director of Administration for the National Park Service, a position in which I know she will excel. I wish her the very best. I also want to recognize Sue's replacement—Kurt Dodd—and welcome him to the Committee staff.

On my personal staff, I thank Chuck Berwick, Kari Vander Stoep, and Todd Young for their many contributions to this bill. I also thank Bruce Evans, Ginny James, Anne McInerney, Hank Kashdan, Leif Fonnesbeck, Kevin Johnson, and our detailee Mary Ellen Mueller for their hard work and long hours spent on this bill. I also thank Carole Geagley and Craig Leff of Senator BYRD's staff, and Steve Cortese, Jim English and Jay Kimmitt of the full committee staff for their many courtesies and willing assistance given to me and my staff.

With that, I look forward to hearing from my friend and colleague, the Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, I thank my distinguished colleague, the chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee on the Department of Interior and Related Agencies. I speak in support of the fiscal year 1999 interior appropriations bill. This is an important bill which provides for the management of our Nation's natural resources and funds research critical to our energy future. It supports the well-being of our Indian populations and protects the historical and cultural heritage of our country. I hope the Senate will move swiftly through the bill.

It has been my privilege, Mr. President, to serve as the Ranking Member for this bill at the side of our very able Chairman, the senior Senator from Washington. Senator GORTON has done an outstanding job in crafting the bill and balancing its many competing interests, and crafting the Interior bill is not an easy task. The Interior bill remains one of the most popular appropriation bills, funding a diverse set of very worthy programs and projects. The bill is full of thousands of relatively small, yet very meaningful details. Our Chairman is a master of the complexities of the bill, and it is a pleasure to work on this appropriations bill with Senator GORTON. He has treated Senators fairly and openly. This bill was put together in a bipartisan manner, and it reflects priorities identified by many Senators, by the public, and by the agencies that are charged with carrying out the programs and projects funded in the bill.

The breadth of the activities covered by the Interior bill is vast—ranging from museums to parks to hospitals to resources to research—with most of the funds being spent far away from the Capitol and far away from Washington. This bill funds hundreds of national parks, wildlife refuges, national forests, and other land management units. The bill supports more than 400 Indian hospitals and clinics and thousands of Indian students. A wide variety of natural science and energy research and technology development is funded through this bill, providing immediate and far-reaching benefits to all parts of our country and to our society as a whole.

This bill makes its presence known in every State—from the rocky coasts of Maine to the mountains of California, from the coral reefs of Florida to the farflung island territories of the Pacific, from the Aleutian Islands in Alaska to the Outer Banks of North Carolina. And the number of requests that Senator GORTON and I have received from Senators for project funding in the Interior bill numbers more than 1,400—1,400 requests for specific items. This reflects its broad impact. While it is impossible to include every request, Senator GORTON has done an admirable job of accommodating high-priority items within the allocation, an allocation that is $660 million below the President's budget request and $290 million below last year's enacted level in new spending authority. Since the bill is at its allocation, any additional funding sought by Senators will need to be offset.

Mr. President, highlights of this bill include:

A total of $233 million for land acquisition, which is $37 million below the President's request and $38 million below the level of funding included in title I and title II of last year's bill for land acquisition.

A continuing emphasis on operating and protecting our national parks. Park operation funds are increased by $55 million, including $15 million targeted for the special operations initiative, $10 million for an across-the-board increase for all parks, and $14 million for maintenance.

A total of $10 million for the President's Millennium initiative, ''Save America's Treasures.'' In addition, specific funding for critical historical and cultural resources is contained in the normal funding categories—items such as restoration of the Star Spangled Banner at the Smithsonian Institution, presevation of Independence National Historical Park in Philadelphia, protection of buildings at the Edison National Historic Site, and stabilization and protection of the Longfellow National Historic Site.

A continuing focus on the maintenance backlog needs of the land management agencies. Specific increases include: +$6 million for BLM facilities maintenance; +$10 million for FWS refuge operations and maintenance; +$18 million for NPS maintenance; and +$13 million for Forest Service road maintenance.

A total of $155 million for the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, allowing operation of the reserve without selling any of its oil.

An increase of $45 million above the President's request for the Indian Health Services program to help cover fixed costs. The administration's budget gave no consideration to these needs for IHS.

A net increase of $35 million for energy conservation programs—including increases for weatherization assistance, the building equipment and materials program, the industry sector programs, and the transportation programs.

Mr. President, while this bill provides needed resources for protecting some of our Nation's most valuable treasures, we still have a long way to go. The agencies funded through this bill are starting to make progress towards addressing their backlog maintenance issues, thanks in great measure to the leadership of the Congress, the expansion of private-public partnerships, and the development of innovative user fees.

But we are by no means out of the woods. Many deplorable conditions remain; many important resource and research needs are unmet. We must continue our vigilance towards unnecessary new initiatives as well as unwise decreases, our support for the basic programs that provide the foundation of the Interior bill, and our careful stewardship of the resources and assets placed in our trust.

Mr. President, the chairman and manager of the bill has already stated for the record many of the salient points that are covered in the bill, many of the items, many of the programs and projects. There is no need for my repeating them here.

Lastly, Mr. President, I extend a warm word of appreciation to the staff that have assisted the chairman and myself in our work on this bill. They work as a team and serve both of us, as well as all Senators, in a very effective and dedicated manner. On the majority side, the staff members are Bruce Evans, Ginny James, Anne McInerney, Leif Fonnesbeck, Mary Ellen Mueller, and Kevin Johnson. On my staff, Sue Masica, Kurt Dodd, Craig Leff, and Carole Geagley have worked on the Interior bill this year. This team works under the tutelage of the staff directors of the full committee—Steve Cortese for the majority and Jim English for the minority.

In closing, Mr. President, I want to share my deep appreciation for the wonderful words that members of the subcommittee and full committee have spoken about Sue Masica, the minority clerk for the bill, who recently accepted a position with the National Park Service. Sue was the best of the best. She will be sorely missed by myself and by the other Senators. Her dedication, acumen, and team spirit epitomize the Senate and the appropriations process.

Mr. President, this is a good bill, and I urge the Senate to complete its action promptly. And I urge all Senators to support the bill in its final passage.

I yield the floor.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. THOMAS). The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENT NO. 3541

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I send an amendment to the desk and ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The bill clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Washington [Mr. GORTON], for Mr. JEFFORDS and Mr. TORRICELLI, proposes an amendment numbered 3541.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

''SEC. . Up to $10 million of funds available in fiscal years 1998 and 1999 shall be available for matching grants, not covering more than 50 percent of the total cost of any acquisition to be made with such funds, to States and local communities for purposes of acquiring lands or interests in lands to preserve and protect Civil War battlefield sites identified in the July 1993 Report on the Nation's Civil War Battlefields prepared by the Civil War Sites Advisory Commission. Lands or interests in lands acquired pursuant to this section shall be subject to the requirements of paragraph 6(f)(3) of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 (16 U.S.C. 460l–8(f)(3)).''

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, last year about this time during the debate on this bill, the Senator from New Jersey, Mr. TORRICELLI, and the Senator from Vermont, Mr. JEFFORDS, proposed an amendment to earmark certain amounts of money for the preservation and protection of Civil War battlefield sites. At that point, while as a Civil War buff I greatly sympathize with them, we didn't know where the earmark would come from. It is now possible in this bill to meet the most worthy goals of that pair of bipartisan Senators.

This amendment earmarks up to $10 million of both fiscal year 1998 and 1999 money—$10 million total—for matching grants for up to 50 percent of the total cost of any such acquisition with

States and local communities and private entities based on a July 1993 report of the Nation's Civil War battlefields prepared by the Civil War Sites Advisory Commission. So it means that there will be more leverage for the acquisition of various Civil War battle sites, mostly, I think, on secondary battles.

It is a highly worthy proposal. I very much favor it. At the same time, the majority leader, feeling that the Senate absolutely needs to do its business, and because as is usual and customary, unfortunately, at the beginning of debate over appropriations bills, we don't get people down here to offer their amendments, he has asked me to move to table the amendment and to take a vote on that. Therefore, Mr. President, I move to table the amendment and I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At the moment there is not a sufficient second.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, for the moment, one of the sponsors being here, I withdraw the motion to table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Motion withdrawn.

Mr. JEFFORDS addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Vermont is recognized.

Mr. JEFFORDS. Mr. President, I rise in support of the amendment and against the motion to table. This amendment was worked on by many of us who sincerely believe that the future of this Nation must rely, to a certain extent, on our good understanding of the past and of history and of the battles that this Nation fought in its infancy—basically, the Civil War battlefields.

As we approach the next millennium, many of these battlefields are very critical in understanding the history of the Civil War. And in understanding the sacrifices made by so many Americans, Senator TORRICELLI, myself and others, with the great cooperation of the Senator from Washington, worked out a plan where we could raise a sufficient amount of money to really work with States and local governments to be able to take care of and preserve those battlefields that are so important in understanding the history of the Civil War.

So I have opposed the motion to table and support very strongly the underlying amendment.

I yield the floor.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I move to table the amendment and ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the motion to table amendment No. 3541. The yeas and nays have been ordered.

The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. NICKLES. I announce that the Senator from Rhode Island (Mr. CHAFEE), the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. GRAMS), the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr. GREGG), the Senator from Texas (Mrs. HUTCHISON), the Senator from Idaho (Mr. KEMPTHORNE), and the Senator from Pennsylvania (Mr. SANTORUM) are necessarily absent.

Mr. FORD. I announce that the Senator from Delaware (Mr. BIDEN), the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. DODD), the Senator from California (Mrs. FEINSTEIN), the Senator from South Carolina (Mr. HOLLINGS), the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. KENNEDY), the Senator from Louisiana (Ms. LANDRIEU), the Senator from New Jersey (Mr. LAUTENBERG), the Senator from Vermont (Mr. LEAHY), the Senator from Illinois (Ms. MOSELEY-BRAUN), the Senator from Washington (Mrs. MURRAY), and the Senator from Oregon (Mr. WYDEN) are necessarily absent.

The result was announced—yeas 0, nays 83, as follows:

The motion to lay on the table the amendment (No. 3541) was rejected.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, as I said, this was in the nature of a vote that was appropriate for a Tuesday afternoon. I am very much in favor of this amendment. I do not believe there is any further debate on the amendment. I trust the President will put the question.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. If there be no further debate, the question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment (No. 3541) was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Washington.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I have a series of amendments that we may be able to deal with soon, none of which will be particularly controversial. The Senator from Tennessee, Mr. THOMPSON, does have a different subject to which he would like to speak shortly. I intend to defer to him on that.

But the important message to all of our colleagues, the message in effect given by this last vote, is this is an important appropriations bill. It is, in fact, controversial. We have a list of perhaps 60 amendments that are likely to come up on it at one point or another. Members should, I hope, be prepared to come to the floor of the Senate with those amendments and have them considered in an orderly fashion under which there is a reasonable amount of time for debate rather than to crowd them up against the end of the debate on this bill.

It may very well be that later on in the afternoon we will have an amendment on this bill on an entirely different and very controversial subject, which will then essentially take us off of the Interior bill. Before that takes place, however, the managers of the bill would be very pleased to deal with amendments that relate to the bill itself. I ask Members to come to the floor with those amendments.

With that, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to be allowed to speak as in morning business for 10 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. THOMPSON. I thank the Chair.

(The remarks of Mr. THOMPSON pertaining to the introduction of S. 2445 are located in today's RECORD under ''Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.'')

Mr. THOMPSON. Thank you, Mr. President. I yield the floor.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I hope within a few minutes to have a few corrective amendments to offer to the bill, but seeing no one with an amendment on the floor at the present time, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. ENZI). The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I have spoken to the subcommittee Chair who is managing the appropriations bill that is now on the floor and have asked him if it is all right if I speak in morning business for a few minutes. If someone comes to the floor with an amendment on this bill, if he will signal to me, I will certainly discontinue so he may continue making progress on the bill.

I want to speak about the agriculture crisis briefly, and I ask unanimous consent to speak for 10 minutes as if in morning business.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AGRICULTURE CRISIS

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, we have a number of things to complete and to discuss and debate in the coming 5 or 6 weeks before this Congress finishes its work. Many of them are very important. The work of the Appropriations Committee in getting the appropriations bills done on a timely basis is critically important. All of us understand that. I am here today to talk about one specific issue that must be addressed. It is an issue that must be addressed on an urgent basis by this Congress before it completes its work in the 105th Congress. The issue is the farm crisis that exists in rural America.

I come from a rural State, the State of North Dakota, which is the size of 10 Massachusetts in landmass. It has 640,000 residents, and 40 to 50 percent of our State's economy comes from agriculture, and our system of family farming. I have spoken on the floor at some length about the problems and challenges we face these days.

In the last year, family farmers in our State suffered a 98-percent drop in net farm income. Yes, I said a 98-percent loss of their net income. Now, these are families who have elected, for a variety of reasons, to populate rural America. They own a farm. They raise livestock. They till the soil and produce grain. They produce America's foodstuffs. They take enormous risks, often with very few rewards. They live out in the country and they turn that yard light on at night, and that illuminates a family out there somewhere living on the land trying to make a living.

What is happening these days in the Farm Belt is that grain prices have collapsed, and livestock prices are way down. These family farmers who have risked everything they have and invested it in their hopes and dreams in making this family farm work, are now all too often standing with tears in their eyes as their farm is being sold at an auction sale.

This country will lose something important if it loses its family farmers. I suppose we could farm America from California to Maine with giant agrifactories. We could have big corporate farms and a farming system where nobody lives on the land and there are no yard lights because nobody is there at night. Do we want corporate agrifactories farming America? This country will have lost something very important in its culture and in its economy if we lose our family farmers. And, we will lose them if we don't decide as a Congress to take action soon.

Congress needs to tell farmers that this nation wants to help them through these troubled time. We need to build a bridge across these price valleys, when grain prices, cattle prices and hog prices collapse. We want to help. But, if we don't do that soon, we won't have many farmers left.

This isn't about Democrats and Republicans, or conservatives and liberals; it is about values and whether we in this Congress believe that family farming contributes to this country. I consider myself a Jeffersonian kind of Democrat. A Jeffersonian Democrat is somebody who really believes in broad-based economic ownership in this country, and who believes that the political freedoms we enjoy in this country could not exist without economic freedom. Such freedom comes only with broad-based economic ownership. It does not come with concentration, nor with big corporations, but with broad-based ownership in which the men and women of America are out there investing in farms and small businesses. Nowhere is that broad-based economic ownership more important and more apparent to the economic health of this country than on America's farms and ranches.

I was in a Quonset building a couple of days ago in North Dakota. It was in the evening and there was a picnic out on the farmstead. Farmers from all around the county came. About 100 folks gathered there. This young fellow who owned this farm hadn't finished taking off his grain. He had been trying hard, but he hadn't gotten it all off the field yet. As we were in this Quonset hut at this picnic, the clouds began to form out in the west. First they were blue and then almost black. Those clouds came in as part of a vicious, vicious storm. It came with a vengeance with wind, hail, rain. Inside that Quonset, it sounded almost like war as the huge hailstones were hitting that steel roof, making a loud, echoing sound together with the pelting rain.

I watched those farmers in that Quonset building look at those clouds. I started to understand what that storm meant when tears welled up in their eyes and they were shaking their heads. Some of these farmers knew that storm was probably wiping them out, destroying their crop, and probably destroying their hope to get something off of those fields and get it to the market and pay some bills.

Those are the risks our farmers face. Two years ago, the Congress passed the farm bill. I didn't vote for it. I didn't think it was a good farm bill. In the last 2 years, wheat prices have dropped 57 percent, right off the table. This is critical to us because wheat is the largest cash crop in North Dakota that the family farmers raise. In addition to wheat prices collapsing on us, we have also had the worst crop disease in the century. The most damaging is known as fusarium head blight or scab. So we have had crop diseases, together with the wet cycle that has fostered these diseases, a collapse in prices, and we have had auction sales all across the State. Family farmers are wondering whether they can continue. Their lenders are saying, ''I don't think you can continue because the farm bill Congress passed has decreasing support prices in the out years, and it doesn't look good. Maybe you ought to get out now and save whatever little equity you can.'' That is the position farmers now find themselves in too often in rural America.

So the question for us is what should we do about it? In July this Senate passed a bill that included $500 million in what is called an indemnification program. Senator CONRAD and I authored that, along with Senator CRAIG and others. That bill is now going into conference committee with the House. We need to get that bill through to try to get some short-term help to family farmers. The indemnification program will have to be increased because of other disaster situations. The Texas cotton crop was devastated. Louisiana, Oklahoma, and other States now face an increasing crisis in family farming and in agriculture.

In addition to that bill, it seems to me the Congress has a responsibility now to reach out to family farmers and say: ''We made a mistake a couple years ago. We need to build back some sort of price support program for you. We don't want to tell you when to plant, or how to plant, or what to plant. We don't want to do that. But we want to say that you matter and we care about family farmers, and we want to provide some basic kind of price bridge to get you over these price valleys.''

We only have a couple of weeks to do that. I find it disturbing that in our economic system that almost everyone who touches something that a farmer grows or produces is making money with it. Farmers buy the seed and they buy the equipment to plant the seed. They put the fertilizer in the ground. They hope it doesn't hail, and that the insects don't come. They hope it doesn't rain too much. And, they hope it rains enough. Then maybe they get a crop. When they harvest the crop, they hope when they put it in the truck and drive it to the elevator, they will get a decent price for it. Any problem along the way may mean they are gone, broke, and out of business.

Let's assume that farmer gets through the year and harvests the grain and gets a dismal price for it. That is what is happening right now. What happens to this harvest? Somebody puts it on a train and they put it on those tracks and down the tracks it goes. And guess what? The railroads are making money. Do you think they aren't making money off that wheat? The farmer who planted and harvested it didn't, but the railroads are making money, I suspect record profits. Then it goes to a miller. The millers are doing fine. They are making money. Then it goes to some plant someplace where they are going to make breakfast food out of it. They take that kernel of wheat and put it into a plant and they puff it up. They make puffed wheat. They put it in a box and send it to a store and somebody buys the puffed wheat. They are making money off it. The people who move it, the people who puff it and crisp it, and the people who sell it in a store make money. Everyone makes money except the people who produced it. The family farmers don't make money from their harvests. They are going broke. What kind of a system is that?

Speaking of disconnections in the system, let's look further at our food system. We have a system that doesn't make sense. As farmers go broke we have circumstances where halfway around the world today, we hear that old women are climbing trees in Sudan trying to find leaves to eat because they are on the abyss of starvation. Millions are starving.

At the very same time an old woman is climbing a tree to get leaves to eat in Sudan, a farmer is loading a 2-ton truck to take to the country elevator, and when they get there, the elevator operator says, ''We're sorry, this wheat isn't worth anything; the market has collapsed. This wheat doesn't have value.'' What kind of a disconnection is that? In the same world, halfway around the globe, people are starving and those who produce the best foodstuffs in the world are told it doesn't have value. There is something wrong with that picture as well.

My hope is that in the coming 4 or 5 weeks, Republicans and Democrats will understand that it is our responsibility as a country to say to that this most important sector, the agriculture sector, matters. We need to especially tell our family farmers that they matter and that we are going to make a difference by passing a price support mechanism of some type that gives them a chance to survive.

Let me add one final piece to this.

In addition to saying that price supports will be available when prices collapse and we want family farmers to survive, this Congress also ought to do something to help family farmers survive by saying we will correct the problems in the trade agreements that we have negotiated over recent years that have been to the detriment of family farmers.

Almost no one wants to hear my recitation of the trade problems because they have heard it so often.

We send negotiators to go to negotiate with Canada, and we have an $11 billion trade deficit with Canada. They finish the negotiations, bring the treaty back to Congress, Congress passes the treaty, and the trade deficit doubles. They send negotiators to go negotiate with Mexico. That is done. They send it to Congress, and Congress approves it—not with my vote—and a surplus turns into a big deficit. They send negotiators to go out and negotiate a GATT agreement. The same thing: Record trade deficits.

Mr. President, there is something wrong.

Mr. President, there is something dreadfully wrong when our family farmers and other producers in this country—but especially family farmers—are told: ''You compete in the open market. It is a global economy. You go compete.'' And our negotiators somehow fail to suit up. I don't think it should be necessary for our negotiators to wear a jersey reminding them for whom they are negotiating. But, somehow they should be reminded. Maybe we ought to have our negotiators wear a jersey like they wear in the Olympics that says ''USA'' just so they understand whom they represent. Maybe the next time they bring a trade treaty back to the U.S. Senate they can bring one back that serves our economic interest. We need trade agreements that are not driven by foreign policy, but instead are guided by hard-nosed economic policy that represents our economic interests.

Now we are told that in the next week or so we are going to have fast-track trade authority brought to the floor of the Senate. Good luck. This fast track is going to do more of the same trade stuff that got us into this trouble. Not with my vote. I intend to stand here and object to every single thing that is asked and every single thing that is requested to get fast track to the floor of the Senate. I am only one person. I probably can't stop it. But I can sure slow it down some. I fully intend to do that.

I have something to say to those folks who are so all-fired anxious to bring fast-track trade authority back to the floor of the Senate based on the package already reported out of the Senate Finance Committee. If you are so anxious to talk about trade, why don't you figure out how to deal with the problems created in our previous trade agreements. Before you start trying to figure out how you send people over to do new trade treaties with other countries, fix a few of the problems. Fix the problems with Canada. Tell our farmers why a flood of Canadian grain can come across in this direction, and a pickup truck with a few kernels gets stopped at the Canadian border, and they have to sweep the few kernels off because you can't take a few kernels of wheat into Canada. Tell our farmers how that is free trade. It is not. Fix those trade agreements before you come to us talking about more fast-track trade agreements.

I just want to say this to the majority leader and others. If you think this place is going to move quickly, trying to bring fast track to the floor of the Senate is a sure fire way of slowing down the proceedings of the Senate. I guarantee it. Fast track will not solve the farm crisis. It is the farm crisis that has to be our priority in the remaining few weeks of this session.

I hope very much that we can agree on a bipartisan basis on the need and the urgency to address the farm crisis. I hope that we can do that on a bipartisan basis. Farmers don't get up in the morning or go to bed at night as Republicans or Democrats. They don't care with respect to their long-term economic survival whether it is a Republican or a Democratic plan. They care about whether it is a plan that works. They need a plan that says to them that we care about them and their future.

I hope that all of us who come from farm country and who represent rural America can join together and decide to do something meaningful, something real, and something that really does help family farmers before we adjourn this 105th Congress.

I wanted to make those comments because in the next week or so I expect there will be amendments offered once again on the floor of the Senate dealing with farm price supports that need to be passed. I will also be involved in the Appropriations Committee in conference with the House to move forward with the $500 million indemnification program which Senator CONRAD and I and others authored and that we have already passed through the Senate. And we may be working on other issues as well, including the trade issue that I just described.

Mr. President, let me thank the Senator from Washington for allowing me to make some interim comments. I noticed I wasn't interrupted. I guess that means no one showed up to offer an amendment on his Interior bill.

Let me also say that I am a member of the Appropriations Committee and a member of the subcommittee. I very much respect his leadership. I think he does an excellent job with this piece of legislation. I say that because tomorrow I intend to offer an amendment that I hope he will perhaps accept. But I thank him again for allowing me the time to interrupt the legislation on the floor.

Mr. President, I yield the floor. I make a point of order that a quorum is not present.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll to determine the presence of a quorum.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that as and when these amendments are adopted, they be considered as original text for the purpose of further amendment, should a Senator desire to do so.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, these are primarily a set of rather small and technical amendments. The first one, for Senator CRAIG, strikes section 333 regarding recreation residence fees and modifies section 343 of last year's bill on that subject. It is more modest than the section 333 that it strikes.

The second amendment by the distinguished occupant of the Chair subjects certain reserved mineral interests to the Mineral Leasing Act.

The next set of amendments, all of which carry my name, are a technical fix to section 332 on prescribed burning operations; a technical amendment to section 328 on the authority given to the Forest Service to acquire independently a general ledger system; a technical change to section 339 on the prohibition of the use of timber purchaser road credits; a technical change to section 331 on Forest Service regulations on the use of fixed climbing anchors; a technical change on the financial statements from the Office of Special Trustee, this at the administration's request; a technical correction on reprogramming procedures; an amendment to the BIA language relating to other tribes taking land into trust from within the boundaries of the original Cherokee territory; a proposal by Senator REID on the BLM modifying section 125 to correct and clarify the legal description of lands to be conveyed; and one of my own relating to the Forest Service, a technical correction regarding accounting for indirect expenses.

As I said, Mr. President, these tend to perfect sections that are included in the bill and under my unanimous consent request will be subject to further amendment if any Member desires to do so just as if they were a part of the original bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendments en bloc.

The amendments (Nos. 3543 through 3553) were agreed to en bloc.

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Walter Dunn, a fellow working in Senator BINGAMAN's office, be accorded privilege of the floor during the pendency of S. 2237.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. GORTON. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the amendments were agreed to en bloc and move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

Mr. GORTON. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll to determine the presence of a quorum.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard. The clerk will continue to call the roll.

The bill clerk continued with the call of the roll.

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I renew my request.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. SMITH of Oregon). Is there objection? Hearing none, it is so ordered.

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I have no intention of offering an amendment at this time. As I understand it, we are waiting for Senator MCCAIN to come to the floor to offer an amendment on campaign finance reform. I hope we could have that debate sometime this afternoon.

I hate to see time pass without having the opportunity to talk about the array of issues that are pending before this body. Obviously, campaign finance reform is a matter of great concern to many Senators on both sides of the aisle, and I know Senator MCCAIN and Senator FEINGOLD have indicated their desire to offer an amendment, as I understand it, this afternoon. Senator LOTT, now, has expressed a desire to have a vote on campaign finance reform at some point this week. Given Senator LOTT's pessimism about its chances for passage, I assume that he believes that he has the necessary votes to defeat the amendment, or to defeat a move to bring cloture on the amendment this week.

I will tell you, it will not be the last vote we have on campaign finance reform, because we will offer it again and again. Whether it is Senator FEINGOLD and Senator MCCAIN or others, I think it important that we ultimately have a vote on the issue itself.

While we wait on that particular vote and that debate, which I hope will take place sometime soon, I call attention also to the other amendments we wish to offer.

We will be offering an amendment on the Patients' Bill of Rights. We believe it is essential that we have the opportunity to come to closure on that important issue as well. It has passed in the House, as has campaign finance reform. They are both now pending in the Senate. We have indicated a willingness to take up the Shays-Meehan bill as it exists, pass it, and send it on for signature.

We are not quite prepared to do the same on the Patients' Bill of Rights. We think we can improve on the House-passed bill, and having that debate is very important.

In addition to that, we will be offering a series of amendments, as we have noted in the past, on agriculture. I have just returned from South Dakota with a similar impression as others who have returned from their home States about how serious the situation is and how problematic it is becoming for an increasing number of our producers. We will offer an amendment to increase the loan rate. I hope on a bipartisan basis we can support that.

We will offer an amendment to provide storage payments to farmers so they are not forced to sell their grain now.

We will be offering an amendment to provide for loan deficiency payments for corn silage, something farmers are so desirous of having simply because they are forced to sell grain that is absolutely worthless right now. At least silage will give them an opportunity to feed their livestock.

We will be offering other amendments, because we don't believe there is any other choice.

Mr. President, one could make the argument that with all of this work to be done, we simply can't consider running the Senate in a business-as-usual fashion. We have to take into account the end of the session, the plethora of legislative needs that are out there, and the agenda that places before us.

So we will be offering a proposal. Our proposal is really pretty simple. Our proposal is that we approach the legislative schedule between now and the end of the session in two shifts; that we take the first shift to address the appropriations bills and some of the array of issues that the majority leader has considered scheduling. As I understand it, we will have a vote tomorrow on missile defense. We will have the bankruptcy bill and other bills.

But then we propose a second shift. Beginning early in the evening and going until whatever time it takes each night, we would dedicate the Senate to the needs that we haven't addressed and the array of issues that the majority leader says we don't have time for. We do have time for them if we make time. We do have time for them if we actually engage in what businesses do all the time. If they want to increase production, they go to a second shift.

The time has come for us to increase production. The time has come for us to recognize that we can't consider the Senate agenda in the remaining time that we have available in a business-as-usual fashion. We have yet to pass a budget. Unbelievable as it may be, regardless of what the law requires, our Republican leadership has renounced the law, has abdicated their responsibilities, and has concluded that they somehow can violate the requirements of the law and not pass a budget resolution. I am not sure how you do that. I am not sure of the legal implications of doing it. But if we are not going to address a budget resolution simply because, as the leadership has noted, we don't have time, then, again, our solution, our suggestion, is that we make time.

Let's consider a second shift. Let's consider working overtime. Let's consider doing what we must, as any business, as any manager, would do. With all the work that is before us, let us consider doing what we must and putting in the hours to resolve these issues and complete our work before the end of the session.

Mr. President, it is really not very complicated. If we work until a certain time as if we were going to adjourn, then move to the second shift and take up the second agenda, we can complete our work. As I understand it, things like this have been done before, and it is time we do it now. We have very few days left. Less than 6 weeks from now, the Senate is anticipating adjournment. We simply can't adjourn without having addressed and passed campaign finance reform. We can't adjourn without having addressed and passed a Patients' Bill of Rights. We simply can't adjourn without having addressed and passed an array of tools to provide agriculture with the ability to survive.

All the issues I have mentioned, and many others, beg our consideration and demand our attention. I hope we can address them in a way that will accommodate the needs of both parties and caucuses and the expectations of the American people.

I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. MCCAIN. I ask unanimous consent reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. (The text of the amendment is printed in today's RECORD under ''Amendments Submitted.'')

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I appreciate the cooperation of the majority leader in bringing this amendment up. I see my friend from Kentucky on the floor. I look forward to vigorous debate in the next couple of days. I know that the majority leader is going to file a cloture motion. I believe it is important that we bring this issue again before the Senate since the House of Representatives obviously acted on this issue.

I do want to point out that the majority leader has assured me we will have 2 full days of debate on this, which will mean a cloture vote sometime late Thursday afternoon. I appreciate that. I hope that we will on this occasion prevail. I again look forward to a vigorous debate on this issue.

I yield the floor.

However, I ask unanimous consent that that consent notwithstanding, there be an opportunity to discuss another amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Section 129. (a) In the event any tribe returns appropriations made available by this Act to the Bureau of Indian Affairs for distribution to other tribes, this action shall not diminish the Federal Government's trust responsibility to that tribe, or the government-to-government relationship between the United States and that tribe, or that tribe's ability to access future appropriations.

(b) The Bureau of Indian Affairs shall develop alternative methods to fund TPA base programs in future years. The alternatives shall consider tribal revenues and relative needs of tribes and tribal members. No later than April 1, 1999, the BIA shall submit a report to Congress containing its recommendations and other alternatives. The report shall also identify the methods proposed to be used by BIA to acquire data that is not currently available to BIA and any data gathering mechanisms that may be necessary to encourage tribal compliance. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, for the purposes of developing recommendations, the Bureau of Indian Affairs is hereby authorized access to tribal revenue-related data held by any Federal agency, excluding information held by the Internal Revenue Service.

(c) Except as provided in subsection (d), tribal revenue shall include the sum of tribal net income, however derived, from any business venture owned, held, or operated, in whole or in part, by any tribal entity which is eligible to receive TPA on behalf of the members of any tribe, all amounts distributed as per capita payments which are not otherwise included in net income, and any income from fees, licenses or taxes collected by any tribe.

(d) The calculation of tribal revenues shall exclude payments made by the Federal Government in settlement of claims or judgments and income derived from lands, natural resources, funds, and assets held in trust by the Secretary of the Interior.

(e) In developing alternative TPA distribution methods, the Bureau of Indian Affairs will take into account the financial obligations of a tribe, such as budgeted health, education and public works service costs; its compliance, obligations and spending requirements under the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act; its compliance with the Single Audit Act; and its compact with its state.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, this amendment provides funding for a wide array of programs throughout the Interior bill, predominantly to meet requirements such as fixed cost increases in maintenance, the $60 million offsets derived from excess funds held in escrow pursuant to the Petroleum Overcharge Distribution and Restitution Act. These funds are in excess of the funds projected to be required to pay any restitution pursuant to the act.

I ask unanimous consent that a more detailed description of the amendment be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

The Amendment provides for the following:

Additional $2.3 million for fixed costs increases in the Bureau of Land Management. Funding at this level will provide approximately 75% of the agency's requested uncontrollables. The agency will continue to be expected to find efficiencies to offset the remainder of the request.

Additional $1 million for wilderness management in the Bureau of Land Management, which increases this activity to the FY 98 level ($300,000 below Administration request). Funds will address routine wilderness management responsibilities.

Additional $5 million for fixed costs increases in the Fish and Wildlife Service. Funding at this level will provide approximately 50% of the agency's requested uncontrollables. The agency will continue to be expected to find efficiencies to offset the remainder of the request.

Additional $10 million for Park Service maintenance.

Additional $3 million for the Bureau of Indian Affairs to address the probate backlog for Individual Indian Money accounts. Consistent with BIA's strategic goal to address the title backlog, which is the subject of several lawsuits. The cost of dealing with the total backlog is estimated at over $12 million, according to most recent figures, available only after President's budget was released. The additional funds over FY98 funding of $573,000 will hire temporary staff, provide overtime to existing staff and provide funds to self-governance tribes to research about 300 backlogged estates of about 1,300 total. This funding will fully meet Administration request and is $2 million over the House mark.

Additional $2.2 million for support related to the Cobell v. Lujan litigation. The elimination of backlogs is a component of the Trust Management Improvement Project overseen by the Office of the Special Trustee.

Additional $3.5 million for BIA law enforcement for Law Enforcement in Indian Country initiative.

Additional $1.7 million for Bureau of Indian Affairs environmental cleanup. The EPA is threatening BIA with fines related to remediation of underground storage tanks. In addition, BIA is trying to perform an environmental audit related to tanks and open dumps.

Additional $2 million for Stewardship Incentives Program in the Forest Service to equal the Administration request. Reflects strong interest in this program by numerous senators. Will improve the overall survivability of the program in light of the House action to provide no funding.

Additional $1 million for Forest Legacy program in the Forest Service to equal Administration request. Reflects strong interest in this program by numerous senators. The additional funds will further support efforts to obtain management easements for especially sensitive properties of significant national interest.

Additional $4 million for Forest Service road maintenance, reflecting Committee's commitment to address the severely deteriorating Forest Service infrastructure by increasing the amount of roads being maintained to planned standards. This will be of significant value in reducing erosion and damage which is harmful to watersheds within the national forests and adjacent lands.

Additional $5 million for Indian Health Service contract support. The Administration flat-lined Contract Support at $168 million, and the House and Senate figures are already above that level, with House at $195 million and Senate at $170 million. However, reality is that shortfall is estimated to be upwards of $90 million in total ($33 million for FY98 alone). The additional funding would still be short of House amount but is better than Administration request.

Additional $500,000 each for the Wheeling National Heritage Area, the South Carolina National Heritage Corridor, and the Augusta Canal National Heritage Area in the Park Service, National Recreation and Preservation account.

Additional $1 million for the heating and cooling system at the U.S. Geological Survey Leetown Science Center.

Additional $500,000 for land acquisition at the Ohio River Islands National Wildlife Refuge.

Additional $1,000,000 for the Forest Service for a multi-state cooperative noxious weeds research program.

Additional $1 million for BLM land acquisition at the Santa Rosa Mountains National Scenic Area.

Additional $1 million for construction of a visitor center at the White River National Wildlife Refuge.

Additional $1,975,000 for land acquisition at Cumberland Island National Seashore.

Additional $200,000 for the Bureau of Indian Affairs for a job placement assistance program operated by the United Sioux Tribes Development Corporation.

Additional $1 million for the Forest Service construction account for the Institute of Pacific Islands Forestry.

Additional $325,000 for reconstruction at the North Attleboro National Fish Hatchery.

Additional $750,000 for land acquisition at the Tensas River National Wildlife Refuge.

Additional $500,000 for the recently authorized National Underground Railroad program in the Park Service.

Additional $1 million for the Fish and Wildlife Service for the Clark County, NV Habitat Conservation Plan.

Additional $1 million for demonstration of modular fuel cells at no more than ten Department of Energy facilities.

Additional $200,000 for Spartina grass research by the Forest Service.

Additional $500,000 for the Park Service Hecksher museum renovation.

Additional $2.25 million for the Park Service for the construction of the Blue Ridge Parkway Visitors Center.

Additional $1 million for the Park Service for construction at the Black Archives & Research Center at Florida A&M University.

Additional $1 million for the Fish and Wildlife Service for habitat restoration in the Black River, a tributary to the Coosa River.

Additional $3.3 million for rehabilitation of the Acadia National Park water and sewer system.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that this amendment be agreed to and the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment (No. 3557) was agreed to.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I thank the managers of this bill for their hard work in putting forth annual legislation which provides federal funding for all of the agencies within the Department of the Interior, the Indian Health Service and several forestry programs. Many of the programs funded within this bill are vital to the preservation of our National Parks and to protect our precious natural resources.

I regret that I must again come forward this year to object to the $351.8 in additional spending above the budget request included in this bill and its accompanying report. This is an improvement over last year's FY 98 Interior appropriations bill, which contained $584.6 million in pork-barrel spending. However, $351.8 million is still an unacceptable amount of money to spend on low-priority, unrequested, wasteful projects. In short, Congress must curb its appetite for such unbridled spending. The multitude of unrequested earmarks buried in this proposal will undoubtedly further burden the American taxpayers. I ask unanimous consent that this list of objectionable provisions be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the list was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION: SALARIES AND EXPENSES

Earmark for $150,000 for additional costs that will result from implementation of the Panama Canal Treaty at the Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute.

Earmark for $8,000,000 for expenses associated with equipping and staffing the NMAI Cultural Resources Center in Suitland, MD.

Total Earmarks: $351,804,000.

Mr. MCCAIN. Many of the programs within this proposal are meritorious and do deserve funding. However, should American taxpayers foot the bill for rural and economic development programs solely benefitting the State of Alaska? My colleagues have generously included unrequested funding for $1,000,000 to study mineral resources-at-risk in Alaska under the Bureau of Land Management's budget, as well as including $2,000,000 for the same minerals-at-risk program in Alaska under the U.S. Geological Survey budget. The earmarks do not stop there as $3,000,000 is directed to build visitor use facilities in the Katami National Park and Preserve. The panel has also afforded the borough of Ketchikan $2,000,000 to participate in a cooperative study to determine the feasibility of manufacturing veneer products from southeast Alaska.

Certainly the home state of the Committee's esteemed Chairman is not the only beneficiary of pork-barrel spending. My colleagues have seen to it that the State of Utah will have the funds to build an access road to venues for the winter Olympic Games in 2002. Calling it a ''necessity'' in their report, the Committee funnels $15,000,000 toward the completion of Trapper's Loop Road. In addition, Utah is also slated to receive $1,300,000 to build recreation facilities for the 2002 Games. What is even more egregious is that these funds are directed to be transferred to Utah before the remaining funding can be dispersed to states for other projects.

This bill is weighed down by dozens of other wasteful projects which clearly have skirted the public review process, and in many cases do not serve the greater national interest. For example, why must we expend $500,000 of taxpayer dollars on noxious weed issues for the Okanogan and Colville national forests? Or to replace toilet facilities at a price of $320,000 in the Ouachita National Forest? While the American people are proud of their national heritage and history, is it fair to ask them to pay $10,000,000 for a new National Constitution Center in Pennsylvania?

Mr. President, I do not enjoy coming forth each year for every appropriation bill to decry wasteful spending, but I believe the American taxpayers deserve to know where their hard earned dollars will be spent. Sadly, this bill continues the practice of loading up important spending measures with unnecessary and wasteful pork-barrel projects. I hope that we can restore the faith of the American people in our federal government by honoring our responsibility to them by applying judicious deliberation to our budget process.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BROWNBACK). Without objection, it is so ordered.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—H.R. 4250

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I had noted earlier today that I hoped we could consider a new strategy, or a new way with which to accommodate the growing array of legislative needs that we, as a caucus, and the Senate need to address. I had intended at some point today to offer a unanimous consent request. I will do so, and then I will speak to it in a moment.

At this time I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its consideration today of the Interior appropriations bill, it turn to consideration of Calendar No. 505, the House-passed HMO reform bill, and that the bill become the pending business every day thereafter upon completion of legislative business. I further ask unanimous consent that the bill be limited to relevant amendments.

Mr. BENNETT. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Mr. BENNETT addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that there now be a period for the transaction of morning business, with Senators permitted to speak for up to 10 minutes each, or longer if they obtain consent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

TAKE BACK THE NIGHT ALLIANCE

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, I rise today to honor the efforts of the Take Back The Night Alliance, an organization in the metropolitan Louisville, Kentucky area that is working to end a problem that affects us all in one way or another: violence against women. On Thursday, September 10, as part of Sexual Assault Awareness and Domestic Violence Awareness months, the Alliance will for the first time in its nine-year history kick off a month-long series of events that will create a greater awareness of the attitudes, beliefs and behaviors that perpetuate these specific kinds of crimes.

The statistics of domestic violence are sobering, and I'll give you just a brief sampling here:

A woman is physically abused every nine seconds in the United States.

In Kentucky alone, 80,000 women were victims of domestic violence in 1997.

One out of four females will be sexually assaulted before they reach the age of 18.

For every rape, 10 others go unreported.

Husbands and boyfriends commit 13,000 acts of violence against women in the workplace every year.

The total healthcare costs of family violence are estimated at $44 million each year.

Take Back The Night rallies have been held throughout the United States since 1978. In Louisville, the National Organization for Women has been the organizing force for this event for the past nine years, but over 200 civic organizations, government agencies and businesses have joined this year to sponsor a wide range of activities drawing attention to the problems faced by women who are victims of domestic violence, rape and sexual assault. One group will collect previously owned business clothing for abused women returning to the workforce. Another will sponsor safety and prevention workshops in area hospitals and companies. And yet another will provide materials on date rape and sexual assault to be placed in bars and in women's restrooms.

Louisville and Jefferson County have been recognized as leaders in the field of domestic violence, and I am heartened by the strong outpouring of support that the Take Back the Night Alliance has received from the community. We all know that such success does not happen by accident, and I would like to commend the Alliance leaders for their dedicated efforts to ease the plight of women who are victims of domestic violence, sexual assault and rape.

NATIONAL JEWISH MEDICAL RESEARCH CENTER

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. President, today I pay tribute to the National Jewish Medical Research Center in Denver, Colorado, which has recently been recognized by U.S. News and World Report as the top-ranked Respiratory Hospital in the United States. The work of National Jewish is close to my heart because I watched my mother struggle with tuberculosis throughout her lifetime. She lived and worked in a sanatorium for many years, making it difficult for her to care for my sister and me.

In the late 1800s, Denver's elevation and abundant sunshine made it a mecca for people with tuberculosis. National Jewish treated only patients with tuberculosis until the 1950s, when antibiotics brought the disease under control. The hospital then turned its attention to asthma. Allergies which can develop into asthma, bronchitis, and sinus infections, now attack some 40 million people, double the number 25 years ago. Twice as many people, 15 million, have asthma now, too, at a cost of $6.2 billion a year in missed work and school, in medications and hospital visits.

Today, National Jewish is a world-class institution, a global leader in the research and treatment of lung, allergic and immune diseases. It is ranked as the number one private institution for immunology research in the world and as one of the top 10 independent research institutions of any kind in the world. Tremendous breakthroughs in understanding respiratory disease are taking place in Denver.

Not only is National Jewish recognized world-wide for its research, it is also known for its considerable philanthropic activities in the health care community. Until the mid-1960s, patient care was funded entirely through philanthropy. Today, the hospital continues to provide a significant amount of free and subsidized care to those unable to afford total treatment costs.

Founded in 1899 as a nonsectarian, non-profit hospital for tuberculosis patients, National Jewish enters the 21st century as the only facility in the world dedicated exclusively to pulmonary disorders. It is one of Colorado's treasures. Next year it will celebrate its 100th year of giving health and hope to people suffering from pulmonary diseases.

Today, I want to commend National Jewish on the rich history of patient care and research given to Colorado, to congratulate them on being recognized as the top-ranked Respiratory Hospital in America, and to wish them well as they celebrate the 100th anniversary in 1999.

THE VERY BAD DEBT BOXSCORE

Mr. HELMS. Mr. President, at the close of business Friday, September 4, 1998, the federal debt stood at $5,547,400,016,580.17 (Five trillion, five hundred forty-seven billion, four hundred million, sixteen thousand, five hundred eighty dollars and seventeen cents).

One year ago, September 4, 1997, the federal debt stood at $5,413,849,000,000 (Five trillion, four hundred thirteen billion, eight hundred forty-nine million).

Twenty-five years ago, September 4, 1973, the federal debt stood at $458,627,000,000 (Four hundred fifty-eight billion, six hundred twenty-seven million) which reflects a debt increase of more than $5 trillion—$5,088,773,016,580.17 (Five trillion, eighty-eight billion, seven hundred seventy-three million, sixteen thousand, five hundred eighty dollars and seventeen cents) during the past 25 years.

CONGRATULATIONS TO ALISON AND PARKER BANKS CELEBRATING THEIR FIRST BIRTHDAY

Mr. ASHCROFT. Mr. President, I rise today to encourage my colleagues to join me in congratulating Alison Spencer Banks and Parker James Banks on the anniversary of their first birthday. It was one year ago today that their parents, Sarah and John, were blessed with the gift of life, times two. Alison and Parker will see a much different world in their lifetime, than either myself or my colleagues have witnessed in theirs. Alison and Parker will have to meet the demands of an ''information'' based culture and economy.

As people of freedom reach for opportunity and achieve greatness, our nation prospers. A government that lives beyond its means and reaches beyond its limits violates our basic liberties, and the nation suffers.

All of us assembled here in the United States Senate on this Fourth

Day of September must keep in mind that the decisions we make today will shape the world that Alison, Parker, and their peers will inherit tomorrow. As elected leaders, we must teach them the values of our great democracy.

S. 2441. A bill to amend the Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act to provide to nationals of El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, and Haiti an opportunity to apply for adjustment of status under that Act, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

THE CENTRAL AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN REFUGEE ADJUSTMENT ACT OF 1998

● Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, today I introduce the Central American and Caribbean Refugee Adjustment Act of 1998. This legislation will provide deserved and needed relief to thousands of immigrants from Central America and the Caribbean who came to the United States fleeing political persecution.

In the 1980's, thousands of Salvadorans and Guatemalans fled civil wars in their countries and sought asylum in the United States. The vast majority had been persecuted or feared persecution in their home countries. The people of Honduras had a similar experience. While civil war was not formally waged within Honduras, the geography of the region made it impossible for Honduras to be unaffected by the violence and turmoil that surrounded it. The country of Haiti has also experienced extreme upheaval. Haitians for many years were forced to seek the protection of the United States because of oppression, human rights abuses and civil unrest.

Salvadorans, Guatemalans, Haitians and Hondurans have now established roots in the United States. Some have married here and many have children that were born in the United States. Yet many still live in fear. They cannot easily leave the United States and return to the great uncertainty in their countries of origin. If they are forced to return, they will face enormous hardship. Their former homes are either occupied by strangers or not there at all. The people they once knew are gone and so are the jobs they need to support their families. They also cannot become permanent residents of the United States, which severely limits their opportunities for work and education. This situation is unacceptable and requires a more permanent solution.

Before outlining how this bill will provide a permanent solution, it is important to review the evolution of deportation remedies. Prior to the passage of the Illegal Immigration Reform and Responsibility Act in 1996, aliens in the United States could apply for suspension of deportation and adjustment of status in order to obtain lawful permanent residence. Suspension of deportation was used to ameliorate the harsh consequences of deportation for aliens who had been present in the United States for long periods of time.

In September of 1996, Congress passed the Illegal Immigration Reform and Responsibility Act. This law retroactively made thousands of immigrants ineligible for suspension of deportation and left them with no alternate remedy. The 1996 Act eliminated suspension of deportation and established a new form of relief entitled cancellation of removal that required an applicant to accrue ten years of continuous residence as of the date of the initial notice charging the applicant with being removable.

In 1997, this Congress recognized that these new provisions could result in grave injustices to certain groups of people. So in November of 1997, the Nicaraguan and Central American Relief Act (NACARA) granted relief to certain citizens of former Soviet block countries and several Central American countries. This select group of immigrants were allowed to apply for permanent residence under the old, pre-IIRRA standards.

Such an alteration of IIRRA made sense. After all, the U.S. had allowed Central Americans to reside and work here for over a decade, during which time many of them established families, careers and community ties. The complex history of civil wars and political persecution in parts of Central America left thousands of people in limbo without a place to call home. Many victims of severe persecution came to the United States with very strong asylum cases, but unfortunately these individuals have waited so long for a hearing they will have difficulty proving their cases because they involve incidents which occurred as early as 1980. In addition, many victims of persecution never filed for asylum out of fear of denial, and consequently these people now face claims weakened by years of delay.

Mr. President, the bill I introduce today is a necessary and fair expansion of NACARA. It provides a permanent solution for thousands of people who desperately need one. Specifically, the bill amends the Nicaraguan Adjustment and Central American Relief Act and provides nationals of El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Haiti an opportunity to apply for adjustment of status under the same standards as Nicaraguans and Cubans. While the restoration of democracy in Central America and the Caribbean has been encouraging, the situation remains delicate. Providing immigrants from these politically volatile areas an opportunity to apply for permanent resident status in the United States instead of deporting them to politically and economically fragile countries will provide more stability in the long run. Such an approach is the best solution not only for the United States but also for new and fragile democracies in Central America and the Caribbean. Immigrants have greatly contributed to the United States, both economically and culturally and the people of Central America and the Caribbean are no exception. If we continue to deny them a chance to live in the United States by deporting them, we not only hurt them, we hurt us too.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that a copy of the legislation be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

REPEAL OF LIMITATION ON FOREIGN TAX CREDIT UNDER ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX

● Mr. D'AMATO. Mr. President, today I introduce a bill with my friend and colleague, Senator MOYNIHAN, that would eliminate a fundamental unfairness in the application of the U.S. tax law to taxpayers that have income from foreign sources.

A U.S. citizen or domestic corporation that earns income from sources outside the United States generally is subject to tax by a foreign government on that income. The taxpayer also is subject to U.S. tax on that same income, even though it is earned outside the United States. Thus, the same income is subject to tax both in the country in which it is earned and in the United States.

However, the United States allows taxpayers to treat the foreign taxes paid on their foreign-source income as an offset against the U.S. tax with respect to that same income. This offset is accomplished through the foreign tax credit. In other words, the foreign tax paid on foreign-source income is treated as a credit against the U.S. tax that otherwise would be payable on that same income. Although the details of the foreign tax credit rules are extraordinarily complex (as are the international provisions of the International Revenue Code generally), the basic principle is simple: to provide relief from double taxation.

When it comes to the alternative minimum tax (AMT), this basic principle of providing relief from double taxation falls by the wayside. The AMT was enacted to ensure that individuals and businesses that qualify for various ''preferences'' in the tax rules nevertheless are subject to a minimum level of taxation. However, the foreign tax credit provisions of the AMT operate to ensure double taxation. Under these AMT rules, the allowable foreign tax credit is limited to 90 percent of the taxpayer's alternative minimum tax liability. Because of this limitation, income that is subject to foreign tax is subject also to the U.S. AMT. The result is double (and even triple) taxation of income that is used to support U.S. jobs, R&D and other activities.

Mr. President, there is no rational basis for denying relief from double taxation to that class of taxpayers that are subject to the AMT. Accordingly, the bill Senator MOYNIHAN and I are introducing today will eliminate the 90 percent limitation on foreign tax credits for AMT purposes. By repealing this limitation, relief from double taxation will be provided to taxpayers that are subject to the AMT in the same manner as it is provided to those taxpayers that are subject to the regular tax.

I would hope that our colleagues on both sides of the aisle will join in cosponsoring this necessary legislation.

I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be included in the RECORD.

By Ms. MOSELEY-BRAUN:

S. 2443. A bill to amend title I of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 to reauthorize the public safety and community policy program and to encourage the use of school resource officers under that program; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

SAFE COMMUNITIES AND SCHOOLS ACT OF 1998

● Ms. MOSELEY-BRAUN. Mr. President, today I am pleased to introduce the Safe Communities and Schools Act of 1998. This legislation, I believe, will help American communities continue to prevail in their fight against crime, and will arm local law enforcement agencies and schools with the tools they need to fight the recent outbreak of school-yard violence.

The Community Oriented Policing Program, or the COPS program as it is commonly called, has played a vital role in reducing our nation's crime rate. Since the inception of the program in 1994, the Department of Justice has authorized an additional 76,000 police officers to walk the beat. These additional police officers have been instrumental in helping reduce crime and making people feel safe in their communities.

It is not coincidental that, in my own home state of Illinois, where the COPS program has put an additional 4,113 police officers on the street, we have experienced a substantial drop in crime in recent years. For example, in 1996—the last year for which statistics are available—crime in Illinois was down 11 percent.

I strongly believe that the key to the COPS program's success lies in the community policing strategy that is its guiding philosophy. As the daughter and sister of law enforcement officers and a former federal prosecutor, I can attest to the fact that community policing works. Putting beat cops back into communities allows them to have more contact with the people they protect and gives them an opportunity to prevent crimes before they happen.

But despite the gains that have been made with the advent of the COPS program, the recent spate of violence in our nation's schools is evidence that our crime-prevention efforts are far from complete. Although we are seeing record reductions in youth-on-youth crime, the horrifyingly violent nature of the crimes now being committed by juveniles demands government action.

For this reason, my legislation would use COPS program grants to establish partnerships between local law enforcement agencies and local school systems. Under my legislation, career law enforcement officers, trained in community-oriented police activities, would be deployed to work in collaboration with schools and community-based organizations to, among other things: Combat crime and disorder problems, as well as gang and drug activities occurring in or around elementary and secondary schools; Educate likely school-age victims about crime prevention and safety; and Assist schools in developing policies to reduce crime.

Under my legislation, no new funding beyond that which has already been allocated to the COPS program would be required to finance these school-police partnerships.

By the year 2000, the COPS program will have served to fulfill President Clinton's pledge to put 100,000 new police officers on the street. Currently, the program is only funded through that year, but I believe that it has clearly been successful enough to justify at least a two-year extension. Accordingly, in addition to facilitating new school-police partnership grants, my legislation would authorize that extension and provide the necessary funding to allow local police departments across America to put an additional 25,000 officers on the street.

Providing funds to communities to combat school violence will give local school systems and law enforcement agencies the opportunity to develop new and innovative approaches to reducing youth crime. It is time to stop wringing our hands over the scourge of youth violence and begin to take action. The American people are demanding leadership on this issue and the time has come for those of us who serve in Washington to provide it.

If we are truly serious about preparing the next generation of Americans for the challenges they will face in the 21st century's global economy, we must take action—right now—to guarantee that they are educated in a safe environment. That is why I have fought for a partnership between the federal government and state and local school systems to address the disgrace of our nation's crumbling schools, and that is why I am introducing the COPS legislation I have just outlined. We owe the next generation of Americans at least as much as our generation was given—and the fact is that we were given schools that were physically safe and violence-free.

The success of the COPS program to date demonstrates the wisdom of using it as the vehicle for promoting school safety and for expanding it to put an additional 25,000 officers on community policing beats. The data is in and the results are clear: Community policing works. That is why I am confident that safer schools and safer communities will be the result if the COPS legislation I am proposing today is passed by Congress and signed into law. I urge my colleagues to join me in sponsoring.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

By Mr. THOMPSON (for himself, Mr. NICKLES, Mr. CRAIG, Mr. THURMOND and Mr. HUTCHINSON):

S. 2445. A bill to provide that the formulation and implementation of policies by Federal departments and agencies shall follow the principles of federalism, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

THE FEDERAL ENFORCEMENT ACT OF 1998

● Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, today I rise to introduce the Federalism Enforcement Act, a bill to promote the principles of federalism and to restore the proper respect for State and local governments and the communities they serve. I am pleased that Senators NICKLES, CRAIG, THURMOND, and HUTCHINSON have joined me as cosponsors of this legislation.

Federalism is the cornerstone of our Democracy. It is the principle that the Federal Government has limited powers and that government closest to the people—States and localities—play a critical role in our governmental system. Our Founding Fathers had grave concerns about the tendency of a central government to aggrandize itself and thus encroach on State sovereignty, and ultimately, individual liberty. Federalism is our chief bulwark against Federal encroachment and individual liberty. Our Founders also knew that keeping decision making powers closer to home led to more accountable and effective government. Their federalist vision is clearly reflected in the 10th amendment, which states:

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

The legislation I am introducing today requires agencies to respect this vision of federalism when formulating policies and implementing the laws passed by Congress. It will preserve the division of responsibilities between the States and the Federal Government envisioned by the Framers of the Constitution and established in Executive order by President Ronald Reagan.

The Reagan order on federalism had it right. It directed Federal departments and agencies to refrain from imposing one-size-fits-all regulation on the States. It held that the laws passed by Congress were not presumed to preempt State law unless done so explicitly. It required agencies to assess the impact of agency action on federalism. But the people running the executive branch today, from the top on down, do not seem to feel the Reagan order applies to them. They made this abundantly clear when they tried to revoke it with Clinton Executive Order 13083.

In May, President Clinton quietly signed Executive Order 13083, which by its terms claims to promote federalism. Ironically, this order that is supposed to promote better communication between Federal and local government was issued in secret—without even talking to State and local officials at all. Worse still, the order would seriously undermine federalism and effectively turn the 10th amendment on its head. The Reagan Executive Order 12612 promoted the 10th amendment and set a clear presumption against Federal meddling in local affairs. The new Clinton order would create, but not be limited to, nine new policy justifications for Federal meddling. The list is so ambiguous that it would give Federal bureaucrats free rein to trample on local matters. The new Clinton order also would revoke President Clinton's own 1993 Executive Order 12875 that directed Federal agencies not to impose unfunded mandates on the States.

Understandably, State and local officials were deeply offended by the Clinton order and the White House snub in drafting it. On July 17, the major groups representing State and local officials sent a remarkable letter to the President, urging him to withdraw the order and to restore the Reagan federalism order and the 1993 unfunded mandates order. On July 22, several of my colleagues and I supported State and local officials by sponsoring a resolution calling on President Clinton to repeal his new order. That resolution passed the Senate unanimously. The House also has voiced opposition to the Clinton order. Congressman MCINTOSH held a hearing, and joined with six of his colleagues to introduce a bill nullifying Executive Order 13083.

The White House had a chance to extinguish the firestorm of protest from Governors, State legislators, mayors, county executives, and other local officials around the country by permanently revoking Executive Order 13083. Instead, the White House chose to preserve some wiggle room by ''suspending'' the order on August 5, leading some to ask if that action is permanent or just an effort to delay the order until the opposition dies down. If the President can admit that he made a mistake in signing his federalism order, he should permanently revoke it, plain and simple.

Unfortunately, the White House has yet to correct its insult to State and local officials and the communities they serve. Instead of revoking the Clinton order, the administration is preparing for belated consultations with State and local government representatives. This effort at damage control does not hide the fact that the Clinton order is an open invitation for Federal interference in local affairs, and in the administration's eyes, it is still on the table.

In light of this threat to the tenth amendment principle of a limited Federal Government, Congress must stand ready to act. The Federalism Enforcement Act is necessary to ensure that the current administration exercises some restraint when regulating in areas that affect our States and communities, and respects the principles of State sovereignty and limited Federal Government on which our Nation was founded.

First, the bill directs Federal agencies to adhere to constitutional principles and not to encroach on the constitutional authority of the States. The Clinton federalism order would have shifted the presumption against Federal intervention to provide new policy justifications for Federal interference in State and local affairs. My bill returns us to the language of the Reagan order.

Second, the bill would restore the preemption standards established in the Reagan order. The Clinton order would have encouraged Federal agencies to intrude into State affairs and deleted the Reagan preemption principle that, when in doubt, agencies should err on the side of State sovereignty.

Third, the bill would direct agencies to prepare a federalism assessment of certain agency actions, such as regulations that have significant federalism implications. The Clinton order would have deleted this requirement.

Finally, the Federalism Enforcement Act would express the sense of the Congress that Federal agencies should not propose legislation that would regulate the States in ways that would interfere with their separate and independent functions, attach conditions to Federal grants which are unrelated to the purposes of the grant, or preempt State law in ways inconsistent with the act. Because only the President can enforce this requirement using his article II constitutional powers, it is expressed as a resolution urging him to do so.

The principles of federalism rightly are being reinvigorated. Much of the innovation that has improved this country began at the State and local level. People want important decisions that affect their daily lives to be made in their community—not dictated on high from Washington. And federalism is blossoming in recent constitutional interpretations of the Supreme Court. The Federalism Enforcement Act I am introducing today will continue this restoration of the balance between national and State power as conceived by the Framers of the Constitution.●

S. 2447. A bill to require the Secretary of Agriculture, in consultation with the heads of other agencies, to conduct a feasibility and cost-benefit study of options for the design, development, implementation, and operation of a national database to track participation in Federal means-tested public assistance programs; to the Committee on Governmental Affairs.

FOOD STAMP INTERSTATE FRAUD PREVENTION

● Mr. LUGAR. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce a bill to combat fraud and waste in the food stamp program—overpayments resulting from individuals receiving benefits in two or more states at the same time. This bill is the result of the last in a series of General Accounting Office studies that I requested dealing with groups of ineligible people receiving food stamps. In the report being released today, GAO identifies over 20,000 individuals who received benefits in at least two states at the same time during 1996. Using administrative records from four states (California, Texas, New York and Florida), the GAO estimates overpayments of $3.9 million in those states alone.

Last year the GAO reported to the Agriculture Committee that over $3 million in food stamp benefits were overpaid to prisoners' households. In response we passed legislation to stop prisoners from receiving benefits. Earlier this year, the GAO reported that 26,000 deceased individuals in four states were counted as members of a food stamp household. According to the GAO this resulted in overpayments of an estimated $8.6 million. The Agriculture Committee reported a bill to match food stamp files with Social Security Administration data.

My bill will require the United States Department of Agriculture to conduct a feasibility study to identify options for a national database to track food stamp participants and combat interstate fraud. The GAO's report validates a Department of Health and Human Services computer match of 15 states which found 18,000 potential duplicated Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) cases. This suggests that the problem is not confined to USDA. My bill would direct the USDA to work in consultation with other agencies to develop a systematic approach to developing a national database.

At present there is no appropriate national database that tracks in means-tested benefit programs. States have been working individually on the problem of benefits paid in multiple jurisdictions. For example, some states have developed cooperative agreements with neighboring states to share data. Current state efforts are effective, but anything short of a national system is inefficient.

Mr. President, the welfare reform bill required states to guard against fraud and abuse, and specifically prohibited participants from receiving benefits in two states. However, the bill did not give states tools to combat this type of fraud. The welfare bill also did not give states the tools to implement other important provisions. To effectively implement the TANF and food stamp time limits, some type of national tracking system is necessary.

Therefore, this bill directs the agencies involved to address a broader range of issues than simply the receipt of benefits in different states at the same time. HHS has already fulfilled a congressional mandate to look into some of these issues, so I expect the participants in this new study to use the completed project as a base upon which to build.

Further, I believe that the study should explore the possibility of a ''real time'' database, so that eligibility workers will instantly know if there are any problems with an application. This will avoid the ''pay-and-chase'' problem that forces states to recoup overpayments from beneficiaries after the fact—sometimes years later. This method of fraud enforcement is inefficient, and often a burden on the recipient as well. A national database should not be seen as purely an enforcement tool. There are many cross program benefits for the poor, benefits which may not be apparent today. As with any large governmental database, the study should address how the system will safeguard recipients' privacy and limit unauthorized use and disclosure of data.

Means-tested benefits, including food stamps, provide a safety net for millions of people. We cannot allow fraud and abuse to undermine the food stamp program and welfare reform. Integrity is essential to ensure a program that can serve those in need. It is our responsibility to help end fraud and abuse in all federally funded programs. This legislation is an important step in that direction and will help ensure that welfare reform is a success.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 2447

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that—

(1) during 1997, the Federal Government spent over $21,000,000,000 to deliver food stamp benefits under the Food Stamp Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 2011 et seq.) to over 23,000,000 individuals;

(2) a portion of the funds spent on food stamp benefits annually is misspent through overpayments and fraud, which undermines the integrity and confidence in the food stamp program;

(3) the Comptroller General of the United States has found that—

(A) as many as 20,000 individuals were receiving food stamp benefits in at least 2 to 4 States at the same time during 1996;

(B) due to this duplication, overpayments to the households in those States during 1996 totaled approximately $3,900,000; and

(C) there was a similar duplication of payments in other Federal means-tested public assistance programs, such as the temporary assistance to needy families (TANF) program funded under part A of title IV of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 601 et seq.);

(4) certain States currently have cooperative agreements under which matches of recipients of means-tested public assistance programs are tracked and coordinated with neighboring States, but there is no comprehensive national database or information system to track participation across State lines;

(5) the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 (Public Law 104–193) created a number of requirements to track means-tested assistance throughout the United States, including time-limited receipt of assistance under the food stamp program and the temporary assistance to needy families (TANF) program;

(6) a centralized database would be the most effective tool to prevent receipt of means-tested assistance in multiple jurisdictions and would avoid duplicated effort on the part of States;

(7) according to the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, improved mechanisms to provide accurate information to employees who determine eligibility for means-tested assistance would help prevent overpayments and improve service to clients; and

(8) data sharing at the time of application for means-tested assistance could change enforcement efforts from a pay-and-chase method to a method that would be more proactive and efficient.

SEC. 2. STUDY ON NATIONAL DATABASE FOR FEDERAL MEANS-TESTED PUBLIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Agriculture, in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary of Labor, the Commissioner of Social Security, and the Secretary of the Treasury, shall conduct a feasibility and cost-benefit study of options for the design, development, implementation, and operation of a national database to track participation in Federal means-tested public assistance programs.

(b) ADMINISTRATION.—In conducting the study, the Secretary of Agriculture shall—

(1) study an option under which information in the national database is collected and made available in real-time; and

(2) provide safeguards to protect against the unauthorized use or disclosure of information in the national database.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Agriculture shall submit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under this section.

(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $250,000.●

SMALL BUSINESS LOAN ENHANCEMENT ACT

● Mr. KERRY. Mr. President, today I am joined by Senators WELLSTONE, HARKIN, and LANDRIEU, to introduce the ''Small Business Loan Enhancement Act.'' To give small businesses more of an advantage, we propose small but significant changes to the Small Business Administration's three primary lending programs: the 7(a) guaranteed business loan program, the 504 Development Company program, and the Microloan program. These changes would foster loans to growing women-owned businesses and enhance small business lending by saving costs for small business borrowers, reducing paperwork for lenders, and increasing available capital for microloans and technical assistance. This bill will also enable small businesses to use SBA's most popular loan guarantee program to fix year 2000 problems.

Women-owned businesses are increasing in number, range, diversity and earning power. They constitute one-third of the 23 million small businesses in the United States, contribute more than $2.38 trillion annually in revenues to the economy and range in industry from advertising agencies to manufacturing. Addressing the special needs of women-owned businesses serves not only these entrepreneurs, but also the economic strength of this nation as a whole. Since 1992, SBA has managed to increase access to capital for women and has worked in earnest to move women entrepreneurs away from expensive credit card financing to more affordable loans for financing their business ventures. While the percentage of 504 loans to women-owned businesses has increased from 4.2 percent in 1987 to 14.7 percent in 1998, we need to increase lending opportunities to better reflect that 40 percent of all businesses are owned by women. By expanding the public policy goals of the 504 loan program to include women-owned businesses, we are ensuring that loans to eligible women business owners aren't capped at $750,000 but are now available for as much as $1 million. According to Certified Development Company professionals, loan underwriters are conservative when it comes to approving loans for more than $750,000 and that this directive would undoubtedly help eligible women business owners get the financing they need to expand their facilities and buy equipment as their businesses grow.

In addition to increasing access to capital, the SBA plays a critical role in eliminating barriers that keep entrepreneurs from entering the economy, reducing regulatory burdens and lowering transaction costs. The Senate has an opportunity to reduce time and costs to both lenders and small business borrowers in real estate transactions by modernizing appraisal requirements for real estate transactions for 7(a) and 504 loans. Under current operating procedures, where more than $100,000 of the authorized loan proceeds in a financing package includes real estate (acquisition, construction and improvement to land and buildings), SBA requires a state-certified or state-licensed appraisal. Our bill would raise the requisite appraisal amount to $250,000, consistent with other agencies, including, among others, the Federal Reserve System, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Office of Thrift Supervision. Raising the threshold does not increase the government's risk in these loans because the bill specifies that lenders must require a state-certified or state-licensed appraisal on loans less than $250,000 if that is their standard for similar non-SBA loans. Depending on the area of the country, savings in the 7(a) and 504 programs are estimated to be from $1,000 to $5,000 per loan by requiring an evaluation instead of a state-certified or state-licensed appraisal. In the 504 program, this change is estimated to save money for 2,000 out of the some 6,000 annual 504 borrowers, which are often minority and women-owned businesses.

To complement those regulatory improvements, this bill also encourages lenders to use the 7(a) program for their borrowers by streamlining paperwork requirements those lenders must complete after a 7(a) loan defaults. Two years ago, Congress enacted a requirement that reduced by one percent the interest rate paid on the guaranteed portion of defaulted 7(a) loans. Although the change was expected to substantially decrease the subsidy costs of the program, this has not proved to be the case. Instead, it has created a paperwork burden disproportionately high compared to the savings realized.

To help small businesses meet the escalating challenges of the Year 2000 computer problem, also called the Y2K problem, this bill clarifies Congressional intent that the 7(a) guaranteed loan program be used for this purpose. As amended, the 7(a) loan program will specify that small businesses can use these loans to finance the cost of making their systems and computers Y2K-compliant. In addition to legitimate concerns about function and survival that make this provision important for small businesses, Y2K compliance will also be a regulatory concern for bankers and small business borrowers. We understand that bank regulators will be requiring lenders to survey their borrowers and to certify that they are Y2K-compliant. Congress recognizes that small businesses may be harmed by the Y2K problem and that the 7(a) program is an appropriate means and established SBA program that can immediately help them deal with it. In fiscal year 1997, the 7(a) loan program reached more than 40,000 businesses, making 45,288 loans and approving loans totalling $9.5 billion.

The last component of this bill amends SBA's Microloan program. This important economic development tool has, in six short years, provided close to 7,000 microloans worth some $68 million. More than 40 percent of those loans went to women, 42 percent went to minorities, and 11 percent went to veterans. This program, which provides loans that average $10,000 and can be for as little as a few hundred dollars, has improved the landscape of some our country's poorest communities, creating jobs, helping people move from public assistance to weekly paychecks, and contributing to the tax base. As stated in a July Boston Business Journal article, ''There are many people out there who can't get traditional bank loans because they have bad credit histories, or no credit histories or no assets.'' In spite of these realities that make microentrepreneurs too risky for banks, the government has suffered no losses in this program. It is successful because it helps entrepreneurs turn their talents into businesses, such as a furniture upholsterer or a pet shop, and then augments the capital infusion by providing technical assistance to teach microentrepreneurs how to run a successful business.

This amendment would authorize the SBA Administrator to reduce an microlender's loan loss reserve (a reserve of cash to guarantee that the government is paid back if a loan defaults) from 15 percent to not less than ten percent after an intermediary has been participating in the microloan program for at least five years and has demonstrated its ability to maintain a healthy loan fund. Each microlender's loan loss reserve will be established based on its average loss rate for the previous five-year period. Because of the program's success so far, 36 out of 42 microlenders would qualify under this bill's requirements to maintain a loan loss reserve of ten percent rather than 15 percent. The proposed change would continue to protect the government's interest in these loans and at the same time enhance the program because it frees up cash that microlenders can reprogram for more microloans or technical assistance.

In closing, I want to again thank my colleagues for supporting this bill. If enacted, they will have improved the business climate and taken a few more steps to ensure that small businesses have access to capital, are less burdened by regulations and paperwork, have the resources to meet Y2K problems and that women-owned businesses can get loans of sufficient size to expand their businesses.

Mr. President, I thank my colleagues for their support and ask unanimous consent that the full text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

By Mr. CLELAND:

S. 2449. A bill to amend the Controlled Substance Act relating to the forfeiture of currency in connection with illegal drug offenses, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

DRUG CURRENCY FORFEITURES ACT

● Mr. CLELAND. Mr. President, there have been a series of recent cases in which courts have ruled against one of law enforcement's most effective anti-drug tools—asset forfeiture. Just consider:

Law enforcement agents at an airport found almost $50,000 wrapped inside a pair of jeans. A drug dog responded positively to the presence of narcotics on the money, and the traveler, when confronted by the agents, produced a fake driver's license and offered other false evidence. United States v. $49,576.00 in U.S. Currency, l16 F.3d 425 (9th Cir. 1997).

In another instance, narcotics agents found $30,000 wrapped in bundles and stashed under the seat of a car. Despite the courier's demonstrably false explanation of the source of the money, the court nevertheless found insufficient evidence to establish probable cause for forfeiture. United States v. U.S. Currency, $30,060.00, 39 F.3d 1039 (9th Cir. 1994).

These are but two in a series of cases in which the courts found circumstantial evidence sufficient to establish that the money was derived from some form of criminal activity, but insufficient to establish that the illegal activity involved drug trafficking. The courts therefore ruled that the money seized was not subject to forfeiture, and the proceeds were returned to the trafficker. See also United States v. $13,570.00 in U.S. Currency, 1997 WL 722947 (E.D. La. 1997) (seizure of cash at airport lacked probable cause despite dog sniff, evasive answers, fake ID, courier profile, and prior drug arrest); United States v. $14,876.00 in U.S. Currency, 1997 WL 722942 (E.D. La. 1997) (same); United States v. $40,000 in U.S. Currency, 999 F. Supp. 234 (D.P.R. 1998) (dog sniff, drug courier profile, quantity of currency and evasive answers are not sufficient to establish probable cause where government fails to establish any connection between claimant and any drug trafficker).

Mr. President, these court decisions are coming at a time when drug sales in this country are generating $60 billion in illegal proceeds every year. Most of this drug money finds its way to drug kingpins in Mexico and Colombia. And the drugs find their way to Americans of all ages and walks of life. The consequences are devastating. Substance abuse is now the single largest preventable cause of death in this country, with illegal drugs and alcohol killing 120,000 Americans each year.

It's an enemy that respects neither class nor age group. High school athletes, runaways, soccer players, gang members, and class valedictorians use and sell drugs. Nationwide, the percentage of teens reporting illegal drug use has doubled over the last 5 years. And now the National Household Survey on Drug Abuse reports that teen drug use rose in 1997, led by increasing marijuana smoking among teenagers who view it as a low-risk ''soft drug.'' It is no wonder that in survey after survey, Americans are reporting that illegal drugs top their list of national concerns.

In recent testimony before the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, a top official at the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) painted a chilling portrait of the powerful threat to the United States posed by international drug organizations. He said, and I quote, ''These individuals, from headquarters located outside the U.S., influence the choices that many Americans make about where to live, or where they send their children to school. The drugs, and the attendant violence which accompanies the drug trade, have reached into every American community and, in essence, have robbed many Americans of the dreams they once cherished.''

These organized crime leaders are sophisticated and possess the power that comes with unlimited resources. Because they are worth billions of dollars, these drug lords have at their disposal some of the world's most technically advanced airplanes, boats, radar, and communications equipment. They possess weapons in quantities that, DEA testified, ''rival the capabilities of some legitimate governments.'' These drug kingpins send thousands of couriers into the United States who answer to them on a daily basis via faxes, cellular phones, or pagers.

Since the disruption of the notorious Cali cartel leadership, we know that traffickers from Mexico have joined together with Colombian traffickers in an emerging alliance which has largely taken over U.S. heroin distribution from Asian organizations and is now producing some of the world's most potent heroin. The manufacture of the vast majority of cocaine in South America is still under the control of the Colombian cartels, which use commercial maritime vessels, containerized cargo and private aircraft to transport the cocaine from their laboratories in the jungles of southeast Colombia through Mexico and the Caribbean into U.S. border points of entry. In fact, 50 to 60 percent of all the cocaine, as well as 25 percent of the heroin and 80 percent or more of the meth coming into the United States, are transported into our country through the U.S.-Mexico border.

The DEA testified that the influence of Colombian trafficking organizations in the Caribbean is ''overwhelming.'' Several Colombian drug syndicates have set up command and control bases in Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic and use the Caribbean Basin to ferry tons of cocaine into the United States each year. According to the DEA, seizures of 500 to 2,000 kilos of cocaine in the Caribbean are now commonplace. Unlike the monopoly-like rule of the Cali cartel, many of the new Colombian cartels have chosen to franchise a large portion of their wholesale heroin and cocaine operations. As a result, criminals from the Dominican Republic have now become the dominant force in the wholesale cocaine and heroin trade on the East Coast of the United States.

In addition to heroin and cocain, methamphetamine has become a growing threat within our borders. Methamphetamine trafficking, which until recently had been stopped west of the Mississippi River, is aggressively moving eastward and is now rapidly challenging cocaine as the primary focus of illegal drug trafficking in Georgia and other eastern seaboard States. According to the DEA Atlanta Field Division, Washington may soon declare Atlanta the meth capital of the Southeast.

During February alone, DEA seized almost 90 pounds of methamphetamine in metropolitan Atlanta. Ten pounds of the drug was seized from passengers on buses originating in Texas and California. Acting on a tip, DEA agents found another 25 pounds stashed in hidden compartments in a vehicle. And law enforcement agents apprehended two Los Angeles passengers at Hartsfield Airport who had smuggled 20 pounds of meth into the State. These drugs are being ferried into my State by couriers employed by Mexican trafficking organizations operating out of Mexico and California. DEA has determined that a number of its recent meth seizures in Georgia are directly linked to the AMEZCUA drug trafficking organization—one of Mexico's principal drug cartels.

The amounts of money generated by these illegal drug transactions are staggering. The DEA reported that one Mexican drug syndicate forwards $20 to $30 million to Colombia for each major drug operation, and makes tens of millions of dollars in profits each week. Moving this money from Mexico to Colombia, or from the U.S. to Mexico, is a relatively simple matter. The most popular method is to ship the currency in bulk by courier or cargo, or transport it overland or by air. Oftentimes, the same vehicle or even the same courier that originally transported the drugs into the United States will carry the drug proceeds out.

It was not long ago that a Customs investigation made front page headlines. Three of Mexico's largest banks were indicted by the U.S. for laundering hundreds of millions of dollars in drug money from this country. The three-year sting was unprecedented on two counts. This was the largest money laundering case in the history of U.S. law enforcement. And it was the first time ever that Mexican banks and bank officials have been directly linked to laundering U.S. drug profits.

The sting resulted in the arrest of 70 people, including 14 Mexican banking officials. Thirty-five million dollars in illegal drug proceeds was seized immediately. One hundred and twenty-two million dollars more is expected to be recovered from over 100 bank accounts frozen in this country and in Europe. While unprecedented, this operation netted only a drop in the bucket compared to the estimated $60 billion in illegal proceeds reaped from U.S. drug sales each year. Like most of the drug proceeds, this money was earmarked for drug lords in Mexico and Colombia. In this case, Mexican bankers allegedly aided the Juarez cartel in Mexico and the Cali cocaine and heroin syndicate in Colombia.

If we ever expect to make in-roads in the so-called ''war on drugs,'' it is not enough just to apprehend the drug trafficker. We must seize his assets as well. Let me give just one example. The Rodriguez-Orejuela brothers in Colombia once ran the most powerful international organized crime group in history. Based on evidence supplied by the U.S. Government, Miguel Rodriguez-Orejuela has been sentenced to 21 years in prison, although it is expected that he will serve only 12. Last year his brother Gilberto was sentenced to 10½ years in prison on drug trafficking charges. Even now, the Rodriguez-Orejuela brothers are able to run their drug trafficking business from prison through the use of private quarters and telephones. They are by no means the exception. Last year the Colombia National Police took control of four maximum security prisons from the Bureau of Prisons, in an effort to halt jailed traffickers from continuing their illegal operations from behind prison walls. In the final analysis, the only way to destroy the drug cartels is to hit them where it hurts the most—their pocket books.

The transportation and transmission (by electronic means) of drug proceeds are enormous problems for law enforcement, but they also present law enforcement with an enormous opportunity. Because drug proceeds in the form of cash occupy much more space than the drugs themselves—often filling suitcases, vehicles, and even airplanes—the movement of the cash is often the most vulnerable part of the drug operation. Indeed, law enforcement agents are frequently successful in intercepting such cash shipments by stopping couriers at airports, opening containers at Customs checkpoints, and encountering cars stuffed with cash during routine traffic stops.

However, the ability of law enforcement to confiscate the money—and thus break the drug trafficking cycle—hinges on the government's ability to establish that the money is, in fact, drug proceeds, and not the proceeds of some other form of unlawful activity. Therefore, today the distinguished chairman of the Senate Caucus on International Narcotics Control, Senator GRASSLEY, and I are introducing the Drug Currency Forfeitures Act. Our bill enhances the ability of law enforcement agents to interdict and confiscate the huge quantities of drug money that are being moved through our airports, up and down our major highways, through our ports, and in and out of financial institutions here and abroad—while at the same time it upholds Fourth Amendment constitutional protections against illegal searches and seizures. Specifically, our bill would create a ''rebuttable presumption'' that money is subject to forfeiture as drug proceeds in cases involving drug couriers carrying large amounts of cash through drug transit areas, and in cases involving international money laundering. The presumption would apply if any of the following factors is established by the government.

Factor one: There is more than $10,000 in currency being transported in one of the transit places commonly used by drug traffickers—for example, an airport, an interstate highway, or port of entry—and any of the following circumstances commonly associated with the transportation of drug proceeds exists: the money is packaged in a highly unusual manner; or the courier makes a false statement to a law enforcement officer or inspector; or the money is found in close proximity to drugs; or a properly trained dog gives a positive alert.

I note here that there has been much criticism of the use of drug dogs to interdict drug money, on the ground that so much currency now in circulation in the U.S. is tainted with drug residue that the drug dog's positive alert is meaningless. Let me say, however, that recent scientific research has refuted this notion and indeed supports the proposition that a drug dog's alert to currency is highly relevant in a forfeiture case. A study by Dr. Kenneth Furton, Director of the Criminalistics Program in the Chemistry Department at Florida International University, has established that a properly trained drug dog does not alert to the cocaine residue on currency, but alerts instead to methyl benzoate—a highly volatile chemical by-product of the cocaine manufacturing process that remains on the currency only for a short period of time. Thus, even if it is true that a high percentage of our currency is contaminated with cocaine residue, the drug dogs are alerting only to money that has recently, or just before packaging, been in close proximity to a significant amount of cocaine. See K.G. Furton, Y.L. Hsu, N. Alvarez and P. Lagos, ''Novel Sample Preparation Methods and Field Testing Procedures Used to Determine the Chemical Basis of Cocaine Detection by Canines,'' Forensic Evidence and Crime Science Investigation, Proc. SPIE 2941, 56–62 (1997). I am attaching to my remarks an article describing Dr. Furton's work.

Factor two: The property subject to forfeiture was acquired during a period of time when the person who acquired it was engaged in a drug trafficking offense, and there is no other likely source for the money. I note that this presumption already exists in criminal forfeiture cases. See 21 U.S.C. § 853(d).

Factor three: The property was involved in a transaction that occurred, in part, in a bank secrecy jurisdiction or was conducted by, to or through a shell corporation. These two factors appear repeatedly in cases involving international money laundering and therefore are highly indicative of illegal money laundering activity. However, to ensure that the presumption is focused narrowly on the problem this bill is designed to address, it would apply only where the money was being moved in or out of one of the countries the President has listed as a ''major drug-transit country,'' a ''major illicit drug producing country,'' or a ''major money laundering country,'' all of which are defined terms in the Foreign Assistance Act.

Factor four: Any person involved in the transaction has been convicted of a drug trafficking or money laundering offense, or is a fugitive from prosecution for such an offense. This factor reflects the obvious fact that the movement of money by a convicted drug trafficker, money launderer or fugitive is highly likely to involve drug proceeds.

The existence of any one of these four factors would be sufficient—by itself, or in some cases, in combination with the facts and circumstances which led to the seizure of the money—to establish probable cause to believe that the money represents drug proceeds, and if left unrebutted, would be sufficient to establish that the money is subject to forfeiture under the Controlled Substances Act, 21 U.S.C. §881(a)(6), or the Money Laundering Control Act, 18 U.S.C. § 981(a)(1), by a preponderance of the evidence. The owner of the money, of course, would be free to rebut the presumption by submitting admissible evidence that the money was derived from a legitimate source, and the government would have to respond either by impeaching the reliability of such evidence, or by offering admissible evidence of its own to support the forfeiture of the money. See United States v. $129,727.000 U.S. Currency, 129 F.3d 486 (9th Cir. 1997). In this way, legitimate owners of untainted money will be protected. However, drug traffickers and money launderers will no longer be able to rely on the ambiguities inherent in the movement of cash and electronic funds—as well as the ambiguities inherent in the standard of proof in civil forfeiture law—to win the release of their ill-gotten gains without having to come forward with any evidence whatsoever.

On June 22, the Supreme Court handed down a highly controversial decision which is certain to have far-reaching ramifications on U.S. drug interdiction policy. That sharply divided ruling involved the case of Hosep Bajakajian, who had attempted to take $357,000 in undeclared cash to Syria, and who had lied about the amount of money he had with him when questioned by a Customs inspector. By ruling that the federal government cannot seize the money of a person trying to carry funds out of the country when that individual fails to declare it, unless the government can show it is tainted money, the High Court's decision may very well reinforce the recent lower court decisions against forfeiture—a critically important weapon in our drug interdiction arsenal. Our bill would address these adverse court decisions by providing needed statutory guidance on the important and contentious issue of property subject to seizure.

Our bill has been endorsed by the Fraternal Order of Police, the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the International Brotherhood of Police Officers, and the Federal Law Enforcement Officers Association. I hope that my colleagues will support this bill.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of our bill be printed in the RECORD together with appropriate relevant materials.

There being no objection, the items were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 2449

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the ''Drug Currency Forfeitures Act''.

SEC. 2. DRUG CURRENCY FORFEITURES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 511 of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 881) is amended by inserting after subsection (j) the following:

''(k) REBUTTABLE PRESUMPTION.—

''(1) DEFINITIONS.—In this subsection—

''(A) the term 'drug trafficking offense' means—

''(i) with respect to an action under subsection (a)(6), any illegal exchange involving a controlled substance or other violation for which forfeiture is authorized under that subsection; and

''(ii) with respect to an action under section 981(a)(1)(B) of title 18, United States Code, any offense against a foreign nation involving the manufacture, importation, sale, or distribution of a controlled substance for which forfeiture is authorized under that section; and

''(B) the term 'shell corporation' means any corporation that does not conduct any ongoing and significant commercial or manufacturing business or any other form of commercial operation.

''(2) PRESUMPTION.—In any action with respect to the forfeiture of property described in subsection (a)(6) of this section, or section 981(a)(1)(B) of title 18, United States Code, there is a rebuttable presumption that property is subject to forfeiture, if the Government offers a reasonable basis to believe, based on any circumstance described in subparagraph (A), (B), (C), or (D) of paragraph (3), that there is a substantial connection between the property and a drug trafficking offense.

''(3) CIRCUMSTANCES.—The circumstances described in this paragraph are that—

''(A) the property at issue is currency in excess of $10,000 that was, at the time of seizure, being transported through an airport, on a highway, or at a port-of-entry, and—

''(i) the property was packaged or concealed in a highly unusual manner;

''(ii) the person transporting the property (or any portion thereof) provided false information to any law enforcement officer or inspector who lawfully stopped the person for investigative purposes or for purposes of a United States border inspection;

''(iii) the property was found in close proximity to a measurable quantity of any controlled substance; or

''(iv) the property was the subject of a positive alert by a properly trained dog;

''(B) the property at issue was acquired during a period of time when the person who acquired the property was engaged in a drug trafficking offense or within a reasonable time after such period, and there is no likely source for such property other than that offense;

''(C)(i) the property at issue was, or was intended to be, transported, transmitted, or transferred to or from a major drug-transit country, a major illicit drug producing country, or a major money laundering country, as determined pursuant to section 481(e) of 490(h) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2291(e) and 2291j(h)), as applicable; and

''(ii) the transaction giving rise to the forfeiture—

''(I) occurred in part in a foreign country whose bank secrecy laws render the United States unable to obtain records relating to the transaction by judicial process, treaty, or executive agreement; or

''(II) was conducted by, to, or through a shell corporation that was not engaged in any legitimate business activity in the United States; or

''(D) any person involved in the transaction giving rise to the forfeiture action—

''(i) has been convicted in any Federal, State, or foreign jurisdiction of a drug trafficking offense or a felony involving money laundering; or

''(ii) is a fugitive from prosecution for any offense described in clause (i).

''(4) OTHER PRESUMPTIONS.—The establishment of the presumption in this subsection shall not preclude the development of other judicially created presumptions, or the establishment of probable cause based on criteria other than those set forth in this subsection.''.

(b) MONEY LAUNDERING FORFEITURES.—Section 981 of title 18, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

FRATERNAL ORDER OF POLICE,
NATIONAL LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM,
Washington, DC, August 6, 1998.

Hon. MAX W. CLELAND,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR CLELAND: I am writing to advise you of the strong support of the more than 272,000 members of the Fraternal Order of Police for your draft legislation, ''The Drug Currency Forfeitures Act.''

This bill will amend the ''Controlled Substances Act'' as it relates to the forfeiture of currency deemed to be in connection with illegal drug trafficking or money laundering operations. In order to stem the flow of drugs into the United States, and to reduce the risks to law enforcement officers, government at all levels must have the ability to take away the resources of drug traffickers—whether it is currency, property, or other ill-gotten gains from their illegal narcotics transactions.

One of the most frustrating aspects of law enforcement is seeing those who poison our cities and neighborhoods with the scourge of drugs amass sizable fortunes as a result of their actions. Your legislation addresses this issue by taking money away from those who threaten the lives of our children and our nation's law enforcement officers, and is a major step toward tackling the problems posed by drug traffickers and their considerable financial resources.

Forfeiture of drug money, and the assets of money laundering operations, increases the penalty for drug dealing and reduces the benefits of engaging in illegal drug trafficking. On behalf of the more than 272,000 members of the Fraternal Order of Police, I want to commend and applaud your leadership on this issue. If I can be of any further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me, or Executive Director Jim Pasco, at my Washington office, (202) 547–8189.

Sincerely,

GILBERT G. GALLEGOS,
National President.

INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF POLICE OFFICERS,
Alexandria, VA, July 13, 1998.

Hon. MAX CLELAND,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR CLELAND: The International Brotherhood of Police Officers (IBPO) is an affiliate of the Service Employees International Union, the third largest union in the AFL–CIO. The IBPO is the largest police union in the AFL–CIO.

On behalf of the entire membership of the IBPO, I want to thank you for introducing legislation that would create a ''rebuttable presumption'' that money is subjected to forfeiture as drug proceeds in cases involving drug couriers carrying large amounts of cash through airports and on major highways, and in cases involving international money laundering. The IBPO officially endorses your legislation and looks forward to working with you to see this bill become law.

Your legislation will hurt drug dealers in the most effective way—in the pocketbook. Forfeiture of this money will also benefit the many police departments across the country who supplement their budgets with these types of seizures.

The IBPO wishes to thank you for all your support on behalf of the law enforcement community. Be assured that the IBPO will make your legislation a top priority in the 105th Congress.

Sincerely,

KENNETH T. LYONS,
National President.

COMMENTS OF BOBBY D. MOODY, PRESIDENT OF THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CHIEFS OF POLICE AND CHIEF OF THE MARIETTA, GEORGIA POLICE DEPARTMENT

One of the most effective weapons that law enforcement has in the domestic drug war is the ability to deprive drug dealers of the proceeds of their illegal activities or the instruments used to commit their crime through the use of civil asset forfeiture proceedings. Senator Cleland's legislation will preserve and enhance law enforcement's ability to seize the assets of drug dealers and their associates. I want to thank my friend, and law enforcement supporter, Senator Cleland for his efforts to protect the most valuable tool law enforcement has in combating drug traffickers and money launderers.

FEDERAL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS ASSOCIATION,
East Northport, NY, August 7, 1998.

Hon. MAX W. CLELAND,
U.S. Senator, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR CLELAND: On behalf of the over 14,000 members of the Federal Law Enforcement Officers Association (FLEOA) I wish to express FLEOA's views regarding your proposed legislation concerning asset forfeiture. This proposed legislation will enhance the ability of law enforcement officers, at all levels, to seize the assets of drug dealer. FLEOA wishes to inform you of our overwhelming support for this legislation.

FLEOA represents criminal investigators and special agents from over fifty-five federal agencies, as listed on the left masthead. We feel that legislation that creates a rebuttable presumption that currency in excess of $10,000 is subject to forfeiture as drug proceeds when transported through an airport, on a highway, or at a port-of-entry, and is found in close proximity to a measurable quantity of a controlled substance would assist law enforcement in our fight against narcotics.

We would be pleased to meet with you, or your staff, to discuss our views on this issue in more detail. I can be reached at (516) 368–6117, or you may contact FLEOA's Executive Vice President Walt Wallmark at (202) 433–9230.

Thank you for your time.

RICHARD J. GALLO,
President.●

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

LABOR DAY AND THE RESERVISTS' MODEL EMPLOYER PROGRAM

● Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, as America celebrated the Labor Day holiday this past weekend, it seems appropriate to take a moment to highlight the recent efforts to renew the partnership between the National Guard and Reserve forces and their community employers. Now, more than in any recent decade, the Guard and Reserve are key to maintaining our military commitments. More than a quarter million members served in Operation Desert Storm, and more than 17,000 have been called to active duty to support operations in Bosnia.

The partnership between all employers, whether in the private or government sector, and the Reserve forces must extend beyond the 1994 Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). Communications and cooperation between employers and their employees who participate in the National Guard and Reserve must be maintained to support our military structure. Without employers' full support, it becomes much more difficult to maintain our military strength.

In Idaho, we have more than 5,400 Guard and Reservists. These men and women not only serve to support our national security, but also carry out a wide range of domestic missions. Last year, Idaho lost two Reservists who were responding to flooding emergencies. We do not forget that they paid the ultimate price to protect our community during disaster. Although we may never be able to thank our Guard and Reserve forces enough for their efforts and commitment, we can ensure that they have flexibility to serve in their units and secure employment upon their return. This renewed partnership between employers and our Guard and Reserve will do just that.

Labor Day is not just Labor's Day. It is a celebration of an all-American accomplishment and an all-American ethic. Here, the dignity of labor is not a matter of partisan politics, but civic pride. Public recognition of the partnership between individuals who serve their country and communities, and the employers who support them, is a true way to celebrate this Labor Day holiday.●

TRIBUTE TO DR. JOHNATHAN MANN AND DR. MARY LOU MANN

● Mr. KERRY. Mr. President, I wish today to speak for a few moments about a terrible loss for the state of Massachusetts, and for all those around the world who care about our fight to cure AIDS. Among the dead in the crash of SwissAir flight 111 was a special couple, Dr. Jonathan Mann and Dr. Mary Lou Clement Mann. Both devoted their lives to finding a cure for AIDS, and today I join thousands of people all over this country and across the world in mourning the tragedy of SwissAir flight 111 and the loss of everyone on board. Jonathan and Mary Lou Clement Mann selflessly gave of themselves and cared for patients from Zaire to New Mexico, Boston to Geneva, embodying the best of their profession by bringing hope and comfort to countless individuals and families.

Jonathan Mann was born in Boston, Massachusetts in 1947 and graduated from Harvard College in 1969. After attending the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, he returned to Boston for his formal entry into the medical profession. In 1975 he joined the Centers for Disease Control as an Epidemic Intelligence Service Officer, and from 1977 to 1984 he was the State Epidemiologist and Chief Medical Officer for the state of New Mexico.

After receiving his Masters in Public Health from Harvard University in 1980, Dr. Mann returned to the CDC and it was then that AIDS became his primary, professional focus. During these years he established and directed the Zaire AIDS Research Project, which conducted the first comprehensive study of the disease on the continent where AIDS has brought the most widespread devastation and suffering. Dr. Mann's work there led him to the World Health Organization's Global Programme on AIDS in 1986, a post of global impact which he held until his return to Harvard's School of Public Health in 1990.

Dr. Mann's involvement in this issue was total; his life and the fight to find a cure for AIDS soon became, in everyone's eyes, synonymous. Beyond his professional service to the cause, he participated in the AIDS Walk in Boston, World AIDS Day, and countless events, workshops, symposiums and conferences. His ultimate foe was the stigma that was attached to AIDS victims. His only weapons in the fight against AIDS were his passion, his intellect, and his belief in the truth, and with those tools he was well armed to fight his battle on the fields not just of science, but against a public that too often fell short of the compassion and humanity that a war on AIDS required. Dr. Mann was not afraid to declare that AIDS will not be beaten as long as we stigmatize those that fall victim to it. He was one of the first and unfortunately few researchers who took AIDS seriously in the infancy of the epidemic, when AIDS was still called GRIDS—gay-related immunodeficiency syndrome. Jonathan and Mary Lou Mann understood that AIDS was a challenge for every community in this country and he was not afraid to speak out and criticize anyone—an administration, a society, an entire nation—who denied that truth.

Dr. Mann's work echoed from the best of human instincts: to reach out to those in need and to wield his power to alleviate suffering. We mourn the loss of Dr. Jonathan Mann and his wife Dr. Mary Lou Mann. On behalf of Massachusetts, the United States Senate, and all those who were fortunate enough to know these two gifted individuals, we remember them for their energy, their compassion for others, and realize that the world is better off for their time on this earth.●

HOOSIERS TEACH IMPORTANCE OF GEOGRAPHY

● Mr. LUGAR. Mr. President, I rise before you today to recognize two excellent high school teachers who have been chosen by the National Geographic Society to represent the State of Indiana in the promotion of Geography Awareness Week.

I wish to commend Christine Bullock of Walkerton, Indiana and Kevin Leineweber of Lafayette, Indiana for their efforts in advancing Geography Awareness Week throughout Indiana.

Ms. Bullock and Mr. Leineweber visited our nation's capital for three weeks this summer to study methods for improving geographic education in our schools. They have set themselves apart as Hoosier leaders who understand that geography should be an intregal part of American education.

Geography offers a unique perspective in understanding ourselves, our relationship to the Earth and its resources and our interdependence with other people of the world. With an ever expanding global network of trading partners, the United States must look to its future entrepreneurs and citizens to have an understanding of the world and its geography in order to promote American interests abroad.

I urge all teachers to stress to their students the importance of geography, and I appeal to students to study geography and its effects on the makeup of our global societies.

I extend my congratulations to Ms. Bullock and Mr. Leineweber for recognizing the importance of geography and working toward the development of geographic knowledge in our communities and schools.●

NURSING HOME PATIENT PROTECTION ACT

● Ms. MIKULSKI. Mr. President, I rise today in support of the Nursing Home Patient Protection Act. I wish this legislation was not necessary, but it is. It is necessary and we must pass this bill because senior citizens and people with disabilities are being cruelly forced to leave their homes. Why? Not because of some failure of their own, not because they haven't spent their lives working hard, and not because they deserve to be kicked out for any other reason. These people, mostly senior citizens, are being told to leave their homes because of inadequacies in our Medicaid program. This is not right, Mr. President. It is unfair, unacceptable, and Un-American to sit by while many of our senior citizens are shuffled around like a deck of cards. I think honoring your mother and father is not just good practice—it is good public policy.

Most seniors begin paying their nursing home bills with their own life's savings. Later, when they run out of money, they typically enter the Medical Assistance Program. All too often, nursing homes then tell these residents, some of whom have lived in a home for 20 years or more, that they must leave because Medicaid payment rates are too low. No warning is given, and little assistance for relocation is available. They are, quite literally, left out on the street to find another facility on their own. Think of your parents in a similar situation: their health is not what it once was, they are accustomed to their current surroundings, and they were promised by their nursing home that they would be allowed to stay when they ran out of money and became Medicaid recipients. Then, without any warning, they are told that they must leave what has been their home within the next two months. How would you react? I know how I would react—with anger, fear, and disbelief. It is wrong and dangerous to disrupt seniors in such a manner. Getting adjusted to a new environment is difficult at any age, but for seniors, the added stress is often enough to significantly diminish their health, leading to additional medical problems, and even premature death.

This bill does not attempt to force nursing homes to accept Medicaid patients. Rather, it recognizes the fact that nursing homes should have the right to take only ''private pay'' patients if they so choose. That is the nature of the marketplace.

This bill does require nursing homes to be honest about their policies concerning Medicaid and ensures that patients are not misled. This bill would require nursing homes to formally notify potential residents of their policy regarding Medicaid. Furthermore, under this legislation, if a nursing home converts to private pay only status, it must still honor its previous promise to current residents and accept their Medicaid payments.

Senior citizens' advocacy groups strongly support this legislation. As noteworthy, the nursing home industry supports the bill. Calling it ''intelligent public policy,'' the American Health Care Association, which represents over 11,000 nursing homes, acknowledges the fact that no one should be lied to and kicked out of their homes. Nursing home officials realize, as we do, that this bill will not damage the economic viability of running a nursing home. It will simply give seniors the security of knowing they will not be suddenly forced to leave their homes when they run out of their own savings.

I also want to say a bit about the last section of the bill. The final section is crucial because it requires the Secretary of HHS to examine Medicaid reimbursement rates and make sure they are reasonable. This work will then be compiled and submitted to Congress within five years after the bill's passage. Hopefully, this report will shed light on the Medicaid system's problems and initiate the process of correcting them.

This legislation will provide some much needed security for our seniors. I hope it will also start the process of improving our Medicaid system. People on Medicaid are regularly denied services by nursing homes and hospitals because the reimbursement rates are unreasonably low. The Secretary's report, required by this bill, is a step in the right direction.

In closing, I would like to thank Senator GRAHAM for introducing this important legislation. I know that he sincerely shares my concern for the well-being of older Americans, as do all of the bill's cosponsors. We have a responsibility to make sure that Americans are treated fairly and humanely. This bill does just that. Let's take care of our parents, our grandparents, and ourselves by passing this important legislation.●

TRIBUTE TO AUBREY ''COTTON'' LAKE

● Mr. SHELBY. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to Aubrey ''Cotton'' Lake, a long-time friend and respected member of the Tuscaloosa community, who passed away on Friday, August 14, 1998 at the age of 69.

Aubrey was a valued employee of the Tuscaloosa News for 18 years and traveled extensively with the Alabama Crimson Tide football team. His photographs of the team won him the coveted Look Magazine National Sports Photography award, and many of his photographs hang in Tuscaloosa's Coach Bear Bryant Museum. Aubrey captured many of the Crimson Tide images that have become emblazoned on our memories—from photographs of Bear Bryant coaching the team to victory, to Joe Namath before his tenure with the NFL. Aubrey was there, documenting sports history, shooting and selecting the most descriptive photographs for the next day's Tuscaloosa News sports page.

Aubrey was more than a sports photographer, however, and served both God and country throughout his life. In addition to his active membership at the First Freewill Baptist Church of Tuscaloosa, he also served many of Alabama's elected officials. For more than 24 years, Aubrey worked for late Representatives Walter Flowers and Claude Harris, and most recently for me, on my own staff.

More than just an employee, Aubrey was a friend and a confidant. He was loyal, had a lifetime of experience in Alabama, and was a true servant to the people of our state. I could never have asked for a more dedicated staff member or friend.

After leaving public service, Aubrey worked as president of Tuscaloosa Insulation Company, and served as a member of the Tuscaloosa Home Builders Association. He was an avid sportsman, and attended as many Alabama football games as possible.

Aubrey was a loving father, devoted community member, and friend to most anyone he met. He will be missed by all who knew him, especially his wife Dot, his daughter Suzanne, his son Greg, his grandchildren, and other family members and friends.

I'm glad I had the opportunity to know and work with Aubrey Lake. He was a good friend, and I will miss him.●

REMEDIATION WASTE

● Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, I rise to make a few remarks regarding efforts to amend the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act as it relates to remediation waste. The Majority Leader and the Chair of the Environment and Public Works Committee recently concluded that there is not enough time to complete legislation in this area this Congress, due to the press of other business and the limited time remaining.

I would like to commend both the process and the progress that has been made this year in discussions concerning remediation waste legislation. I also would like to commend Senators LOTT, CHAFEE, SMITH, LAUTENBERG and BREAUX for their roles in this process. I believe that the RCRA hazardous waste cleanup program could be improved through responsible reforms that tailor certain provisions of RCRA to hazardous waste that is generated during cleanup. Targeted amendments in this area could promote cleanup, ensure meaningful opportunities for community involvement, and reduce cleanup costs, without sacrificing protection of human health and the environment. Republican and Democratic staff of the Environment and Public Works Committee, together with representatives of the Administration, have for several months been engaged in productive, bipartisan negotiations to reach agreement on targeted RCRA amendments in this important area. Despite these efforts, there are still a number of issues yet to be resolved, which I had hoped we would resolve in the time remaining this Congress.

The Administration contributed significantly to the progress made this year. We also received valuable input from representatives of various interests that would be affected by the legislation, including industry, the environmental community, state and local governments and communities in the vicinity of hazardous waste cleanup sites. We need to continue close coordination with a range of interested persons.

I hope that next year we can resume this bi-partisan process. This year's work creates a foundation for efforts next year to achieve responsible reform.●

HONORING HARVEY FINKELSTEIN'S RETIREMENT AS THE PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER OF THE JEWISH HOME AND HOSPITAL

● Mr. D'AMATO. Mr. President, I rise today to join with my colleagues in recognizing Harvey Finkelstein, one of New York's most beloved and esteemed health care executives, as he prepares for his retirement. In a career spanning more than three decades, Harvey Finkelstein, the President and Chief Executive Officer of the Jewish Home and Hospital, has been a pillar of New York's continuing care community. This exceptional individual has devoted his life to caring for and improving the lives of the elderly in New York.

Throughout Harvey's distinguished career, he has demonstrated a great knowledge of and commitment to the field of continuing care. He has served as the President and Chief Executive Officer of the Jewish Home and Hospital since 1988. Prior to joining the Jewish Home and Hospital, Harvey was the Associate Executive Director of the Daughters of Jacob Geriatric Center and held positions with Long Island Jewish-Hillside Medical Center and the Queensboro Tuberculosis and Health Association. His sharp intellect combined with his selfless and compassionate spirit have made Harvey a unique leader who is valued and respected by all.

During Harvey's tenure as President and CEO, the Jewish Home and Hospital has gained widespread recognition as an exemplary long term care organization, developing a reputation of excellence for both its extensive continuum of senior care services and its innovative geriatric education programs. Most important, it has remained ever focused on its essential mission—providing its residents with the opportunity to live lives filled with dignity, meaning, and respect.

In addition to his professional responsibilities at the Jewish Home, Harvey has also made a wide range of important contributions to the New York health care community. Harvey has taught extensively on topics related to geriatrics and long term care. His teaching includes classes at the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine, the New School for Social Research, The Brookdale Center on Aging of Hunter College and New York University. Harvey has also published in Journal of Vision Rehabilitation, Contemporary Administrator, and Journal of American College of Emergency Physicians. Harvey has been an active member of several provider associations including the Greater New York Hospital Association and the National Association of Jewish Aging Services. He also advises the UJA-Federation of New York and the Council of Jewish Federations.

Mr. President, as Harvey Finkelstein looks toward his retirement, I ask my colleagues to join with me in expressing their great appreciation and admiration for all of the contributions and achievements of this exceptional leader. We wish him and his family health and happiness in the upcoming years.●

IN MEMORY OF MARYLANDERS MARK AND CAULEY CHAPMAN, DR. JONATHAN MANN, AND DR. MARY LOU CLEMENTS-MANN

● Ms. MIKULSKI. Mr. President, and to all who are with us in the proceedings today, I rise with melancholy to pay tribute to four Marylanders who were killed in the tragic crash of Swissair Flight 111 late Wednesday night, September 2, 1998. Dr. Jonathan Mann and Dr. Mary Lou Clements-Mann lived in Columbia. Mark Chapman and Cauley lived in Olney.

Mark Chapman was an engineer, and his wife was a flight attendant for American Airlines. They were on their way to Greece to visit his parents. Friends in their 10-house neighborhood in Olney tell stories about their kindness and thoughtfulness, how the Chapmans kept everyone entertained and had the whole neighborhood over for backyard barbeques.

Mark and Cauley loved animals, and every morning Mrs. Chapman would be out with her beagle Ruby trotting along on her daily walk. In a world that too often lacks a sense of community, the Chapmans went out of their way to be a part of their community and to make others feel welcome in it. According to one neighbor, ''Knowing Cauley, she was probably helping out the other stewardesses on the plane.''

Dr. Jonathan Mann created the World Health Organization's AIDS program, and Dr. Mary Louise Clements-Mann was the director of the vaccine research at the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health. They were partners in science and partners in life, having met at a scientific conference three years ago and married last year.

Their loss is felt deeply by the medical research community, and it is felt deeply by the community of caring they helped to create. More than being dedicated to research, they were dedicated to the people they were trying to help. They believed, as I do, that our policies should reflect our values.

Dr. Mann was among the first to declare that AIDS was a disease that rightfully concerned all of us, that it did not recognize class, gender, or global boundaries. In 1984, he became director of an AIDS project in the central African nation of Zaire (now the Congo). It was there that he traced the transmission patterns and risk factors for AIDS. Unusual for a medical researcher, he also traced the political and social implications of this deadly disease. He spoke out about the connection between AIDS and human rights, and he worked with governments to fight cruelty and discrimination against people with AIDS. In February 1987, he was appointed head of the WHO AIDS office, and he and his staff visited 77 nations in nine months to assess the epidemic.

Early this year, Dr. Mann took on a new responsibility as dean of the School of Public Health at Allegheny University of the Health Sciences. He has been described as 'a dapper man who wore starched white shirts and red bow ties', who boarded the train every day to Philadelphia. Since January, he had also been a visiting professor at the Hopkins School of Public Health.

Dr. Clements-Mann had an equally stellar list of accomplishments and a reputation as a gentle woman who could also be a tough taskmaster when it came to life-saving medical research. Born in Longview, Texas, she graduated from Texas Tech with a degree in chemistry at a time when few women were encouraged to consider science careers. She earned another degree in chemistry from the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, and advanced degrees from the University of London and from the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health.

In 1986, she moved to Johns Hopkins to start and direct its vaccine center. She became one of the world's experts in developing vaccines against life-threatening diseases, from Hepatitis C to influenza. Her reputation was built on selecting vaccines for medical trials that had the best chance of success, and one of the vaccines she helped develop was just approved by the FDA last week. Even as an internationally famous researcher, colleagues said she preferred to be called Mary Lou by coworkers and volunteers alike.

Dr. Clements-Mann loved to garden and they both loved to travel and go camping. Neighbors in their Hickory Ridge neighborhood in Columbia often saw the two of them taking walks and holding hands. It is a tragedy that the world has been deprived of their knowledge, their compassion, and their ability to affect public policy in the face of worldwide epidemics.●

TRIBUTE TO THE UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

● Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to the men and women who serve in the United States Air Force as we celebrate the 51st anniversary of its founding.

In 1947, Congress passed the National Security Act, creating the United States Air Force. Although military aviation units were around as early as 1907, these units were a division of the Army and the Navy. It was not until forty years later that the Air Force was established as a separate military service. Ironically, President Harry Truman signed the legislation creating the United States Air Force while aboard the presidential aircraft, which later became known as Air Force One. W. Stuart Symington became the first Secretary of the Air Force and General Carl A. Spaatz became the first Chief of Staff of the Air Force.

The inherent strengths of air power—speed, global range, stealth, flexibility and precision—are crucial to the achievement of our military goals in the world today. Through innovation, the Air Force is evolving into an air and space force that will be able to meet the challenges of the next century. Working with the other Armed Forces, the Air Force provides the citizens of the United States with the security we enjoy as it watches over America's airspace. On the same day the Air Force was established, the Air National Guard was also born, and seven months later, on April 14, 1948, the Air Force Reserve was created. Today, these two are an integral part of the total Air Force.

Minnesota is home to two Air National Guard units, the 148th Fighter Wing in Duluth and the 133rd Airlift Wing in the Twin Cities. The 133rd Airlift Wing was the first federally recognized Air National Guard flying unit. A division of the 133rd unit, the Security Forces Squadron, was awarded the Air National Guard's Outstanding Security Force Unit for 1994.

In addition, Minnesota has one Air Force Reserve unit, the 934th Airlift Wing in St. Paul. The Airlift Wing provides support for the transporting of passengers and cargo around the world. In 1992, the brave men and women of the 934th Airlift Wing provided airlift of passengers and cargo as part of a humanitarian relief effort in Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Mr. President, since its birth in 1947, the Air Force has shown the utmost dedication and service to this country, while protecting our national interests. I truly appreciate its commitment to defending this nation and am honored today to pay tribute to the men and women of the Air Force.●

BUDGET SCOREKEEPING REPORT

● Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I hereby submit to the Senate the budget scorekeeping report prepared by the Congressional Budget Office under Section 308(b) and in aid of Section 311 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as amended. This report meets the requirements for Senate scorekeeping of Section 5 of S. Con. Res. 32, the First Concurrent Resolution on the Budget for 1986.

This report shows the effects of congressional action on the budget through August 31, 1998. The estimates of budget authority, outlays, and revenues, which are consistent with the technical and economic assumptions of the 1998 Concurrent Resolution on the Budget (H. Con. Res. 84), show that current level spending is below the budget resolution by $17.1 billion in budget authority and above the budget resolution by $1.9 billion in outlays. Current level is $1.0 billion below the revenue floor in 1998 and $2.9 billion above the revenue floor over the five years 1998–2002. The current estimate of the deficit for purposes of calculating the maximum deficit amount is $176.4 billion, $2.9 billion above the maximum deficit amount for 1998 of $173.5 billion.

Since my last report, dated July 30, 1998, CBO has completed its estimate of the budget authority for the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century (P.L. 105–178). As a result, the current level of budget authority has been reduced by $923 million. This report also incorporates the budget authority, outlay, and revenue impacts of the Homeowners' Protection Act (P.L. 105–216), the Credit Union Membership Access Act (P.L. 105–219), and an Act to establish the United States Capitol Police Memorial Fund (P.L. 105–223).

The report follows:

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, September 3, 1998.

HON. PETE V. DOMENICI,
Chairman, Committee on the Budget,
U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The enclosed report for fiscal year 1998 shows the effects of Congressional action on the 1998 budget and is current through August 31, 1998. The estimates of budget authority, outlays, and revenues are consistent with the technical and economic assumptions of the 1998 Concurrent Resolution on the Budget (H. Con. Res. 84). This report is submitted under Section 308(b) and in aid of Section 311 of the Congressional Budget Act, as amended.

Since my last report, dated July 30, 1998, CBO has completed its estimate of the budget authority for the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century (P.L. 105–178). As a result, the current level of budget authority has been reduced by $923 million.

Sincerely,

JUNE E. O'NEILL,
Director.

(b) The requirements of Sections 1602(e), 1603(c), 1604(c), and 1701(b) of the International Financial Institutions Act, as amended (Public Law 95–118, 22 U.S.C. 262p–1, 262p–2, 262p–3 and 262(r)), Section 2018(c) of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1986, as amended (Public Law 99–570, 22 U.S.C. 2291 note), Section 407(c) of the Foreign Debt Reserving Act of 1989 (Public Law 101–240, 22 U.S.C. 2291 note), Section 14(c) of the Inter-American Development Bank Act, as amended (Public Law 86–147, 22 U.S.C. 283j–1(c)), and Section 1002 of the Freedom for Russia and Emerging Eurasian Democracies and Open Markets Support Act of 1992 (Public Law 102–511) (22 U.S.C. 286ll(b)) shall no longer apply to the contents of such annual reports.

SENSE OF SENATE REGARDING UNITED STATES CITIZENS HELD IN PRISONS IN PERU

SEC. 581. It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) as a signatory of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the Government of Peru is obligated to grant prisoners timely legal proceedings pursuant to Article 9 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, which requires that ''anyone arrested or detained on a criminal charge shall be brought promptly before a judge or other officer authorized by law to exercise judicial power and shall be entitled to trial within a reasonable time or release'', and that ''any one who is deprived of his liberty by arrest or detention shall be entitled to take proceedings before a court, in order that that court may decide without delay on the lawfulness of his detention and order his release if the detention is not lawful'';

(2) the Government of Peru should respect the rights of prisoners to timely legal procedures, including the rights of all United States citizens held in prisons in that country; and

(3) the Government of Peru should take all necessary steps to ensure that any United States citizen charged with committing a crime in that country is accorded open and fair proceedings in a civilian court.

(1) The training provided to foreign military personnel within the United States under any programs administered by the Department of Defense or the Department of State during fiscal year 1998.

(2) The training provided (including the training proposed to be provided) to such personnel within the United States under such programs during fiscal year 1999.

(b) For each case of training covered by the report under subsection (a), the report shall include—

(5) the purpose and nature of the training; and

(6) an analysis of the manner and the extent to which the training meets or conflicts with the foreign policy objectives of the United States, including the furtherance of democracy and civilian control of the military and the promotion of human rights.

SENSE OF THE CONGRESS REGARDING INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION IN RECOVERING CHILDREN ABDUCTED IN THE UNITED STATES AND TAKEN TO OTHER COUNTRIES.

SEC. 583. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) many children in the United States have been abducted by family members who are foreign nationals and living in foreign countries;

(2) children who have been abducted by an estranged father are very rarely returned, through legal remedies, from countries that only recognize the custody rights of the father;

(3) there are at least 140 cases that need to be resolved in which children have been abducted by family members and taken to foreign countries;

(4) although the Convention on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction, done at The Hague on October 25, 1980, has made progress in aiding the return of abducted children, the Convention does not address the criminal aspects of child abduction, and there is a need to reach agreements regarding child abduction with countries that are not parties to the Convention; and

(5) decisions on awarding custody of children should be made in the children's best interest, and persons who violate laws of the United States by abducting their children should not be rewarded by being granted custody of those children.

(b) SENSE OF THE CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the Congress that the United States Government should promote international cooperation in working to resolve those cases in which children in the United States are abducted by family members who are foreign nationals and taken to foreign countries, and in seeing that justice is served by holding accountable the abductors for violations of criminal law.

SUPPORT FOR PEACEFUL ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL TRANSITION IN INDONESIA

SEC. 584. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Indonesia is the World's 4th most populous nation, with a population in excess of 200,000,000 people.

(2) Since 1997, political, economic, and social turmoil in Indonesia has escalated.

(3) Indonesia is comprised of more than 13,000 islands located between the mainland of Southeast Asia and Australia. Indonesia occupies an important strategic location, straddling vital sea lanes for communication and commercial transportation including all or part of every major sea route between the Pacific Ocean and the Indian Ocean, more than 50 percent of all international shipping trade, and sea lines of communication used by the United States Pacific Command to support operations in the Persian Gulf.

(4) Indonesia has been an important ally of the United States, has made vital contributions to the maintenance of regional peace and stability through its leading role in the Association of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN) and the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation forum (APEC), and has promoted United States economic, political, and security interests in Asia.

(5) In the 25 years before the onset of the recent financial crisis in Asia, the economy of Indonesia grew at an average rate of 7 percent per year.

(6) Since July 1997, the Indonesian rupiah has lost 70 percent of its value, and the Indonesian economy is now at a near standstill characterized by inflation, tight liquidity, and rising unemployment.

(7) Indonesia has also faced a severe drought and massive fires in the past year which have adversely affected its ability to produce sufficient food to meet its needs.

(8) As a consequence of this economic instability and the drought and fires, as many as 100,000,000 people in Indonesia may experience food shortages, malnutrition, and possible starvation as a result of being unable to purchase food. These conditions increase the potential for widespread social unrest in Indonesia.

(9) Following the abdication of Indonesia President Suharto in May 1998, Indonesia is in the midst of a profound political transition. The current president of Indonesia, B.J. Habibie, has called for new parliamentary elections in mid–1999, allowed the formation of new political parties, and pledged to resolve the role of the military in Indonesian society.

(10) The Government of Indonesia has taken several important steps toward political reform and support of democratic institutions, including support for freedom of expression, release of political prisoners, formation of political parties and trade unions, preparations for new elections, removal of ethnic designations from identity cards, and commitments to legal and civil service reforms which will increase economic and legal transparency and reduce corruption.

(11) To address the food shortages in Indonesia, the United States Government has made more than 230,000 tons of food available to Indonesia this year through grants and so-called ''soft'' loans and has pledged support for additional wheat and food to meet emergency needs in Indonesia.

(12) United States national security interests are well-served by political stability in Indonesia and by friendly relations between the United States and Indonesia.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the decision of the Clinton Administration to make available at least 1,500,000 tons of wheat, wheat products, and rice for distribution to the most needy and vulnerable Indonesians is vital to the well-being of all Indonesians;

(2) the Clinton Administration should work with the World Food Program and nongovernmental organizations to design programs to make the most effective use of food donations in Indonesia and to expedite delivery of food assistance in order to reach those in Indonesia most in need;

(3) the Clinton Administration should adopt a more active approach in support of democratic institutions and processes in Indonesia and provide assistance for continued economic and political development in Indonesia, including—

(A) support for humanitarian programs aimed at preventing famine, meeting the needs of the Indonesian people, and inculcating social stability;

(B) leading a multinational effort (including the active participation of Japan, the nations of Europe, and other nations) to assist the programs referred to in subparagraph (A);

(C) calling on donor nations and humanitarian and food aid programs to make additional efforts to meet the needs of Indonesia and its people while laying the groundwork for a more open and participatory society in Indonesia;

(D) working with international financial institutions to recapitalize and reform the banking system, restructure corporate debt, and introduce economic and legal transparency in Indonesia;

(E) urging the Government of Indonesia to remove, to the maximum extent possible, barriers to trade and investment which impede economic recovery in Indonesia, including tariffs, quotas, export taxes, nontariff barriers, and prohibitions against foreign ownership and investment;

(F) urging the Government of Indonesia to—

(i) recognize the importance of the participation of all Indonesians, including ethnic and religious minorities, in the political and economic life of Indonesia;

(ii) take appropriate action to assure the support and protection of minority participation in the political, social, and economic life of Indonesia; and

(iii) release individuals detained or imprisoned for their political views;

(G) support for efforts by the Government of Indonesia to cast a wide social safety net in order to provide relief to the neediest Indonesians and to restore hope to those Indonesians who have been harmed by the economic crisis in Indonesia;

(H) support for efforts to build democracy in Indonesia in order to strengthen political participation and the development of legitimate democratic processes and the rule of law in Indonesia, including support for organizations, such as the Asia Foundation and the National Endowment for Democracy, which can provide technical assistance in developing and strengthening democratic political institutions and processes in Indonesia;

(I) calling on the Government of Indonesia to repeal all laws and regulations that discriminate on the basis of religion or ethnicity and to ensure that all new laws are in keeping with international standards on human rights; and

(J) calling on the Government of Indonesia to establish, announce publicly, and adhere to a clear timeline for parliamentary elections in Indonesia.

(c) REPORT.—(1) Not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall submit to Congress a report containing the following:

(A) A description and assessment of the actions taken by the Government of the United States to work with the Government of Indonesia to further the objectives referred to in subsection (b)(3).

(B) A description and assessment of the actions taken by the Government of Indonesia to further such objectives.

(C) An evaluation of the implications of the matters described and assessed under subparagraphs (A) and (B), and any other appropriate matters, for relations between the United States and Indonesia.

(2) The report under this subsection shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

CONDEMNING ETHNIC VIOLENCE IN INDONESIA IN MAY 1998

SEC. 585. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) In May 1998, more than 1,200 people died in Indonesia as a result of riots, targeted attacks, and violence in Indonesia. According to numerous reports by human rights groups, United Nations officials, and the press, ethnic Chinese in Indonesia were specifically targeted in the riots for attacks which included acts of brutality, looting, arson, and rape.

(2) Credible reports indicate that, between May 13 and May 15, 1998, at least 150 Chinese women and girls, some as young as 9 years of age, were systematically raped as part of a campaign of racial violence in Indonesia, and 20 of these women subsequently died from injuries incurred during these rapes.

(3) Credible evidence indicates that these rapes were the result of a systematic and organized operation and may well have continued to the present time.

(4) Indonesia President Habibie has stated that he believes the riots and rapes to be ''the most inhuman acts in the history of the nation'', that they were ''criminal'' acts, and that ''we will not accept it, we will not let it happen again.''.

(5) Indonesian human rights groups have asserted that the Indonesia Government failed to take action necessary to control the riots, violence, and rapes directed against ethnic Chinese in Indonesia and that some elements of the Indonesia military may have participated in such acts.

(6) The Executive Director of the United Nations Development Fund for Women has stated that the attacks were an ''organized reaction to a crisis and culprits must be brought to trial'' and that the systematic use of rape in the riots ''is totally unacceptable . . . and even more disturbing than rape war crimes, as Indonesia was not at war with another country but caught in its own internal crisis''.

(7) The Indonesia Government has established the Joint National Fact Finding Team to investigate the violence and allegations of gang rapes, but there are allegations that the investigation is moving slowly and that the Team lacks the authority necessary to carry out an appropriate investigation.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the mistreatment of ethnic Chinese in Indonesia and the criminal acts carried out against them during the May 1998 riots in Indonesia is deplorable and condemned;

(2) a complete, full, and fair investigation of such criminal acts should be completed by the earliest possible date, and those identified as responsible for perpetrating such criminal acts should be brought to justice;

(3) the investigation by the Government of Indonesia, through its Military Honor Council, of those members of the armed forces of Indonesia suspected of possible involvement in the May 1998 riots, and of any member of the armed forces of Indonesia who may have participated in criminal acts against the people of Indonesia during the riots, is commended and should be supported;

(4) the Government of Indonesia should take action to assure—

(A) the full observance of the human rights of the ethnic Chinese in Indonesia and of all other minority groups in Indonesia;

(B) the implementation of appropriate measures to prevent ethnic-related violence and rapes in Indonesia and to safeguard the physical safety of the ethnic Chinese community in Indonesia;

(C) prompt follow through on its announced intention to provide damage loans to help rebuild businesses and homes for those who suffered losses in the riots; and

(D) the provision of just compensation for victims of the rape and violence that occurred during the May 1998 riots in Indonesia, including medical care;

(5) the Clinton Administration and the United Nations should provide support and assistance to the Government of Indonesia, and to nongovernmental organizations, in the investigations into the May 1998 riots in Indonesia in order to expedite such investigations; and

(6) Indonesia should ratify the United Nations Convention on Racial Discrimination, Torture, and Human Rights.

(c) SUPPORT FOR INVESTIGATIONS.—Of the amounts appropriated by this Act for Indonesia, the Secretary of State, after consultation with Congress, shall make available such funds as the Secretary considers appropriate in order to provide support and technical assistance to the Government of Indonesia, and to independent nongovernmental organizations, for purposes of conducting full, fair, and impartial investigations into the allegations surrounding the riots, violence, and rape of ethnic Chinese in Indonesia in May 1998.

(d) REPORT.—(1) Not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall submit to Congress a report containing the following:

(A) An assessment of—

(i) whether or not there was a systematic and organized campaign of violence, including the use of rape, against the ethnic Chinese community in Indonesia during the May 1998 riots in Indonesia; and

(ii) the level and degree of participation, if any, of members of the Government or armed forces of Indonesia in the riots.

(B) An assessment of the adequacy of the actions taken by the Government of Indonesia to investigate the May 1998 riots in Indonesia, bring the perpetrators of the riots to justice, and ensure that similar riots do not recur.

(C) An evaluation of the implications of the matters assessed under subparagraphs (A) and (B) for relations between the United States and Indonesia.

(2) The report under this subsection shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

PROHIBITION ON ASSISTANCE TO THE PALESTINIAN BROADCASTING CORPORATION

SEC. 586. None of the funds appropriated or otherwise made available by this Act may be used to provide equipment, technical support, training, consulting services, or any other form of assistance to the Palestinian Broadcasting Corporation or any similar organization.

TRAFFICKING IN WOMEN AND CHILDREN

SEC. 587. The Secretary of State, in consultation with the Attorney General and appropriate nongovernmental organizations, shall—

(1) develop curricula and conduct training for United States consular officers on the prevalence and risks of trafficking in women and children, and the rights of victims of such trafficking; and

(2) develop and disseminate to aliens seeking to obtain visas written materials describing the potential risks of trafficking, including—

(A) information as to the rights of victims in the United States of trafficking in women and children, including legal and civil rights in labor, marriage, and for crime victims under the Violence Against Women Act; and

(B) the names of support and advocacy organizations in the United States.

SENSE OF CONGRESS CONCERNING THE MURDER OF FOUR AMERICAN CHRUCHWOMEN IN EL SALVADOR

SEC. 588. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings—

(1) the December 2, 1980 brutal assault and murder of four American churchwomen by members of the Salvadoran National Guard was covered up and never fully investigated;

(2) on July 22 and July 23, 1998, Salvadoran authorities granted three of the National Guardsmen convicted of the crimes early release from prison;

(3) the United Nations Truth Commission for El Salvador determined in 1993 that there was sufficient evidence that the Guardsmen were acting on orders from their superiors;

(4) in March 1998, four of the convicted Guardsmen confessed that they acted after receiving orders from their superiors;

(5) recently declassified documents from the State Department show that United States Government officials were aware of information suggesting the involvement of superior officers in the murders;

(6) United States officials granted permanent residence to a former Salvadoran military official involved in the cover-up of the murders, enabling him to remain in Florida; and

(7) despite the fact that the murders occurred over 17 years ago, the families of the four victims continue to seek the disclosure of information relevant to the murders.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) information relevant to the murders should be made public to the fullest extent possible;

(2) the Secretary of State and the Department of State are to be commended for fully releasing information regarding the murders to the victims' families and to the American public, in prompt response to congressional requests;

(3) the President should order all other Federal agencies and departments that possess relevant information to make every effort to declassify and release to the victims' families relevant information as expeditiously as possible;

(4) in making determinations concerning the declassification and release of relevant information, the Federal agencies and departments should presume in favor of releasing, rather than of withholding, such information; and

(5) the President should direct the Attorney General to review the circumstances under which individuals involved in either the murders or the cover-up of the murders obtained residence in the United States, and the Attorney General should submit a report to the Congress on the results of such review not later than January 1, 1999.

SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING THE TRIAL IN THE NETHERLANDS OF THE SUSPECTS INDICTED IN THE BOMBING OF PAN AM FLIGHT 103

SEC. 590. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) On December 21, 1988, 270 people, including 189 United States citizens, were killed in a terrorist bombing on Pan Am Flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland.

(2) Britain and the United States indicted 2 Libyan intelligence agents—Abdel Basset Al-Megrahi and Lamen Khalifa Fhimah—in 1991 and sought their extradition from Libya to the United States or the United Kingdom to stand trial for this heinous terrorist act.

(3) The United Nations Security Council called for the extradition of the suspects in Security Council Resolution 731 and imposed sanctions on Libya in Security Council Resolutions 748 and 883 because Libyan leader, Colonel Muammar Qadaffi, refused to transfer the suspects to either the United States or the United Kingdom to stand trial.

(4) The sanctions in Security Council Resolutions 748 and 883 include a worldwide ban on Libya's national airline, a ban on flights into and out of Libya by other nations' airlines, a prohibition on supplying arms, airplane parts, and certain oil equipment to Libya, and a freeze on Libyan government funds in other countries.

(5) Colonel Qaddafi has continually refused to extradite the suspects to either the United States or the United Kingdom and has insisted that he will only transfer the suspects to a third and neutral country to stand trial.

(6) On August 24, 1998, the United States and the United Kingdom proposed that Colonel Qadaffi transfer the suspects to the Netherlands, where they would stand trial before a Scottish court, under Scottish law, and with a panel of Scottish judges.

(7) The United States-United Kingdom proposal is consistent with those previously endorsed by the Organization of African Unity, the League of Arab States, the Non-Aligned Movement, and the Islamic Conference.

(8) The United Nations Security Council endorsed the United States-United Kingdom proposal on August 27, 1998, in United Nations Security Council Resolution 1192.

(9) The United States Government has stated that this proposal is nonnegotiable and has called on Colonel Qadaffi to respond promptly, positively, and unequivocally to this proposal by ensuring the timely appearance of the two accused individuals in the Netherlands for trial before the Scottish court.

(10) The United States Government has called on Libya to ensure the production of evidence, including the presence of witnesses before the court, and to comply fully with all the requirements of the United Nations Security Council resolutions.

(11) Secretary of State Albright has said that the United States will urge a multilateral oil embargo against Libya in the United Nations Security Council if Colonel Muammar Qadaffi does not transfer the suspects to the Netherlands to stand trial.

(12) The United Nations Security Council will convene on October 30, 1998, to review sanctions imposed on Libya.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) Colonel Qadaffi should promptly transfer the indicted suspects Abdel Basset Al-Megrahi and Lamen Khalifa Fhimah to the Netherlands to stand trial before the Scottish court;

(2) the United States Government should remain firm in its commitment not to negotiate with Colonel Qadaffi on any of the details of the proposal approved by the United Nations in United Nations Security Council Resolution 1192; and

(3) if Colonel Qadaffi does not transfer the indicted suspects Abdel Basset Al-Megrahi and Lamen Khalifa Fhimah to the Netherlands by October 29, 1998, the United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations should—

(A) introduce a resolution in the United Nations Security Council to impose a multilateral oil embargo against Libya;

(B) actively promote adoption of the resolution by the United Nations Security Council; and

(C) assure that a vote will occur in the United Nations Security Council on such a resolution.

DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE IN NIGERIA

SEC. 591. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The bilateral development assistance program in Nigeria has been insufficiently funded and staffed, and the United States has missed opportunities to promote democracy and good governance as a result.

(2) The recent political upheaval in Nigeria necessitates a new strategy for United States bilateral assistance program in that country that is focused on promoting a transition to democracy.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the President, acting through the United States Agency for International Development, should—

(1) develop a new strategy for United States bilateral assistance for Nigeria that is focused on the development of civil society and the rule of law and that involves a broad cross-section of Nigerian society but does not provide for any direct assistance to the Government of Nigeria, other than humanitarian assistance, unless and until that country successfully completes a transition to civilian, democratic rule;

(2) increase the number of United States personnel at such Agency's office in Lagos, Nigeria, from within the current, overall staff resources of such Agency in order for such office to be sufficiently staffed to carry out paragraph (1); and

(3) consider the placement of such Agency's personnel elsewhere in Nigeria.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the President, acting through the United States Agency for International Development, shall submit to the Committees on Appropriations and Foreign Relations of the Senate and the Committees on Appropriations and International Relations of the House of Representatives a report on the strategy developed under subsection (b)(1).

''(B) taking actions to dismantle terrorist organizations in areas under its jurisdiction and to cut off their sources of funds;

''(2) any other matters that the President considers appropriate.''; and

(4) in subsection (e), as so redesignated, by striking ''national interests'' and inserting ''national security interests''.

SANCTIONS AGAINST SERBIA-MONTENEGRO

SEC. 594. (a) CONTINUATION OF EXECUTIVE BRANCH SANCTIONS.—The sanctions listed in subsection (b) shall remain in effect until January 1, 2000, unless the President submits to the Committees on Appropriations and Foreign Relations in the Senate and the Committees on Appropriations and International Relations of the House of Representatives a certification described in subsection (c).

(1) the representatives of the successor states to the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia have successfully negotiated the division of assets and liabilities and all other succession issues following the dissolution of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia;

(2) the government of Serbia-Montenegro is fully complying with its obligations as a signatory to the General Framework Agreement for Peace in Bosnia and Herzegovina;

(3) the government of Serbia-Montenegro is fully cooperating with and providing unrestricted access to the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia, including surrendering persons indicted for war crimes who are within the jurisdiction of the territory of Serbia-Montenegro, and with the investigations concerning the commission of war crimes and crimes against humanity in Kosova;

(4) the government of Serbia-Montenegro is implementing internal democratic reforms; and

(5) Serbian, Serbian-Montenegrin federal governmental officials, and representatives of the ethnic Albanian community in Kosova have agreed on, signed, and begun implementation of a negotiated settlement on the future status of Kosova.

(d) STATEMENT OF POLICY.—It is the sense of the Congress that the United States should not restore full diplomatic relations with Serbia-Montenegro until the President submits to the Committees on Appropriations and Foreign Relations in the Senate and the Committees on Appropriations and International Relations in the House of Representatives the certification described in subsection (c).

(e) EXEMPTION OF MONTENEGRO.—The sanctions described in subsection (b)(1) should not apply to the government of Montenegro.

(f) DEFINITION.—The term ''international financial institution'' includes the International Monetary Fund, the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the International Development Association, the International Finance Corporation, the Multilateral Investment Guaranty Agency, and the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

(g) WAIVER AUTHORITY.—

(1) The President may waive the application in whole or in part, of any sanction described in subsection (b) if the President certifies to the Congress that the President has determined that the waiver is necessary to meet emergency humanitarian needs or to achieve a negotiated settlement of the conflict in Kosova that is acceptable to the parties.

(2) Such a wavier may only be effective upon certification by the President to Congress that the United States has transferred and will continue to transfer (subject to adequate protection of intelligence sources and methods) to the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia all information it has collected in support of an indictment and trial of President Slobodan Milosevic for war crimes, crimes against humanity, or genocide.

(3) In the event of a waiver, within seven days the President must report the basis upon which the waiver was made to the Select Committee on Intelligence and the Committee on Foreign Relations in the Senate, and the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence and the Committee on International Relations in the House of Representatives.

SEC. 595. Of the funds appropriated by this Act, or prior Acts making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs, not less than $28,900,000 shall be made available for expenses related to the Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty Preparatory Commission: Provided, That such funds may be made available through the regular notification procedures of the Committee on Appropriations.

REPORT ON IRAQI DEVELOPMENT OF WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION

SEC. 596. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) Iraq is continuing efforts to mask the extent of its weapons of mass destruction and missile programs;

(2) proposals to relax the current international inspection regime would have potentially dangerous consequences for international security; and

(3) Iraq has demonstrated time and again that it cannot be trusted to abide by international norms or by its own agreements, and that the only way the international community can be assured of Iraqi compliance is by ongoing inspection.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the international agencies charged with inspections in Iraq—the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) and the United Nations Special Commission (UNSCOM) should maintain vigorous inspections, including surprise inspections, within Iraq; and

(2) the United States should oppose any efforts to ease the inspections regimes on Iraq until there is clear, credible evidence that the Government of Iraq is no longer seeking to acquire weapons of mass destruction and the means of delivering them.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the President shall submit a report to Congress on the United States Government's assessment of Iraq's nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction programs and its efforts to move toward procurement of nuclear weapons and the means to deliver weapons of mass destruction. The report shall also—

(1) assess the United States view of the International Atomic Energy Agency's action team reports and other IAEA efforts to monitor the extent and nature of Iraq's nuclear program; and

(2) include the United States Government's opinion on the value of maintaining the ongoing inspection regime rather than replacing it with a passive monitoring system.

SENSE OF SENATE REGARDING IRAN

SEC. 597. (a) The Senate finds that—

(1) according to the Department of State, Iran continues to support international terrorism, providing training, financing, and weapons to such terrorist groups as Hizballah, Islamic Jihad and Hamas;

(2) Iran continues to oppose the Arab-Israeli peace process and refuses to recognize Israel's right to exist;

(3) Iran continues aggressively to seek weapons of mass destruction and the missiles to deliver them;

(4) it is long-standing United States policy to offer official government-to-government dialogue with the Iranian regime, such offers having been repeatedly rebuffed by Tehran;

(5) more than a year after the election of President Khatemi, Iranian foreign policy continues to threaten American security and that of our allies in the Middle East; and

(6) despite repeated offers and tentative steps toward rapprochement with Iran by the Clinton Administration, including a decision to waive sanctions under the Iran-Libya Sanctions Act and the President's veto of the Iran Missile Proliferation Sanctions Act, Iran has failed to reciprocate in a meaningful manner.

(b) Therefore it is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) the Administration should make no concessions to the government of Iran unless and until that government moderates its objectionable policies, including taking steps to end its support of international terrorism, opposition to the Middle East peace process, and the development and proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and their means of delivery; and

(2) there should be no change in United States policy toward Iran until there is credible and sustained evidence of a change in Iranian policies.

JOINT UNITED STATES-CANADA COMMISSION ON CATTLE, BEEF, AND DAIRY PRODUCTS

SEC. 598. (a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established a Joint United States-Canada Commission on Cattle, Beef, and Dairy Products to identify, and recommend means of resolving, national, regional, and provincial trade-distorting differences between the United States and Canada with respect to the production, processing, and sale of cattle, beef, and dairy products, with particular emphasis on—

(1) animal health requirements;

(2) transportation differences;

(3) the availability of feed grains;

(4) other market-distorting direct and indirect subsidies;

(5) the expansion of the Northwest Pilot Project;

(6) tariff rate quotas; and

(7) other factors that distort trade between the United States and Canada.

(b) COMPOSITION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Commission shall be composed of—

(A) 3 members representing the United States, including—

(i) 1 member appointed by the Majority Leader of the Senate;

(ii) 1 member appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; and

(iii) 1 member appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture;

(B) 3 members representing Canada, appointed by the Government of Canada; and

(C) nonvoting members appointed by the Commission to serve as advisers to the Commission, including university faculty, State veterinarians, trade experts, producers, and other members.

(2) APPOINTMENT.—Members of the Commission shall be appointed not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the first meeting of the Commission, the Commission shall submit a report to Congress and the Government of Canada that identifies, and recommends means of resolving, differences between the United States and Canada with respect to tariff rate quotas and the production, processing, and sale of cattle, beef, and dairy products.

SENSE OF THE SENATE CONCERNING THE OPERATION OF AGRICULTURAL COMMODITY FOREIGN ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

SEC. 599. (a) It is the sense of the Senate that:

(1) The United States Department of Agriculture should use the GSM–102 credit guarantee program to provide 100 percent coverage, including shipping costs, in some markets where it may be temporarily necessary to encourage the export of United States agricultural products.

(2) The United States Department of Agriculture should increase the amount of GSM export credit available above the $5,500,000,000 minimum required by the 1996 Farm Bill (as it did in the 1991/1992 period). In addition to other nations, extra allocations should be made in the following amounts to—

(A) Pakistan—an additional $150,000,000;

(B) Algeria—an additional $140,000,000;

(C) Bulgaria—an additional $20,000,000; and

(D) Romania—an additional $20,000,000.

(3) The United States Department of Agriculture should use the PL–480 food assistance programs to the fullest extent possible, including the allocation of assistance to Indonesia and other Asian nations facing economic hardship.

(4) Given the President's reaffirmation of a Jackson-Vanik waiver for Vietnam, the United States Department of Agriculture should consider Vietnam for PL–480 assistance and increased GSM.

FUNDING FOR THE CLAIBORNE PELL INSTITUTE FOR INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AND PUBLIC POLICY

SEC. 599A. That of the funds made available by prior Foreign Operations Appropriations Acts, not to exceed $750,000 shall be made available for the Claiborne Pell Institute for International Relations and Public Policy at Salve Regina University.

AID OFFICE OF SECURITY

SEC. 599B. (a) ESTABLISHMENT OF OFFICE.—There shall be established within the Office of the Administrator of the Agency for International Development, an Office of Security. Such Office of Security shall, notwithstanding any other provision of law, have the responsibility for the supervision, direction, and control of all security activities relating to the programs and operations of that Agency.

(b) TRANSFER AND ALLOCATION OF APPROPRIATIONS AND PERSONNEL.—There are transferred to the Office of Security all security functions exercised by the Office of Inspector General of the Agency for International Development exercised before the date of enactment of this Act. The Administrator shall transfer from the Office of the Inspector General of such Agency to the Office of Security established by subsection (a), the personnel (including the Senior Executive Service position designated for the Assistant Inspector General for Security), assets, liabilities, grants, contracts, property, records, and unexpended balances of appropriations, and other funds held, used, available to, or to be made available in connection with such functions. Unexpended balances of appropriations, and other funds made available or to be made available in connection with such functions, shall be transferred to and merged with funds appropriated by this Act under the heading ''Operating Expenses of the Agency for International Development''.

(c) TRANSFER OF EMPLOYEES.—Any employee in the career service who is transferred pursuant to this section shall be placed in a position in the Office of Security established by subsection (a) which is comparable to the position the employee held in the Office of the Inspector General of the Agency for International Development.

SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING BALLISTIC MISSILE DEVELOPMENT BY NORTH KOREA

SEC. 599C. (a) Congress makes the following findings:

(1) North Korea has been active in developing new generations of medium-range and intermediate-range ballistic missiles, including both the Nodong and Taepo Dong class missiles.

(2) North Korea is not an adherent to the Missile Technology Control Regime, actively cooperates with Iran and Pakistan in ballistic missile programs, and has declared its intention to continue to export ballistic missile technology.

(3) North Korea has shared technology involved in the Taepo Dong I missile program with Iran, which is concurrently developing the Shahab–3 intermediate-range ballistic missile.

(4) North Korea is developing the Taepo Dong II intermediate-range ballistic missile, which is expected to have sufficient range to put at risk United States territories, forces, and allies throughout the Asia-Pacific area.

(5) Multistage missiles like the Taepo Dong class missile can ultimately be extended to intercontinental range.

(6) The bipartisan Commission to Assess the Ballistic Missile Threat to the United States emphasized the need for the United States intelligence community and United States policy makers to review the methodology by which they assess foreign missile programs in order to guard against surprise developments with respect to such programs.

(b) It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) North Korea should be forcefully condemned for its August 31, 1998, firing of a Taepo Dong I intermediate-range ballistic missile over the sovereign territory of another country, specifically Japan, an event that demonstrated an advanced capability for employing multistage missiles, which are by nature capable of extended range, including intercontinental range;

(2) the United States should reassess its cooperative space launch programs with countries that continue to assist North Korea and Iran in their ballistic missile and cruise missile programs;

(3) any financial or technical assistance provided to North Korea should take into account the continuing conduct by that county of activities which destabilize the region, including the missile firing referred to in paragraph (1), continued submarine incursions into South Korea territorial waters, and violations of the demilitarized zone separating North Korea and South Korea;

(4) the recommendations of the Commission to Assess the Ballistic Missile Threat to the United States should be incorporated into the analytical processes of the United States intelligence community as soon as possible; and

(5) the United States should accelerate cooperative theater missile defense programs with Japan.

SENSE OF SENATE REGARDING THE DEVELOPMENT BY THE INTERNATIONAL TELECOMMUNICATION UNION OF WORLD STANDARDS FOR WIRELESS TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICES

SEC. 599D. (a) The Senate makes the following findings:

(1) The International Telecommunication Union, an agency of the United Nations, is currently developing recommendations for world standards for the next generation of wireless telecommunications services based on the concept of a ''family'' of standards.

(2) On June 30, 1998, the Department of State submitted four proposed standards to the ITU for consideration in the development of those recommendations.

(3) Adoption of an open and inclusive set of multiple standards, including all four submitted by the Department of State, would enable existing systems to operate with the next generation of wireless standards.

(4) It is critical to the interest of the United States that existing systems be given this ability.

(b) It is the sense of the Senate that the Federal Communications Commission and appropriate executive branch agencies take all appropriate actions to promote development, by the ITU, of recommendations for digital wireless telecommunications services based on a family of open and inclusive multiple standards, including all four standards submitted by the Department of State, so as to allow operation of existing systems with the next generation of wireless standards.

The reports shall include a discussion of the substance of the United States position in consultations with other governments and the degree of progress in achieving international acceptance and implementation of such position with respect to the following issues:

(1) Adapting the mission and capabilities of the International Monetary Fund to take better account of the increased importance of cross-border capital flows in the world economy and improving the coordination of its responsibilities and activities with those of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

(2) Advancing measures to prevent, and improve the management of, international financial crises, including by—

(A) integrating aspects of national bankruptcy principles into the management of international financial crises where feasible; and

(B) changing investor expectations about official rescues, thereby reducing moral hazard and systemic risk in international financial markets—in order to help minimize the adjustment costs that the resolution of financial crises may impose on the real economy, in the form of disrupted patterns of trade, employment, and progress in living standards, and reduce the frequency and magnitude of claims on United States taxpayer resources.

(2) the Russian Communist Party may well soon be a part of the government of the Russian Republic and may be given real influence over Russian economic policies;

(3) the International Monetary Fund has continued to provide funding to Russia despite Russia's refusal to implement reforms tied to the funding;

(4) the Russian economic crisis follows a similar crisis in Asia;

(5) the International Monetary Fund imposed strict requirements on the Republic of Korea and other democratic and free market nations in Asia;

(6) the International Monetary Fund has not imposed the same requirements on Russia; and

(7) Russia has not made the same commitment to free market economic principles as the Republic of Korea, and other Asian nations receiving assistance from the International Monetary Fund.

(b) It is the sense of Congress that the International Monetary Fund should not provide funding to a Russian government whose economic policies are significantly affected by the Russian Communist Party, or under significantly less free market conditions than those imposed on the Republic of Korea and other democratic, free market nations in Southeast Asia.

This title may be cited as the ''International Monetary Fund Appropriations Act of 1998''.

''§ 5545b. Pay for firefighters

''(a) This section applies to an employee whose position is classified in the firefighter occupation in conformance with the GS–081 standard published by the Office of Personnel Management, and whose normal work schedule, as in effect throughout the year, consists of regular tours of duty which average at least 106 hours per biweekly pay period.

''(e)(1)(A) The Administrator of General Services shall confirm that at least 50 percent of aggregate enrollment in Federal child care centers governmentwide are children of Federal employees or onsite Federal contractors, or dependent children who live with Federal employees or onsite Federal contractors.

''(B) Each provider of child care services at an individual Federal child care center shall maintain 50 percent of the enrollment at the center of children described under subparagraph (A) as a goal for enrollment at the center.

''(C) If enrollment at a center does not meet the percentage goal under subparagraph (B), the provider shall develop and implement a business plan with the sponsoring Federal agency to achieve the goal within a reasonable timeframe. Such plan shall be approved by the Administrator of General Services based on—

''(i) compliance of the plan with standards established by the Administrator; and

''(ii) the effect of the plan on achieving the aggregate Federal enrollment percentage goal.

''(2) The Administrator of General Services Administration may enter into public-private partnerships or contracts with nongovernmental entities to increase the capacity, quality, affordability, or range of child care and related services and may, on a demonstration basis, waive subsection (a)(3) and paragraph (1) of this subsection.''.

(b) PAYMENT OF COSTS OF TRAINING PROGRAMS.—Section 616(b)(3) of such Act (40 U.S.C. 490(b)(3)) is amended to read as follows:

Any agency, department, or instrumentality of the United States that provides or proposes to provide child care services for children referred to in subsection (a)(2), may reimburse any Federal employee or any person employed to provide such services for the costs of training programs, conferences, and meetings and related travel, transportation, and subsistence expenses incurred in connection with those activities. Any per diem allowance made under this section shall not exceed the rate specified in regulations prescribed under section 5707 of title 5, United States Code.''.

''(2)(A) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if a Federal agency does not have a child care program, or if the Administrator of General Services has identified a need for child care for Federal employees at an agency providing child care services that do not meet the requirements of subsection (a), the agency or the Administrator may enter into an agreement with a non-Federal, licensed, and accredited child care facility, or a planned child care facility that will become licensed and accredited, for the provision of child care services for children of Federal employees.

''(B) Before entering into an agreement, the head of the Federal agency shall determine that child care services to be provided through the agreement are more cost effectively provided through such arrangement than through establishment of a Federal child care facility.

''(C) The agency may provide any of the services described in subsection (b)(3) if, in exchange for such services, the facility reserves child care spaces for children referred to in subsection (a)(2), as agreed to by the parties. The cost of any such services provided by an agency to a child care facility on behalf of another agency shall be reimbursed by the receiving agency.

''(3) This subsection does not apply to residential child care programs.''.

An agency head may extend a pilot project for an additional 2-year period. Before any pilot project may be implemented, a determination shall be made by the agency head that initiating the pilot project would be more cost-effective than establishing a new child care facility. Costs of any pilot project shall be borne solely by the agency conducting the pilot project.

''(2) The Administrator of General Services shall serve as an information clearinghouse for pilot projects initiated by other agencies to disseminate information concerning the pilot projects to the other agencies.

''(3) Within 6 months after completion of the initial 2-year pilot project period, an agency conducting a pilot project under this subsection shall provide for an evaluation of the impact of the project on the delivery of child care services to Federal employees, and shall submit the results of the evaluation to the Administrator of General Services. PROGRAM

Mr. BENNETT. That vote should occur at approximately 9:45 a.m. If cloture is not invoked, the Senate will resume consideration of the Interior appropriations bill. At 4:30, assuming cloture is not invoked on the missile defense legislation, the Senate will begin 30 minutes of debate prior to a cloture vote on the motion to proceed to the bankruptcy bill. MEASURE READ FOR THE FIRST TIME—H.R. 3682

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I understand H.R. 3682, the child custody protection bill, is at the desk. I now ask for its first reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 3682) to amend title 18, United States Code, to prohibit taking minors across State lines to avoid laws requiring the involvement of parents in abortion decisions.

Mr. BENNETT. I ask for its second reading and I object to my own request on behalf of Senators on the other side of the aisle.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

ORDER FOR ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, if there is no further business to come before the Senate, I now ask that the Senate stand in adjournment under the previous order, following the additional remarks of the distinguished Democratic leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Democratic leader.

REQUEST TO WORK OVERTIME

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I thank the Senator from Utah. I want to explain, again, what transpired just a couple of moments ago with regard to our unanimous consent request.

For the information of all Senators, we made the request that the Senate have the opportunity to take up the HMO reform bill, the House-passed HMO reform bill, Calendar No. 505, and that it be the pending business every day after the completion of the legislative business as outlined by the majority leader and the distinguished Senator from Utah today.

Why are we suggesting this? We are proposing this because many of our colleagues on the other side of the aisle have said that we do not have time to take up a careful consideration of HMO reform; we don't have the ability to consider a number of amendments that ought to be considered with legislation as complex as this.

We understand that the Senate has spent days on other bills—150 amendments on the defense bill, over 100 amendments on the highway bill, and over 50 amendments on just about every appropriations bill each. But the Republican leadership has said all we ought to have on HMO reform is three amendments. Why? Because we don't have time. That has been their premise. We don't have time to deal with this issue, but we have time to deal with a missile defense bill that we will debate in the morning, that would commit hundreds of billions of dollars over the course of many years to a missile system that has failed every single time it has been tested to date.

The only criteria we would use to evaluate that system is technological feasibility, regardless of cost, regardless of effectiveness, and regardless of its implications for treaties around the world. Our Republican colleagues are asking us to commit to a missile defense system, opposed by the Pentagon, that would commit hundreds of billions of dollars. That is what the vote is about tomorrow, and we have time for it. But we don't have time for dealing directly with the concerns of millions of Americans who day by day are shut out of a health system because their insurance company is playing doctor.

We are simply saying, if we don't have time, let's make time. Let's do what others have already done in past Congresses and certainly in other situations where production becomes a problem. Let us add a second shift. Let us address this issue on the second shift. Let's work longer. Let's make more hours. Let's do what we must to complete our work.

It is only 6:20, and Senators have already left for the day. We didn't have a vote until 3:30 this afternoon to accommodate Senators who were traveling. Senators have just arrived. I am sure they would be more than willing to stay for a few hours more to debate and to consider carefully the HMO reform bill—6:20 in the evening and people are gone. Tomorrow we start with a vote at 9:30. We will have another vote at 5 o'clock, and we may be gone again.

Mr. President, we are simply asking our colleagues to put in a full day's work, to do what others would do under these circumstances—to add a second shift, to work overtime, to complete our work in what days we have left in this session of Congress.

We will continue to push for this approach and offer it in a sequence of requests simply to make the point that at 6:20 in the afternoon, our work shouldn't be done. At 6:20 in the afternoon, we shouldn't be leaving. I don't understand why we couldn't have completed our work on campaign finance reform. I don't understand why we shouldn't be on the floor debating that issue right now. But everybody is gone, and the clock keeps ticking and the calendar pages turn, and time runs out.

We can run out the clock, but there is no reason why we can't make that clock work harder. There isn't any reason why we can't work longer, and we will make every effort to assure that the Senate does its job. I regret very much that we are not doing it tonight. I yield the floor.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 9 A.M. TOMORROW

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate stands in adjournment until 9 a.m., Wednesday, September 9.

Thereupon, the Senate, at 6:21 p.m., adjourned until Wednesday, September 9, 1998, at 9 a.m.
