PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 109th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 152

WASHINGTON, MONDAY, MAY 1, 2006

No. 49

Senate

The Senate met at 2 p.m. and was called to order by the President Pro tempore (Mr. STEVENS).

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Sovereign Lord, majestic Father of all creation, speak Your truth to us. Today may our Senators stop in the midst of busyness and listen for Your voice. Give them the discernment to hear You correctly. Grant them the courage to live out Your calling in their lives. Make these leaders work as one body to accomplish Your will. Give them wisdom in their tasks, confidence in the hearing of Your voice, and a love for You as well as each other.

Remind us all of the truth that neither death nor life, nor height nor depth, nor any created thing can separate us from Your love.

We pray in Your holy Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The PRESIDENT pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, leadership time is reserved.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The majority leader is recognized.

SCHEDULE

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, this afternoon, the order provides for resuming debate on the supplemental appropriations bill. I believe after the remarks of the two leaders, there are a couple of Senators, including our distinguished President pro tempore, who desire to speak on other subjects. The chairman will then be ready to resume debate on the pending emergency supplemental bill. I remind all Senators that I filed a cloture motion on the bill last week and that vote will occur tomorrow morning. In accordance with that cloture motion, all first-degree amendments should be filed at the desk by 2:30 this afternoon. We already have a large number of pending amendments that will need to be disposed of. If we are able to invoke cloture on the bill tomorrow morning, then it is my expectation to finish the bill no later than Wednesday of this week. Therefore, we will have rollcall votes each day of this week as we complete work on this appropriations bill.

Our first rollcall vote this week will occur this afternoon at 5:30. We will have a vote on a district judge who was reported by the Judiciary Committee last week. This week we may also consider the tax relief extension conference report, if that conference report becomes available. There is a 10-hour statutory limit on that measure, and we will begin debate under that time limit as soon as that conference report arrives from the House.

ENERGY

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, over the weekend, we got more bad news on the rising price of gas. Energy Secretary Samuel Bodman told us to expect high gas prices to continue for 2 to 3 more years. In his words, suppliers have lost control of the market.

Every day drivers are getting soaked with higher and higher prices at the pump and in some places gas prices are well over $3 per gallon. Worse yet, the situation only threatens to intensify as those summer driving months come into view.

Consumers are understandably frustrated. They are worried. For most families, gas is a basic necessity, and rising gas prices simply put them over a barrel. They need a break. The Republican leadership is delivering a plan.

Last Thursday, we unveiled our proposal to offer immediate short-term relief for American consumers, as well as a broader strategy to increase America's energy supply and to reduce our demand for oil.

We propose giving taxpayers a $100 gas tax holiday rebate check so their hard-earned money goes back into their pockets instead of into their gas tanks.

We also want to make sure consumers are protected against any price gouging or anticompetitive behavior by oil companies or other suppliers of energy. Our proposal includes strong Federal antiprice-gouging protection.

These are two steps we can take right now to offer the consumer immediate relief. But for the midterm and for the long term, we need to get to the root of what is driving oil prices through the roof: basic supply and demand. We don't have enough domestic oil to meet our energy needs, and that global demand is growing day by day.

In order to get control of the problem, we need to increase domestic supplies, supplies at home, and we need to diversify our energy sources.

The package we have introduced promotes the development of alternative fuels in the use of hybrids and other advanced technology vehicles. It also gives Secretary Mineta the authority to issue a rule looking at fuel economy standards for passenger cars.

These two measures address the demand side of the equation, but we also must address the supply side. If President Clinton had not vetoed ANWR a decade ago, ANWR today would be producing a million barrels of oil each and every day right now. A million barrels of supply each day would be coming to the continent. That is about three-fourths of what we currently import from all of Saudi Arabia.

We need to open a portion of the Reserve to environmentally sensitive exploration and get that oil to the market. There is no question that tapping into this domestic resource will bring down oil prices.

We also need to expand our refinery capacity. It is amazing, we have not built a new refinery in the United States in over 30 years. It is next to impossible to expand an existing one today.

One reason why gas prices are so high right now is that several refineries are still offline in the wake of Katrina. Several others deferred maintenance to help after the hurricane are performing maintenance now, still at lower than pre-Katrina levels.

Adding refinery capacity will help to increase gasoline supplies and lower prices at the pump. Our plan takes important steps in this direction.

We all know America is dangerously dependent on foreign sources of oil. This dependence compromises our economic and national security. Last summer, after a decade of partisan obstruction, Congress passed a comprehensive Energy bill that goes a long way toward addressing this grave problem. We double the amount of ethanol and biodiesel in our gasoline. By 2012, this should reduce oil consumption by 80,000 barrels a day.

We passed a hybrid car tax credit of up to $3,400 per vehicle.

The Energy bill also allocated significant funding for research and development of hydrogen fuel cells. If just 20 percent of our cars used fuel cell technology, we could cut oil imports by 1.5 million barrels a day.

We need to build on these initiatives and encourage American consumers, producers, and entrepreneurs to think beyond oil. I believe, as does the President, that America's future lies with technology that will allow Americans to use environmentally safe and diverse energy sources. America will be safer, America will be more secure with American energy coming from American sources.

We presented a strong package that will give consumers relief at the pump and will bring down the high cost of gas. I am hopeful we will vote on this package in the coming days. Filling up the tank shouldn't break the bank.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The minority leader is recognized.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT AGREEMENT—EXECUTIVE CALENDAR NO. 616

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, as in executive session, I ask unanimous consent that at 5:30 p.m. today, the Senate proceed to executive session and to a vote on the confirmation of the following judicial nomination on the Executive Calendar: No. 616, Michael Barrett to be U.S. District Judge for the Southern District of Ohio. I further ask unanimous consent that the 20 minutes prior to the vote be divided between the chairman and the ranking member of the Judiciary Committee and that the two Senators from Ohio each be allocated up to 5 minutes; provided further, following the 5:30 p.m. vote, the President be immediately notified of the Senate's action and the Senate then resume legislative session.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ORDER OF PROCEDURE

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I see my two colleagues in the Chamber, the distinguished Senators from Tennessee and Louisiana, and I see my friend from New Mexico here. I have a statement to give. It will take a few minutes to complete. I apologize, but that is what I have to do. I guess I should make an inquiry. How long are the Senators going to speak?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Five minutes.

Mr. REID. The Senator from New Mexico, it looks like he is loaded for bear there.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I have an amendment I am going to introduce on the pending bill. I will not speak longer than 5 minutes on the amendment.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I can wait and do my speech after that, if that would be OK with my colleagues. It is just a matter of trying to be nice to people. So I ask unanimous consent that the Senator from New Mexico be recognized—or the Senator from Tennessee be recognized first, the Senator from Louisiana second, and the Senator from New Mexico, the chairman of the Energy Committee, my dear friend, be recognized for 5 minutes and following that, I would have the floor and be able to start my speech and finish it.

Mr. VITTER. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, I would like to just make the suggestion through the Chair that the Senator from New Mexico go second and I proceed third.

Mr. REID. No objection.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection?

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, I know we put together a time line. Senator KENNEDY would also like to be recognized. He can follow Senator REID, but I think he would like to be recognized for 30 minutes following the four Senators we have in the queue.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, is morning business allocated this morning?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. No.

Mr. REID. So what the Senator from Washington has asked is that following my statement, the Senator from Massachusetts be recognized for 30 minutes. My statement is going to take a little bit of time, and if there is a Republican speaker who wants to come after me, that would be what should happen, and then Senator KENNEDY can be recognized after that. Is that appropriate? So I ask that following my statement, the Senator from Alaska be recognized.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Myself and Senator INOUE for 20 minutes.

Mr. REID. And following that, Senator KENNEDY be recognized for 30 minutes. So Senator INOUE and Senator STEVENS for 10 minutes each. So after 15 minutes, I will speak, and then it will be Senator INOUE and Senator STEVENS, and then following that it will be Senator KENNEDY.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Chair recognizes the Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I thank the Democratic leader for his courtesy. This will permit me to chair a hearing at 2:30 on time. I thank the chairman of the Energy Committee and the Senator from Louisiana.

May I ask the Chair to inform me when there is 30 seconds remaining of my 5 minutes.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator will be notified.

SINGING OF THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, across the country today, thousands of immigrants, legal and illegal, are marching in a nationwide rally. Many are saying that they, too, want to become Americans.

But I am afraid the message is quite literally getting lost in translation. As part of these demonstrations, a new version of our national anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner," has been produced—in Spanish.

According to an article in the Washington Post on last Friday, at least 389 different versions of our anthem have been produced over the years in many musical styles, including rock and roll and country, but the Post also noted that never before has it been rendered in another language. This may be a first, but it is a big first step in the wrong direction. It is a mistake precisely because our Nation is a nation of immigrants.

Almost all of us are descended from immigrants from Britain or Germany or Italy or France or China or Mexico or some other country around the world. Our forefathers who came from these many different countries spoke many different languages, but in coming here they agreed to speak one common language, one language to unify us as a nation, one language so we can all speak with one another. And that language is English. In fact, in order for a legal immigrant to become a citizen of the United States, one requirement is that he or she demonstrate at least an eighth grade level understanding of the English language.

A century and a half ago, we created common schools—the public schools—so that mostly immigrant children could learn English, learn how to write and read in English as well as to do math, and learn what it meant to be an American with the hope they would go home and teach their parents. Only 2 weeks ago, this Senate encouraged the speaking of English by saying that it would knock a year off the waiting time to become a citizen if an applicant became proficient in English and authorizing $500 grants for people who are legally here who are seeking to become citizens. So for a long time, we have recognized that English is a part of who we are as Americans. It is a part of what unites us, just as we are united by our history and our shared values, such as liberty, equal opportunity, and the rule of law.

I worry that translating our national anthem will actually have the effect of dividing us. It adds to the celebration of multiculturalism in our society which has eroded our understanding of our American culture. Ours is a diverse nation, proudly diverse, but diversity is not our greatest accomplishment. Jerusalem is diverse. The Balkans are diverse. Iraq is diverse. What makes America unique is that we have taken all that magnificent diversity and turned it into one nation. Translating our anthem into multiple languages also erodes our sense of having a common language that allows us to speak with one another as one nation. Our national anthem is a symbol of all of those things which unite us. It is a product of our history.

“The Star-Spangled Banner” was written by Francis Scott Key in 1814. Our Nation was then in the midst of the War of 1812. On September, 13, 1814, just a few weeks after the invasion of Washington, British forces began a 25-hour bombardment of Fort McHenry in Baltimore. Through the day and all through the night, the rockets and bombs flew. And the next day, on September 14, standing aboard an American ship 8 miles out from Baltimore, Francis Scott Key looked and saw the stars and stripes were still waving over the fort, and the British were forced to withdraw. Our flag was still there.

I went to see that very same flag a few months ago at the Smithsonian's National Museum of American History. The museum is in the process of carefully preserving it so that our grandchildren's grandchildren will be able to see the original flag that inspired our national anthem. That flag and song are part of our history and our national identity.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator has 30 seconds remaining.

Mr. ALEXANDER. It declares some of our national ideals, in being “the land of the free and the home of the brave.”

That is why we should always sing it in our common language: English. And that is why today I will introduce, along with Senator FRIST, Senator MCCONNELL, and Senators STEVENS and ISAKSON and ROBERTS, and I hope others, a resolution that affirms that statements of national unity, especially the Pledge of Allegiance and the national anthem, ought to be recited in English. We wouldn't recite the pledge in French or German or Russian or Hindi or even Chinese, which, after Spanish, is the second most spoken foreign language in the United States, and we shouldn't sing the national anthem in Spanish or any other foreign language.

So in conclusion, in this land of immigrants, let's sing it together as one American Nation in our common language: English.

Mr. DOMENICI. Madam President, I note the presence now of the chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

I will take as little time as possible, and I know of no reason for this amendment to take a lot of time, but I want to make sure everybody knows it is pending, and that is why I put it here, and I plan to offer it now. It is a very important amendment with reference to the reconstruction of the levee system.

I will quickly show three photographs.

One, the photo that is up here right now shows the floodwall breach at the 17th Street Canal. As you can see, the storm surge pushed the floodwall out of alignment. The corresponding photograph shows repairs to the 17th Street Canal floodwall as of February 2006.

This one shows the repairs and, believe it or not, that is what has been done already, Mr. Chairman, in the short time since the disastrous break, and it looks like that now.

Third, this photo shows the failure of an I-wall section of the levee. The President has requested that we replace I-walls with stronger and more substantial T-walls. These I-walls fell down all over parts of the area, letting water come through as they fell down, and became more like waterways rather than water containers.

That is what we are replacing, and we are replacing them with what is shown in a fourth photograph I have here, which shows work taking place elsewhere in the area. The amendment I am submitting in behalf of the President is going to authorize this kind of construction occur in an area described in the amendment.

This is the construction of T-walls along the inner harbor navigation canal. The foreground shows the reinforcing steel that goes into these T-wall sections driven into the ground at an angle. The T-wall is then cast in place on top of the pilings. With this, we will have as strong a containment as can be expected and can be done, according to the experts.

We will take this photograph down because we don't need to have this up while speeches are given.

AMENDMENT NO. 3769

Mr. DOMENICI. Madam President, I call up amendment No. 3769 and ask that it be considered immediately.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

Mr. DOMENICI. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that further reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DOMENICI. Madam President, the amendment has been made available to the other side.

The President of the United States, after consultation with the man he placed in charge of this program, the project of renewal, and with the Corps of Engineers' leadership, has asked us for $1.46 billion. An additional $2.2 billion is requested in this amendment, and that makes the total $3.7 billion. Previous supplemental funds provided last year enable restoration of current levee systems to the authorized strength as well as to complete the system as originally envisioned. The proposed supplemental funding takes us to the next logical step in this rebuilding process. The requested funding will provide for the improvement to the obvious weaknesses in the existing levee system. These include, $1.6 billion for replacement of I-wall design that failed during Hurricane Katrina with better designed, stronger flood walls; $530 million for temporary closure of the interior drainage canal, with permanent closure and integrated pumping stations; $250 million for storm-proofing of interior pump stations; $170 million for armoring critical elements of the levee system; and $350 million for navigable closures to improve protection of the inner harbor navigation canal.

The requested funding will also allow for increased protection from storm surges. These improvements include $215 million to incorporate the West Bank levee in Plaquemines Parish into the Federal levee. That will incorporate it into the levee system and upgrade the levee to the Federal standards; $100 million for restoration of coastal wetlands to reduce the risk of storm surge. And $493 million for increasing the levee heights of Lake Pontchartrain and Vicinity project and the West Bank and Vicinity project. These levee improvements will be a cost shared with the State of Louisiana, and everybody understands that. Based on the vulnerabilities demonstrated to our Nation's infrastructure by Katrina, $20 million is included for an inventory and assessment of Federal and non-Federal flood and storm damage projects nationwide. Currently, no reliable information is available to determine reliable flood risks across the country; $25 million is included for studies of the Louisiana coastal area to determine how best to provide long-term comprehensive restoration of coastal wetlands, to reduce storm surge in the New Orleans and south Louisiana areas.

In addition to the President's request, we have also provided additional funding for other emergency and disaster-related recovery efforts in California, Hawaii, Pennsylvania, and Texas. All of the funding proposed above the President's request is provided subject to a specific request from the President designating it as an emergency. Without an official Presidential request, these funds cannot be used.

In February 2006, the President submitted a request for supplemental appropriations for the Army Corps of Engineers totaling $1.46 billion. The funds will provide increased protection to obvious weaknesses in the New Orleans levee system and will improve storm proofing of interior pumping capabilities within the city to mitigate flooding.

Prior to Hurricane Katrina, FEMA had initiated a reevaluation of the 100-year flood plain in the New Orleans and other gulf coast areas. Post Katrina, the analysis was revised to include Katrina impacts. The revised 100-year flood plain maps show the existing levee system will not provide 100-year protection. These new flood plain maps will have a tremendous impact on where and how redevelopment of New Orleans can occur.

Additionally, the Corps has determined that roughly 36 miles of the 56 miles of I-walls that are part of the levee system protecting the greater New Orleans metro area should be replaced with more stable T-Walls or L-Walls as a result of the I-Wall failures during Hurricane Katrina.

Due to the need to bring some rationality and stability to the redevelopment of New Orleans, the administration submitted a revised request to provide 100-year level of protection to New Orleans proper. The request specifically excludes improvements to roughly 8 miles of I-Walls in lower Plaquemines Parish and increasing levee heights in lower Plaquemines Parish to provide 100-year level of protection.

Raising the height of the levees will improve the level of protection to New Orleans proper and allow for continued participation in the National Flood Insurance Program administered by FEMA.

On April 25, the administration requested an additional $2.2 billion for the following:

$1.6 billion for replacing I-walls with T-walls or L-Walls in New Orleans—roughly 30 miles. Replacing the I-walls with stronger T-Walls or L-Walls is necessary to improve the performance of the levee system due to the failure of the I-Walls during Katrina;

$495.3 million for the Federal share of raising the levee height in New Orleans to the newly determined 100-year flood plain level. The current cost share mandated by 33 U.S.C. 2213 requires a 35 percent local cost share;

$215 million for incorporating certain non-Federal levees by replacing or modifying these existing levees on the west bank of the Mississippi River in Plaquemines Parish. Incorporating, replacing or modifying these non-Federal levees will provide a hurricane protection system commensurate with the level of protection authorized for the Federal New Orleans to Venice hurricane protection project in order to protect the evacuation route. This is an increase above the original February request of $155 million.

The President's original $1.46 billion request will provide critical storm protection to New Orleans and is still necessary despite the new request. The February request includes the following:

$530,000,000 is provided to modify the 17th Street, Orleans Avenue and London Avenue drainage canals, and install pumps and closure structures at or near the lakefront. The closure structures will help prevent storm surge from Lake Pontchartrain from entering the canals, and the new pumping stations will convey water from the canals to the lake;

$350,000,000 is provided to improve protection at the Inner Harbor Navigation Canal. The Corps will construct two closure structures, one at Seabrook where the IHNC enters Lake Pontchartrain and another on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway;

$250,000,000 will be used for storm-proofing interior pump stations to ensure their operability during hurricanes, storms and high water events. Storm-proofing measures will provide more protection against hurricane force winds, storm surge and inundation so the drainage pumps and equipment can remain operable during hurricanes, storms, and high water events;

$170,000,000 shall be used for armoring critical elements of the New Orleans hurricane and storm damage reduction system. Armoring will be selectively used on levees and floodwalls at critical portions of the New Orleans hurricane and storm damage reduction system, including structural transition points such as pipeline crossings or junctures between levees and floodwalls; floodwalls susceptible to scour and erosion; and certain sections of levees exposed to extreme surge and wave wash;

$100 million to the Corps of Engineers to reduce the risk of storm damage to greater New Orleans by restoring the surrounding wetlands.

Since the President has revised his request following Appropriations Committee action, a floor amendment is necessary to accommodate the additional funding. The amendment will provide the following:

General Investigation—$48.75 million to support investigations of nationwide flood project inventory, Louisiana coastal area ecosystem restoration studies, Delta Islands and Levee studies in CA, developing a Delta risk management strategy in CA and for flood hazard and hydrologic investigations in flood prone areas of HI;

$595.3 million for levee raising and wetland restoration;

$3.1 billion for I-wall replacement; drainage canal improvements; storm proofing pumps; and armoring of levees.

The committee was aware the administration was considering a change in the request and tied to accommodate the President based on the original request. The committee provided $624 million in added funding, subject to request by the President. However, the new request significantly expands the scope of work and will require new language.

Amendments adopted in committee have been included as well—subject to the same terms and conditions.

As to Corps action to date, in the second supplemental $400 million for immediate disaster response to Katrina; $200 million for dredging operations and $200 million to repair existing projects.

In the third supplemental the President's request was $1.6 billion. Congress provided $2.89 billion—$1.3 billion above the request for recovery efforts from all fiscal year 2005 hurricanes. Of the amount provided in the third supplemental, about $1.9 billion went to LA.

In the fourth supplemental, $3.6 billion total:

In the first request, $1.46 billion for levee upgrades and flood mitigation activities in New Orleans;

In the second request, $2.2 billion to raise levee height, replace I-walls with T-walls.

To date, the administration and Congress have aggressively addressed hurricane damage to provide a higher level of protection for New Orleans and southeast Louisiana.

The Corps is working to restore hurricane protection for the start of hurricane season, on June 1, 2006.

The Corps is completing new sections of storm protection that were not in place when Katrina struck.

The latest request increases levee height in New Orleans to provide 100-year storm level protection, based on FEMA's new 100-year flood plain elevations, and improves flood mitigation capabilities within New Orleans to prevent severe flooding that occurred as a result of Katrina.

The Corps continues to evaluate existing structures to determine weak points and study and recommend necessary storm protection measures southeast Louisiana as provided in the third supplemental. The Corps should have initial recommendations by June 2006 with additional solutions provided over the next year. This information will be used to make informed decisions about future storm protection measures.

I believe we make our case. I do not think we have to talk more.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana.

Mr. VITTER. Madam President, I ask that the Chair advise me when I have 45 seconds of my time remaining.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator will be notified.

Mr. VITTER. I rise in strong support of the amendment of the Senator from New Mexico, who chairs the crucial subcommittee under which all of these vital corps projects fall. I thank the Senator from New Mexico for his leadership on this crucial issue. This is an absolutely essential amendment, and in supporting it, I wish to stress a few items.

First of all, everything the Senator has outlined, everything in his amendment was specifically requested by the President of the United States and was given by the President the top priority possible. Secondly, we are debating a number of issues on the floor as to this hurricane relief bill, and some are being cut out and others are being added, those at the margin. This amendment is not at the margin in any way, shape or form. This is at the heart of this hurricane relief bill because it goes to essential hurricane flood protection for the citizens of south Louisiana.

So I thank the Senator from New Mexico for his leadership and certainly strongly support the amendment.

Now, Madam President, I would like to call up a separate but related amendment which I have filed at the desk, amendment No. 3728.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator will abstain while the clerk retrieves the amendment.

Mrs. MURRAY. Madam President, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard to consideration of the amendment at this time.

Mr. VITTER. It is my understanding that the amendment has been filed; is that not the case?

Madam President, if I could suggest that I move on and speak about the amendment, and then perhaps we can formally call it up when it arrives at the desk, if that would be appropriate.

Mrs. MURRAY. Madam President, I have no objection to the Senator talking to his amendment, but at this time, we will object to his calling it up.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Since there are pending amendments, it does take consent to call it up.

Ms. LANDRIEU. Madam President, if I could ask unanimous consent to speak 2 minutes on the Domenici amendment at whatever time is appropriate before we leave that amendment and go on to anything else.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The junior Senator from Louisiana does have the floor at this time.

Mr. VITTER. I have no objection, if it doesn't come out of my time and everyone is agreeable to do that.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Louisiana for 2 minutes?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

Ms. LANDRIEU. I thank the Chair. I thank my colleague from Louisiana because I know that there are many important amendments that we have to consider relative to this major piece of legislation, which of course, is the supplemental for not just Katrina, Rita, and the gulf coast but also for our troops overseas and the situation in Iraq.

I thank, again, Senator COCHRAN and also Senator BYRD for their leadership in moving this supplemental forward on such a critical issue. I thank Senator DOMENICI and Senator REID, as chairman and ranking member, respectively, of the Energy and Water Committee, because in working with the administration, they have fashioned an amendment that will provide for Louisiana an additional $2 billion for critical levee infrastructure. As we rebuild New Orleans, the greater New Orleans area, south Louisiana and the gulf coast, getting additional funding for restructuring, rebuilding, and strengthening of the levee system around New Orleans and south Louisiana is essential. This $2 billion amendment will, in fact, do that.

I thank Senator COCHRAN for his willingness to add this $2 billion to the supplemental, to help us to secure the critical funds necessary to finish a project, which, of course, was promised on the heels of Katrina and the great flood that levied 20 feet of water in some areas into the city of New Orleans, and it continues our ongoing efforts, Madam President, to secure not just the city but the metropolitan area of Plaquemines, Jefferson, Saint Tammany, and Saint Charles, parishes that are the greater New Orleans area—Terrebonne, Plaquemines Parish and places to the west.

So I join my colleague from Louisiana in supporting this amendment and thank the bipartisan leadership that has come together to support it. And then we will have a series of other amendments that help improve the underlying bill. I thank my colleagues for the time to speak on the Domenici amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana.

Mr. VITTER. I thank the Chair. And I appreciate all of those words by my colleague from Louisiana and certainly join her in all of those comments.

Now, if I could briefly outline amendment 3728, which has not been called up, but I will outline what it does. Again, the Domenici amendment is crucially necessary for levy and hurricane protection work in south Louisiana. Amendment 3728 would simply supplement that in relatively small ways in terms of dollar amounts but in very important ways.

At the outset, before I explain what it covers, let me explain three crucial overall points about the amendment.

No. 1, all of the moneys or funds or expenditures in this amendment 3728 are completely offset so it does not increase the size or the cost of the bill whatsoever.

No. 2, everything covered in the amendment was actually included in the underlying bill at the committee stage of the process. It has been removed as it comes to the floor, but it was included in committee and the chairman of the subcommittee, the Senator from New Mexico, has no objection to the inclusion of these important items. In addition, the statement of administration policy on the bill, while it highlights a number of items the administration actually opposes in the bill, does not highlight any of the items in this amendment. The administration has not expressed opposition to these items.

And No. 3, all of the operation and maintenance required for these items in my amendment is funded 100 percent by the locals, by the local sponsors of these projects.

Basically, it covers five crucial things.

No. 1, addressing further damaged, destroyed or inferior protection levees in south Louisiana. While the Domenici amendment addresses many of those needs, all of these areas where there is a blue rectangle giving the new heights of the levee protection system, after the work in the Domenici amendment is completed, there are, unfortunately, a few gaps in this area of Lafourche, Terrebonne, and also the east bank of Plaquemines Parish. And this amendment would help fill those gaps.

No. 2, fulfilling shortfalls in funding for full pumping capacity needs in Jefferson and Orleans Parishes with the closing of outfall canals.

No. 3, meeting shortfalls to ensure equal levels of hurricane protection on the east and west banks of the Mississippi River in lower Plaquemines Parish, again, one of the slight gaps I pointed to on the map.

No. 4, providing a plan to protect lower Plaquemines parish for the long-term and vital resources in that Parish—energy and seafood and maritime.

And No. 5, the amendment would direct the national academies to perform a study to determine that portion of the levy system that lost height due to construction, design, subsidence, and settlement.

In closing, Madam President, again, let me emphasize that everything in this amendment No. 3728 is offset, that everything in it was included by the committee during committee deliberations and is not opposed in the statement of administration policy and that everything in it, operation and maintenance related to these works, would be funded 100 percent by the local sponsors of these important works. I urge all of my colleagues, Republican and Democrat, to support my amendment. It does not increase the size of the bill, it merely perfects, if you will, the very important work being done by the Domenici amendment.

With that, Madam President, I yield back my time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana.

Ms. LANDRIEU. I rise for 20 seconds to ask unanimous consent to add my name as a cosponsor to the amendment of my colleague. He and I offer this together as a way to keep these five important projects alive for further discussion, and as he said, all the operation and maintenance will be picked up at the local level. So I thank our colleagues for their consideration this morning, for giving us time to speak about this important amendment, and I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Democratic leader is recognized.

These are the names of the 16 Nevadans who have been killed in Operation Iraqi Freedom since May 1, 2003. I never met these men but, to me, they are Nevada's heroes. They are our Nation's heroes.

In 1944, an American President said:

Older men declare war. But it is youth that must fight and die. And it is youth who must inherit the tribulation, the sorrow and the triumphs that are the aftermath of war.

Many years and many wars later, this quote rings true. These 16 young Nevadans gave their lives for our country. These boys—these young men—left families and oftentimes their babies and children as they traveled across the ocean and seas to soldier in deserts and cities far from home.

Most of these men were living their childhood dreams of serving in the military of the United States. Others were using the military as a stepping stone. Whatever the reason for their joining this volunteer fighting force, we can never repay their sacrifice, but we will always remember their ultimate sacrifice.

To their families, to the families of all 2,404 U.S. troops who have fallen in Iraq, and to the thousands of families who have loved ones serving there now, our thoughts and prayers are with you. I know you are proud of your sons and daughters, and I am confident our Nation's people are also proud of them. Their exemplary patriotism, dedication, and competence speaks volumes.

I mention our troops and these fallen Nevadans for a reason. Today, our country marks an unfortunate anniversary: the 3-year anniversary of President Bush's donning a flight suit to declare "Mission Accomplished" in Iraq.

President Bush's dramatic landing on the aircraft carrier Abraham Lincoln will be marked historically as a public relations stunt gone horribly wrong.

Since President Bush rendered his judgment of "Mission Accomplished," more than 2,200 American military are now dead, about 20,000 have since been wounded, many hundreds of billions of dollars of taxpayers' money expended, and now Iraq is engaged in a civil war, the degree of which is unknown and debatable.

The image of President Bush standing in front of the "Mission Accomplished" banner has been etched into the minds of the American people as a metaphor for the Bush White House's misleading and dangerous incompetence. It shows a self-described "war President" not ready for the war or the difficult problems of securing the peace, the problems the President and his Secretary of Defense simply ignored or did not understand following the invasion of Iraq.

On this date 3 years ago, President Bush announced: "Major combat operations in Iraq have ended."

Let me repeat that quote.

Three years ago today, the President said on the aircraft carrier with his flight suit on: "Major combat operations in Iraq have ended."

He said further that "in the battle of Iraq, the United States and our allies have prevailed."

Here it is, 156 weeks later, with fighting and violence continuing across Iraq. We know that declaration was woefully premature. In fact, the President and his team's mismanagement and poor planning have now stretched the Iraq war to a length and monetary cost that matches that of World War II.

On that day 3 years ago, President Bush also said "a special word for Secretary Rumsfeld—that America is grateful for a job well done."

Three years later, the debate is not whether Rumsfeld has carried out a job well done but whether he is even the man for the job. Eight retired generals and millions of Americans have called for him to be replaced as Secretary of Defense.

We know that Secretary Rumsfeld ignored the advice of the uniformed military and went into battle with too few troops and no plan to win the peace. As a result, the insurgency was able to gain a foothold, and now civil and sectarian strife threatens our troops and our future and the future of Iraq.

Friday we learned that four-star general and former Secretary of State Colin Powell told the President and Secretary Rumsfeld that the number of troops for the invasion was inadequate. General Colin Powell told the President and Secretary Rumsfeld that there were not enough troops to prevail. He was ignored.

Returning to this picture, President Bush also said on that day, in Iraq, "we've removed an ally of al-Qaida," and, I further quote, "we have seen the turning of the tide" in the war on terror. The troops prevailed, yes. But provisions for peace were never made.

On April 17 of this year—a few days ago—the same day one of these gallant Nevadans was killed, Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld said—listen to this:

The implication that there was something wrong with the war plan is amusing almost.

Amusing? Amusing, Mr. Secretary? Really?

How unfortunate. A failed plan with failed, manipulated intelligence taking us to war.

But here we are, 156 weeks later, 5,072 days later, the intractable war in Iraq and the war on terror rages on as never before. April was the deadliest month for Americans in Iraq this year. Over 70 of our brave soldiers have been killed.

The war on terror has also moved in the wrong direction. According to the State Department, the number of terrorist attacks has risen sharply around the world. More than 11,000 terrorist attacks occurred worldwide last year—a 250 percent increase from the year before. Iraq—a country where Osama bin Laden had few inroads before the war—has become a training ground and launching pad for international terrorism.

According to the State Department, it is now a "foreign fighter pipeline" to terror. While the security situation in Iraq has worsened, U.S. taxpayers have been asked to shoulder an even bigger burden.

We are now spending more than $10 billion a month in Iraq for operations, and people have seen more than a 100-percent monthly increase from when the war began. After passage of the supplemental, our commitment to Iraq will stand at far more than $300 billion, and it is moving higher faster and faster and faster.

Americans have come to accept what Bush said 3 years ago was wrong. It was false. And they understand that President Bush's refusal to level with them over the last 3 years has made the mission of keeping America safe even more difficult.

But 3 years later, Americans are still counting on him to accomplish the mission. This is not a matter for future Presidents, as he has said. This is President Bush's war, and we need to hear him explain how the mission is going to be completed. The mission has not been "accomplished."

In the months ahead, President Bush must give the American people and our warfighters what he failed to give us on May 1, 2003—real answers and a real plan.

He needs to step up and explain his strategy for bringing the conflict to an end so our troops can begin to come home. As Congress and the American people have demanded, and Congress has passed into law, 2006 must be the year of significant transition in Iraq.

We need a new direction because our troops, their families, and the American people cannot wait for the next President to be elected to do what is right.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senator from Alaska is recognized.

(The remarks of Mr. STEVENS and Mr. INOUE pertaining to the introduction of S. 2686 are printed in today's RECORD under "Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.")

THE PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. VITTER). Under the unanimous consent agreement, the Senator from Massachusetts is recognized for up to 30 minutes.

AMENDMENT NO. 3688, AS MODIFIED

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I will use much less time, closer to 20 minutes.

I had earlier filed an amendment No. 3688. I ask unanimous consent my amendment numbered 3688 be modified. I send it to the desk.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment will be so modified.

The amendment (No. 3688), as modified, is as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. ____ FUNDING FOR PANDEMIC INFLUENZA VACCINE INJURY COMPENSATION.

For an additional amount to the "Public Health and Social Services Emergency Fund" to compensate individuals harmed by pandemic influenza vaccines, $289,000,000: Provided, That the amounts provided for under this section shall be designated as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 402 of H. Con. Res. 95 (109th Congress).

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, the Senate is currently debating an appropriations bill that provides $59 billion to continue the Bush administration's failed policy in Iraq. This funding will bring the total bill for the war in Iraq to $320 billion and still counting.

Three years ago today, President Bush dressed up in a flight suit, flew out to the aircraft carrier, Abraham Lincoln, and declared "Mission Accomplished" in Iraq. Our mission was far from accomplished then, and it is far from accomplished now.

In my State of Massachusetts, 47 young men and women have been killed, and more than 2,400 have been killed nationwide. For them, their families and loved ones, the mission is far from accomplished.

We all care about our service men and women fighting bravely in Iraq. We obviously want to do all we can to see they have the proper equipment, vehicles, and everything else they need to protect their lives as they carry out their missions. This bill provides the $239 million for body armor and personal protection equipment for the Marines, $890 million for Army up-armored HMMWVs, $271 million for the Marine HMMWVs, and it also provides $10 billion for pay and allowance for service members deployed overseas, and $1.4 billion for enhanced death benefits and traumatic injury protection.

The bill also includes the much needed hurricane and disaster assistance in the wake of last year's gulf coast hurricanes, assistance that is critical to rebuild the devastated communities in Louisiana and on the gulf coast.

It also includes funding for schools and levees, homes and small businesses, and other measures to rebuild communities and make them whole once again.

In Iraq, as we all know, our military forces are performing brilliantly under enormously difficult circumstances. The funds in this bill will help to provide the greater protection they obviously need. They do not want, and the American people do not want, an open-ended commitment in Iraq. What they want is a better and more effective policy worthy of the sacrifice of our troops. They want their leaders to come together, to address the issues they care about. But what they see is a White House focused on personnel changes, not policy changes. If the President spent as much time on his policy as he has on defending Don Rumsfeld, we could make greater progress in Iraq.

Unfortunately, the President's repeated failures to see each new threat in Iraq before it is fully emerged has put our troops in constantly greater peril. He disbanded the Iraqi Army with weapons intact and waited a year to begin training the Iraqi security forces. He failed to see the insurgency metastasizing like a cancer throughout Iraq before it was too late. He failed to see the danger of roadside bombs, IEDs, and sent our troops into battle month after month without proper protection. And now he fails to see the possibility that Iraq will succumb to a full-scale civil war.

This is the point of the amendment I intend to offer to ensure that the proper planning is underway now to protect our long-term interests in the event that Iraq continues the downward spiral into civil war. Iraq's future and the lives of our troops are perilously close to the precipice of a new disaster, the time bomb of civil war is ticking, and our most urgent priority is to diffuse it.

As of last week, we have been in combat in Iraq longer than we were in combat in Korea. At the end of this year we will have been involved militarily in Iraq as long as we were in combat in World War II. If we cannot achieve a military solution within that period of time, it is time for our troops to begin to leave.

Iraq is obviously still in great turmoil, and all of us hope the new government about to take office will be able to unite the country. In the vacuum that has existed for so long, militias have taken control of key parts of the country. We are now seeing the kinds of refugee flows that signaled the beginning of the end in Vietnam. Shiites and Sunnis are forced by the continuing violence to flee from their homes and move into separate communities in Iraq or become refugees.

With each passing day, the American people are becoming more and more impatient with the administration's continuing incompetence in conducting the war. They do not want our troops to defend the same failed course. They want a realistic plan for our troops to be redeployed out of Iraq. Starting this year, the sectarian violence between Shiite and Sunnis is fueled by the private militias and is now the biggest threat to stability.

We spent a very considerable period of time, some 8 years, after the whole peace process started in northern Ireland to have the IRA surrender its arms, decommission their arms, put what they call the "arms beyond use." Finally, it became recognized in northern Ireland that you could not be a political party and have a private army, that the Sinn Fein could not have the IRA in the background.

And finally, to the great credit of the Sinn Fein, they gave up the military part of the IRA. According to the international inspectors, General de Chastelain, and others, they have put the weapons beyond use. It has taken almost 8 years to achieve this. But in Iraq, we have a constitution that entitles these political organizations to have militias. It is inevitable that we will have the kind of private militias presenting the biggest threat to stability in Iraq today.

General Casey, the commander of our multinational force in Iraq, has said that America will not succeed in Iraq "until the Iraqi security forces—the police and the military—are the only ones in Iraq with guns." We need a clean and effective policy to disarm and disband the Iraqi's militias in order to end the destabilizing impact of these private sectarian armies.

The new Prime Minister must act quickly to bring the factions together, and we in Congress need to help this effort any way we can. Hopefully, he and his Cabinet can move rapidly to gain control of the whole country. Their efforts must demonstrate to the Iraqi people that the government will fulfill their basic needs and provide for their security.

We need to begin reducing our military forces. Our presence in Iraq inflames the insurgency. The open-ended commitment of our troops has made us a crutch for the Iraqis. It very well may be preventing political leaders from making the tough choices and compromises essential to move the political process forward.

The Bush administration has argued that we cannot cut and run from Iraq. However, they seem more than willing to undermine Iraq's transition to democracy. The U.S. nongovernmental organizations doing democracy promotion on the frontlines are about to have their funding slashed, just when the Iraqis need them the most.

Last year, Iraq passed several important milestones on the long road to democracy. The two elections and the referendum on the Constitution were significant, but they were not decisive, and it is still far from clear that democracy is being firmly established in Iraq.

Obviously, the process of building democratic institutions will require patience in developing effective governmental structures, a genuine rule of law, political parties committed to peaceful means, an active civil society, and a free press. For a country as heavily repressed for as long as Iraq, democracy will need even longer to take root.

It is far from clear, however, that the Bush administration has a long-term strategy—or even a short-term strategy—to solidify and continue the democratic gains that have been made so far. It makes no sense whatsoever to reduce the funds for democracy building. Yet that is exactly what the administration is planning.

I have offered an amendment with Senators BIDEN and LEAHY to provide $96 million so that the U.S. nongovernmental organizations can continue their important work of promoting democracy in Iraq.

Organizations such as the National Democratic Institute; the International Republican Institute; the National Endowment for Democracy; the IFES, formerly known as the International Foundation for Election Systems; the International Research and Exchanges Board; and America's Development Foundation are well respected throughout the world. Each has substantial operations in Iraq, and their work is essential to the administration's goal of building a stable democracy in Iraq.

Yet despite their success so far in helping to promote democracy and the enormous risks to employees working in the war zone, the administration has made no long-term commitment to provide funding for their work in Iraq.

Each organization operates on pins and needles, never knowing when its funding for these operations will dry up.

We must be clear in our commitment to stand by these organizations and their indispensable work every day on the frontlines in the struggle for democracy in Iraq. We also need to demonstrate to the Iraqi people that we are committed to Iraq's long-term democratic development. We need a long-term plan and a long-term strategy that is backed up by appropriate resources.

We need to refocus our policy in Iraq and provide the kind of support that will make a positive difference on Iraq's long road to democracy. We also need to prepare for the worst contingencies. It makes no sense to continue down the path of a failed policy and continue to put our troops in harm's way.

AMENDMENT NO. 3688, AS MODIFIED

Mr. President, I would also like to speak for a few minutes on another issue—the pandemic flu crisis which needs urgent action. The amendment that is pending will correct a serious defect in current law on compensation for persons injured by vaccines. The lack of this protection could well doom our effort to protect the Nation against sudden mass epidemics that could result from natural diseases or bioterrorist attacks. The Nation continues to face the danger of a deadly flu pandemic. The clock is ticking, and we have failed so far to take the actions needed to protect our people.

This chart shows very clearly the warnings that this Nation has had going back to June of 1992. Policymakers must realize and understand the potential magnitude of an influenza pandemic.

Here it is May 2002: Authorities must understand the potential impact and threat of pandemic influenza. That is in 2002.

Then, we find the GAO, in 2000, stating: Federal and State influenza plans do not address the key issues surrounding the purchase and distribution of vaccines and antivirals.

And we have, in December 2003, an outbreak in South Korea; and, in 2004, an outbreak in Vietnam; and, in April 2006, avian flu in Britain.

This is the real danger. Even after these outbreaks, needed preparations still lag.

Other nations developed comprehensive plans for responding to flu, but ours was inexplicably delayed. In November, the administration released a plan, but it was incomplete, and a new one has been promised once again. While other nations implement their plans, we wait to see what ours is.

The story is the same on the stockpiling of needed medications. Other nations put in their orders for antiviral medications years ago, but again we failed to act. As a result, America is at the back of the line in ordering these needed drugs.

As long ago as November 2000, GAO warned that:

Federal and state influenza plans do not address key issues surrounding the purchase and distribution of vaccines and antivirals.

Here it is June 2005, and the GAO reports:

The plan does not establish the actions the federal government would take to purchase and distribute vaccine during an influenza pandemic.

There it is, the time from 2000 to 2005, and the administration is lagging.

Congress has tried to move forward. In the bill the Senate considers today, Senator HARKIN's amendment has added over $2 billion to improve the Nation's readiness for a flu pandemic. Thanks to his leadership, these funds will be used to strengthen our hospitals and public health agencies and increase the Nation's ability to manufacture vaccines.

In 2002, with strong bipartisan support, Congress enacted comprehensive legislation to provide a framework for public health preparedness, but the administration still hasn't carried out the basic responsibilities called for in that legislation.

The act required an interagency planning council to guide preparedness, but the council was never established. It called on the administration to develop and implement a coordinated strategy for public health preparedness, but this task remains undone. It called for a registry of health professionals who would volunteer their services during a public health emergency, but Hurricane Katrina showed that the system was ineffective.

In only one area did the administration and its allies work together to get something done. What was this urgent national priority? A special favor for the drug industry. Our Republican colleagues slipped a sweetheart deal for the drug companies into the Defense appropriations bill late at night at the end of the session last December. The purpose of their tactic was to shield from public debate a provision that would never stand public scrutiny. When I spoke on this issue on the Senate floor last December, not one of my Republican colleagues stood up to defend the provision or the process by which it was included in the bill.

The provision allows drug companies to ignore basic safety rules in producing a wide range of drugs and vaccines. Patients injured by shoddy products were given only an empty promise of compensation. It stacks the deck against patients and abrogates basic principles of fairness and judicial review.

Supporters of this provision claimed that it was needed because, without it, vaccine makers would not supply the national stockpile. But our committee has obtained the contracts signed between vaccine makers and the Department of Health and Human Services.

I have them right here, Mr. President. These contracts clearly show that the drug makers received liability protections long before that scandalous provision was slipped into the appropriations bill. I will reference them. I will not include all of them. I will include the special provisions, the product liability and indemnification clause. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD the indemnification clauses from the Department of Health and Human Services contract with Sanofi Pasteur, signed August 19, 2005, and the DHHS contract with Chiron Corporation, signed September 28, 2005.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

CONTRACTS FOR PANDEMIC INFLUENZA VACCINE PROVIDED INDEMNIFICATION LIABILITY PROTECTION FOR MANUFACTURERS

FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES CONTRACT WITH SANOFI PASTEUR, SIGNED AUGUST 19, 2005

H.9 Special Product Liability and Indemnification Clause

a. The H5N1 bulk vaccine product shall not be delivered for use in humans absent either indemnification satisfactory to both the Contractor and the U.S. Government or the enactment or establishment of another sufficient liability protection mechanism.

b. DHHS will assist the Contractor in resolving the Contractor's liability concerns related to this contract.

c. In the event that an influenza A/H5N1 pandemic outbreak occurs, DHHS will cooperate with the Contractor in explaining to the public the Contractor's liability concerns and the Government's efforts to resolve such concerns.

d. In the event that the U.S. Government desires to distribute the H5N1 final container vaccine product produced under this contract to any population, government or other entity for use in humans, and prior to requiring the Contractor to fill and finish vaccine, the Contractor shall submit a request to DHHS for indemnification by the U.S. Government. The Contractor's "Request for Indemnification" shall provide all information and documentation as required by Federal Acquisition Regulation 50.403-1(a), ("Indemnification Requests"). The U.S. Government will not allow any H5N1 final container vaccine product delivered under this contract to be delivered for use in humans unless indemnification pursuant to Public Law 85-804 is approved by the Secretary or his designee or unless another sufficient liability protection mechanism is enacted or established.

e. In addition, the U.S. Government will work in good faith to support the Contractor's efforts to resolve the issue of tort liability associated with the performance of this contract. The U.S. Government further agrees that the need for liability protection in this contract is a legitimate concern for the Contractor.

FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES CONTRACT WITH CHIRON CORPORATION, SIGNED SEPTEMBER 28, 2005

H.5 Indemnification Clause

a. Neither the H5N1 bulk vaccine product nor the H5N1 final container vaccine product shall be delivered under clause H.3a of this contract or otherwise, for use in humans absent either indemnification satisfactory to both the Contractor and the U.S. Government or the enactment or establishment of another liability protection mechanism satisfactory to both the Contractor and the U.S. Government.

b. In the event that Public Law 85-804 is the mutually agreed upon means of indemnification or liability protection, prior to being required to fill and finish vaccine the Contractor shall submit a request to DHHS for indemnification by the U.S. Government. The Contractor's "Request for Indemnification" shall provide all information and documentation as required by Federal Acquisition Regulation 50.403-1(a), ("Indemnification Requests"). In the event that Public Law 85-804 is the mutually agreed upon means of indemnification or liability protection, the U.S. Government will not allow any H5N1 final container vaccine product delivered under this contract to be delivered for use in humans unless indemnification pursuant to Public Law 85-804 is approved by the Secretary or his designee.

Mr. KENNEDY. Perhaps the cruelest feature of this infamous provision is that it includes a sham compensation program with no funding. We have seen the danger of this approach before because a similar compensation program went unfunded decades ago. People in communities downwind from the atomic test sites in Nevada received IOUs instead of payments to ease the cost of their radiation injuries. Senator HATCH led the fight to see that the "downwinders" received what they deserved, and he was right to do so. We must not repeat the same mistake.

The lack of an effective compensation program also doomed efforts to vaccinate first responders against smallpox. Senator FRIST recognized this. This is what he said:

Too many health workers have been deterred from receiving the smallpox vaccine—in part because of the uncertainties about what would happen, how they would provide for themselves if they suffered a serious adverse reaction to the vaccine.

If we have a bioterrorism attack, and we have new breakthrough drugs and vaccines, we have to provide a compensation program for the first responders. How do we expect them to go out and risk their lives—they may become sick or something worse could happen to them—if they are not even compensated for missing a day or two or a week or a month from work? We have seen that you have to have a compensation program if you want a vaccination program to be effective.

The right approach is a program that protects drug companies that make pandemic flu vaccines or needed bio-defense treatments and that provides a real compensation to injured patients. That approach follows the successful examples of the past, in the cases of swine flu, children's vaccines, when the Government set up a reasonable way to compensate the injured.

In this appropriations bill, we have an opportunity to see that the promise of compensation for first responders injured by experimental flu vaccine is not an empty one. The amendment which I have and that is pending provides $289 million for the compensation program. These funds will give first responders the assurance they need that the Government is not making an empty promise on compensation.

Slipping a special favor to the drug industry in last year's spending bill without debate was wrong. But denying compensation to our health care heroes would be even worse. The Senate should act to fulfill the promise to compensate those who keep us safe from pandemic flu if they are injured when they bravely volunteer to accept an experimental vaccine.

I hope the Senate will accept those amendments.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Washington.

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the next 20 minutes be equally divided between Senators Obama and Coburn, and that following that time, Senator BINGAMAN be recognized for 30 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Illinois.

AMENDMENT NO. 3696

Mr. OBAMA. Mr. President, in addition to the 20 minutes, I ask unanimous consent to call up amendment No. 3696.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. COCHRAN: Mr. President, reserving the right to object, is it correct to say that in order to call up an amendment for consideration, at this time unanimous consent has to be obtained to set aside all of the other pending amendments that are before the Senate?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The manager is correct.

Is there objection to calling up the amendment?

Mr. COCHRAN. Reserving the right to object, a moment ago a Senator asked unanimous consent to do that. That Senator is now the Presiding Officer. Someone objected to his request. I am going to object to this request because of that earlier objection.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The Senator from Illinois is recognized.

Mr. OBAMA. What I will do, Mr. President, if it is all right, is I will read my statement. I will divide time with Senator COBURN. And then, procedurally, we can sort out my ability to present this amendment.

Mr. President, it has been 8 months since Hurricane Katrina devastated our southern shores. It was a storm that brought more pain to our citizens in Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama than any other in our collective memories, pain largely experienced by the poorest and the most disenfranchised but felt by all of us.

In the wake of this devastation, the Federal Government has mobilized significant resources, totaling over $100 billion, to repair levees, provide temporary housing, and help cities and States rebuild highways, schools, and hospitals.

The task is enormous, but with proper planning, leadership, and oversight there is no reason we cannot rebuild the gulf coast and help its people rebuild their lives. Yet if we don't work quickly to root out waste, fraud, and abuse in Federal reconstruction efforts, all of our best efforts to rebuild this region will fail. A dollar misspent by a contractor is a dollar denied to victims of Katrina. Money stolen by fraud or abuse is money that is unavailable to strengthen homes, schools, and small businesses. It comes straight from the pockets of the American taxpayer. Even worse, cronyism and incompetence siphon Federal dollars away from the gulf's citizens, and all Americans lose confidence in their Government's ability to respond to urgent needs.

Unfortunately, the list of wasted and fraudulent expenditures related to Katrina recovery is startling, and the abuse continues to this day. Let me mention a few examples. We know that FEMA spent nearly $880 million in taxpayer money on 25,000 temporary housing trailers stored around the country, including 11,000 that are currently rusting away in a field in Hope, AR. Why are they rusting away? Because FEMA went ahead and bought the trailers that their own regulation prohibited from being placed in flood plains like New Orleans. They bought trailers for New Orleans that would not hold up in a flood. Great job.

We learned just 2 weeks ago that the Army Corps of Engineers missed an opportunity to negotiate a lower price on a $40 million contract for portable classrooms in Mississippi. Instead, a no-bid and overpriced contract was awarded to an out-of-State firm. There are reports of prime contractors charging upwards of $30 per cubic yard for debris removal, work that actually costs subcontractors as little as $6 per cubic yard. And as the Washington Post reported, four large companies won an Army Corps of Engineers contract to cover damaged roofs with plastic tarp at a price of $1.50 to $1.75 per square foot for work that actually costs as little as 10 cents per square foot. A dollar seventy-five per square foot is enough to buy roofing shingles. Why are taxpayers paying a 1,500-percent markup for plastic tarp?

The list goes on and on: Funding for $438 a night hotel rooms in New York City; FEMA hiring a company as an ice vendor that doesn't own icemaking equipment; millions of dollars for bus services going to a transportation broker that doesn't own buses. We later found that this broker earned almost $1,200 per bus per day while the bus companies themselves received only a little more than half of that.

Together these specific incidents amount to an enormous problem, billions of taxpayer dollars being spent and no assurances that the funds are going where they are needed.

My good friend, Senator COBURN, held a hearing in the gulf coast 2 weeks ago to seek answers from officials in charge of contracting for Katrina. He found that neither FEMA nor the Army Corps of Engineers were able to answer allegations of unreasonable costs and overhead. They were unable to justify many questionable contracts. In fact, Senator COBURN found that Federal agencies routinely release incomplete data or no data at all about how they have been spending their money on hurricane relief.

Let me put this simply. There is no one accountable for coordinating the oversight of these contracts. As Benny Rousselle, a Louisiana parish president told the Washington Post:

The federal government ought to be embarrassed about what is happening. If local government tried to run things this way, we'd be run out of town.

I am embarrassed. Senator COBURN is embarrassed. And every single lawmaker in this city should be embarrassed, too. What is worse, we predicted this would happen. That is why we introduced a bill last September, 2 weeks after Katrina, that would have created an independent chief financial officer for Hurricane Katrina recovery. This CFO would have been in charge of every penny spent on Katrina before it went out the door and would have been able to prevent contracting problems before they happened. But while our proposal received some attention, we couldn't find enough people in Congress and, more importantly, the administration who would support it. In fact, we were repeatedly assured by administration officials that a CFO was not necessary, that the money would be well spent. Now after 8 months, $100 billion, and millions in no-bid contracts, overpriced tarp, unusable trailers, these assurances don't mean much.

We think it is time for a new approach. It is time for the Congress to put some of the checks into place that we first proposed last September. Senator COBURN and I will bring to the floor a number of financial accountability and transparency amendments that will go a long way toward eliminating Government waste and stamping out fraud and abuse. Our first amendment creates the chief financial officer position that we first proposed last September. This office would oversee the relief and recovery process and take responsibility for the use of Federal funds. We have witnessed the failure of oversight, communications, and control in the absence of a CFO, and our amendment fills a critical gap. We need to have somebody in charge of the Federal checkbook. The buck has to stop somewhere.

Right now, 8 months after Katrina, we still have Federal agencies pointing fingers at each other. This CFO will ensure that taxpayer dollars are being used efficiently and effectively, and he or she will provide the financial information to Congress that is essential for adequate oversight and accountability. There is simply too much at stake to have no one in charge of these taxpayer dollars.

Our other amendments are common-sense approaches to improving transparency and accountability and to reduce administrative waste. We require the Director of the Office of Management and Budget to issue monthly reports on Federal Katrina contracts that are funded by this supplemental appropriations bill. Every contractor who receives more than $250,000 will have its identity posted on a Federal Web site, including the total amount of funds received and for what purposes. The Web site will also show the contractor's location and tax status and details about the type of contract and whether it was competitively bid. This information is at the heart of transparency. We cannot reduce waste, fraud, and abuse without knowing how, where, and why Federal money is flowing out the door.

We also address the dangerous problem of no-bid contracting for Katrina-related projects. There are, of course, situations in which expedited contracting is necessary for emergencies, but Senator COBURN and I believe contracting officials should have to justify any use of noncompetitive procedures and inform Congress of their actions.

The American people deserve the benefits of competition, when their money is being spent. Under this amendment, the Director of OMB must specifically approve all no-bid contracts and provide details about the contracts to congressional oversight committees within 7 days.

Finally, we would stop excessive overhead expenses from being paid on Federal Katrina contracts. We have an amendment to prohibit contracts where administrative overhead exceeds industry standards. People should not be getting rich off of Federal contracts. They should be getting the job done at a fair price. If exceptional circumstances require higher overhead, Congress must know about it in advance. If the Government is going to spend $1.75 per square foot on a 10-cents-per-square-foot tarp, then Congress has the right to know why. And we better be able to do something to stop it, if necessary.

This is just common sense. The Federal Government must ensure that taxpayer dollars are directed where they are supposed to go. If we can't do that, we fail the American people, and we fail the people who sent us here. We also fail the victims of the hurricanes who need our help to restore their lives and their communities.

With the money in this bill, the Federal Government will have appropriated more than $100 billion in hurricane relief and recovery. I strongly suspect that this figure will increase in the coming years, as it should. But before we spend another dollar in the gulf coast, let's make sure that we have the right transparency and accountability systems in place to ensure that every dollar is being used to help those in need.

In our rush to get money to the gulf coast 8 months ago, we didn't do that. The American taxpayers and, more importantly, the victims of Katrina have paid a heavy price. I urge my colleagues not to make the same mistake again. I urge my colleagues to support Senator COBURN and me in this amendment.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oklahoma is recognized for 10 minutes.

Mr. COBURN. Mr. President, I thank Senator OBAMA for his hard work. Soon after Katrina hit, one of the things that we noticed from our Federal Financial Oversight Committee was a lack of transparency and accountability in a lot of what the Corps of Engineers does, that FEMA does. We put forward a bill which did not make it out but certainly should have, especially in hindsight, with the waste, fraud, and abuse. I am not going to go through the amendments. The distinguished Senator from Illinois has done that. The American public is entitled to some facts.

We held a hearing 3 weeks ago today in New Orleans. The distinguished Presiding Officer was at that hearing. Here is what we know: Out of $1.6 billion for debris removal, we paid three times too much. We paid the Corps on 30 million cubic yards $5 to administer it; $150 million to the Corps that was contracted through, and then they contracted with a major national corporation which then subcontracted with a regional corporation which then subcontracted.

Here is what we found. The easy work was cherry-picked. The hard work was left to the people of Mississippi and Louisiana and some in Alabama. The local people actually have to do some of the work. One of the ways to achieve recovery in a disaster is to make sure you encourage the employment of locals. What we actually saw was that when the average price per cubic yard was $32—that is what the Federal Government paid—the average price received by those people actually doing the front-end load of work and the dump trucking was $5 a cubic yard. So it was actually six times greater than what the sub sub sub sub—six levels of contractors down, the one that actually did the work—got paid. Understandably, it is a big task. It is understandable that we need somebody. But what we had was a bureaucracy that hired a bureaucracy which then hired five layers of contractors, and each one took something out of the pie and didn't contribute much except the ones actually doing the work.

In our subcommittee we have a poster that says: Accountability and transparency. There is no transparency to this. We have to dig, fight, and almost bite to get the information out of the agencies. These are four very common-sense amendments that will aid in transparency and accountability in the Federal Government.

The Presiding Officer asked during that hearing: Why couldn't the Corps have hired a contract manager or why couldn't the Corps have been the contract manager and taken some of that profit that was consumed, which was about 60 percent, that didn't actually get to the folks in cleaning up the debris? Why couldn't the Corps have functioned that way? It was such a good hearing that FEMA didn't even stick around to listen to the people from Louisiana talk about their dealings with FEMA. That explains the real problems with FEMA. The contracting officer didn't stay for the hearing to hear the criticisms, factually based criticisms, that were very enlightening.

The second area I will discuss is the Travel Trailer Program. The American people ought to ask: When a trailer costs $16,000 to $17,000, and it costs $50,000 to install, something is wrong. But when you go to look at the $50,000, we see this layering again. We see a layer to the Corps, to a major contractor, to a subcontractor, subcontractor, subcontractor, subcontractor. The American people aren't getting value, No. 1. And, No. 2, the people who deserve to be helped are getting a delay as the process goes through.

I have a couple of pictures to show. This is what we ought to be asking of agencies. We ought to say you ought to be accountable. It ought to be transparent. You ought to be able to find the contractors. As a matter of fact, FEMA doesn't even go down more than one layer in terms of the contracts. That is policy; that is not law. They protect that information so it cannot be available to Members of Congress or to the American public to know what is going on. We ought to be able to see results. We saw that we spent three times as much money to do something over a much longer period of time than what we should have.

We know, for example, the major contracts initially were no bid, of which the Corps took something off of the top as well. There has been no priority setting and no responsiveness, and there has been no spending discipline.

We ought to make sure the moneys that go forward are under the guise of good accounting practices, transparency, and we ought to be able to put in place, as this money is spent, a way for the Congress to hold the agencies accountable on how they spend this money. It is my hope that the leadership, chairman, and ranking member will look at these amendments closely. I think they are very positive in terms of making the needed adjustments.

On homeland security, we had a tremendous number of hearings—I think 24—on FEMA. It relates all the way back up through the Corps and all the way back down. Accountability is sorely lacking. These amendments would correct that.

I thank my friend from Illinois for his insistence and hard work in this area. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senator from New Mexico is recognized for 30 minutes.

Mr. BINGAMAN. Thank you, Mr. President. I thank my colleagues for yielding the time.

Mr. President, the challenging situation that our country faces in terms of its energy policy, both its short-term and long-term policies, has been vividly illustrated by the high prices of crude oil and gasoline that we are seeing this spring. The world price for crude oil is above $72 per barrel. We have seen crude oil price records being set in the last few weeks in terms of nominal dollars, even though these prices are still below the inflation-adjusted levels of all prices in the late 1970s and early 1980s. We are also seeing gasoline prices above $3 a gallon in many parts of the country.

In my home State, many are forced to drive long distances to work, without the prospect of carpooling or public transportation. This precipitous rise in the price of gas at the pump places a nearly unbearable squeeze on family budgets for too many in my home State and across the Nation. Consumers are confused and angry as to why these prices are occurring now. Their anger is stoked by reports of the high salaries and retirement packages being handed out to executives in the oil and gas industry.

There are many reasons energy prices have moved into this price zone that is so unacceptable to most consumers. One factor is that strong global demand for energy has collided with a number of other factors that have reduced supply. One factor is the reduced supply from Iraq. Prior to our invasion, Iraq was producing 2.6 million barrels of oil per day. Now it is producing less, more like 2 million barrels per day. These export levels are far below the potential production from Iraq because its prewar oil output had been diminished by years of sanctions imposed as a means of constraining Saddam Hussein's power and influence. Today, Iraqi oil production is hostage to the internal civil strife and instability in that country.

Another nation with significant exports of oil and gas is Nigeria. There, too, domestic civil unrest, particularly in the oil-producing regions where the population believes they have not been given the benefit of that production, has led to less production and greater uncertainty.

International tensions over Iran's nuclear ambitions have contributed to further instability and upward pressure on oil prices because Iran is a major oil exporter, and its territory forms part of the Straits of Hormuz through which most of the oil from the Middle East passes in order to reach international markets.

Finally, closer to home we still have not fully restored the gas production of the Gulf of Mexico that was lost during last year's hurricanes. Oil production in the Gulf of Mexico is still some 335,000 barrels per day short of the pre-Katrina levels. That is equivalent to over 22 percent of the former daily production in the Gulf of Mexico that is still off line. The cumulative loss of oil production from the Gulf of Mexico since last year's hurricanes is now over 150 million barrels.

This constriction of supply has made it difficult to meet the growing demand in the United States and around the world. Our own consumption of oil, particularly in the transportation sector, for the past two decades has been rising with no end in sight. Developing countries, too, are increasingly following energy paths that require substantially increased oil consumption. Their populations are becoming increasingly mobile in privately owned automobiles. In some cases, their electricity generation infrastructures have become more dependent on oil and diesel-fired generation to compensate for uncertainties in the shipment of coal within their borders, and consequently the reliability of coal-fired electric generation.

Mr. President, I do not believe, though, that the high price of oil is entirely explained by supply and demand dynamics. Oil and natural gas are increasingly traded as commodities by and among investment firms. This adds strong upward pressure on prices from speculative forces. At a time when other investment vehicles show less attractive returns, the idea of riding the rise in oil prices as an investment portfolio management technique has gained a strong following among investment and hedge funds. We may not have the right balance between allowing such market forces to supply initial investment capital and allowing them to set off speculative frenzies that drive up prices for consumers everywhere.

One proposal made in the context of this current supplemental appropriations bill, which we are hoping to finish action on this week in the Senate, is to reduce for a time the Federal tax on gasoline. That is a proposal that has been made at several points in the past when prices rose significantly over a short period of time. A variant of that basic idea is the proposal to give a direct cash payment to taxpayers.

In my view, neither is likely to provide immediate or significant relief to consumers. Both are logistically difficult to carry out. The amounts of money that a consumer would see are quite small in contrast to the runup in prices they have been experiencing. Neither proposal is a real solution to the underlying energy problems. We need to get at those real challenges in a more fundamental and realistic way.

So the obvious question is, What can we in Congress do in the remaining weeks of this session of Congress that would be bipartisan, that could be signed into law by the President, and that would hold out the prospect of eventually helping to moderate the price of gasoline at the pump? I thought for some time that the most effective way of approaching the real issues that are driving the high prices that consumers find unacceptable today was through a four-part strategy that is focused on, first, increasing consumer protection, and we all talked about that, and I will discuss it in more detail in a minute; second, increasing supply, and there are steps we can take that over the medium and long term will help with that; third, increasing efficiency in the use of oil and gas; fourth, providing incentives for forward-looking energy choices in the market.

A strategy along those lines is best undertaken in the Senate by building bipartisan consensus through our normal legislative channels. The current flurry of partisan amendments on this supplemental appropriations bill risks having us make some snap energy policy decision, with implications we likely do not fully appreciate and will perhaps later regret. So let me describe the four-part strategy that I believe is a better path forward for us to consider.

The first area on which I will focus is consumer protection. We have a variety of consumer protection measures in law today, but we have not yet convinced most consumers that we have all the tools necessary to address their concern that some of the price rise they are seeing is the result of price gouging. Every time we have an episode where prices suddenly increase, our response seems to be to call for another study of whether any price gouging in general is occurring. It takes a very long time to get such overall studies underway and completed.

A good example is the study on price gouging that was called for in the Energy bill signed by the President last August. Here it is almost 9 months later, and we still don't have any report back from the Federal Trade Commission in response to the directive that they do that study.

To the extent that price gouging is occurring, it is probably not something that is occurring on a massive industry-wide scale. Thus, it is questionable whether it would be picked up by such a study. It is probably a more episodic phenomenon. So we don't really need more general studies of this subject. What we need, in my view, is to make sure our system of laws is sufficiently robust that persons who engage in price gouging can be successfully prosecuted. States have their individual laws, but we don't have a Federal law that can address price gouging strategies that are interstate in scope.

Our first step to protect consumers, then, should be to strengthen our national ability to detect and directly address specific instances of gouging that occur across State lines. There are several bills introduced to fill this gap. One is a bill that Senator BILL NELSON and I have introduced, S. 1744. It is modeled on the price gouging statute of the State of Florida. It is not the only such bill, though. Senator CANTWELL introduced a bill addressing price gouging, S. 1735, as has Senator SALAZAR, S. 1854, and Senator SMITH, S. 1743. What is important is that we address ourselves to the task of crafting a statute that fills the gap in potential enforcement that now exists.

That is something that the administration has not been willing to do. In testimony before a joint hearing of both the Energy Committee and of the Commerce Committee, the Chair of the Federal Trade Commission, Deborah Platt Majoras, belittled the need for price gouging prohibitions at the Federal level. She testified that no "Federal statute makes it illegal to charge prices that are considered to be too high, as long as companies set those prices independently." She went on to say that "the omission of a Federal price gouging law is not . . . inadvertent," but "reflects a sound policy choice. . . ."

In her testimony, the Chairman of the FTC suggested that enactment of a Federal price gouging law would not be "appropriate" and "likely will do consumers more harm than good." She said that oil companies' "independent decision to increase price is—and should be—outside the purview of the law."

President Bush recently made a public statement that "the Government has a responsibility to make sure that we watch very carefully and investigate possible price gouging" in the sale of gasoline, and that his administration "will do just that." It is unclear how his public statements that his administration will take action against price gouging squares with the statements of the head of his Federal Trade Commission that it is neither illegal, nor should it be made illegal.

Mr. President, there are those who argue that price gouging is not a significant problem. They may be right. But consumers have a right to know that there is a law prohibiting such activity and that it will be enforced to the extent possible by the Federal Government.

Another area that Congress should give some priority to in terms of protecting consumers is in the area of preventing speculative frenzies from accelerating prices of crude oil and gasoline to the detriment of consumers and to the detriment of the economy at large. Here we lack basic information that might help us to quantify and address the problem. There are important gaps in publicly available data on how much trading of oil and natural gas is going on, whether it is lending needed capital liquidity to markets or, on the contrary, is distorting those markets in ways that hurt consumers. We need to develop a way to get more transparency into those markets so that we can see if there is any manipulation or gaming of the system occurring.

Frankly, we do not know enough at this time to determine whether legislation in this area is required. Last week, I asked the Congressional Research Service to prepare a report analyzing the extent of the problem which I hope can be used then to determine the questions on which we need to focus in determining whether legislation should be passed.

The second area I mentioned on which we need to focus our efforts in Congress is to increase supply. This is an area which received a fair amount of attention in last year's Energy bill.

Title III of the act last year contained numerous provisions aimed at boosting future supplies of oil and natural gas. Among these provisions was new dedicated funding to speed the processing of oil and gas leases and permits on Federal land, and we are seeing that new direct spending beginning to have an impact on the backlog of applications to drill in less controversial areas onshore in the United States. There are still too many applications in the pipeline, but we are making progress on the challenge of approving those in a timely and environmentally responsible way.

The Energy Policy Act we passed last year also had provisions to help speed the permitting of new refining capacity. To hear people today talk about this issue of our national capacity to refine oil into gasoline, one would think that nothing has happened in this country in the last 30 years.

The President and others are fond of saying that we have not built a new refinery in the United States since 1974. That is technically true, but it is also a highly misleading way to talk about this issue. We have built a great deal of new refining capacity in this country over the past decade. According to the Energy Information Administration in the Department of Energy, in the 7 years from 1996 to 2003, we added 1.4 million barrels per day of new refining capacity at existing refinery sites. That is the same capacity-building equivalent as if we had opened one new medium-size refinery in the United States each of those years from 1996 to 2003. The Energy Information Administration continues to project growth in U.S. refining capacity, and their projections are being validated by actual announcements of new refining expansion projects. Just last week, Shell announced that it would be adding another 325,000 barrels per day of refining capacity at the refinery it jointly owns in Port Arthur, TX. That capacity will be on line in 2010. So when we look at the actual facts on U.S. refining capacity, we see a different picture than the extreme one the President and others have put forth.

That is not to say we cannot do an even better job of responsibly increasing refining capacity. For example, the Government should look for ways to bring stakeholders together to cooperate more in the siting of refineries outside the Gulf of Mexico coastal region, but we need to act in Congress on the basis of actual facts and not on the basis of overheated and inaccurate rhetoric.

If we want to make further progress in increasing domestic oil supplies—and we should want to do so—we need to look no further than some of the promising areas in the Gulf of Mexico that were put off limits by the administration when it first came into office back in 2001. The administration took a large tract of potential production, called lease sale 181, and cut it down dramatically from the proportions that had been agreed to by then-President Clinton and then-Governor Lawton Chiles of Florida. With the stroke of a pen, over a billion barrels of oil resources and over 6 trillion cubic feet of natural gas were taken off the table. That was a mistake, and I and others decried that at the time and have tried to reverse that decision.

This year, we have a bipartisan bill to restore much of that lost productive capacity, thanks to the leadership of Senator DOMENICI and our Energy and Natural Resources Committee. Our committee recently reported a bipartisan bill sponsored by the chairman, cosponsored by me, to put most of the original lease sale 181 area back on the table for consideration for accelerated action. The vote in the Energy Committee was 16 in favor and only 5 against. The bill is on the Senate calendar now, and it is the kind of constructive, bipartisan approach to our energy challenges we need to be embracing.

The third way we should act to moderate the prices we are seeing today in the oil and gas markets, beyond adding to consumer protections, beyond increasing supplies, is we need to focus more strongly on increasing energy efficiency and particularly increasing efficiency in our use of oil and natural gas.

Increasing energy efficiency represents the most promising untapped potential for further legislative action by this Congress. Some ways of increasing energy efficiency can help to dampen the demand in the short term and actually have an impact on prices.

In thinking about more efficient use of oil, we need to face up to the fact that most of our oil is consumed in the transportation sector. Growth in transportation demand for oil is the single largest factor in the growth of our dependence on imported oil. So improving the efficiency of our use of oil and natural gas—these were the areas, frankly, in which last year's Energy bill turned in its weakest performance.

The Senate adopted a number of reasonable proposals to promote more efficient use of oil and natural gas when we passed our version of the bill, but the most significant of those provisions we passed in the Senate had to be dropped in conference because of the strong opposition from our colleagues in the House of Representatives. These Senate-passed provisions included mandating an economywide oil savings target, increasing tire efficiency standards, and implementing a renewable portfolio standard for electricity.

Since the passage of last year's Energy bill, there has been continued interest in these proposals, and last year a bipartisan group of Senators, led by my Senators BAYH, BROWNBACK, LIEBERMAN, and COLEMAN, introduced a comprehensive bill, S. 2025, the Vehicles and Fuel Choices for America Security Act. That bill provides a mix of energy policy and energy tax incentive proposals aimed at moving our economy toward both a more efficient use of oil and a more diverse future mix of transportation fuels, including biofuels. I strongly support many of those proposals. I am joining them as a cosponsor of that bill.

Because that bill contained both policy and tax provisions, it was referred to the Finance Committee. Yet many of the provisions of this bill are in the jurisdiction of the Energy and Natural Resources Committee, which ought to review and report those provisions to the full Senate. For that reason, I am joining with a number of those sponsors of S. 2025 to introduce a new bipartisan bill this week that will take those energy policy provisions and put them in a bill that will be referred to the Energy Committee. In this way, we will have a starting point for what I hope will be an effective and bipartisan committee process in the tradition of the bipartisan leadership on energy that our committee enjoyed under Senator DOMENICI's leadership last year in the passage of the Energy bill.

Among the most important provisions of S. 2025 and the new bill will be an emphasis on an expanded plan for economywide oil savings. The President would be required to come forward with a plan to cut our oil use from projected levels by 2.5 million barrels of oil per day by 2016, 7 million barrels of oil per day by 2026, and 10 million barrels of oil per day by 2031.

The new bill includes a number of initiatives designed to reduce our total reliance on petroleum products in the transportation sector. I will not elaborate on all of those at this point.

The fourth area of focus needed for our energy efforts is to create fiscal incentives that help forward-looking energy technologies to enter the market. As is often the case with technological advancements, many of the energy technology alternatives that are poised to enter the marketplace will not be able to successfully compete without transitional help. In many cases, the problem is simply a matter of cost. Fuel efficient technologies are more expensive in the near term than their less efficient counterparts, even though they provide us with greater energy security in the long term.

So lack of market share will also make it difficult for emerging technologies to take hold and, thus, make them more attractive to consumers. For instance, the manufacture and sale of dual-fuel E-85 in gasoline vehicles has been inhibited by the lack of appropriate refueling stations, and, of course, the relatively small market penetration of these cars has inhibited the growth of appropriate fueling infrastructure.

One of the main reasons we have not seen better development of more fuel efficient and alternative energy technologies is that the Government, for the most part, has had too simplistic a view of the market and has not given adequate attention to the many barriers to moving advances of research and development into the market itself. The Energy Policy Act took some important first steps to remedy that, but much more can be done.

Again, there are a number of sensible proposals for additional tax incentives. Some of those are contained in S. 2025 to which I have referred. Still others are in S. 2571, the Breaking Our Long-Term Dependence Energy Act that Senators Conrad and Dorgan introduced. And later this week, I will be introducing another bill that will take these and other tax incentive proposals that have broad bipartisan support and put them in a form that can easily be acted upon by the Senate Finance Committee. I will not at this time elaborate on all the provisions in that legislation, but suffice it to say that these are proposals which have bipartisan support in other legislation and which I think are very meritorious and deserve our consideration.

I have laid out proposals in four areas that I believe are both useful and achievable in the remaining weeks of this Congress: first, increasing consumer protection; second, increasing supplies of energy; third, increasing efficiency in the use of oil and gas; and fourth, providing incentives for forward-looking energy choices in the marketplace. These proposals will best advance if we use a different method of legislating on energy than we have seen in the last week or so.

Frankly, trying to legislate on this supplemental appropriations bill seriously about energy is not the right way to proceed. We need to know what we are doing and what various measures will cost and what they will achieve, and we lack the basic information for many of the proposals that are being put forth in the context of this supplemental appropriations bill.

The complexity and importance of energy policy is a good reason to ask the relevant committees to give some of these proposals their urgent attention. Each of the bills I have described is designed to go to a single committee with jurisdiction over most, if not all, of its contents. I believe this is the best strategy, if the committees then will do their work on a bipartisan basis.

This strategy certainly has worked with respect to one of the bills I mentioned, the bill to open up lease sale 181. The Energy Committee was able to schedule timely hearings and a markup of that proposal, and it is now on the Senate Calendar. I compliment, again, Senator DOMENICI for his efforts to get that bill to where we can act upon it.

Similarly, we have had good bipartisan engagement over the years in our Finance Committee on energy tax incentives, and I look forward to working with Senators GRASSLEY and BAUCUS on the ideas in the tax incentive bill I mentioned a few minutes ago.

Finally, I hope we can see bipartisan progress on marking up price-gouging legislation in the Commerce Committee. It has been several months since the joint hearing on price gouging, and there are legislative proposals awaiting action before that committee.

In addition to leadership at the committee level, obviously we will need the leadership of our entire Senate in order to move ahead in the remaining weeks of this Congress. In my view, it makes sense for the leadership of this Senate to structure our work on energy this year around a series of three to four bills that leave the Senate bound for action in the House of Representatives by a single committee. That is much better than trying to pass another Omnibus Energy bill.

Let me conclude by pointing out that time is short. As of today, we have 16 weeks before the scheduled adjournment of this Congress. Given that most of our work seems to be done on Tuesdays through Thursdays, that will translate into as few as 48 more full working days, and that is not a great deal of time. By the same token, there appears to be enough time to consider controversial measures which we have been advised are going to be brought to the Senate floor for debate and consideration, such as flag burning, gay marriage, and a variety of other issues which, in my view, do not impact on the day-to-day lives of my constituents nearly to the same extent these energy issues do. I believe our time would be better spent on issues where both progress and bipartisanship are far more likely. With the appropriate attention by the relevant committees, a series of energy proposals could be brought to the Senate floor.

I thank my colleagues who have proposed the various bills to which I have referred. I hope that despite the short time remaining in this Congress, we can make some additional progress on finding real energy solutions for our consumers. Our constituents are looking to us for leadership and action on these important issues.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. VOINOVICH). Will the Senator from New Mexico please come forward to be the Presiding Officer? I would appreciate that.

Mr. BINGAMAN. Mr. President, I am glad to, and I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll. The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BINGAMAN). Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, first of all, let me compliment my colleague from New Mexico on his presentation about energy. I know in recent days I have read reports by various spokesmen and spokeswoman here in Washington and in the press around the country saying that there is a lot of hysteria in the Congress about the price of gasoline and the price of oil, and the Congress is making much ado about nothing, according to some. It is a very serious issue, and it suggests an even tougher set of circumstances to come with respect to this country's energy supply. Let me describe some of the reasons why, and let me add to some of the things my colleague from New Mexico just described that I believe our country must do in order to resolve these problems.

We have about 20 million vehicles that are being driven in the country of China today, I am told. China has 1.3 billion people, with about 20 million automobiles. In 15 years, it is estimated that they will have 120 million automobiles. In other words, China is set to add about 100 million cars and trucks to their roads. Will that substantially change demand for oil? Yes, it will. Will it have an effect on the price of oil and the accessibility of oil? It will, and it will have an effect on us in the United States. That is not because of our difficulty today, but it is reason to be concerned about tomorrow.

Every single day, we take about 84 million barrels of oil out of this Earth. Every day, about 84 million barrels are sucked out of this planet and used. Twenty-one million barrels are used here in the United States. One-fourth of all the oil that is taken out of this planet every single day is used here in this country. This country has a lot of automobiles, a lot of vehicles. We are an advanced country, we are highly developed, and we use a great deal of energy. Now we see the price of oil spike to $75 a barrel, the price of gasoline at the pump to $2.80, $2.90, $3 and above per gallon, and people are concerned about that, and should be. It ought not be a surprise to anyone that people in the Congress are concerned about this issue.

The fact is, we have a circumstance where there is one sector that has all of the gain, and all of the rest of the American people experience all of the pain. I am not in any way opposed to the oil industry. I have supported the oil industry on many occasions and will again, I expect. We need oil. We need to use our fossil fuels, and we will continue to need to do that, as far as I can see, for the long term. So we need to produce more. As an energy policy, we need to produce more. We also need to conserve more. That is very important. We need to provide new and different kinds of energy in the form of renewable energy. Most especially, in addition to conservation, we need what is called efficiency for all of the things we use every single day.

Let me talk a little about what has happened in this country. This chart shows the expression of concern that a lot of people have these days. This shows the largest oil companies—there are only four up here, but this shows the increase in profits—I guess there are actually five—the increase in profits year by year: a 17-percent increase in profit, a 43-percent increase in profit. ExxonMobil went from $21 billion in net profits to $36 billion in net profits in 2 years. Shell had a 47-percent increase in profit. We see another 37 percent increase in profit.

Now I am not opposed to profits. I am opposed to profiteering, but I am not opposed to profits. We have a capitalistic system, a market system. It works. Having taught some economics in college, I don't know of a better system of allocating goods and services than the so-called free market system of capitalism that exists here in this country. It is by far the best method of allocation of goods and services. But that free market sometimes doesn't work very well, and sometimes it needs a referee.

I am reminded of the fact that it is the free market which has given us a circumstance where a baseball shortstop signs a contract that is the equivalent of the payment to 1,000 high school teachers. So you weigh it, right? The free market system says a shortstop in the Major Leagues is worth 1,000 high school teachers. Do you think so? I don't. It seems kind of strange to me. Then there is Judge Judy. I seldom watch Judge Judy, but occasionally, when my television remote moves past the channels, I see her. She seems kind of intemperate to me. Judge Judy, according to People Magazine, makes I believe about 200 times the amount of income that Judge Roberts, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, makes. Free market system? Fair? Thoughtful? I don't know. It doesn't seem right to me, but that is the system, I guess. So the free market system is a system which I have always supported, but it does from time to time create strange results and needs a referee.

Having said that, we don't have a free market in oil in any event. With respect to the oil market in this world, you have several things happening.

One, you have OPEC ministers, and OPEC ministers from the OPEC countries sit in a room and they make a decision: How much are we going to produce, and what price do we want for it? So they decide how much they are going to produce. They are a cartel. I mean, that is the antithesis of the free market.

It is interesting that on this planet of ours, we have 6-plus billion people, and we circle around the Sun on this planet of ours. For some strange reason, we have been blessed by the Almighty in this wonderful country of ours with a standard of living that is nearly unparalleled, and yet that which we need to use, particularly in the case of oil, exists under the sands—in the largest quantities—under the sands, for example, of Saudi Arabia and Kuwait and Iraq.

The OPEC ministers from the OPEC countries sit around a room, and I assume it is a closed room, but I don't know because I have never been there. I assume they sit around in a closed room and make judgments about how much they are going to produce and how much they want for it.

Second, the oil companies are the ones who decide these days because they have more raw muscle in the marketplace—and I might just point out that they all now have two names. They used to have one name, but then they got romantically entangled and decided to marry up. Exxon used to be Exxon, but Exxon fell in love with Mobil and by and large it became ExxonMobil. Chevron-Texaco and ConocoPhillips, they all had a romance and they all merged, and this orgy of mergers—these megamergers became these blockbuster, huge companies, and that now gives them more muscle in the marketplace, and that is just a fact. It is hard to contest.

So again we have the OPEC ministers sitting around the table, and then we have the large oil companies, much larger because of the blockbuster mergers, and then third and finally we have the futures market. And the futures market regrettably has become, in my judgment, just a huge amount of speculation, giant speculation about oil. I understand how that speculation works, but sometimes speculation drives these markets in ways that are completely unintended.

So we don't have a normal supply-demand relationship with respect to the price of oil. As a result of that, today people drive to the gas pump and it costs $50 or $60 to fill up with a tank of gas. A farmer is trying to figure out how to order a load of fuel for their farm to put in the spring planting, and then they try to figure out: How on Earth am I going to pay for it? And even as they drive up to the gas pumps and the farmers try to figure out how they are going to pay for a load of fuel, they see the profits of the large oil companies, the highest profits in the history of corporate America, the highest profits ever.

The minute you say that, people say: Are you against profit? No, I am not. I am not at all. But I think it is pretty unfortunate that you have one side with all the pain—that is, the consumers—and on the other side are the biggest oil companies with all the gain. It is almost as if you have a hose hooked up to the pocketbooks of the American people just sucking money out to go right to the treasuries of the big oil companies.

So what do we do about that? I propose a windfall profits rebate. It is simply this: We say to these companies, the major integrated companies—only the major integrated companies—we say this to them: On profits above $40 a barrel—and I picked $40 a barrel because that was the price in 2004, the average price at which the industry had the highest profits in their history—at profits above $40 a barrel, you will have a 50-percent collection fee you have to send, which will be rebated back to the consumers. The Federal Government will get the money and rebate it to the American consumers. So it is a windfall profits rebate. We collect it and then send it all back to the consumers.

There is a way the oil companies wouldn't have to pay that. In the legislation I have proposed, the way they would avoid paying that is if they are investing all of that windfall profit back into the ground to explore for more energy and thereby increase the supply of energy, or if they are building refineries above ground, then they wouldn't have to pay it.

They say: We need these profits because we are using them to invest back into exploration and drilling to find more oil, but they are not. They are doing some of that, but they are using the majority of their profits to buy back their stock or to drill for oil on Wall Street—and incidentally, there is no oil on Wall Street. But if they, in fact, were doing what they claim they are now doing, they wouldn't be affected by the proposal I offer. A windfall profits rebate would say to the oil industry: If you are not using these profits to expand the supply of energy and therefore reduce the price of energy, then you are going to have to pay this and it will be coming to the Federal Government and rebated to the American consumers from whence it came. It is pretty simple.

We are literally, unfortunately, in this country held hostage to this price of oil and therefore the price of fuel and the price of gasoline. We can do something about it in an aggressive way in the longer term.

I helped, along with 2 of my colleagues, to write the renewable fuels provision that was in the energy bill. We are going to go to 7.5 billion gallons of ethanol fuel by 2012. That makes sense to me, using renewable fuels and being able to have farmers plant in their fields the corn that can be turned into ethanol. Then we could drive up to a pump someday and say: Fill it up with corn. That makes sense to me. Biofuels, ethanol, biodiesel makes a great deal of sense. As I said, I was one of three Senators who wrote the provisions that will take us now to 7.5 billion gallons a year, more than double the ethanol we are now using.

Wind energy. How remarkable it is to be able to take the energy from the wind with the new, better turbines, more efficient turbines, take energy from the wind and turn it into electricity. By the way, using electrolysis, you can separate hydrogen from water and produce hydrogen and use hydrogen in a hydrogen fuel cell vehicle. By the way, with the hydrogen fuel cell vehicle, which I hope will be our future, you put water vapor out the tailpipe and have twice the efficiency of power to the wheels. What a remarkable thing.

Virtually everything in our life has changed. Technology is unbelievable. The Lunar Lander, in 1969, when our two astronauts, Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin, landed on the Moon—a new automobile today, sold in the United States right now, has more computing power in it than the Lunar Lander that landed them on the Moon.

My point is technology is changing everything. It is unbelievable what is happening with technology. But you know something, nothing has changed with the car or automobile with respect to the way you fuel it. It is full of computers, full of technology, it has more computing technology than the Lunar Lander that landed on the surface of the Moon, but nothing has changed since 100 years ago with respect to fueling a car.

I often tell my colleagues that my first car was a 1925 Model T Ford that I bought for $25 dollars, and as a teenager, I spent 2 years rehabilitating this old Ford. I discovered later you can't do much with the Model T, you just drive it until it starts boiling over and then turn and drive it against the wind for half a mile and then drive it a little more, so I sold it. But I loved rehabilitating that old Model T. What I discovered about a Model T is you put gasoline in a 1924 Model T Ford exactly the same way you put gasoline in a 2006 Ford: You drive up to the pump, take the cap off the fuel tank, you put the hose in, and you start pumping. Nothing has changed. Almost everything else in our lives has, but nothing has changed with respect to fueling a vehicle.

That is why I think, in the long run, we ought to go to a hydrogen fuel cell future. I hope our children and grandchildren are driving vehicles that do not need to use gasoline from oil. That's my fervent hope. That can happen if we make it happen.

We decided to go to the Moon, and we did it by the end of a decade. We can drive vehicles by remote control on the surface of Mars. But we can't figure out how to remove ourselves from our addiction to oil, particularly most of which comes from troubled parts of the world? That doesn't make any sense.

I think we have an intermediate strategy, including renewables, wind, biodiesel; it includes dramatic conservation including more efficient automobiles and a range of other things—more efficiency; more production. Yes, we need to produce more oil. I don't believe we should produce in ANWR. I do support producing in Lease 181 of the Gulf of Mexico. There are a range of areas I think we can and should produce, in areas in which we are not now producing.

But at this point I think we ought to understand, if we sit by and do nothing at a time when you have all of the gain from these dramatically increased oil prices going to the largest integrated oil companies, only part of which is being invested back into searching for more energy, while all of the pain goes to the rest of the American consumers, I think we should not be surprised when consumers say to Congress: What on Earth are you doing? When are you going to get off your backside and do something about this?

People have a right to expect that Congress will take action when things go haywire, when something is wrong. Clearly, what is happening now is not right. My hope is in the coming days we will see action on the floor of the Senate that begins to address these issues. They are not easy to address. I understand that. But to suggest that there is nothing wrong, to put our head in the sand and say this is just a temporary aberration, don't worry about it—after all, we can easily afford a tank of gas on congressional salaries. What about people who cannot afford the tank of gas? That money is going, not incidentally, just to the major oil companies. We have 60 percent of our oil coming from off our shores. A portion of this money goes to the Saudi royal family, and they thank you. But it is not fair.

There is much to do. I notice in recent days a real pushback by those who say: Don't be hysterical about this, let's not do anything, let's not play the blame game—let's do nothing. Let's just let the coffers of the major integrated oil companies fill up, don't worry a bit, let people exhibit the pain, don't worry a bit, this will all be fine in the long term. John Kenneth Galbraith stated: In the long term we are all dead.

How about in the short term? What about the intermediate term, where we can do something about the problems that exist, the real problems that confront this country?

This country deserves better than it is getting. This country deserves leadership. It deserves aggressive leadership to tackle problems that are real problems in the lives of the American people. This is one.

My hope is that that leadership is something that we can exhibit sooner rather than later.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. MARTINEZ). The Senator from Mississippi.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, thank you. And I thank my colleagues who are working so hard on this emergency supplemental bill which has so many important issues that address the needs of our troops: the need to get the equipment they need, the protection they need, and the needs of the people in the area that was struck by Hurricane Katrina.

But I have to say this war, as we know today—and the President said 3 years ago “Mission Accomplished”—this is not exactly an emergency that he didn’t know about, and the war should be paid for in the budget and not in an emergency supplemental. The war is known. The costs of the war were anticipated by some people whom this administration fired, and the costs of this war are spinning out of control.

In my own State, about 23 percent of the debt is from people who are from California or based in California, and we are suffering mightily with these debts. The mental health problems of those veterans coming home are not being addressed in the appropriate way. We read about suicides which are off the chart, and divorces are off the chart.

I have to say I am very disappointed and concerned and angry that Secretary Rumsfeld still hasn’t appointed people to a mental health task force that this Senate voted on and said we ought to have, that the House accepted, and that the President signed into law. On April 7th, that mental health task force was supposed to be in place, and we still do not have the people assigned to it, while our veterans are coming back in very bad shape. I don’t understand it. I call on Secretary Rumsfeld to do his job and follow the law and appoint the people to this commission.

Frankly, we are not doing right by our veterans.

The Senator from Washington is here. I know how much she cares about this issue. I know how hard she fought to expose the fact that the veterans health care budget was underfunded. And with her hard work and reaching across the aisle, we were able to add funding to the veterans health care system. But the needs of our soldiers are still not being met. The horror they face is having a big impact on them when they return home.

I will be offering an amendment that addresses this mental health commission, assuming that the Secretary of Defense has not acted. I will also be talking about a very important facility that we need to set up in San Diego to deal with the west coast injured—from Washington, from Oregon, and from California. We do not have a place to treat these who are being injured. A lot of these families on the west coast have to travel to Texas, or have to travel to the east coast, and the Navy wants to see this facility built. I will be speaking about that.

Unfortunately, we could not come to an agreement on the immigration legislation that I thought was well thought out. The McCain-Kennedy bill that took a look at the whole immigration issue said: Yes, we must strengthen the border. We have to stop illegal immigration at the border, but we also must deal with the hard-working people who have been here and bring them out of the shadows, not put them in front of the line; put them in back of the line, put them on a path to legality. That bill was not forthcoming from this body.

Then Senator MARTINEZ and Senator HAGEL offered another compromise which I thought was not as good as the original one because I think it will be a bureaucratic nightmare to administer, but at least it is a compromise between those who want to strengthen the border and those who want to give people a path to legality. Yet we had a vote on that, and Republicans voted right down the line, no. They wanted to have endless numbers of amendments.

I have to say it is up to the Republican leader to bring this issue back before us and to resolve it. It is key to my State. It is key to the country. I hope we can work together and once and for all resolve it.

Lastly, I want to talk about gas prices. Many Americans are paying well over $3 per gallon for gasoline. Certainly, in my State, I have seen gasoline over $4 in my State. I have heard predictions that that is coming.

On a television show yesterday, our Department of Energy Secretary, Mr. Bodman, had bad news for Americans. He said: Well, I guess we are in a crisis. I am not embarrassed about it. But you know there is a problem. We have lost control of supply. I am not embarrassed. Gas prices are high.

I don’t understand what kind of leadership we have here in this country with this administration. When you talk about Iraq, the President says: Gear up. We are going to have more deaths. He doesn’t give us an exit strategy, and he doesn’t tell us when this long nightmare is coming to an end. Oh, just brace yourself, more casualties.

Then you have the Secretary of Energy, and he doesn’t say: Here is my plan. We are going to look at these oil companies. We want to understand why they are making record profits when they say they are suffering with higher costs, that they were simply passing the costs on to us. Yes, prices are going up at the pump, but their profits would be level. Their profits are off the chart. One of their retiring CEOs had a $400 million package when he left.

I do not know how the oil companies can say with a straight face that all they are doing is passing on costs when they give one individual $400 million.

Think about the average small business in America. They would never dream of seeing $400 million. This is for one individual.

I was pleased. I was on one of the Sunday shows with Senator TRENT LOTT, and we were really looking at this out of the same lens. He was just as upset. And when we talked about windfall profits taxes, he said he is willing to look at it.

I hope there is a way we can address the gas prices in this bill. I have been working to try to make amendments germane to the subject, and if we can’t get them on this bill, we are not going to go away.

We hear that Katrina, the Middle East, Iran, and Iraq are the reason for these prices. And there is no question that instability in the world and the aftermath of Katrina is hurting us. But, again, if these external factors are all it is, we would be willing to pay for that. But, obviously, they are adding a hunk of money into their profits. That is very clear. We are seeing profits off the chart.

In the first quarter of this year, Chevron had profits of $4 billion, up 49 percent compared to the same quarter last year. When we look at Exxon profits of $8.4 billion, and a $400 million retirement package for their former CEO, Lee Raymond, it is clear they could afford it. Enough is enough.

The President announced that he is halting deposits to the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, which is the reserve that we have in case of an emergency. It is very full. We have been telling the President for more than a year now to please stop taking gasoline off the market and putting it into the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. You are shorting the supply. He finally said he is going to stop filling it. However, he has not said he will release any from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve. This is the time to do it because that would have a downward pressure on gas prices.

We also need to take steps to reduce our demand for gasoline. Obviously, when a family buys a car, it is a huge purchase. I know families who are now considering buying a fuel-efficient automobile. My family did, even though it has been in the papers because some reporter didn’t do his homework that I own a gas-guzzler; I do not.

My family owns three cars and they are all hybrids. I have been driving mine for almost 4 years. It is terrific. The men I know always ask: Does it have pickup? It has pickup, yes. It does very well. The newer version—I have the original version—the newer version now gets over 50 miles to the gallon.

I ask myself: Why doesn't the Federal Government buy these automobiles? My good staff who is here today checked it out and found out that every year the Federal Government purchases 58,000 passenger vehicles. According to the Department of Energy, the average fuel economy of the new vehicles purchased for the fleet in 2005 was 21.4 miles per gallon. So we can do better, that is for sure, with just the Federal fleet. It may not sound like a lot, but 58,000 cars that we say we are now going to make more fuel efficient will have a salutary impact on this marketplace. It is going to provide a bigger market for the fuel-efficient cars. I hope, in addition to this, we can have a program where we incentivize States, counties, and local governments to do the same.

I got the idea for this bill when I visited the San Francisco autowash. We looked around and almost every car they have in there is either fuel efficient now or they are working to make it so. They have cars that run on alternative fuels. They are rehabbing their cars. All the good ideas started in our neighborhoods. That was an idea I took.

I mentioned before, my hybrid cars are getting over 50 miles to the gallon. We know, unfortunately, that the American car companies are not yet up to where they should be with their fuel efficiency. This is sad. I have sat down with them over the decades—because I lived through the 1970s when we had a fuel crisis—and they still refuse, saying Americans want big cars, too bad.

The fact is, at least our American companies are now building fuel-efficient SUVs. This is good. So when the Federal Government has to buy a hybrid car, they can buy a fuel-efficient hybrid car made in America that is an SUV. I hope we can lead by example.

I don't take what Mr. Bodman says as a fact, that there is nothing we can do, shrug our shoulders, and walk away. There is something we can do. We can be smart consumers regarding the Federal Government with the taxpayers' dollars. Taxpayer dollars should not be wasted on gasoline that goes straight into the pockets of the oil companies that, in my opinion, are manipulating supply. I will get to that in a minute.

We now have a tax credit for buying a hybrid vehicle; the dollar amount varies by vehicle. That is terrific. I propose we have an additional $1,000 tax credit for purchasing a vehicle that obtains a minimum of 45 miles per gallon. There are now cars that get 45 miles per gallon and there may soon be other cars that get 45 miles per gallon, so purchasers of those cars would have the $1,000 tax credit. If you have a hybrid that gets over 45 miles per gallon, if you bought a new one, you would get a $1,000 tax break plus the tax break for purchasing a hybrid. That is very important because it is true the hybrids are a little more costly than a similar nonhybrid car.

The President of the United States came forward and said: I am ordering an Federal Trade Commission investigation. I was very glad he did that. Unfortunately, for the eight times I have called for those investigations, I have never had his support. I have called for no less than eight investigations into gas price manipulation, but I was happy he called for—finally, better late than never—an investigation into manipulation among the oil companies and in each oil company. Unfortunately, 4 days later, he said: I have to say I haven't seen any evidence of any manipulation. That was Friday.

I am confused. He calls for an FTC investigation and then said: I don't see any evidence of it, but they are working on it. It seems to me that sends a bad signal to the FTC. Why not ask your Justice Department, your Energy Department to work with the FTC and scour every record you can to see if there is zone pricing, to see if they are cutting back on supply?

I lived through the Enron debacle. We all did. But when I say I lived through it, those on the west coast got it in the neck from Enron. What did the Enron traders do? They said: We are going to withhold supply. They took power offline, and they said to the public: All we are doing is regular maintenance of our powerplants. That was not true. They were closing down some of the power in order to manipulate supply.

Now we look at what is happening in the refinery business, and we see they are not building any new refineries because they are monopolies. They do not want to increase the supply. They like it the way it is.

How do I know this? It is pretty clear. California has changed its rules. We have a streamlined procedure now put into place by the Governor and the legislature. Please come in, please build refineries, please do them in an environmentally sound way. Nothing.

How do I know what is happening? This is it. Shell Oil announced that they were closing down a refinery in Bakersfield about a year ago or more. We were very upset, Senator FEINSTEIN and I, the congressional delegation, across party lines, the Governor, everyone asking: Why are you closing down a refinery that produces 2 percent of California's gasoline?

The answer came back in a letter to me: Senator, we are not making any money in this refinery. We are losing money. Senator, no one wants to buy it. We have put it up there for sale, and we are closing it down, period.

We did not believe it. We had learned the lesson of Enron, which is to reduce supply, so we dug around, and we went to the FTC, this Bush administration FTC. Do you know what they did for us, despite all their talk? Nothing. They did nothing. Zero.

So we went to the attorney general of the State of California, Bill Lockyer. He said: Let me see what is going on. Guess what he found out. The refinery that they said was making no money was making record profits. Yes, there were many people who were interested in purchasing it. Guess what. It has been sold, and it is still operational.

So when I asked the oil company executives from Shell about this at the Commerce Committee hearing, they did not tell the truth. They said: We are so delighted we sold this. They never told the truth.

MARIA CANTWELL and I tried to get them sworn in to take the oath, to swear to tell the truth, but Senator STEVENS said: Not on my watch; we are not swearing in these people. So they got away with lying to the committee.

When Senator CANTWELL starts to call for ways to probe this situation, the fact that we believe they are manipulating supply, we have a reason to believe they are doing it. They did it in Enron. We believe they are doing it again.

I have a bill that requires the FTC to automatically investigate manipulation in the market any time average gas prices increase in any State by 20 percent in a period of 3 months or less and remain there for 7 days or more. This calling for constant investigations does not get anywhere. But if we have a law that says the FTC must look at this, and if they do, and they issue a report, they must hold a public hearing to discuss it, and if their findings indicate there is market manipulation, the FTC works with the State's attorney general to determine the penalties. If there was no market manipulation, we should look at releasing some of the oil from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, again, to put downward pressure on the price of gasoline.

Finally, another piece of legislation, and I would love to have it in the bill if I could, is to say that in the future if any oil company gives a salary, a bonus, a retirement package in excess of $50 million, they have to make a like contribution to the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program because we know that many people depend on that LIHEAP program. Even though LIHEAP deals with home heating and cooling costs, not with gas prices, that would be a fair thing to do.

I have spoken on a number of issues. I am pleased now to yield the floor.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

MICHAEL RYAN BARRETT TO BE UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to executive session to consider the following nomination, which the clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read the nomination of Michael Ryan Barrett, of Ohio, to be United States District Judge for the Southern District of Ohio.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Vermont is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I assume the opponents of these nominations would want to be recognized, or the Republican majority supporting him. I understand there are three Republicans to speak on the judges and one Democrat is allowed to speak.

No one is here, so I will speak.

I will support this nominee, Michael Barrett. He has the support of his home State Senators. I have also heard from both Democrats and Republicans in Ohio. That makes it worth supporting. In fact, the nomination of such consensus nominees is an indication of what should be done in States, and would lead to the confirmation of more judges. In January 2001, we were following a shutdown of judges going through. As the distinguished Presiding Officer knows, the Republicans were determined to block virtually all of President Clinton's judges for a long period of time. I became chairman and for 17 months moved a record number of judges for President Bush, 100. Actually, since 2001, while the Republican majority has not moved President Bush's judicial nominees anywhere near as fast as I did, we have still moved 238. That includes two Supreme Court Justices, and 43 circuit court judges. However, we do have some that create problems.

Unfortunately, as demonstrated by the recent withdrawals of several nominees, all too often this White House seems more interested in rewarding cronies and picking political fights than in selecting lifetime appointments after thorough vetting. Sadly, the Republican Senate has proceeded to rubber stamp these important nominations and failed in its role as a constitutional check on the President.

The controversial nominations of Judge Terrence Boyle and Brett Kavanaugh are contemporary cases in point. With the extreme right-wing and special interest groups agitating for a fight over judicial nominations, the Republican leader of the Senate is answering their demands by seeking to force Senate debate on these controversial nominees. Rather than focus on proposals to end the subsidies to big oil and rein in gas prices, rather than devote our time to immigration reform legislation, rather than completing a budget, the Republican leader came to the floor last week to signal a fight over controversial judicial nominations is in the offing. Such a controversial maneuver serves only to divide and distract us from America's real problems. During this President's administration, gas prices have more than doubled and undocumented immigrants have doubled, but judicial vacancies have been cut in half from the time when Republicans in the Senate were stalling President Clinton's judicial nominations. Despite the real problems that confront Americans with respect to security, health insurance, rising health costs, rising energy costs, and spiraling deficits and debt, some would rather pick an election year fight over judicial nominations.

In fact, I mentioned Judge Boyle. I contrast his nomination to the nomination of Michael Barrett. Michael Barrett, as I said, will go through easily. I will support him. I will vote for him, as I told the distinguished Senator, the former Lieutenant Governor of Ohio, now senior Member of the U.S. Senate, Mr. DEWINE.

But you take somebody like Judge Boyle. Here is somebody who has violated every judicial ethic you can think of. He ruled on multiple cases involving corporations in which he held investments. In at least one instance—this is chutzpah beyond all understanding—he was presiding over a case involving General Electric, and while doing that, he bought stock in General Electric; then, 2 months later, he ruled in favor of General Electric.

Now, in the first year of law school you might get an example like this because it is so clear-cut and easy to understand. This is amazing—amazing—not withstanding all the other conflicts of interest he had in other cases. Whether or not it turns out that Judge Boyle broke Federal law or canons of judicial ethics, these types of conflicts of interest have no place on the Federal bench.

This is not the first judicial nominee to engage in these kinds of apparent ethical lapses. Less than two months ago, the President withdrew the nomination of Judge James Payne to the Court of Appeals for the 10th Circuit after information became public about that nominee's rulings in a number of cases in which he appears to have had conflicts of interest. Those conflicts were pointed out not by the administration's screening process or by the ABA, but by journalists.

During the last few months, President Bush also withdrew the nominations of Judge Henry Saad to the Court of Appeals for the 6th Circuit and Judge Daniel P. Ryan to the Eastern District of Michigan. And we saw the arrest of another Bush administration official and former judicial nominee to the Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit, Claude Allen, who had earlier withdrawn as a nominee and more recently resigned his position as a top domestic policy adviser to the President. When we are considering lifetime appointments of judicial officers who are entrusted with protecting the rights of Americans, it is important to be thorough. Unfortunately, all too often this White House seems more interested in rewarding cronies.

They add to the long list of nominations by this President that have been withdrawn. Among the more well known are Bernard Kerik to head the Department of Homeland Security and Harriet Miers to the Supreme Court. It was, as I recall, reporting in a national magazine that doomed the Kerik nomination. It was opposition within the President's own party that doomed the Miers nomination.

Over the weekend we heard that this administration's former FDA director is under investigation and its political director testified, again before a federal grand jury. Of course, Mr. Libby remains under indictment, and Messrs. Safavian, Scanlon, Abramoff and a number of House Republicans are caught up in another criminal probe.

In light of this long list of failures of the White House to fulfill its commitments to the American people to be above reproach and its lackluster vetting process, it is more important than ever that the Senate and the Senate Judiciary Committee afford nominees the kind of careful scrutiny that will yield enough information to decide on a nominee's fitness for an important appointment. In Judge Boyle's case, not only were his answers to the committee's questions evasive, but he failed to produce even the unpublished opinions he issued from the bench.

I am also concerned that the Senate Judiciary Committee is being required to consider the nomination of Brett Kavanaugh to the United States Court of Appeals for the DC Circuit without a complete record. The Democratic members of the committee have twice asked for another hearing in connection with his nomination. Mr. Kavanaugh failed to provide meaningful and substantive responses to many of the questions posed to him at his first hearing and he delayed for seven months before providing evasive and incomplete answers to written questions.

In addition, a new hearing is warranted because several troubling issues have come to light since his initial nomination. As Associate White House Counsel and staff secretary, Mr. Kavanaugh has served in the inner circle of the White House at a time when many controversial policies and decisions were being considered. Senators have not had a chance to question him about his role in connection with those matters. For example, what was Mr. Kavanaugh's role in connection with the warrantless spying on Americans? What was his involvement in the policies affecting detainee treatment and interrogation? What was his involvement in connection with military tribunals, torture, and rendition of prisoners to other countries? Given the scandals now plaguing the White House, it is important to know whether Mr. Kavanaugh has had a role in connection with the actions of Jack Abramoff, Michael Scanlon, David Safavian, the matters being investigated in connection with the Plame matter, and many other matters.

The wall of secrecy that the administration has maintained is no environment in which carefully to consider an administration insider for a lifetime appointment to an important Federal judicial position.

I see the distinguished Senator from Ohio is in the Chamber. I urge people, do not just do a rubberstamp just because it is a member of your party who nominated these people. I think of the concern I heard from Republicans in this body when I objected to a judicial nominee to the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, Claude Allen. Nobody said a word when he got arrested for fraud. But I bet you they breathed a sigh of relief that I blocked it before. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Ohio.

Mr. DEWINE. Mr. President, in just a few minutes we will be voting on the nomination of Michael Barrett to serve as a Federal district court judge for the Southern District of Ohio. Mr. Barrett is an outstanding attorney, a man who has shown his dedication to public and community service throughout his life. I am confident he will be an excellent addition to the bench.

Michael Barrett's legal career—spanning almost 30 years—has been distinguished, not only by his accomplishments as a litigator but also by his truly extraordinary record of public and civic leadership.

A brief summary of his background offers ample evidence of his qualifications. He is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati where he earned both his bachelor of arts degree as well as his law degree. After graduating from law school, Mr. Barrett served the State of Ohio as an administrative hearing officer for over a year, handling issues as a new attorney that usually are reserved for lawyers with far more experience. He then moved to the Hamilton County Prosecutor's Office, where he served first as an assistant prosecutor, and then as chief assistant prosecuting attorney of the Felony Trial Division.

During this time, Mr. Barrett also served as chief of the Special County Arson Task Force, supervising the investigation and prosecution of arson cases. After 6 years in the Hamilton County prosecutor's office, Michael Barrett moved into private practice with the firm of Graydon, Head & Ritchey, where he remained for 10 years as an associate and then as a partner. He was listed several times in the Best Lawyers in America for his domestic relations practice. He then joined the Cincinnati law firm of Barrett & Weber, where he continues to practice today in the area of general litigation.

Mr. Barrett has had an extremely wide-ranging career as a litigator. He has argued in both State and Federal courts, and his court appearances are almost evenly split between civil and criminal cases. In addition to his background as a prosecutor, he has developed a very successful defense practice. He is a member of the National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers, and I think it is particularly noteworthy that he has argued capital murder cases as both a prosecutor and as a defense attorney. Truly, his litigation experience spans the whole width of legal practice.

Mr. Barrett's expertise, however, extends well beyond litigation. For example, he was appointed and served as a special master/trustee in a class action lawsuit in which he analyzed over 900 claims, responses, and the allocation of settlement funds under that lawsuit.

He also was chosen to be the receiver in a securities case, and in that role he worked with counsel to conduct the collection and liquidation of investor assets, which is an important and certainly often very complicated financial and legal task.

He also has an impressive amount of experience with the important and expanding area of alternative dispute resolution. He was a board member of the Cincinnati Center for the Resolution of Disputes and was awarded the Outstanding Service Award as a mediator for the Southern District of Ohio. This unusually diverse legal background gives Michael Barrett a broad view of the legal system and a wide understanding that will help him be a very successful Federal district court judge.

Mr. Barrett is also an extremely accomplished community leader who has given so much back to his community. He has served the public in a wide variety of roles—far more than I could certainly mention this afternoon. He served on the Supreme Court of Ohio Board of Commissioners on Grievances and Discipline for 15 years. He was on the board of trustees of the University of Cincinnati, and the board of trustees of the Health Alliance of Greater Cincinnati. He was also cochair of the Police and Justice Committee of Community Action Now, a project formed by and for Cincinnati community leaders and charged with the task of achieving greater equity, opportunity, and inclusion for all Cincinnati residents. He also has been involved with a wide range of charitable and social service organizations, including Children's Services of Hamilton County, Talbert House, and Boys and Girls Hope of Cincinnati.

Michael Barrett is clearly a successful and accomplished attorney and an experienced community leader. Both are important qualifications for this position. With his background and his experience, it is certainly not surprising that a substantial majority of the ABA panel who reviewed his qualifications found him to be "well qualified," which is the highest possible rating; the remaining members of the panel gave him the next highest rating of "qualified." This very high rating merely confirms his excellent credentials for the position.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator's time has expired.

Mr. DEWINE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to speak for 2 additional minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DEWINE. Members of the legal profession in Ohio who know Mr. Barrett's abilities also support his nomination. I have spoken with attorneys and judges who have worked both with and against Mr. Barrett professionally, and they describe him as a calm and even-tempered man, who is always willing to listen and always does an excellent job, no matter what the legal assignment.

Even more important, however, is simply that Mike Barrett is a good person. I have known him for many years, and he consistently has shown himself to be warm, open-minded, and gracious. He is an intellectually gifted lawyer with a strong sense of the law and a firm understanding of the court's role in the legal process and in our community. As a person and as an attorney, he has all the ability, the experience, and, yes, the compassion necessary to help him be an excellent judge for the people of the South District of Ohio.

Michael Barrett is an outstanding nominee. I am proud to support his nomination, and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Who yields time?

The Senator from Pennsylvania is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, I would like to say a few words in support of the nomination of Michael R. Barrett.

As the distinguished Senator from Ohio has probably already commented on—I just got in from Pennsylvania, so I did not get a chance to hear all of his speech—and as the Presiding Officer knows, because the distinguished Presiding Officer is a member of the Judiciary Committee, Michael R. Barrett was passed unanimously by the committee.

He comes to this position with an excellent background. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Cincinnati. He received his law degree from the University of Cincinnati in 1977. So he has had 29 years of experience in practice.

He was the assistant prosecuting attorney in the felony trial division in Hamilton County. It is always a good experience to be a prosecuting attorney, something that Senator DEWINE did, Senator LEAHY did, something that I have done. He was an associate partner at Graydon, Head & Ritchey, a shareholder attorney at Barrett & Weber, and has the qualifications to do an excellent job on the U.S. District Court.

I am pleased to endorse him and urge my fellow Senators to confirm him for this important lifetime position.

I thank the Chair and yield the floor and note we are just 2 or 3 minutes away from the vote.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DEWINE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. VOINOVICH. Mr. President, I rise today to urge my colleagues to vote to confirm Michael R. Barrett, whom the President has nominated to serve on the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Ohio.

Mr. Barrett has a distinguished and impressive record as a prosecutor, a defense attorney, and a community leader, and he has deep roots in southwest Ohio.

Mr. Barrett is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, where he obtained his bachelor of arts in 1974, and his law degree in 1977. After graduating from law school, Mr. Barrett served as an administrative hearing officer for the State of Ohio and then joined the Hamilton County prosecutor's office as an assistant prosecuting attorney. When he joined the prosecutor's office, Mr. Barrett was assigned to the Felony Trial Division, where he participated in investigations, grand jury proceedings, and felony trials. In 1983, Mr. Barrett was promoted to be a chief assistant of the Felony Trial Division.

In 1984, Mr. Barrett joined Graydon, Head & Ritchey, where he worked on both criminal and civil matters, initially as an associate before being promoted to partner. In 1995, he joined his current firm, Barrett & Weber, where he has continued to practice in the same areas of law.

Mr. Barrett's law practice includes criminal defense work covering the spectrum of the Criminal Code. In addition, Mr. Barrett maintains an active civil litigation practice including recent securities law matters in which he has represented individual plaintiffs as well as the attorney general's office for the State of Ohio. His practice has earned him several listings in "Best Lawyers in America" and "Ohio Super Lawyers." In addition, Mr. Barrett has received the Outstanding Service Award as a Mediator from the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Ohio. In sum, Mr. Barrett has the broad courtroom experience that will serve him well as a federal judge.

Mr. Barrett has also served on the Supreme Court of Ohio's Board of Commissioners on Grievances and Discipline, which evidences the high esteem in which members of the Ohio bar hold him and is testimony of his excellent character.

As a result of Mr. Barrett's fine academic and professional achievements, I am not surprised that the American Bar Association found Mr. Barrett qualified to serve as a Federal district court judge.

Mr. Barrett's legal credentials are not the only reasons I support his nomination. In an age where I believe too many people do not take the time to become active members of their communities, Mr. Barrett has been a community leader. Some of Mr. Barrett's community activities include his current service on the board of trustees of Talbert House, a Cincinnati-area social service organization; his current service as a director of Boys Hope/Girls Hope of Cincinnati, an organization designed to provide an array of services for at-risk children; and his past service as a trustee of Children's Services of Hamilton County. When I was Governor of Ohio, I was pleased to appoint Mr. Barrett to the board of trustees of the University of Cincinnati. He served 9 years on the board of trustees, including a period as chairman.

Involvement in one's community is important. We need judges who not only have exceptional legal skills but who also recognize how the law impacts individuals and communities. I believe Mr. Barrett has this understanding because he is out in his community every day.

In reviewing Mr. Barrett's academic and professional record, it is clear that he is well qualified to serve as a Federal district court judge on the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Ohio, and I urge my colleagues to support his nomination.

Mr. DEWINE. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There appears to be a sufficient second.

The question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of Michael Ryan Barrett, of Ohio, to be United States District Judge for the Southern District of Ohio? On this question, the yeas and nays have been ordered, and the clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk called the roll.

Mr. McCONNELL. The following Senators were necessarily absent: the Senator from North Carolina (Mr. BURR), the Senator from South Carolina (Mr. GRAHAM), the Senator from Pennsylvania (Mr. SANTORUM), and the Senator from Alabama (Mr. SESSIONS).

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from Delaware (Mr. BIDEN), the Senator from Iowa (Mr. HARKIN), the Senator from Wisconsin (Mr. KOHL), and the Senator from West Virginia (Mr. ROCKEFELLER) are necessarily absent.

I also announce that the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. KERRY) and the Senator from Arkansas (Mrs. LINCOLN) are absent due to death in family.

I further announce that, if present and voting, the Senator from Iowa (Mr. HARKIN), the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. KERRY) and the Senator from Arkansas (Mrs. LINCOLN) would each vote "yea."

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. THUNE). Are there any other Senators in the chamber desiring to Vote?

The result was announced—yeas 90, nays 0, as follows:

TRIBUTE TO PHIL WALDEN

Mr. CHAMBLISS. Mr. President, I rise today to talk about an individual who is a native of my State and probably is not well known to Members of this body. He was involved in an industry for which all of us have a great appreciation. The name of the gentleman is Phil Walden.

About 40-plus years ago, when I was at the University of Georgia, I had a college roommate who was responsible for booking bands for a number of fraternities, sororities, and whatnot at the University of Georgia. He came into contact with a man named Phil Walden. I got to know Phil through my roommate Mike Brody.

Phil Walden was an unusual individual. After graduating from Mercy University in 1962 in Macon, GA, he became a full-time professional promoter of bands. During his college days, he teamed up with an individual from Macon, GA, who became a superstar. That superstar's name was Otis Redding.

Phil Walden found Otis Redding at a nightclub in Macon, GA, and made him a rich and famous person in the music industry. Otis Redding was the heart and soul of soul music for a number of years. Unfortunately, Otis Redding died in a plane crash in 1967, and a lot of Phil Walden's hopes and dreams died with him.

But Phil Walden didn't stop with just rhythm and blues bands. About the time that Otis Redding's plane went down, Phil Walden founded Capricorn Records and found another band in Macon, GA, called the Allman Brothers. He then promoted the Allman Brothers into superstar status, and the Allman Brothers became the heart and soul of southern rock and roll music.

Phil Walden hit hard times when heavy rock and roll hit hard times. Unfortunately, Duane Allman was killed in a motorcycle accident in 1971. Another star member of the band, Barry Oakley, was killed shortly thereafter. The Allman Brothers hit on hard times, and so did Phil Walden. He had problems with abuse and use of alcohol and drugs, like so many folks in the music industry.

Phil Walden hit a low point in his life, but Phil Walden rebounded from that, just like the music industry he knew and loved so well. He moved to Nashville and stayed for a time in Nashville.

While he was in Nashville, he discovered another band in Athens, GA, called Widespread Panic. They are a little beyond my generation, but my son has been to a number of Widespread Panic concerts around the Southeast, and I venture to say that the children of a lot of our Members likewise, if you mention Widespread Panic to them, their eyes light up.

Phil Walden was the kind of man who had the ability to bounce back, and he did so. He was an icon in his industry. He represented, I noticed in looking at the various obituaries, a number of folks, frankly, I did not know he represented in all the years I knew Phil. Here are several of the bands and acts Phil Walden either managed at Capricorn Records or promoted otherwise: I mentioned Otis Redding and the Allman Brothers, Percy Sledge, Boz Skaggs, the Charlie Daniels Band, the Marshall Tucker Band, Wet Willie, Kenny Chesney, 311, Cake, Lynyrd Skynyrd, Hank Williams, Jr., Billy Joe Shaver, and Stillwater.

Phil Walden hit on hard medical times also in recent years. Last Sunday, Phil lost his battle with cancer and, unfortunately, passed away. He had a burial last Thursday in Macon, GA, at Rose Hill Cemetery, where he was laid to rest in the same cemetery as Duane Allman and Barry Oakley.

Phil Walden was truly an unusual person in the music industry. In the 1960s, he took a Black man in Otis Redding, brought him to a White university, White universities all across the Southeast, without any major incidents whatsoever, and that was significantly unusual. As Peter Conlin, a promoter and longtime friend of Phil Walden, said:

If you look at a white guy from the south in the '60s trying to promote a black singer, that was a brave thing to do.

And it truly was. Phil Walden did it with class, he did it with style, and he did it with success. Phil Walden then took the Allman Brothers and did it with style, did it with class, did it with success. He was a true dream story, a true story of the American dream in the music industry. He is someone the music industry is going to miss.

Phil certainly lived an interesting life, and his wife Peggy, who stood by his side for so many years, deserves a lot of credit for the success Phil had, both in the music industry as well as in bringing his life back together. We are all going to miss Phil Walden.

I yield the floor, Mr. President.

STRATEGY IN IRAQ

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, as we reflect on the Presidency of George W. Bush, there were moments of high drama. Certainly, the moment of highest drama in my recollection was when the President visited the site of the 9/11 attack. When he went to New York and walked through the smoke-filled rubble with the firefighters and the workmen still digging through, it was a moment that I am sure will endure. It will be remembered.

If you had to then select another moment in his Presidency that will be remembered, it was a moment 3 years ago today when the President of the United States boarded a Naval fighter plane and flew to land on the deck of USS Abraham Lincoln.

It was a time when America wasn't certain about what had happened in Iraq. We had launched an invasion. Saddam Hussein had been deposed. There were still a lot of questions about the future of Iraq and what would happen in that country.

The President of the United States came to that aircraft carrier on that day, and as he landed and spoke to those who were assembled, behind him was a banner which read “Mission Accomplished.” It was on May 1, 2003, 3 years ago. The President said on that day:

In the battle of Iraq, the United States and our allies have prevailed. And now our coalition is engaged in securing and restructuring that country.

The President went on to say:

We have difficult work to do in Iraq. We're bringing order to parts of that country that remain dangerous. We're pursuing and finding leaders of the old regime, who will be held to account for their crimes. We've begun the search for hidden chemical and biological weapons and already know of hundreds of sites that will be investigated. We're helping to build Iraq, where the dictator built palaces for himself instead of hospitals and schools. And we will stand with the new leaders of Iraq as they establish a government of, by, and for the Iraqi people.

The President went on to say 3 years ago:

From Pakistan to the Philippines to the Horn of Africa, we are hunting down al-Qaida killers. Nineteen months ago, I pledged that the terrorists would not escape the patient justice of the United States. And as of tonight, nearly one-half of al-Qaida's senior operatives have been captured or killed.

That was the speech of the President of the United States 3 years ago today.

Since the President made that speech, this is the grim record. Since that day, over the last 3 years, 2,262 Americans have been killed and 17,202 Americans have been wounded.

This occurred after the President announced to the world that our mission was accomplished.

As we gather today to mark the third anniversary of that Presidential statement, war continues with no end in sight, and 2,401 of our best and bravest soldiers have given their lives. I have called many of those families from Illinois. I have attended some of the funerals. I know the lives of those families will never be the same. They have given so much to this country. We thank them. We will continue to thank them over and over again. We thank the men and women in uniform for continuing to stand and fight to defend this country and its values. They represent the very best. We should never forget that.

But we now know that within their ranks—even at the highest levels—there have been serious concerns about this administration and its strategy in Iraq.

Three years after President Bush's statement on that carrier that our mission was accomplished, several leading generals, men who served under the President at that time, men under his command, men who were responsible for the lives of thousands of soldiers and marines, now retired, in civilian status, have stepped forward. What have they said?

Retired LTG Gregory Newbold, the three-star Marine Corps general who served as the Nation's top operations officer before the invasion of Iraq, recently joined a number of his former colleagues and said:

I am driven to action now by the missteps and misjudgments of the White House and the Pentagon, and by my many painful visits to our military hospitals. In those places, I have been both inspired and shaken by the broken bodies but unbroken spirits of soldiers, Marines and corpsmen returning from this war. The cost of flawed leadership continues to be paid in blood. The willingness of our forces to shoulder such a load should make it a sacred obligation for civilian and military leaders to get our defense policy right. They must be absolutely sure that the commitment is for a cause as honorable as the sacrifice.

My sincere view is that the commitment of our forces to this fight was done with the casualness and a swagger that are the special province of those who have never had to execute these missions—or bury the results.

Finally, the general said:

We need fresh ideas and fresh faces. That means, as a first step, replacing Rumsfeld and many others unwilling to fundamentally change their approach. The troops in the Middle East have performed their duty. Now we need people in Washington who can construct a unified strategy worthy of them. It is time to send a signal to our Nation, our forces and the world that we are uncompromising on our security but are prepared to rethink how we achieve it.

General Newbold is joined in this call for change by GEN Anthony Zinni; MG Paul D. Eaton; MG John Batiste; MG Charles Swannack, Jr.; and MG John Riggs, all retired.

If you look at the résumés of these men, you will find the very best in service to our country. General Eaton, who headed up training for the Iraqi military from 2003 to 2004—what did he say? I quote him:

Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld is not competent to lead America's Armed Forces.

General Swannack, former commander of the 82nd Airborne Division, one of the most storied and honored divisions in American military history—here is what he said:

I do not believe Secretary Rumsfeld is the right person to fight that war based on his absolute failures in managing the war against Saddam in Iraq.

These generals are calling for change at the highest level. How many times during the course of this war when the President was questioned about his military strategy did he say: I defer to the generals; I defer to the military professionals. This will not be a political decision.

That is the right response. But what would he now say when these six men, many of whom served under his command, have stepped forward and said that the plan for this war is so wrong and that the man executing that plan as Secretary of Defense is not the right person for that job?

I have said publicly, and I will repeat it. I believe Secretary Rumsfeld, for the good of this Nation, should leave as Secretary of Defense. I believe this for the same reason these generals do. I do not believe he can lead us to the right conclusion in Iraq, and we will pay a heavy price if we do not acknowledge that.

As General Zinni has said, staying the course in Iraq sends us right over Niagara Falls. We have to change the course. We have to understand why change is imperative. It is worth taking a few minutes to understand how we have reached this point some 3 years after President Bush told the world our mission was accomplished.

Recently, Secretary of State Rice stated the United States has made thousands of "tactical errors." Secretary Rumsfeld challenged her, and said: "I don't know what she is talking about."

She was right. The administration has made numerous and tragically costly mistakes in Iraq. Think about it. The decision to invade without allies—with only the United Kingdom as a major force by our side, and many other countries sending smaller forces, we went in virtually alone. It was a strategic misjudgment that has left us today carrying the military and financial burdens in Iraq.

Before us on the floor of the Senate is another spending bill for Iraq—this one over $100 billion. The total no one can guess, but $320 billion so far, more than $2 billion a week.

My situation is like some in the Senate. I voted against the use-of-force resolution for the war in Iraq—23 of us did, 1 Republican and 22 Democrats on that October night in 2002. But I said from my memory of what happened in Vietnam, as I tried my best to appreciate what our soldiers faced, that I would vote for every penny that this President asked for to wage this war so that the soldiers would always have what they needed to win and come home safely. And I have done that. I will continue to do that.

When my critics ask: How can you be against the war and vote to fund it? The question comes down to something very basic from where I am standing. If it were my son or daughter serving in uniform in that country, I would want them to have everything to come home safely, even if I bitterly disagreed with the administration's policy that sent them into this war.

We have 132,000 soldiers in Iraq today. Our combined allies have 24,000, some of whom are in Kuwait. Mr. President, 2,401 Americans have died. That is more than 10 times the losses that have been suffered by the rest of the so-called Coalition of the Willing.

This record-setting supplemental bill that we take up this week in the Senate will bring the cost of U.S. operations in Iraq to $280 billion. For now, as I have said: I am going to vote for it. But before this Congress continues to fund, we have to ask hard questions.

If this is going to be a routine vote for the so-called emergency supplemental bill, if this is going to be routine to the point where we don't even question the policies and strategies of the war that we are voting for, then we have failed in our responsibilities as Senators.

On February 25, 2003, the Army Chief of Staff, GEN Eric Shinseki, testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

General Shinseki stated, in an invasion of Iraq, that "any postwar occupying force would have to be big enough to maintain safety in a country with ethnic tensions that could lead to other problems."

General Shinseki was asked how many troops are needed, and he said:

Something on the order of several hundred thousand soldiers.

He also said:

Assistance from friend and allies would be helpful.

General Shinseki did not get the 300,000 or 400,000 troops that he and many others thought would be needed nor did we get the allies. General Shinseki, for his candor and honesty, was replaced in his command. This administration was not about to stand still for someone in uniform telling them the stark, honest truth, that without enough soldiers the ones we sent would be in danger.

And just as Economic Adviser Larry Lindsay was fired for predicting the war would cost $100 to $200 billion at a time the administration said it might not cost anything because Iraqi oil would pay for it. That was Mr. Wolfowitz who made that statement. The fact is, they were right, the critics were wrong, and we have suffered as a result.

There was a failure by the leaders in our Government to see this insurgency that came about in Iraq, that endangered our soldiers and destabilized that country for so long.

When Secretary Rumsfeld was asked about the reaction of the insurgents and the uncertainty on the ground, he said:

Freedom's untidy.

In fact, the looting was the start of the postinvasion violence that has claimed 94 percent of the American lives lost in Iraq.

Secretary Rumsfeld also signed off on another critical strategic misjudgment. The decision after the invasion to immediately disband the Iraqi Army made it easier for the insurgency.

We remember what happened when the Secretary went to Iraq in a surprise visit. Soldiers greeted him. He took questions. The Tennessee guardsman asked: Mr. Secretary, why do I have to dig through the dump to find pieces of metal to put in my humvee to protect me and my fellow soldiers? Why don't we have modern equipment to protect us on the ground? The Secretary was at a loss for words. He was embarrassed. America should have been embarrassed to send our soldiers into battle without the equipment they needed.

Since the beginning of the war, a troubling pattern has emerged. Under Mr. Rumsfeld's leadership, the Pentagon has been very slow to respond to the needs of our troops in the field.

In December 2003, LTG Ricardo Sanchez identified critical shortages and protective equipment for our troops and lack of spare parts for combat equipment, providing proof our soldiers were not adequately supplied.

By mid-2004, a furor broke out when reports reached Washington, DC, that many humvee vehicles in Iraq did not have armor, and American soldiers and Marines using them were being maimed and killed by IEDs as a result.

Congress flooded Defense budgets with funding for vehicle armor to replace or improve inadequately protected vehicles. Even after news coverage of this lack of planning forced Secretary Rumsfeld to accelerate production of the armor, the Pentagon missed at least three self-imposed deadlines to fully field armor all of our troops—this after the President told us our mission had been accomplished.

A defining moment for Secretary Rumsfeld was when that Tennessee guardsman challenged him. Here is what the guardsman asked:

Why do we soldiers have to dig through local landfills for pieces of scrap metal and compromised ballistic glass to uparmor our vehicles?

Secretary Rumsfeld replied, in part:

You have to go to war with the Army you have, not the Army you want.

That is our Secretary of Defense, speaking of the Army he had, not the Army he wanted.

Let me remind everyone the decision to invade was the decision of the United States of America. We picked the date. We picked the time. We established when readiness would be adequate. And sadly, it was not.

That conversation with the guardsman from Tennessee revealed another destructive tendency. Secretary Rumsfeld has seemingly forgotten about the tremendous role our Guard and Reserve have played in this war and must be prepared to play at home. The condition of the gear and equipment from our Guard and Reserve continues to rapidly deteriorate.

Last week, I went to the Illinois National Guard Camp Lincoln in Springfield, meeting with the officers and asking them about equipment. Eighty percent of their men and women and units have been activated in Iraq. They have left behind wornout, damaged, and destroyed equipment, obviously, came back empty-handed, and now do not have the fundamental equipment they need to train the guardsman to be able to respond to domestic emergencies in my home State of Illinois. Our situation is not unique. Across the United States, Guard and Reserve have only 34 percent of the equipment they need in the United States.

The true cost of this war is not just in the lives and the injuries and the budgets but the fact that we have left our military, our Guard and Reserve, ill equipped, unprepared, for the next challenge. That is a sad condemnation of an administration that did not think through this commitment, that did not understand that mission would not truly be accomplished for years and years after the President made that claim.

As a result of "going to war with the Army you have," and inadequate logistical plans, our Army and Marine units on the ground in Iraq are continuing to struggle with repairing, rebuilding, and replacing equipment used by up to 3 years of sustained effort.

In testimony before Congress last year, U.S. Army GEN Richard Cody, the vice chief of staff of the Army, stated:

We are equip-stretched, let there no doubt about it . . . This Army started this war not fully equipped.

What excuse is there for that, that we sent our Army, our Marines, all of the men and women in uniform, over to this war without the proper equipment?

The failures on the part of the Secretary of Defense to bring a large enough occupation force to ensure the force was properly equipped or to plan for the emergency of full-scale insurgency against United States represents strategic errors of great significance. The strategic blindness continues today.

As I said, at least Secretary Rice acknowledges errors were made. When asked about her statement, Secretary Rumsfeld said:

I don't know what she was talking about, to be perfectly honest.

After 3 years of war, Secretary Rumsfeld does not know what the Secretary of State is talking about when she says that thousands of mistakes were made.

We need someone who can recognize the reality before him and acknowledge that we need to change course in Iraq.

Last fall, the Senate, by a vote of 79 to 19, declared calendar year 2006 should be a period of significant transition to full Iraqi sovereignty, with Iraqi security forces taking the lead for the security of a free and sovereign Iraq, thereby creating the conditions for the phased redeployment of U.S. forces.

What does that mean? It is time for the Iraqis to stand and govern their own nation. It is time for the Iraqi people to stand and defend their own nation. How many years have we been promised that Iraqi soldiers and police were this close to replacing American soldiers? You have a right to be skeptical because we have yet to see the first American soldier replaced by an Iraqi soldier taking their place, standing guard for their own country.

Secretary Rumsfeld has not been able to create the conditions that will allow for the withdrawal of troops from Iraq. We are a long way from accomplishing our mission.

Early this month, Congress received the first report from the Bush administration required by the year of transition amendment. The administration report offers the same ideological blind spots that led to the "mission accomplished" claim in 2003. It shows the same lack of vision that failed to predict insurgency. There are no mentions of militia. There is no analysis of the dangers of civil war. They still see only what they want to see.

I believe Secretary Rumsfeld should resign. But I in no way hold him solely responsible for the decisions on Iraq. After all, he works for the Commander in Chief, the President of the United States.

In order to find our way out of this disastrous mess this administration has made in Iraq, the President clearly needs new leadership in Defense. And that is not just my opinion. It is the opinion of these retired generals—men who have given their lives to this country, men whose hearts were broken as they watched their soldiers and marines killed in battle, men who visited these veterans in the hospitals, men who reflected on where we are today and how we reached it and came to the same conclusion.

We need a new direction. We need new leadership. We need to have someone in the Department of Defense and a strategy that will lead to our troops coming home, the sooner the better.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

DARFUR

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, we will be closing in a few moments. But before doing that, I want to comment on events carried out in Washington yesterday, indeed around the country yesterday, in response to a crisis that is going on, a crisis that is more than a crisis. It is genocide going on in the Darfur region. It is the western region of the Sudan.

Yesterday, roughly 10,000 people gathered in front of the Capitol, on the Mall, to bring attention to what is happening: that crisis, that genocidal campaign that is underway and being perpetrated against the people of Darfur.

I applaud all of the participants' compassion and commitment to the cause which has been discussed again and again on the floor of the Senate but, indeed, is a devastating crisis that is destroying a population and, indeed, is genocide.

This is an issue that is very close to my own heart, in part because I travel just about every year to do medical mission work in that part of the world, in the Sudan. Indeed, I was in the Darfur area and in Chad a little over a year ago on the ground.

I mention it because this afternoon, several hours ago, I had the wonderful opportunity of meeting with a small group of refugees from the Darfur region. The meeting was organized by SaveDarfur.org. It gave me the opportunity to visit firsthand with individuals from several of the tribes that occupy the Darfur region.

It is interesting, there are 10, 11, 12 tribes throughout Sudan. In the south, two or three tribes dominate. In different parts of the Sudan, tribes dominate. But it is interesting, over in the Darfur region, the number of tribes that intersect together. It is sort of midway—north-south—in Sudan, so you have a lot of the tribes that are more endemic to the northern part of Sudan, as well as the southern and eastern part of Sudan. All of them commingle in that region.

We met, oh, about 50 yards from here on a balcony overlooking the Mall. And as you stood on the balcony there, on a beautiful day in Washington, looking out, you could not help but think of the contrast between what is going on in the homeland of those refugees to the United States from Darfur and that beautiful day looking out upon our monuments and the freedom and liberty for which they stand. That contrast between the turmoil that is going on, as we speak, in Sudan and America's homeland peace and prosperity were really felt.

I have had the opportunity to go to Sudan a number of times. I have talked to the refugees in the border camps. They are along the western border of Sudan and in the country of Chad, which is to the west of the Sudan. There are 12 refugee camps. The refugee camps have anywhere from 8,000 to 20,000 people who are living on a sustenance level, with the aid of NGOs and peoples around the world, in little tents, makeshift tents, but living there, in essence, permanently.

There are about 2 million people who have been displaced in the Darfur region and about 200,000 people who have died as a result of brutality which leads back to government sponsorship.

We have heard again and again the stories and seen pictures of the villages that are set afire, of the women who are raped, the children who are abducted, recruited to armies, and even many executed.

The Government of Sudan has failed to take credible steps to date, and we need to use everything within our power and our standing in the international community to convince other people to act and to act now. We cannot—cannot—tolerate this genocide.

On this floor we have called it for what it is: genocide. President Bush has called it genocide. Former Secretary of State Colin Powell has called it genocide.

Last month, before we left for the Easter/Passover recess, I met with a number of friends from Sudan, many of whom I had gotten to know when I was last in Sudan, in the southern part of the Sudan. They had been sponsored by a charity out of Knoxville, TN.

We talked about the clinics and the hospitals in southern Sudan. And we discussed the pressure the American Government has been able to bring to date on behalf of the Darfur people. But there is a lot more we can do. And there is a lot more we should do.

Because these individuals were from the southern part of Sudan—that is a thousand miles away, a long way away from the Darfur region—they reflected how our Government getting involved in the southern part of Sudan had brought more peace, and it stopped the civil war that had gone on there for the last 20 years.

One of those visitors, Reverend Kayanga, is a friend, actually, somebody whom I have gotten to know. He said it best when he said, "The only people that visited us were your people." He was saying that to me, again, reaching out: Thank you for the past. But you need to get even more involved as we address this devastating crisis in the Darfur part of Sudan.

The conflict in the region is huge. First of all, Sudan itself, the country, is about a third of the size of the continental United States. The Darfur region is vast. The area of conflict is probably a third bigger than all of Iraq. So it is a huge area, which is one of the challenges. Things are getting worse, not better, which is the message they were giving me. Indeed, as I talked to people on the ground, in terms of NGOs, the NGOs are having a harder time. The rainy season comes in 4 weeks. Once that comes in, there is no way to get aid and have it distributed throughout the Darfur region.

As yesterday's rally demonstrated, the American people have vast stores of compassion and caring for these people and for the suffering of others. We have a passionate commitment to human rights. Now is the time for us to reflect it. At our Government's request, the African Union has agreed to extend the ongoing peace talks until midnight on Tuesday. Indeed, Deputy Secretary of State Robert Zoellick will leave today for Abuja, Nigeria, to help both parties resolve the crisis. Negotiations have gone on for 2 years, and a settlement is long past due. Those who are responsible for this genocide, for the war crimes against humanity and criminal acts, need to be brought to justice. No longer can we wait this tragedy out. We must act, and the international community must be encouraged to step up as well. Hundreds of thousands of lives are at stake.

Mr. REID. Will the Senator yield for a question?

Mr. FRIST. I am happy to.

Mr. REID. Just out of curiosity, I know on some of your trips you have taken to care for the poor in these countries, you have done a lot of surgery and other things. Have you done any in this area?

Mr. FRIST. In the Darfur region I have not. But it is very similar to southern Sudan. It is fascinating, southern Sudan, where 2 million people have been displaced, and 5 million people have been killed in a civil war there, and it started there. That is why I have great hope. A lot of people just give up on these regions, because when we went there initially, it was almost exactly the same. There was a lot of fighting within 10 or 15 kilometers.

I started operating in a little schoolhouse that had been diverted for about 8 years. That was 1997–1998. Now in 2006, there is a village there and commerce and a hospital, no fighting; 50,000 people go through what was a schoolhouse and is now a big hospital.

When people give up in Africa or say we have been through this before and talk about corruption in government, we can't give up. We should not give up.

I very much appreciate my distinguished colleague asking because there is a lot we can do. And it starts with the compassion and caring that the American people exemplify. Now is the time for us to act.

HONORING OUR ARMED FORCES

SERGEANT DANIEL L. SESKER

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I am here today to speak about a brave and heroic American who gave the ultimate sacrifice in the name of freedom. SGT Daniel L. Sesker died on April 6, 2006 near Bayji, Iraq in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. Sergeant Sesker was assigned to C Troop, 1st Squadron, 113th Cavalry Regiment, 34th Infantry Division, Army National Guard based out of Le Mars, IA. I extend my deepest sympathies to his mother and stepfather, Mysty and Marvin Stumbo, his father, Dennis Sesker, his brother and sister, and his fiancée Angie.

Daniel Sesker was born in Boone, IA, and graduated from Ogden High School in 2001, where he participated in wrestling. He studied criminal law at Iowa Central Community College before enlisting in the Army National Guard. He served as part of Kosovo Force in Operation Joint Garden and had served a previous tour in Iraq. Between his two tours, Daniel worked as a counselor at the Woodward Academy and as a part-time police officer in Gowrie, IA. Sergeant Sesker received several decorations for his exemplary service, including the Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Army Commendation Medal, National Defense Medal, Iraq Campaign Medal, and Combat Action Badge.

Sergeant Sesker is remembered as having a great sense of humor. His love for his family and friends as well as his love for life will be missed by all who knew him. He was the kind of person who could light up a room with his personality and positive attitude. My thoughts and prayers are with his family and friends. We all owe Sergeant Sesker our eternal gratitude for his service and sacrifice.

ASIAN PACIFIC AMERICAN HERITAGE MONTH

Ms. CANTWELL. Mr. President, in May, we commemorate Asian Pacific American Heritage Month, honoring the history, culture and traditions of Asians and Pacific Americans and recognizing their unique contributions to the United States.

First proposed as a 1-week event in 1977, the celebration was expanded to a full month in 1990. May was chosen because of its unique significance in the history of Asian Americans. May 7, 1843, marked the first recorded immigration of Japanese to the United States. May 10, 1869, marked the completion of the transcontinental railroad—a feat that would not have happened when it did without the labor of Chinese immigrants.

The Asian and Pacific American population has a rich history in this country, especially in the Pacific Northwest. In my State, records show the arrival of Asian immigrants as early as the 1860s, while some scholars even speculate that centuries before, Chinese explorers sailed down the Alaskan coast to what is now Washington State. Today, there are over 14 million Asians and Pacific Americans living in the United States, representing 5 percent of the population. In Washington, they make up 7 percent of the citizenry.

Over the past century and a half, Asian and Pacific American communities have contributed significantly to the cultural vibrancy of Washington State. Individuals within Washington's Asian and Pacific American communities have also worked to stand up for justice and make our country a better place. In 1944, Gordon Hirabayashi, a Japanese American student at the University of Washington in Seattle, took a stand against the unfair treatment of Japanese Americans during World War II when he refused to obey discriminatory curfew orders. In taking his case to the U.S. Supreme Court, he left a lasting reminder of the importance of standing up for civil rights.

Last month, Washington State celebrated the retirement of one of its most influential Asian American leaders. Bob Santos, affectionately known to many as "Uncle Bob," has for many years, tirelessly dedicated himself to social justice for all. As a founder and executive director of Inter*Im Community Development Association, Bob helped revitalize the International District of Seattle, build the local economy, and secure affordable housing for many of our most vulnerable residents. Under President Clinton, Uncle Bob served nobly and boldly as the Regional Director for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. His selflessness, passion and dedication embody the giving spirit that makes our Asian Pacific American community so strong.

America is a land of immigrants, and our history demonstrates that we are stronger because of our diversity. Over the past century and a half, Asian and Pacific American communities have contributed significantly to the cultural vibrancy of Washington State. However, we can only live up to the promise of our diversity if we recognize the mistakes of our past and give all groups a voice in public discourse. During World War II, 227 Japanese Americans from Bainbridge Island became the first of more than 120,000 people to be placed in internment camps. They departed from Bainbridge Island's Eagledale Ferry Dock which, just last month, became the site of a moving tribute to all affected by this dark period. The name of this memorial is Nidoto Nai Yoni, meaning "let it not happen again."

During this year's Asian Pacific American Heritage month, we celebrate a history rich with culture and tradition. In our Asian and Pacific American communities, we must preserve the lessons of the past and recognize the great promise of the future.

HURRICANE RITA

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, on April 27, 2006, I spoke on the Senate floor regarding the needs of Texans and evacuees living in Texas following Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. I used a number of visual aids to show the impact of these storms on the State of Texas. I would like to note in the RECORD that The Beaumont Enterprise and Harris County Judge Robert Eckels provided these images to illustrate the current state of Texas.

CELEBRATING THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CAPITOL CHALLENGE

Mr. LUGAR. Mr. President, as we celebrate the 25th anniversary of the annual 3-mile Capitol Challenge race, we reflect upon the history of this event and how it has brought together members of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of the Federal Government with members of the print and electronic media through exercise and fellowship.

Since the first race in 1981, which was held in East Potomac Park, annual proceeds and registration fees have benefited the Special Olympics.

During the ensuing years, the race has evolved to a new location and expanded to accommodate and increasing number of participants. In 2002, the race moved from the fall to the spring while also moving from East Potomac Park to Anacostia Park.

Current races bring out more than 650-700 participants each year, including 30-35 Members of Congress.

It has been estimated that, since the first race in 1981, over 15,000 runners have competed, and of those 15,000 runners, nearly 800 Members of Congress have participated.

Furthermore, each year a celebrity runner has joined the race which brings enthusiasm to the morning's event while running and helping to present the following awards.

1st Place Overall
1st Senator
1st Representative
1st Cabinet Department or Independent Agency Head
1st Sub-Cabinet

Jeff has served as the race director for every race and he provides tireless leadership in its organization by obtaining needed permits and resources for its resounding success.

I hope that you will join me in wishing competitors safety and success as they compete this year and for the continuing success for many years to come.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENT

TRIBUTE TO BERRIEN COUNTY, GA

• Mr. ISAKSON. Mr. President, I rise today to honor in the RECORD the 150th Anniversary of Berrien County, GA.

Berrien County was created in 1856 from Coffee, Irwin and Lowndes counties. It was named for a great Georgian, John McPherson Berrien, a U.S. Senator who also served as President Andrew Jackson's Attorney General. From the area labeled on early Georgia maps simply as "Pine Barrens," because of its vast acreage of pine trees, Berrien County has become one of the top agriculture-producing counties in Georgia and the Southeast. Known as the "Bell Pepper Capital of the World," Berrien County farmers also have made significant contributions in the production of cotton, corn, peanuts, livestock, and especially tobacco.

During the summer when the tobacco markets opened, hundreds of families would come to the county seat of Nashville to market their crop and, in turn, purchase much needed items from area businesses with the money earned from that year's crop. Nashville has two historic buildings on the National Register of Historic Places—the old jail and the Berrien County Courthouse.

In addition to Nashville, Berrien County includes the great towns of Alapaha, Ray City, and Enigma.

It gives me a great deal of pleasure, and it is a privilege to recognize on the floor of the U.S. Senate, the contributions of Berrien County to the State of Georgia. I congratulate this great county on its 150th anniversary. •

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. STEVENS (for himself and Mr. INOUE):

S. 2686. A bill to amend the Communications Act of 1934 and for other purposes; to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation.

Mr. STEVENS. Madam President, today Senator INOUE and I introduce the Communications Act of 2006. Just over a month ago, the Senate Commerce Committee concluded a series of 15 hearings on the state of our Nation's communications laws. We looked at what changes in the law would be required to spur innovation, encourage competition, and provide better service at a lower price for consumers. Senator INOUE and I, and the members of our committee heard from dozens of witnesses and still more who have offered comments and suggested language. Our staffs met with literally hundreds of people representing every point of view.

The measure we introduce today is a working draft intended to stimulate discussion and is open for comments and suggestions for change. It attempts to strike a balance between competing industries, consumer groups and local government. Both Senator INOUE and I may propose additional changes based on comments offered by our members or interested parties. We will hold two hearings to take testimony on the draft bill and will listen to proposed changes. It is our hope that through a process of collaboration, we can draft a bill that represents a bipartisan consensus.

The bill includes elements from a number of bills introduced by members of our committee from both sides of the aisle. The Call Home Act that Senator INOUE and I introduced last week would allow the FCC to take any action short of price regulation to reduce rates for members of our Armed Forces who call home. The measure includes thirteen cosponsors from our committee and another twenty-five cosponsors from the Senate at large. The Call Home Act has been endorsed by twenty-five military and veterans organizations.

The overarching theme of the bill we introduce today is deployment of broadband nationwide. Today the United States is less than 16th in adoption of broadband worldwide. We are not only behind most of the developed world, we even lag behind some of the less developed parts of the globe. To address this broadband gap, the bill we introduce today will allow local governments to offer their own broadband service, so long as they do not compete unfairly with the private sector. The provision is based largely on Senator McCain's and Lautenberg's bill, S. 1294, cosponsored by Senator Kerry, but includes elements to protect the private sector from unfair government competition from Senator Ensign's bill, S. 1504 cosponsored by McCain, Lott, Demint, and Vitter.

Senator McCain was also very helpful in crafting the interoperability section of the bill. After Hurricane Katrina and later Wilma and Rita, the committee held a series of hearings on problems communications companies had in restoring service and the difficulties first responders had in talking to one another even when service had been fully restored. During those difficult times, Senators Lott and Vitter played an important role in highlighting the importance of interoperability in times of crisis. As part of the reconciliation bill adopted last December, this committee addressed the interoperability problem by dedicating $1 billion to interoperability programs. However, because of the Byrd rule, it was not possible to provide guidance on how the money should be spent. The interoperability bill we introduce today adopts many of the recommendations offered by a variety of groups from the 911 Commission to the recent White House report. It embraces key concepts such as Planning and interoperable equipment grants which have been discussed with the Department of Homeland Security and various public safety groups.

The bill will also create prepositioned technology caches in every State in the Union with some redundant regional caches for national emergencies—an idea offered by Senator INOUE and his staff. These caches will include equipment like satellite telephones that work even when towers and power lines have been destroyed.

Senator Kerry has also been involved in the interoperability discussion, and I believe he will have suggestions as we move forward on how to build redundancy into our communications system.

One of the centerpieces of the legislation is video franchising reform. The bill is based largely on legislation introduced by Senator Ensign, S. 1504, cosponsored by Senators McCain, Lott, Demint, and Vitter. Senators Smith and Rockefeller introduced a similar measure. Consistent with the Inouye/Burns principles, the measure retains local franchise involvement, but is based off of the Alaska model which uses expedited procedures, consistent with the shot clock principles in the Inouye/Burns principles.

By using a standard application, but preserving the cities' right to manage their own rights of way and providing the revenues needed to operate their institutional networks as well as their PEG channels, the bill seeks to balance the needs of those who want to deploy broadband networks for video services and the desires of cities to continue the services they offer today. We also sought to address the needs of the existing cable companies by offering them the same terms as new entrants immediately upon approval of the competitor's franchise application. Additionally, a cable company can avail itself of the new streamlined rules after its current franchise agreement expires.

Another issue addressed in the draft bill is access to video content. While satellite companies are barred from hoarding exclusive sports programming, the so-called terrestrial loophole does not impose the same mandate on cable companies. As a result, through acquisition of regional sports networks by cable operators, competition with satellite providers is stymied. The Sports Freedom Act included in this bill is patterned after a provision in the Ensign bill cosponsored by McCain, Lott, Demint, and Vitter.

Also critical to providing compelling content is the broadcast flag. Broadcasters are reluctant to offer their best programming over the air for fear it could be stolen and distributed worldwide over the Internet with no regard to copyright protection. This has been a critical issue for Senator INOUE on the video side and for Senator Frist on the audio side. Senators Smith and Boxer took on this issue and developed a draft bill which became the basis for the legislation we introduce today. It attempted to strike a balance between the needs of broadcasters and the desires of the consumer electronic industry not to have the Federal Government pick technology winners and losers. While interested parties may have suggestions for improving the bill, we believe it is a good first step in addressing their concerns. I commend Senators Smith and Boxer for their hard work on this issue.

The measure includes a white space provision modeled after S. 2327, the Allen-Kerry WIN Act supported by Senators Sununu, Dorgan, and Boxer. It adds some protections the broadcasters requested to prevent harmful interference by requiring any new device to be tested in an FCC certified lab before deployment. The concept of using vacant TV channels for broadband deployment through Wi-Fi, Wi-Max and other technologies is strongly endorsed by consumer groups and the technology community. Also, each can play an important role in bringing broadband to rural America.

The legislation includes guidance on the DTV transition that was not possible in the reconciliation bill because of the Byrd rule. Much of the language we included is based on a provision Senator INOUE worked on to Address consumer education issues. It also includes an international coordination element requested by Senator Hutchinson to address interference on the US-Mexico border that will also benefit other border states, such as Alaska, Washington, Montana, North Dakota, and Maine. In addition, we have included S. 900, Senator MCCAIN's Television Information Enhancement for the visually impaired act which Senator INOUE and I cosponsored, along with Senator SMITH. That bill authorizes an existing FCC rule requiring TV stations to offer some video description of television shows so blind listeners will be able to follow the action. The existing rule was struck down by the courts on the grounds that the FCC lacked authority for such a rule. Today we provide them the authority they need. As the son of a father who was blind for a period of time, this is an issue of personal interest to me.

Last, but most important to me is universal service reform. Our measure is based on a series of bills. The contribution mechanism we adopted is based on S. 2256, the Burns USF bill and S. 1583, the Smith-Dorgan measure which was also cosponsored by Senator PRYOR. It allows the FCC to adopt a contribution mechanism based on revenues, numbers, or connections. Such a step is needed to stabilize this important program. It also includes Senator SMITH's concept of a separate broadband fund to address the needs of unserved areas.

We have included S. 241, the Snowe-Rockefeller ADA exemption after failing in our efforts to work out this issue with the Administration. While the Burns and Smith-Dorgan-Pryor bills were the basis for our USF title, we also used important concepts from H.R. 5072, the Terry-Boucher bill, and we applaud them for their leadership in the House and thank them for their contribution to this effort. Lastly, we have included S. 2378, the Inouye measure that will improve the e-rate program for Native Americans. Senators MCCAIN, DORGAN, and I joined in cosponsoring that bill.

This bill includes provisions throughout that will benefit consumers. It encourages competition and cost savings in the video market. It addresses some critical needs in rural America. And, it encourages deployment of broadband so that our Nation can remain competitive.

This is a comprehensive bill, as indicated by my comments, that we have researched. The bill is introduced by every Member of the Senate. We are attempting to collate them so we can have one communications act for this year. This will be the Communications Act of 2006.

I urge the Senate to review it. We look forward to having their comments.

Mr. INOUE. Mr. President, today, I have agreed to cosponsor telecommunications legislation introduced by Senator STEVENS. I do so in a spirit of bipartisanship because I believe that bipartisanship will be required if we are to successfully update our Nation's communications laws. My cosponsor-ship, however, is not a demonstration of support for the bill itself.

This is the draft of the majority staff, and I have numerous, substantive objections to the bill in its current form. Given that my colleagues and I have not yet had an opportunity to weigh in on this critical legislation, I consider its introduction the very beginning of the legislative process.

Now that the majority staff's draft is no longer a secret, we can begin a full review of the bill and address the many issues important to me and my colleagues. At first glance, some provisions will need to be deleted or changed substantially and some issues still need to be addressed.

For example, we cannot ignore concerns about the potential for discrimination by network operators, but the draft appears to do just that by failing to create enforceable protections that will ensure network neutrality. Similarly, I believe that the provisions addressing video franchise reform must follow more closely the principles Senator BURNS and I offered earlier this year. At a time of increasing consolidation in the communications industry, it is essential that we guarantee rights of interconnection, promote competition, and restrain anticompetitive behavior, particularly in markets where the Bell Companies continue to have significant market power. The legislation must promote the availability of affordable, broadband services and extend consumer protections on a competitively neutral basis.

Again, I recognize and honor the chairman's prerogative to set this legislative process into motion. The chairman is aware of my many concerns and has assured me that this will be a bipartisan process, and the Democrats will be at the table. I look forward to our discussions, and I am hopeful that we can develop a final product that everyone on our committee can support.

SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

SENATE RESOLUTION 456—EXPRESSING THE SENSE OF THE SENATE ON THE DISCUSSION BY THE NORTH ATLANTIC COUNCIL OF SECURE, SUSTAINABLE, AND RELIABLE SOURCES OF ENERGY

Mr. LUGAR submitted the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

S. RES. 456

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) the President should place on the agenda for discussion at the North Atlantic Council, as soon as practicable, the merits of establishing a policy and strategy for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to promote the security of members of the Organization through the development of secure, sustainable, and reliable sources of energy; and

(2) the President should submit to Congress a report that sets forth—

(A) the actions the United States has taken to place the matter referred to in paragraph (1) on the agenda for discussion at the North Atlantic Council;

(B) the position of the United States on the matter, as communicated to the North Atlantic Council by the representatives of the United States to the Council;

(C) a summary of the debate on the matter at the North Atlantic Council, including any decision that has been reached with respect to the matter by the Council; and

(D) a strategy for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to develop secure, sustainable, and reliable sources of energy, including contingency plans if current energy resources are put at risk.

Mr. LUGAR. Mr. President, I rise today to submit a resolution that calls upon the United States to lead the discussion at NATO headquarters of the role the alliance could play in energy security. It further calls upon the President to submit to Congress a report that details "a strategy for NATO to develop secure, sustainable, and reliable sources of energy, including contingency plans if current energy resources are put at risk."

NATO is now facing new challenges and new priorities. To be fully relevant to the security and well-being of the people of its member nations, NATO must think and act globally.

International developments are calling attention to the growing importance of energy security for NATO member countries and other non-member partners. Dependence on imports of oil and natural gas from limited numbers of countries with state-controlled reserves makes NATO member countries vulnerable to political manipulation of supply. On a global scale, increased competition for finite supplies of oil and gas could lead to conflict that would directly involve NATO member states. This is why the resolution urges that the United States energy security message to NATO members include attention toward sustainable fuels and preparedness for supply disruption.

As the alliance focuses on a clearer definition of its purpose in the 21st century, I believe that it is important to show congressional support for NATO playing a role in energy security.

SENATE RESOLUTION 457—EXPRESSING THE SENSE OF THE SENATE THAT THE CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES AND THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT HAVE SERIOUS CONCERNS REGARDING THE RELEASE OF CONVICTED TERRORIST AND MURDERER MOHAMMAD ALI HAMMADI BY THE GOVERNMENT OF GERMANY

Mr. VITTER (for himself, Ms. MIKULSKI, Mr. DEMINT, Mr. CRAIG, and Mr. ISAKSON) submitted the following resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. RES. 457

Whereas, although the Government of Germany has been a significant partner in combating international terrorism, their release of Mohammad Ali Hammadi was a grave and unfortunate mistake;

Whereas, in 1985, Mr. Hammadi, along with Hasan Izz-Al-Din, Ali Atwa, and Imad Fayez Mugniyah, hijacked Trans World Airlines Flight 847, and subsequently escaped from the scene of the hijacking;

Whereas United States Navy Petty Officer Robert Dean Stethem was singled out during the hijacking of Trans World Airlines Flight 847 because he was a serviceman of the United States, savagely beaten before being executed, and dumped on the tarmac of Beirut International Airport;

Whereas Petty Officer Stethem was posthumously awarded the Bronze Star and Purple Heart and buried at Arlington National Cemetery;

Whereas, in 1987, Mr. Hammadi was arrested at Frankfurt Airport while carrying liquid explosives in his luggage;

Whereas, in 1989, Mr. Hammadi, a Shiite militant from Lebanon, was convicted in a court in Germany for the brutal killing of Petty Officer Stethem and was sentenced to life in prison in Germany;

Whereas, after less than 19 years behind bars Mr. Hammadi was released in December 2005 and flown to Lebanon by the Government of Germany even though the United States does not have an extradition treaty with the Government of Lebanon; and

Whereas the release of Mr. Hammadi came in the face of strong opposition from the United States Government, and Petty Officer Stethem's parents were not even informed in advance that the killer of their son was to be released; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) the unfortunate actions of the Government of Germany with respect to Mohammad Ali Hammadi have undermined the joint efforts by the United States Government and the Government of Germany to effectively combat international terrorism;

(2) the early release of Mr. Hammadi sends a signal of weakness to terrorist groups such as Hezbollah and could increase the likelihood of further terrorist attacks against the citizens of Europe and the rest of the world;

(3) the United States Government should continue to call on the Government of Lebanon to hand over Mr. Hammadi and other known terrorists so that they may face trial in the United States;

(4) the United States Government should take all appropriate steps to secure the arrest of Mr. Hammadi and his fellow hijackers and their transfer to the United States for trial; and

(5) the murderers of United States Navy Petty Officer Robert Dean Stethem must be brought to justice, and a clear message must be sent to the international community that the brutal murder of service members or civilians of the United States will neither be tolerated nor forgiven.

SENATE RESOLUTION 458—AFFIRMING THAT STATEMENTS OF NATIONAL UNITY, INCLUDING THE NATIONAL ANTHEM, SHOULD BE RECITED OR SUNG IN ENGLISH

Mr. ALEXANDER (for himself, Mr. FRIST, Mr. McCONNELL, Mr. STEVENS, Mr. ISAKSON, Mr. ROBERTS, Mr. SHELBY, Mr. BUNNING, Mr. SANTORUM, and Mr. TALENT) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

S. RES. 458

Whereas Francis Scott Key wrote the words of the Star-Spangled Banner in English in 1814, inspired by the sight of the American flag still waving at Fort McHenry

after 25 hours of continual bombardment by British forces;

Whereas Congress declared the Star-Spangled Banner the National Anthem of the United States in 1931 (section 301 of title 3, United States Code);

Whereas the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States, written in English, was first specified in law by Congress in 1942 (section 4 of title 4, United States Code);

Whereas the Oath of Allegiance, to which lawful permanent residents swear upon becoming citizens of the United States (as required under section 337 of the Immigration and Naturalization Act (8 U.S.C. 1448)), is based, in part, on language originally written in English by General George Washington and sworn by him and his general officers at Valley Forge in 1778;

Whereas the vast majority of Americans are immigrants or the descendants of immigrants, proud of their ancestral country, but prouder still to be American;

Whereas millions of Americans speak or study additional languages, but English is their common language;

Whereas the original national motto of the United States, "E Pluribus Unum", meaning "from many, one", signifies the coming together of people from many foreign countries to form one Nation, was incorporated into the Great Seal of the United States in 1776, is printed on currency of the United States, and inscribed on the wall of the Senate chamber;

Whereas the people of the United States are united not by race, ancestry, or origin, but by a common language, English, and by common belief in the principles prescribed in the founding documents of the Nation, especially the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution; and

Whereas, to become citizens of the United States, under the sections 312 and 337 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1423 and 1448), lawful permanent residents of the United States who have immigrated from foreign countries must, among other requirements, renounce allegiance to the government of their country of origin, swear allegiance to the laws and Constitution of the United States, and demonstrate an understanding of the English language: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate affirms that statements or songs that symbolize the unity of the Nation, including the National Anthem, the Oath of Allegiance sworn by new United States citizens, and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States, should be recited or sung in English, the common language of the United States.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 90—ACKNOWLEDGING AFRICAN DESCENDANTS OF THE TRANSATLANTIC SLAVE TRADE IN ALL OF THE AMERICAS WITH AN EMPHASIS ON DESCENDANTS IN LATIN AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN, RECOGNIZING THE INJUSTICES SUFFERED BY THESE AFRICAN DESCENDANTS, AND RECOMMENDING THAT THE UNITED STATES AND THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY WORK TO IMPROVE THE SITUATION OF AFRO-DESCENDANT COMMUNITIES IN LATIN AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN

Mr. DODD submitted the following concurrent resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

S. CON. RES. 90

Whereas we must remember that African-Americans are not the only survivors of the transatlantic slave trade;

Whereas like the United States, many European nations benefitted greatly from the colonization of Latin America and the Caribbean and their participation in the slave trade;

Whereas the story of African descendants in all of the Americas remains untold, leading them to be forgotten, made invisible, and allowed to suffer unjustly;

Whereas it is important to acknowledge that as a result of the slave trade and immigration, approximately 80,000,000 to 150,000,000 persons of African descent live in Latin America and the Caribbean, making them the largest population of persons of African descent outside of Africa;

Whereas Afro-descendants are present in most Latin American countries, including Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay, and Venezuela;

Whereas the size of Afro-descendant populations varies in range from less than 1 percent in some countries to as much as 30 percent in Colombia and 46 percent in Brazil and make up the majority in some Spanish speaking Caribbean nations, such as Cuba and the Dominican Republic;

Whereas Afro-descendant populations have made significant economic, social, and cultural contributions to their countries and the Western Hemisphere from their unfortunate involvement in the transatlantic slave trade to their recent contributions to trade, tourism, and other industries;

Whereas although persons of African descent have made significant achievements in education, employment, economic, political, and social spheres in some countries, the vast majority are marginalized—living in impoverished communities where they are excluded from centers of education, government, and basic human rights based upon the color of their skin and ancestry;

Whereas Afro-descendants have shorter life expectancies, higher rates of infant mortality, higher incidences of HIV/AIDS, higher rates of illiteracy, and lower incomes than do other populations;

Whereas Afro-descendants encounter problems of access to healthcare, basic education, potable water, housing, land titles, credit, equal justice and representation under the law, political representation, and other economic, political, health, and basic human rights; and

Whereas skin color and ancestry have led African-Americans in the United States and African descendants in Latin America and the Caribbean to share similar injustices, leading to economic, social, health, and political inequalities: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That Congress—

(1) recognizes and honors African descendants in the Americas for their contributions to the economic, social, and cultural fabric of the countries in the Americas, particularly in Latin American and Caribbean societies;

(2) recognizes that as a result of their skin color and ancestry, African descendants in the Americas have wrongfully experienced economic, social, and political injustices;

(3) urges the President to take appropriate measures to encourage the celebration and remembrance of the achievements of African descendants in the Americas and to resolve injustices suffered by African descendants in the Americas;

(4) encourages the United States and the international community to work to ensure that extreme poverty is eradicated, universal education is achieved, quality healthcare is made available, sustainable environmental resources, including land where applicable, is provided, and equal access to justice and representation under the law is granted in Afro-descendant communities in Latin America and the Caribbean; and

(5) encourages the United States and the international community to achieve these goals in Latin America and the Caribbean by—

(A) promoting research that focuses on identifying and eradicating racial disparities in economic, political, and social spheres;

(B) promoting, funding, and creating development programs that focus on Afro-descendant communities;

(C) providing technical support and training to Afro-descendant advocacy groups that work to uphold basic human rights in the region;

(D) promoting the creation of an international working group that focuses on problems of communities of Afro-descendants in the Americas; and

(E) promoting trade and other bilateral and multilateral agreements that take into account the needs of Afro-descendant communities.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I rise today to submit a concurrent resolution acknowledging African descendants of the transatlantic slave trade throughout the Western Hemisphere, and in particular, Latin America and the Caribbean. This resolution would raise awareness about the continued injustices they face and urge the U.S. and the international community to work to improve the condition of Afro-descendant communities in these regions.

Slavery remains a dark stain on human history. Over the past century, this terrible evil has been virtually eliminated in many parts of the world, including in the Western Hemisphere.

Here in the United States, we most often speak of slavery as it existed within our borders. But we need to remember that the institution of slavery extended throughout the Americas.

Across the hemisphere, slaves were brought in bondage from Africa, enduring extraordinary hardships, brutal maltreatment, and the deprivation of a most fundamental human right—the right to liberty. Yet, despite this reality, Afro-descendant communities have contributed a great deal to the countries and communities in which they have lived. Unfortunately, though, even today, the many contributions of Afro-descendant communities throughout our hemisphere are underappreciated.

Currently, there are approximately 80 million to 150 million individuals of African descent living in Latin America and the Caribbean. In some countries, including the Dominican Republic and Cuba, Afro-descendants actually constitute the majority of the population. But all too often, they are left marginalized in these societies.

Indeed, individuals of African descent throughout Latin America and the Caribbean suffer disproportionately from a variety of social and economic ills.

On average, they have lower incomes and rates of literacy than do other populations in the same areas. And while Afro-descendants make up 30 percent of the population of Latin America, they comprise 60 percent of the region's poor.

These circumstances severely impact Afro-descendant communities in the Americas. Their inhabitants have shorter life spans and higher rates of infant mortality. They suffer from higher rates of HIV/AIDS infection than their compatriots. And many live in deplorable conditions, without potable water, access to healthcare, or basic education.

The resolution I am submitting today is a companion to a measure introduced by Congressman CHARLES RANGEL in the House of Representatives. I believe it is an important resolution, which celebrates the contributions of Afro-descendants to the economic, social, and cultural fabric of our hemisphere, while drawing attention to the continued injustices they face.

This resolution is a message that more attention needs to be focused on the continuing plight of Afro-descendants in the hemisphere. Most importantly, it proposes positive initiatives that would enable us to take a step towards alleviating the suffering caused by extreme poverty and racial disparities in this hemisphere.

Among other things, it encourages the United States and the international community to invest in critical measures to combat racial disparities, including research into identifying and eradicating the causes of such inequities; funding for development programs targeted at the needs of Afro-descendant communities; technical assistance for groups advocating for the rights of Afro-descendants; the creation of an international working-group focused on the problems facing these communities; and the promotion of trade agreements that take into account their needs.

Individuals of African descent have and will continue to play an essential role in the long-term development of our hemisphere. This resolution will help to shed some light on the historic injustices they have faced, and will raise awareness about the challenges continuing to face them in their daily lives throughout Latin America and the Caribbean. Doing so is an important step toward righting a historical wrong and paving the way for a more prosperous future. I ask my colleagues for their support in this effort.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 91—EXPRESSING THE SENSE OF CONGRESS THAT THE PRESIDENT SHOULD POSTHUMOUSLY AWARD THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDAL OF FREEDOM TO LEROY ROBERT "SATCHEL" PAIGE

tion; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

S. CON. RES. 91

Whereas Satchel Paige, who was born on July 7, 1906, in Mobile, Alabama, lived a life that was marked by his outstanding contributions to the game of baseball;

Whereas Satchel Paige was a dominating pitcher whose baseball career spanned several decades, from 1927 to 1965;

Whereas Satchel Paige played in the Negro Leagues and became famous for his unusual pitching style and his ability to strike out almost any player he faced;

Whereas Satchel Paige pitched 62 consecutive scoreless innings in 1933;

Whereas, due to the practice of segregation in baseball, Satchel Paige was prohibited for many years from playing baseball at the major league level;

Whereas Satchel Paige played for many Negro League teams, including—

- (1) the Chattanooga Black Lookouts;
- (2) the Birmingham Black Barons;
- (3) the Nashville Elite Giants;
- (4) the Mobile Tigers;
- (5) the Pittsburgh Crawfords; and
- (6) the Kansas City Monarchs;

Whereas, while pitching for the Kansas City Monarchs, Satchel Paige won 4 consecutive league pennants from 1939 to 1942, and later won a 5th pennant in 1946 with that team;

Whereas, after the desegregation of baseball, Satchel Paige signed a contract to pitch for the Cleveland Indians at age 42, and soon thereafter became the oldest rookie ever to play baseball at the major league level;

Whereas the extraordinary pitching of Satchel Paige helped the Cleveland Indians complete a championship season in 1948, as the team won the American League Championship and the World Series;

Whereas Satchel Paige threw an estimated 300 career shutouts;

Whereas, in 1971, Satchel Paige became the first Negro League player to be inducted into the Major League Baseball Hall of Fame;

Whereas the legendary pitching of Satchel Paige earned him numerous awards and accolades, including—

- (1) a nomination to the All Century Team by Major League Baseball as 1 of the greatest players of the 20th century; and
- (2) a selection to the 50 Legends of Baseball by the Postal Service;

Whereas, despite years of discrimination that limited the play of Satchel Paige to the Negro Leagues, his prowess on the pitching mound earned him the respect and admiration of fans and players throughout the world of baseball;

Whereas Satchel Paige passed away on June 8, 1982; and

Whereas the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor in the United States, was established in 1945 to recognize citizens of the United States who have made exceptional contributions to—

- (1) the security or national interests of the United States;
- (2) world peace;
- (3) the culture of the United States or the world; or
- (4) the citizens of the United States or the world: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring). That it is the sense of Congress that the President should award the Presidential Medal of Freedom posthumously to Leroy "Satchel" Paige in honor of his distinguished baseball career and the contributions that he has made to the improvement of the society of the United States and the world.

Mr. NELSON of Florida. Mr. President, I rise today on behalf of myself, and Senators DEWINE and SESSIONS, to submit a resolution expressing the sense of Congress that the President posthumously award the Presidential Medal of Freedom to Leroy Robert "Satchel" Paige in recognition of his amazing talent and contributions to baseball, our national pastime.

Satchel Paige was born in Mobile, AL, on July 7, 1906, and has been described as one of the greatest baseball pitchers of all time. In 1933, for example, he pitched 62 consecutive scoreless innings. He won four consecutive Negro League pennants from 1939 to 1942, and a fifth pennant in 1946. Although Paige spent most of his career in the Negro Leagues due to racial segregation, his reputation as an amazing pitcher was known to both Black and White audiences.

In 1948, a year after Jackie Robinson integrated major league baseball, Paige was signed to play with the Cleveland Indians, becoming the oldest rookie at age 42 to play at the Major League level.

On August 20, 1948, as Paige pitched the Indians to a 1-0 victory over the White Sox, the night game's attendance, 78,382, set a record that still stands today. The Cleveland Indians went on to win the American League Championship and the World Series in 1948.

In his career, Paige threw an estimated 300 career shutouts. In 1971, he became the first Negro League player inducted into the Major League Baseball Hall of Fame. As one of the greatest players of the 20th century, he was nominated to the All Century Team by Major League Baseball, and was selected by the Postal Service as one of the 50 Legends of Baseball.

Satchel Paige passed away on June 8, 1982, but his talent and electric style of play are still remembered by baseball fans today.

(3) Iraq is a nation with many ethnic, religious, sectarian, regional, and tribal divisions, and before Saddam Hussein, Iraqis from three different backgrounds were able to live and work together.

(4) The terrorists and insurgents are unable to stop Iraq's march toward freedom, democracy, and economic security.

(5) The Iraqi Council of Representatives' approval on April 22, 2006, of the Presidency Council consisting of Jalal Talabani as President and two Deputy Presidents, and the election of a Speaker and two Deputy Speakers is a significant step forward, as is the decision by the Iraqi political leadership to select Jawad al-Maliki as the Prime Minister designate.

(b) SENSE OF SENATE.—It is the sense of the Senate—

(1) that Iraq has crossed another major milestone in its march toward freedom, democracy, and stability with the establishment of its first permanent democratically elected government that will chart the course for Iraq's future in a way denied to previous generations of Iraqis;

(2) to commend Iraq's new national leaders on their selection, and the Iraqi people, for another important milestone in their democratic evolution;

(3) to strongly encourage Iraq's leaders to seize this pivotal moment to—

(A) complete the formation of a government of national unity and expand support for the Iraq Constitution through amendments to the Iraq Constitution, implementing legislation that enjoys widespread support among all major parliamentary blocs, or both;

(B) pursue policies and actions that will defeat terrorists and insurgents, and promote stability;

(C) strengthen the economy, rebuild infrastructure, and provide jobs;

(D) select cabinet officials who reflect the diversity of the Iraqi people and who can deliver services to the Iraqi people and manage their ministries effectively and efficiently;

(E) form a national security council to improve government coordination on these and other difficult issues;

(F) ensure there is no place in a free and democratic Iraq for armed groups operating outside of the law;

(G) find and remove any local or national police leaders showing evidence of militia loyalties; and

(H) address critical issues such as the process known as de-Ba'athification, the operation of security ministries, and the distribution of oil revenues in a spirit of national unity;

(4) to acknowledge that progress is being made in Iraq and look to the Iraqi government to come to political solutions in a timely, evenhanded and inexorable manner;

(5) to recognize the magnificent performance of the United States Armed Forces and the coalition partners, and United States Government officials from many departments and agencies, as well as the sacrifices of their families at home; and

SEC. ____. SCREENING OF MUNICIPAL SOLID WASTE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds, based on the review of the Office of the Inspector General of the Department of Homeland Security of the effectiveness of screening by the Bureau of Customs and Border Protection of trucks carrying Canadian municipal solid waste, that—

(1) the Bureau does not have an effective method of screening and inspecting the 350 truckloads of municipal solid waste that enter the United States daily through the Detroit and Port Huron ports of entry;

(2) the effectiveness of technologies used as of the date of enactment of this Act to test for the presence of radiation in municipal solid waste is limited;

(3) visual presentation of vehicle and cargo inspection systems does not allow for easily distinguishing drugs, weapons, and other contraband in municipal solid waste; and

(4)(A) physical inspections of municipal solid waste are of limited value because it is difficult to thoroughly inspect compacted municipal solid waste to identify illegal cargo; and

(B) relatively few physical inspections are performed because the inspections are labor intensive.

(b) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) BUREAU.—The term “Bureau” means the Bureau of Customs and Border Protection.

(2) COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLE.—The term “commercial motor vehicle” has the meaning given the term in section 31101 of title 49, United States Code.

(c) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commissioner shall submit to Congress a report that identifies the actions that the Bureau will take to achieve the same level of effectiveness in the screening of municipal solid waste for the presence of chemical, nuclear, biological, and radiological weapons, as those methodologies and technologies used by the Bureau to screen for those materials in other items of commerce entering the United States through commercial motor vehicle transport.

(d) IMPACT ON COMMERCIAL MOTOR VEHICLES.—The Secretary shall deny entry into the United States for any commercial motor vehicle carrying municipal solid waste until the Secretary certifies to Congress that the methodologies and technologies used by the Bureau to screen for and detect the presence of chemical, nuclear, biological, and radiological weapons in municipal solid waste are as effective as the methodologies and technologies used by the Bureau to screen for those materials in other items of commerce entering the United States through commercial motor vehicle transport if—

(1) the Commissioner fails to submit the report under subsection (c);

(2) the report under subsection (c) fails to identify methodologies and technologies that could be feasibly and reasonably implemented by the Bureau to achieve the level of effectiveness in the screening of municipal solid waste described in subsection (c); or

(3)(A) the report under subsection (c) sufficiently identifies methodologies and technologies that could be feasibly and reasonably implemented by the Bureau to achieve the level of effectiveness in the screening of municipal solid waste described in that subsection; but

(B) the Commissioner fails to fully implement the actions identified in the report before date that is 90 days after the date on which the report is submitted.

SENSE OF THE SENATE ON DESTRUCTION OF CHEMICAL WEAPONS

SEC. 7032. (a) The Senate makes the following findings:

(1) The Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, Stockpiling and Use of Chemical Weapons and on Their Destruction, done at Paris on January 13, 1993 (commonly referred to as the “Chemical Weapons Convention”), requires all United States chemical weapons stockpiles be destroyed by April 29, 2012.

(2) On April 10, 2006, the Department of Defense notified Congress that the United States would not meet the deadline under the Chemical Weapons Convention for destruction of United States chemical weapons stockpiles.

(3) Destroying existing chemical weapons is a homeland security imperative, an arms control priority, and required by United States law.

(4) The elimination and nonproliferation of chemical weapons of mass destruction is of utmost importance to the national security of the United States.

(b) It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) the United States is committed to making every effort to safely dispose of its chemical weapons stockpiles by the Chemical Weapons Convention deadline of April 29, 2012, or as soon thereafter as possible, and will carry out all of its other obligations under the Convention; and

(2) the Secretary of Defense should prepare a comprehensive schedule for safely destroying the United States chemical weapons stockpiles to prevent further delays in the destruction of such stockpiles, and the schedule should be submitted annually to the congressional defense committees separately or as part of another required report.

REPORTS ON WITHDRAWAL OR DIVERSION OF EQUIPMENT FROM RESERVE UNITS FOR SUPPORT OF RESERVE UNITS BEING MOBILIZED AND OTHER UNITS

SEC. 1312. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The National Guard continues to provide invaluable resources to meet national security, homeland defense, and civil emergency mission requirements.

(2) Current military operations, transnational threats, and domestic emergencies will increase the use of the National Guard for both military support to civilian authorities and to execute the military strategy of the United States.

(3) To meet the demand for certain types of equipment for continuing United States military operations, the Army has required Army National Guard Units to leave behind many items for use by follow-on forces.

(4) The Governors of every State and 2 Territories expressed concern in February 2006 that units returning from deployment overseas without adequate equipment would have trouble carrying out their homeland security and domestic disaster duties.

(5) The Department of Defense estimates that it has directed the Army National Guard to leave overseas more than 75,000 items valued at approximately $1,760,000,000 to support Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation Iraqi Freedom.

(6) Department of Defense Directive 1225.6 requires a replacement and tracking plan be developed within 90 days for equipment of the reserve components of the Armed Forces that is transferred to the active components of the Armed Forces.

(7) In October 2005, the Government Accountability Office found that the Department of Defense can only account for about 45 percent of such equipment and has not developed a plan to replace such equipment.

(8) The Government Accountability Office also found that without a completed and implemented plan to replace all National Guard equipment left overseas, Army National Guard units will likely face growing equipment shortages and challenges in regaining readiness for future missions.

(b) REPORTS ON WITHDRAWAL OR DIVERSION OF EQUIPMENT FROM RESERVE UNITS FOR SUPPORT OF RESERVE UNITS BEING MOBILIZED AND OTHER UNITS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 1007 of title 10, United States Code, is amended by inserting after section 10208 the following new section:

“§10208a. Mobilization: reports on withdrawal or diversion of equipment from Reserve units for support of Reserve units being mobilized and other units

“(a) REPORT REQUIRED ON WITHDRAWAL OR DIVERSION OF EQUIPMENT.—Not later than 90 days after withdrawing or diverting equipment from a unit of the Reserve to a unit of the Reserve being ordered to active duty under section 12301, 12302, or 12304 of this title, or to a unit or units of a regular component of the armed forces, for purposes of the discharge of the mission of such unit or units, the Secretary concerned shall submit to the Secretary of Defense a report on the withdrawal or diversion of equipment.

“(b) ELEMENTS.—Each report under subsection (a) on equipment withdrawn or diverted shall include the following:

“(1) A plan to replace such equipment within the unit from which withdrawn or diverted.

“(2) If such equipment is to remain in a theater of operations while the unit from which withdrawn or diverted returns to the United States, a plan to provide such unit with replacement equipment appropriate to ensure the continuation of the readiness training of such unit.

“(3) A signed memorandum of understanding between the active or reserve component to which withdrawn or diverted and the reserve component from which withdrawn or diverted that specifies—

“(A) how such equipment will be tracked by the unit or units to which withdrawn or diverted; and

“(B) when such equipment will be returned to the unit from which withdrawn or diverted.”

(2) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 1007 of such title is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 10208 the following new item:

“10208a. Mobilization: reports on withdrawal or diversion of equipment from Reserve units for support of Reserve units being mobilized and other units.”

- (2) the Federal Government predicts that, by 2025, 68 percent of the oil used in the United States will be imported;
- (3) % of the oil reserves of the world are located in the politically unstable Middle East and are controlled by members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries;
- (4) global fuel consumption is projected to increase by 100 percent to 150 percent during the next 20 years, driven largely by the Chinese and Indian economies;

(5) that increased demand for fuel—

(A) will place the United States in ever-greater competition for oil and gas resources; and

(B) may result in an extension of Chinese involvement in developing Cuban oil and gas reserves to within a few miles of the coastline of the United States;

(6) the United States adheres to the principle that, in a case in which the exclusive economic zone of the United States is contiguous to the exclusive economic zone of another country, a point equidistant to the maritime baselines of the 2 countries demarcates the exclusive economic zone of each;

(7) an example of the application of the principle described in paragraph (6) is that the exclusive economic zone of Cuba extends to within—

(A) 52 miles of the Florida Keys at—

(i) south of 24 degrees north latitude; and

(ii) east of -81 degrees west longitude; and

(B) 85.4 miles of the Florida peninsula at—

(10) the northernmost of the exploration blocks described in paragraph (9) are located off the southwest coast of the State of Florida;

(11) a United States Geological Survey report entitled "Assessment of Undiscovered Oil and Gas Resources of the North Cuba Basin 2004" estimated that between 1,000,000,000 and 9,300,000,000 barrels of undiscovered oil and between 1,900,000,000,000 and 22,000,000,000,000 cubic feet of undiscovered natural gas along the northern coast of Cuba;

(12) the national security strategy of the President recognizes the increasing resource needs of China by stating that China is "expanding trade, but acting as if they can somehow lock up energy supplies around the world or seek to direct markets rather than opening them up";

(13) the United States embargo on Cuba prohibits United States companies from engaging in the exploration or extraction of hydrocarbon resources from the exclusive economic zone of Cuba;

(14) United States oil and gas industries are the world's leaders in the efficient and environmentally-safe extraction of oil and gas resources from marine deposits; and

(15) it is in the energy, national security, and environmental interests of the United States that the oil and gas companies of the United States be permitted to operate in the foreign exclusive economic zones that is contiguous to the exclusive economic zone of the United States.

(b) The purpose of this section is to permit United States companies to participate in the exploration for and the extraction of hydrocarbon resources from any portion of a foreign maritime exclusive economic zone that is contiguous to the exclusive economic zone of the United States.

DEMOCRACY PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES IN IRAN

SEC. 7032. (a) Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The people of the United States have long demonstrated an interest in the well-being of the people of Iran, dating back to the 1830s.

(2) Famous Americans such as Howard Baskerville, Dr. Samuel Martin, Jane E. Doolittle, and Louis G. Dreyfus, Jr., made significant contributions to Iranian society by furthering the educational opportunities of the people of Iran and improving the opportunities of the less fortunate citizens of Iran.

(3) Iran and the United States were allies following World War II, and through the late 1970s Iran was as an important regional ally of the United States and a key bulwark against Soviet influence.

(4) In November 1979, following the arrival of Mohammed Reza Shah Pahlavi in the United States, a mob of students and extremists seized the United States Embassy in Tehran, Iran, holding United States diplomatic personnel hostage until January 1981.

(5) Following the seizure of the United States Embassy, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, leader of the repressive revolutionary movement in Iran, expressed support for the actions of the students in taking American citizens hostage.

(6) Despite the presidential election of May 1997, an election in which an estimated 91 percent of the electorate participated, control of the internal and external affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran is still exercised by the courts in Iran and the Revolutionary Guards, Supreme Leader, and Council of Guardians of the Government of Iran.

(7) The election results of the May 1997 election and the high level of voter participation in that election demonstrate that the people of Iran favor economic and political reforms and greater interaction with the United States and the Western world in general.

(8) Efforts by the United States to improve relations with Iran have been rebuffed by the Government of Iran.

(9) The Clinton Administration eased sanctions against Iran and promoted people-to-people exchanges, but the Leader of the Islamic Revolution Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, the Militant Clerics’ Society, the Islamic Coalition Organization, and Supporters of the Party of God have all opposed efforts to open Iranian society to Western influences and have opposed efforts to change the dynamic of relations between the United States and Iran.

(10) For the past two decades, the Department of State has found Iran to be the leading sponsor of international terrorism in the world.

(11) In 1983, the Iran-sponsored Hezbollah terrorist organization conducted suicide terrorist operations against United States military and civilian personnel in Beirut, Lebanon, resulting in the deaths of hundreds of Americans.

(12) The United States intelligence community and law enforcement personnel have linked Iran to attacks against American military personnel at Khobar Towers in Saudi Arabia in 1996 and to al Qaeda attacks against civilians in Saudi Arabia in 2004.

(13) According to the Department of State’s Patterns of Global Terrorism 2001 report, “Iran’s Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps and Ministry of Intelligence and Security continued to be involved in the planning and support of terrorist acts and supported a variety of groups that use terrorism to pursue their goals,” and “Iran continued to provide Lebanese Hizballah and the Palestinian rejectionist groups—notably HAMAS, the Palestinian Islamic Jihad, and the [Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command]—with varying amounts of funding, safehaven, training and weapons”.

(14) Iran currently operates more than 10 radio and television stations broadcasting in Iraq that incite violent actions against United States and coalition personnel in Iraq.

(15) The current leaders of Iran, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei and Hashemi Rafsanjani, have repeatedly called upon Muslims to kill Americans in Iraq and install a theocratic regime in Iraq.

(16) The Government of Iran has admitted pursuing a clandestine nuclear program, which the United States intelligence community believes may include a nuclear weapons program.

(17) The Government of Iran has failed to meet repeated pledges to arrest and extradite foreign terrorists in Iran.

(18) The United States Government believes that the Government of Iran supports terrorists and extremist religious leaders in Iraq with the clear intention of subverting coalition efforts to bring peace and democracy to Iraq.

(19) The Ministry of Defense of Iran confirmed in July 2003 that it had successfully conducted the final test of the Shahab-3 missile, giving Iran an operational intermediate-range ballistic missile capable of striking both Israel and United States troops throughout the Middle East and Afghanistan.

(b) Congress declares that it should be the policy of the United States—

(1) to support efforts by the people of Iran to exercise self-determination over the form of government of their country; and

(2) to actively support a national referendum in Iran with oversight by international observers and monitors to certify the integrity and fairness of the referendum.

(c)(1) The President is authorized, notwithstanding any other provision of law, to provide financial and political assistance (including the award of grants) to foreign and domestic individuals, organizations, and entities that support democracy and the promotion of democracy in Iran. Such assistance includes funding for—

(A) the Broadcasting Board of Governors for efforts to cultivate and support independent broadcasters that broadcast into Iran;

(B) cultural and student exchanges;

(C) the promotion of human rights and civil society activities in Iran; and

(D) assistance to student organizations, labor unions, and trade associations in Iran.

(2) It is the sense of Congress that financial and political assistance under this section be provided to an individual, organization, or entity that—

(A) opposes the use of terrorism;

(B) advocates the adherence by Iran to nonproliferation regimes for nuclear, chemical, and biological weapons and materiel;

(C) is dedicated to democratic values and supports the adoption of a democratic form of government in Iran;

(D) is dedicated to respect for human rights, including the fundamental equality of women;

(E) works to establish equality of opportunity for people; and

(F) supports freedom of the press, freedom of speech, freedom of association, and freedom of religion.

(3) The President may provide assistance under this subsection using amounts made available pursuant to the authorization of appropriations under paragraph (7).

(4) Not later than 15 days before each obligation of assistance under this subsection, and in accordance with the procedures under section 634A of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2394-1), the President shall notify the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate and the Committee on International Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.

(5) It is the sense of Congress that in order to ensure maximum coordination among Federal agencies, if the President provides the assistance under this section, the President should appoint an individual who shall—

(A) serve as special assistant to the President on matters relating to Iran; and

(B) coordinate among the appropriate directors of the National Security Council on issues regarding such matters.

(6) It is the sense of Congress that—

(A) support for a transition to democracy in Iran should be expressed by United States representatives and officials in all appropriate international fora;

(B) representatives of the Government of Iran should be denied access to all United States Government buildings;

(C) efforts to bring a halt to the nuclear weapons program of Iran, including steps to end the supply of nuclear components or fuel to Iran, should be intensified, with particular attention focused on the cooperation regarding such program—

(i) between the Government of Iran and the Government of the Russian Federation; and

(ii) between the Government of Iran and individuals from China, Malaysia, and Pakistan, including the network of Dr. Abdul Qadeer (A. Q.) Khan; and

(D) officials and representatives of the United States should—

(i) strongly and unequivocally support indigenous efforts in Iran calling for free, transparent, and democratic elections; and

(ii) draw international attention to violations by the Government of Iran of human rights, freedom of religion, freedom of assembly, and freedom of the press.

(7) There is authorized to be appropriated to the Department of State $100,000,000 to carry out activities under this subsection.

(d) Not later than 15 days before designating a democratic opposition organization as eligible to receive assistance under subsection (b), the President shall notify the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate and the Committee on International Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives of the proposed designation. The notification may be in classified form.

(e)(1) Of the amount appropriated by chapter 2 of title I under the heading “DEPARTMENT OF STATE AND RELATED AGENCY”, excluding funds appropriated for Educational and Cultural Exchange Programs and Public Diplomacy Programs, $42,750,000 shall be available for the Broadcasting Board of Governors for democracy programs and activities in Iran.

(2) Of the amount appropriated by chapter 4 of title I, $47,250,000 shall be made available for the Democracy Fund for democracy programs and activities in Iran.

GERMAN RELEASE OF MOHAMMAD ALI HAMMADI

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate now proceed to the consideration of S. Res. 457, which was submitted earlier today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the resolution by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 457) expressing the sense of the Senate that the citizens of the United States and the United States Government have serious concerns regarding the release of convicted terrorist and murderer Mohammad Ali Hammadi by the Government of Germany.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. VITTER. Mr. President, I rise in support of S. Res. 457, expressing the Senate's disappointment with the government of Germany concerning their release of convicted terrorist and murderer Mohammad Ali Hammadi.

The German government in December of 2005 released Mohammad Ali Hammadi, a Hezbollah leader who killed U.S. Navy diver Robert Dean Stethem in the June 1985 Hezbollah hijacking of TWA Flight 847. Coincidentally, a few days later Susanne Osthoff, a German hostage was released. Mr. Stethem was savagely beaten and then executed for refusing the demands of his hijackers. Hammadi and his fellow terrorists escaped, but Hammadi was eventually arrested in Germany in 1987 for traveling with liquid explosives and sentenced to life in prison for the murder of Mr. Stethem. Hammadi's other accomplices are still part of the FBI's most wanted list and have a 15 million dollar bounty on their heads.

The German government released Hammadi despite a U.S. request for his extradition to face numerous charges of terrorism. He was sentenced to life yet only served 18 years. Furthermore, despite our longstanding agreement to honor each others' extradition requests the German government flew Hammadi to Lebanon to reunite with his brothers who are senior Hezbollah leaders. The Germans did this despite knowing the United States does not have an extradition treaty with the government of Lebanon.

Sadly, the family of United States Navy diver Robert Dean Stethem was not notified in advance of Mr. Hammadi's release. Mr. Stethem is an American hero who was posthumously awarded the Bronze Star and Purple Heart and is buried at Arlington National Cemetery. He also has a United States Navy ship named in his honor called the USS Stethem.

We should continue to call on Lebanon to hand over Hammadi and other wanted terrorists to face trial in the United States, and we urge Lebanon to comply with such requests in order to help foster better relations between the United States and Lebanon. While the United States should continue to assist Lebanon in democratic reform initiatives, we must see results in denying refuge to some of the world's most wanted terrorists. The people of Lebanon have made great strides in recent times but the government of Lebanon must understand that continuing to harbor terrorists will only further isolate them from the international community and put future financial aid in doubt.

The murderers of Robert Stethem must be brought to justice, and a clear message must be sent that the brutal murder of American service members or civilians will neither be tolerated nor forgotten.

Mr. FRIST. I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be agreed to, the preamble be agreed to, and the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The resolution (S. Res. 457) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

S. RES. 457

Whereas, although the Government of Germany has been a significant partner in combating international terrorism, their release of Mohammad Ali Hammadi was a grave and unfortunate mistake;

Whereas, in 1985, Mr. Hammadi, along with Hasan Izz-Al-Din, Ali Atwa, and Imad Fayez Mugniyah, hijacked Trans World Airlines Flight 847, and subsequently escaped from the scene of the hijacking;

Whereas United States Navy Petty Officer Robert Dean Stethem was singled out during the hijacking of Trans World Airlines Flight 847 because he was a serviceman of the United States, savagely beaten before being executed, and dumped on the tarmac of Beirut International Airport;

Whereas Petty Officer Stethem was posthumously awarded the Bronze Star and Purple Heart and buried at Arlington National Cemetery;

Whereas, in 1987, Mr. Hammadi was arrested at Frankfurt Airport while carrying liquid explosives in his luggage;

Whereas, in 1989, Mr. Hammadi, a Shiite militant from Lebanon, was convicted in a court in Germany for the brutal killing of Petty Officer Stethem and was sentenced to life in prison in Germany;

Whereas, after less than 19 years behind bars Mr. Hammadi was released in December 2005 and flown to Lebanon by the Government of Germany even though the United States does not have an extradition treaty with the Government of Lebanon; and

Whereas the release of Mr. Hammadi came in the face of strong opposition from the United States Government, and Petty Officer Stethem's parents were not even informed in advance that the killer of their son was to be released; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) the unfortunate actions of the Government of Germany with respect to Mohammad Ali Hammadi have undermined the joint efforts by the United States Government and the Government of Germany to effectively combat international terrorism;

(2) the early release of Mr. Hammadi sends a signal of weakness to terrorist groups such as Hezbollah and could increase the likelihood of further terrorist attacks against the citizens of Europe and the rest of the world;

(3) the United States Government should continue to call on the Government of Lebanon to hand over Mr. Hammadi and other known terrorists so that they may face trial in the United States;

(4) the United States Government should take all appropriate steps to secure the arrest of Mr. Hammadi and his fellow hijackers and their transfer to the United States for trial; and

(5) the murderers of United States Navy Petty Officer Robert Dean Stethem must be brought to justice, and a clear message must be sent to the international community that the brutal murder of service members or civilians of the United States will neither be tolerated nor forgotten.

MORNING BUSINESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will return to a period of morning business.

SUPPORT OF THE SENATE TO THE JUNIOR RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Armed Services Committee be discharged from further consideration and the Senate proceed to the consideration of S. Res. 415.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The clerk will report the bill be title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 415) expressing the continuing support of the Senate to the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps, and commending the efforts of that vital program as it carries out its mission of instilling the values of citizenship and service in the hearts and minds of the youth of the United States.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be agreed to, the preamble be agreed to, and the motion to reconsider laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The resolution (S. Res. 415) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

S. RES. 415

Whereas, since its inception in 1913, the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps has successfully functioned for over 90 years;

Whereas the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps has provided citizenship training, discipline, stability, and patriotic values to the youth of the United States throughout the Nation;

Whereas millions of students have benefited from the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps;

Whereas, in 2005, there were over 500,000 students enrolled in Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps programs in approximately 3,400 secondary schools; and

Whereas the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps is taught by a dedicated cadre of retired officers and staff non-commissioned officers of the Armed Forces who love the United States and who are working to secure its future: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) expresses appreciation to the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps for—

(A) the leadership training that the program provides to the youth of the United States; and

(B) the outstanding results that the program has achieved;

(2) commends the professionalism and dedication displayed daily by the retired members of the United States Armed Forces who serve as instructors in the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps; and

(3) proudly honors the modern-day members of the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps, who represent a promising group of young men and women who continue to strive to achieve their full potential.

MEASURE PLACED ON CALENDAR—H.R. 5020

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I understand there is a bill at the desk that is due for a second reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will read the title of the bill for the second time.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 5020) to authorize appropriations for fiscal year 2007 for intelligence and intelligence-related activities of the U.S.

Government, the Community Management Account, and the Central Intelligence Agency Retirement and Disability System, and for other purposes.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, in order to place the bill on the calendar under the provisions of rule XIV, I object to further proceeding.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard. The bill will be placed on the calendar.

ORDERS FOR TUESDAY, MAY 2, 2006

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today, it stand in adjournment until 9:45 a.m. on Tuesday, May 2. I further ask that following the prayer and the pledge, the morning hour be deemed to have expired, the Journal of the Proceedings be approved to date, the time for the two leaders be reserved, and the Senate proceed to a period of morning business for up to 1 hour, with the first 30 minutes under the control of the Democratic leader or his designee and the final 30 minutes under the control of the majority leader or his designee; that upon the use or yielding back of the time, the Senate proceed to the consideration of H.R. 4939 and immediately proceed to a vote on the motion to invoke cloture. I further ask unanimous consent that second-degree amendments be filed by 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, there will be time, of course, for debate prior to the vote; is that right?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. This unanimous consent agreement supersedes that agreement.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I think prior to this vote, we should have time to talk about it. The hour is set aside for morning business?

Mr. FRIST. The unanimous consent request, Mr. President, was that the Senate proceed to a period for morning business—we are calling it morning business—for up to an hour, a total of an hour, with 30 minutes under the control of the Democratic leader and 30 minutes under my control, which allows us to be on the bill.

Mr. REID. Parliamentary inquiry: What time would that vote take place approximately?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Approximately at 10:45 a.m. if all time is used.

Mr. REID. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader has the floor.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I asked consent that second-degree amendments be filed by 10:30 a.m. tomorrow, and that unanimous consent request is still pending?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, it will probably be more likely around 11 o'clock or 10:50, 10:55 tomorrow morning, maybe 11 o'clock, that we will have the cloture vote on the emergency supplemental appropriations bill. That will be the first vote of the day, and that is when the clock will start ticking.

Remember, Senators have a filing deadline for any second-degree amendments at 10:30 tomorrow morning. We have a lot of amendments to work through over the course of the postcloture time and will likely be having votes throughout the day. I know a number of people will be coming up to push votes until after committee meetings and hearings. We have to keep effectively and efficiently going through the votes in this postcloture period. I do expect cloture to be invoked, and we will need to vote on those pending amendments which are qualified under the cloture rule.

It is my expectation to continue to run postcloture on Tuesday and Wednesday until we complete the bill.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 9:45 A.M. TOMORROW

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, if there is no further business to come before the Senate, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate stand in adjournment under the previous order.

There being no objection, the Senate, at 7:34 p.m., adjourned until Tuesday, May 2, 2006, at 9:45 a.m.
